Stroke Fatal To J. M. Cunningham

morning of last week he was stricken with paralysis while smoking a pipe at his home, and he remained unconscious until death ensued.

Although he took an active interest in all affairs of the borough, Mr. Cunningham's first love was the water department, with the fire department ranking a close second. When he first took a hand in borough affairs, the water department was a crude, poorly equipped, poorly planned institution. Under his guidance, he saw the present new building erected at the Big Spring, aided in the acquiring of the Gamble Mill and the Gamble Island; saw the entire system improved, enlarged, modernized. As one of the oldest members of the Logan Fire Company, and as a former Fire Marshal of Bellefonte, he was one of the fire department's strongest champions in Council. He advocated many of the changes which resulted in the advancement of the Logan and Undine Fire Companies to their present high state of efficiency.

When the pumping station at the Gamble Mill was installed, Mr. Cunningham had hopes of carrying water from the Spring to the mill through an underground pipe, but during a brief period while he was not a member of Council, the pipe line was laid above ground at some expense and has since been the source of some criticism as an eyesore. It was one of his great regrets that his original intent to have the pipe underground did not materialize.

John Mitchell Cunningham was a native and almost a lifelong resident of Bellefonte, having been born here on January 8, 1865. His parents were the late Murty and Elizabeth Powers Cunningham. On May 2, 1896 he was united in marriage with Anna Gross of Bellefonte, who survives. Their only son, John, died on September 25, 1918, during the World War influenza epidemic, while he was a radio operator at Hampton Roads, Va. The Cunninghams reared two nieces, Mrs. Elizabeth Darcy and Mrs. Helen Dirken, of Washington, D. C.

Survivors include two brothers: George and William Cunningham, both of Bellefonte, and Murty Cunningham, of New York City. He was one of a family of nine children.

After completing his early education in the local schools, Mr. Cunningham learned the carpenter trade under Benjamin Bradley, father of Benjamin Bradley, of North Allegheny Street. After two and a half years instruction in that craft, he served a similar period of time in the Jenkins and Langie Foundry, learning the moulting trade. His apprenticeship served, Mr. Cunningham, his brother Edward, and their father all moulders by trade, spent the next several years in Huntingdon and Williamsport.

Upon returning to Bellefonte J. Mitchell was employed by Col. William Teller at the Bush House, and after several years in that hotel, he launched into business for himself, opening a cigar store in the room in the Broecker Hotel building now occupied by the Western Union office. It was during the six or seven years he conducted this establishment that his marriage took place.

After disposing of the cigar store, Mr. Cunningham spent several years as manager of the Broecker Hotel, resigning that post to build scales for the Standard Scale Company of Bellefonte. In that position he helped the company win a number of awards for its products at various fairs.

When the Scale Works moved from Bellefonte Mr. Cunningham opened his own foundry in the building which now houses the W. P. Shope Lumber Company on South Potter Street, and after some years in that business he purchased the Haag House, East Bishop Street, which he conducted for four or five years before selling it to Former Sheriff Henry Kline.

Retiring from the hotel business, Mr. Cunningham devoted his entire time for the next few years in adjusting and repairing scales throughout the county. At one time Mr. Cunningham sold farm implements with George A. Beizer, at the Beizer garage.

About 18 years ago Mr. Cunningham retired from active life, and since then had devoted all his time to his Council duties, to the care of his home and garden, and to fishing.

Several years ago he resigned from Council because of ill health, but he never lost his ardent interest in the welfare of the town. "Mitch" as he was familiarly known, was a baseball fan and in his early days managed a local team which won the district pennant. He was a lifelong fisherman, and engaged in that sport until his health kept him from going out along the streams.

A staunch Democrat, politically, he was a leader in party politics in the west ward where he resided most of his life. The only public office he ever sought was Council, and in that organization he proved himself an able leader. At one time he was president of Council and for many years he was chairman of the water committee.

Funeral services were held Monday morning at St. John's Catholic church, with the Rev. Father William E. Downes officiating. Interment was made in the church cemetery.

At the service Monday morning, a guard of honor from the Logan and Undine Fire Companies was present to pay a final tribute to a man who had done much for both companies during his life time. The offices of the Borough Water Department were closed during the morning as a mark of respect.

Those who served as casket bearers were: Fire Marshal Philip Sawyer, George Carpeneto, John Knapiak, John Mignot, Harry E. Dunlap and Christ Beizer.

SURVEY SHOWS ELECTRIC COOKING MOST ECONOMICAL

Electric Range Spring Showing now being held by local dealers, brings to homemakers here a great opportunity to see the many gleaming new models of electric ranges that set an all-time high for beauty, efficiency and economy. Every woman owes it to herself to get acquainted with these new ranges and to find out for herself that electric cooking costs only one-half as much as the gas range. A visit to electrical dealers' showrooms promises the cooking thrill of the year.

Cooking Cost Actually Low
Although millions of users know the low cost of electric cooking, a recent national survey proves that guesses of those who don't know—average twice the actual average cost.

Electric cooking really is economical cooking. Present low electric rates, highly perfected new heating elements in modern electric ranges, completely insulated ovens that conserve heat, exact methods of heat measurement at the snap of a switch, and automatic thermostats which keep current down to a minimum, contribute to this low cost of operation.

Added to these mechanical perfection, electric cleanliness, perfect cooking results, and less shrinkage of foods resulting through use of electricity, assure even greater economy.

New Electric Ranges Fast and Clean
Besides economical cooking, these modern electric ranges offer fast cooking. There's no waiting. Heating elements glow with surging heat miraculously fast. There is no fast-way to cook today than with one of the new 1939 electric ranges!

Then again, electric cooking is the cleanest cooking known. There's no flame or odor from an electric heating element. Consequently, there's no soot-to blacken cooking utensils—no smoke to cause a greasy film

County Baseball League Revived

out of chaos in county baseball circles. Discontent, bickering and uncertainty earlier in the season threatened to sound the death knell for the Centre County League, and since no other league possibilities had opened up, things looked black for many Centre county teams.

Last night it was announced that any person interested in playing for either of the two Bellefonte teams is requested to leave his name at the Y. M. C. A. before Tuesday, April 11, when players will be approved by the League. Approximately 40 prospective players have signed the roster to date.

LOCAL WOMEN THRILLED AT RANGE MODELS

Homemakers who have seen the 1939 electric range models now on display at local electrical dealers and the power company showrooms, are thrilled with their beauty.

"It's as good as a style show," they say. And the smart new design of the 1939 electric ranges has certainly been as carefully planned as any fashion designer's new spring frocks.

The ranges are of gleaming white porcelain with easy-to-clean top of stainless steel or porcelain. Some of them have touches of color in handles and switches. Most of the 1939 electric ranges are cabinet styles, streamlined to fit perfectly with the built-in cabinets of modern planned kitchens.

For Good Cooking
Electric ranges have all the cooking advantages that homemakers want. Their fast-heating elements glow with surging heat at the snap of a switch. Ovens heat miraculously fast.

Electric cookery is the cleanest cooking known. There's no smoke to cause a greasy film on curtains and walls.

Electric ranges are cool. Well insulated ovens keep the heat inside, concentrated on the food where it belongs, while the cook stays cool.

Electric ranges really put more hours in the day for the busy housewife. They set her free from cooking supervision and give her hours of freedom for other interests. Electric time controls do the watching for her—turning the heat in the oven on and off at the appointed times, even though she is miles away from the kitchen.

Results are simply perfect with an electric range—foods look better and taste better—your favorite dishes will have a new taste thrill.

If you haven't seen the attractive and efficient electric ranges now on display in your local shops, you owe it to yourself to make a visit of inspection. And if you believe you can't afford electric cooking, you'll be thrilled to find how little it costs—just half as much as most folks guess. Ask your dealer to explain the low rate for electric cooking.
