The various elements making up the nation. One hundred fifty years ago, he said, agriculture was the main industry and the division of interests we have today in agriculture, industry, commerce, and labor did not exist to any large extent. We must learn in our modern world today however that the interests of each are bound up with the interests of the other. The prosperity of agriculture is the prosperity of the town and the prosperity of the town that of the country.

Very important in our day, Prof. Brunner continued, is the matter of vocational education. The schools are giving increasingly important service in vocational guidance and education, both in agriculture, and in industry. Through them our youth are being directed toward the work they would like to do in life and are being given a training preparatory to a job.

H. D. Fritchman, manager of the County Chevrolet Company, and Elton B. Tall, Agriculture Extension Agent, were received into the membership of the club.

Tribute was paid to Superintendent Earl K. Stock and Principal O. P. Solenberg and the teaching staff of the High school building for the successful "fire drill" on the occasion of the destruction of the school building and for the notable piece of work done in the reorganization of the school within two weeks after the fire, involving the purchase of new text books, the planning of classes and class rooms, and many necessary changes and arrangements to make the Bellefonte Academy building ready for use, as well as the necessary adjustments at the Bishop street and Armory buildings. The spokesman for the club was Armstrong L. Francis, chairman of the Public Affairs Committee. The club and its guests gave an unplanned standing vote of approval.

Farmer guests were: from Bellefonte R. D. Lloyd White, Ward Krape, Miles Cleveland, Myr Kestler, William Deidrich, Walter Weaver, Earl Gentzel, Ray Corman, Harold Samsel, Frank Brooks, L. E. Biddle, Ocean Yearick, Joseph Owens, Guy Garner, Russell Stover, Calvin Gulsler, H. Neill, George Rogers, Harry Tressler, Paul Corman, Harry Rocky, Malcolm Musser, John M. Blair, Samuel Shirk, A. C. Harlie and H. N. Beam; from Hublersburg, Max Miller; from Howard R. D. 2, Nevin Lee, Willard Harter, Nevin Yearick, Blair Pletcher, E. N. Trestle and H. S. Behenick; from Warrior's Spring R. D. Harry Fisher; from Mark Mills R. D. George H. McCormick.

Other guests were W. J. Tucker, Vocational Education supervisor for Centre County; Kwanlan Samuel Hayes, Lewisdown; Kwanlan M. B. Meyer and Dr. J. V. Foster, State College; Kwanlan Rev. Edgar E. Heckman, Tyrone; Councilman Thomas Beaver, Bellefonte; H. A. Leitold, State College and A. F. McCortigan and Paul B. Sox, New York City.

Next Tuesday the speaker before the club will be F. Glenn Rogers, superintendent of the schools of Centre county, who will address the club on the subject, "County and Local School Development."

"The Nurses' Part in the Public Assistance Set-Up"

Miss Bertha Rimmer, Red Cross Nurse, also spoke interestingly on various phases of nursing. Among those present at the meeting, in addition to members of the association from State College, Wingate and Bellefonte, were Mrs. Nellie Geary, Superintendent of the Centre County Hospital, and a number of her staff members.

A meeting of Fifth District nurses will be held at the Penn Alto Hotel, Altoona, on Saturday, March 18.
