SPRING?

The rippling brook as it winds its way through the cool pine glens tells us of the arrival of Spring. The birds in the early morning sunshine tell forth a melodious song proclaiming to the world of the season soon to be upon us. Nature is sewing a new gown of green fashioned with the spring crocus. The trees are bursting forth in fresh green blooms, while the fragile violets are pushing up their dainty heads, to greet the warm sunshine of another year.

After the long winter's rest, nature awakens and begins her many duties which help to make the world beautiful once more. The insect world comes to life and begins its spring activities. The birds proceed to build their nests in which to rear their young. Even the human beings after winter are inspired with new hope and the long, cold winter is soon forgotten as they go about working and playing to the tune of spring.

COMMERCIAL GIRLS ELECT TO FURNISH AND EQUIP ROOM

Since the first commercial students have become pretty well organized, but they still expect to do many more things. The girls have been given a room on the second floor where they may go to spend their leisure time and to study. It is furnished very nicely. It has been placed several tables and about a dozen straight chairs. Two occasional chairs have been provided which add a great deal to the appearance of the room. A commercial club has been organized, and the following officers have been elected: President—Sara Emel. Vice-president—Phyllis Witmer. Secretary—Mary Louise Nelo. Treasurer—Marion Minemyer. This club expects to purchase in the near future a davenport and possibly a radio for the girls' quarters.

DEAR DIARY

Thursday, March 9. I attended an entertainment at the Milesburg fire hall. It was a great event featuring Tex Rose and his Ramblers from WRAK, Williamsport. One of the freshman girls surely is excited over autograph. Wish I had an autograph. Saturday, March 11, 1939. Dear Diary. Stop! Stop! Walked all round in the rain in town this afternoon, don't think I missed a puddle. Saw Virginia Capers coming out of the beauty shop and she looked awfully cute. Decided I would go in and try to get an appointment but didn't have any luck, so I came home and did the best I could with myself. Monday, March 13. Dear Diary. A gang of girls went to the Epworth League Group meeting at State. A service was held and later games were played in the gym of the Methodist church. Refreshments were served and everyone seemed to have a good time. Gee! When it comes to entertaining in the car, Fern M. is sure the ideal one. We certainly had a good time hearing her imitate an opera singer. Tuesday, March 14, 1939. Dear Diary. Hi and hi and hi—hi. I started to do my lessons tonight but my sister tuned in a jazz session on the radio, and instead of cramming for a test, I started jamming so that I would be in practice for the Friday night dance. Mother and Dad agreed that I looked as though I belonged down in Africa. My sister sat down with her mouth open. Now I am so tired that I can't study and I am trying to think whether or not the girl who sits next to me in English is very smart. SOME GIRLS, SOME BOYS, SOME SONGS. Jesmine Bloomquist—You Leave Me Breathless. Fern McKinley—You're a Sweet Little Headache. Virginia Capers—They Say Jean Flynn—I Must See Annie Tonight. Paul Eberhart—Gotta Get Some Shine Eye. Dot Kline—I Have Eyes

Sarah Brian—Hold Tight. Barbara McGowan—Gotta Get Some Shine Eye. Stella Cronin—Deep Purple. George Bingham—Begin The Begone. Joan Long—Deep in a Dream. Ban Wetzlar—On the Sentimental Side. Betty Eyer—I Ain't Got Nobody. Louise Cowen—You're a Sweet Little Headache. Jim Craig—Ten Pretty Girls. Maxine Crafts—I Have Eyes. Blanche Locke—They Say. Pauline Casper—I Have Eyes. Wyn Fleming—Deep Purple. Jim Hoffer—That Flat Foot Floor.

Marie Fetters—It makes No Difference Now. Mary Beaver—Funny Old Hills. Don Eckle—I won't Believe It. Marjory Hall—Tale of Vienna Woods. Lenora Hoover—Trees. Charlotte Penrod—I Get Along Without You. Gordon Vairs—Shubert's Unfinished Symphony. Jean Adams—They Say. Kenneth Fromm—I Cried for You. Dave Kachich—Penny Serenade. Ralph Moerschbacher—Rosalee. George Purnell—Thanks For Everything. Eleanor Foresburg—Deep Purple.

THIS year's basketball season has finally rolled around to a finish; and as we gaze at the record book, we see that dear old BHS had a moderately successful season in spite of the fact that there was only one veteran left from last year's squad.

Last season the Red Raiders took nine scaps while they unsuccessfully participated in eight contests. They finished in fifth place in the Central State League, winning four and dropping six league games. The boys were more successful in non-league bouts, as they captured five and dropped only two thus bringing the old average up to .529.

Captain Jack Steele paced the Raiders with one hundred and three points and also placed third in league competition, headed only by long, lanky John Egli, the league leader from South Williamsport, and Dick Haley, State High flash. Phil Gordon, flashy senior forward, was the second highest scorer, placing twelve in the league standings with 52 points. He was followed by Dick Hartwick, Raider center, whose 35 points were good enough to win him 17th place. Jap Knapp held down nineteenth place, with 33 points, while Jim Hoy was thirty ninth with 16 points. Other Red Raiders to enter the scoring column were Bill McNichols with ten points, and Gingery and Flack with one point each.

We can look ahead to a more successful season next year as only two men are lost through graduation. They are Jay Knapp, regular guard, and Phil Gordon, diminutive forward, both of whom played consistently throughout the season.

LIBRARY BOOKS IN CIRCULATION

All the books may be taken from the library now. There are many volumes of fiction, biographies to help the seniors who are writing essays, and interesting books for history reports. Magazines and newspapers are in the library to help you while away profitably your extra minutes between classes. There are also pamphlets containing reviews of late movies and other interesting topics. Reference books of all kinds are available. Pupils will find these useful for class reports.

Books are being continuously added so visit the library and take advantage of the numerous volumes available.

CONCERT WELL ATTENDED

Friday night, March 17, at 8 o'clock, the High School Band gave its first concert of the season in the Methodist church. Mr. Wion worked hard with his boys to be able to give a first class program and from all accounts he was very successful. We are all proud of our band and couldn't do without it now. No admission was charged for the concert, but an offering was taken. The following program was presented: Fritz-Morn—Organ voluntary. Sabbath Morn—Organ voluntary. Jewell Semblin—Clarinet solo. Thornton Lutzpied—Overture. Kelerba Under the Double Eagle—March. Wagner Intermission. The American Patrol—Mecham. The Blue Danube Waltz—Strauss. The Sunny South-Selection. Lampe Quality-plus march—Jewell. The Stars Spangled Banner—Arranged by Barnard.

QUICK HENRY, THE FLIT

All the bugs infested with flitters attended the jam session on March 17, 1938, held by the Student Senate of the Bellefonte High School at the gym. Starting at eight o'clock, the insects fitted until eleven-thirty to the music of a new violon which was being tried out by the senate. If this machine is found to be satisfactory, the Senate may purchase it for use at future dances.

LIFE'S JOYS AND SORROWS

Down the snow drifted road trudged two women; the wind was howling fiercely as they hurried along. On up the hill they went until they could see a small house nestled between two hills. "I'll be glad to get to the warmth of that house," said one of the women.

FACULTY LINE-UP

(Editor's Note:—Each week an interview with a member of the faculty will appear in our columns.) Mrs. Fisher, a member of our high school faculty, had a very interesting life. She has lived in three states, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania. When Mrs. Fisher was a small girl living in a little town outside of Buffalo she was often mistaken by visitors to the town for

Mary Pickford's sister because of her long curls. Leaving New York when she was a Sophomore in high school, she went to Ohio where she graduated two years later at the age of fifteen. Because of her youth Mrs. Fisher could not go to college, so she took a business course at the Youngstown Institute of Technology. After she graduated she had some experience as a stenographer.

She entered Thiel College, Greensville, Pennsylvania, where she spent her freshman year entering into all the student activities. The next year, however, she went to Susquehanna University, Selingsgrove, Pennsylvania, where she was a member of the Pi Gamma Mu, a national honor society. Mrs. Fisher did very well in her studies, for when she graduated she was fourth in her class. After graduating, Mrs. Fisher received a position teaching in the Ford City High School, after teaching for two years, Mr. Fisher became a teacher for three years prior to beginning her teaching in Bellefonte. She has a little girl whose name is Peggy Ann.

She is substituting for Miss Ebert, teaching commercial work in our high school.

GIRL SCOUT ACTIVITIES

On Friday evening, March 17, the Girl Scouts held their annual rally in commemoration of the 27th birthday of Girl Scouting in America. The program consisted of a skit by Troop No. 4, a presentation of the contributions for the Juliet Love Fund by Troop No. 3, and songs and scout movies presented by Harvey Miller. Besides being held in commemoration of Girl Scout week it was also held in honor of Mrs. Sibley, a Girl Scout executive from headquarters. The rally was well attended by scouts, leaders, and council.

The country must be going to the dogs; some devotees of bridge are reported to be enjoying Chinese checkers.

PORT MATILDA. M. J. Schell, of Tyrone, was a Sunday visitor at the home of M. A. Kerin.

Bernard Kerin has been bedfast a week with lagraffe. He is somewhat improved at this writing. Mr. and Mrs. James Rorabough of Tyrone after returning from a visit to Florida spent a day with the latter's sister, Mrs. J. Collett. Other visitors at the home were Mr. and Mrs. Alec Broeks of California and Mr. and Mrs. Paul I. Lego and daughters Darlene, Margaret and Kathleen and son Paul of Cosemaugh.

Mrs. A. E. Kerin had a quilting last week. Those present were: Mrs. Robert Miller, Mrs. Nancy Miller, Miss Myrtle and Edie Miller, Mrs. Joseph Dues, Mrs. Arma Dues, Mrs. A. J. Collett and Mrs. Susie Skavick. The dance was well attended at Bald Eagle Grange Hall on Friday evening.

On next Tuesday evening the quarterly birthday party will be held for those having birthdays in January, February and March. The tabernacle is going to hold an Easter entertainment. Date will be given later.

Mrs. A. J. Diamond spent Wednesday in Harrisburg. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Johnston of Tyrone, were visiting friends on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Stonebraker were Tyrone shoppers one day last week. Genevieve Stonebraker spent the weekend with her grandmother, Mrs. Amanda Stonebraker.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwood Miller and daughter Jean of Wall spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller. Mrs. Veronica Urban spent Sunday in Tyrone.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Wiser of State College spent the weekend with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thurner Wiser. Miss Anna and Pearl Harshbarger spent Saturday in Tyrone.

Miss Nannie and Frances Lewis spent a day quilting at the home of Amos Wooster. Miss Reida and Dorothy Yaudea of Tyrone spent the weekend with their aunt, Mrs. Charles Price.

PENN STATE SCIENTIST SEES LARGE PETROLEUM RESERVE. The petroleum industry, in which is invested some $14,000,000,000, does not live on its reserves but on its new discoveries," according to Dr. Bryan Pirson, in charge of petroleum and natural gas engineering in the School of Mineral Industries at the Pennsylvania State College.

At the beginning of the present year there were in the United States 14,000,000,000 barrels of crude oil reserves known and proved by actual drilling, Dr. Pirson said. Every year the industry is apparently drawing on these reserves at a rate of 1,200,000,000 barrels. For those unacquainted with the business it would seem that not a drop of oil would be produced at the end of 10 or 11 years.

"But each year the search for new oil fields goes on unabated, with all the resources that the sciences of geology, physics, and chemistry can place at the disposal of the petroleum engineer," Dr. Pirson said. "Petroleum engineering is one profession in the mineral industries where the prospector still plays a large role."

"Armed with the knowledge which the various sciences place at his disposal, he finds, year in and year out, enough new oil fields to make up for the yearly withdrawal."

"At times as in the year 1930 when 4,000,000,000 barrels were discovered in the East Texas field, enormous quantities of reserves were brought to light; at other times, as in 1896, the oil prospector's discoveries are deficient, although he was in the red by a mere 20,000,000 barrels."

The time when this country will start drawing on its reserves is still far away, Dr. Pirson holds. The secondary recovery of petroleum by such methods as water flooding and gas and air repressuring is rejuvenating many oil wells, Dr. Pirson said. A recent survey made by Frances Barnes for the State of Oklahoma and Kansas alone, showed the recoverable oil at 3,000,000,000 barrels by water flooding for a depth not exceeding 3,000 feet. In Pennsylvania the application of these methods on a large scale has assured the eastern oil industry of a long and lasting rejuvenated life.

SNOW SHOE

The Willing Workers Sunday School Class will hold a baked ham supper on Saturday evening, March 25 in the M. E. church basement, tickets 40 and 25c. The Ladies Bible class held their monthly social and business meeting in the M. E. church basement on last Wednesday evening. It was in the form of a St. Patrick's party. Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Weaver, Jr. and Mrs. Calvin Weaver Jr. and Mrs. Emma Corman of town and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Weaver of Lemont were dinner guests at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Gephart at State College, in honor of the birthday of Mrs. Corman and Miss Helen Gephart.

The Junior Class of Miles Township High School held their monthly meeting at the home of Pauline Auman on Friday evening. Mrs. M. C. Haines has been housed up for a number of weeks with grippe. H. C. Ziegler and Mr. and Mrs. C. Paul Ziegler motored to Lock Haven Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Breon were Saturday business callers in Bellefonte. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wert visited at the A. J. Burrell home in State College on Saturday.

FARMERS ARE WARNED AGAINST HYBRID OATS. Farmers who buy so-called "hybrid" seed oats on claims of increased yields are bound to be disappointed. J. B. Dickey, extension agronomist of the Pennsylvania State College, said this week.

The oat plant, Dickey pointed out, is self-fertilized and soon becomes fixed in type. The original hybrid vigor character of hybrid corn is most evident in the first generation and has no practical value in oat production. Consequently the term "hybrid" oats is misleading and is used principally as a bait to influence farmers to buy seed.

The United States Department of Agriculture reports marked activity this season in offering high quality, plump, uniform, imported seed oats often weighing 38 to 45 pounds to the bushel, under the name of "hybrid" oats. This practice is doubly misleading because foreign varieties usually are unadapted to this country and yield poorly.

"Growers should not be misled into buying seed of varieties from foreign countries or of unknown origin," Dickey declared. "Regardless of claims to superiority, the paying of extravagant prices for such highly publicized seed is seldom if ever warranted."

"Home-grown seed of adapted varieties generally yields as well or better than any other. Losses from planting unadapted seed may be serious. This is especially true of seed from a foreign country, even though the seed is heavier and apparently of better quality. Farmers may check with their county agents on reliable adapted varieties."

An additional 200 feet of floor space has been added to the Mill Hall Post Office building, which is owned by Jesse B. Rosser. The addition is built at the rear of the old building and is two-story, giving an extra room also to the second floor.
