The leading Easter story in the Philadelphia Inquirer carried by the line of Hugh Morrow, former Centre Hall boy, who apparently is making good on the metropolitan newspaper. Much is a graduate of the Centre Hall high school, class of '33, and had a year's work at Bucknell University in journalism.

A Millheim child darting across the street in front of an oncoming automobile last Saturday about noon, was saved from terrible injury and possibly death by Mrs. E. E. Shugarts. Mrs. Shugarts dashed into the street and literally pulled the youngster away from the wheels of the car, the fender of the vehicle tearing a rent in Mrs. Shugarts' coat, so close was disaster.

E. A. Tyson, principal of the Millheim grade schools, was threatened during last week with an attack of appendicitis and was obliged to turn over his school duties for a few days to W. N. Duck, a fifth grade instructor.

The news was received by relatives that Guy Fredericks, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Fredericks of Frederickburg, Va., was seriously injured when he collided with an automobile while riding a bicycle. Mrs. Fredericks was formerly Miss Esther Foreman of Centre Hall.

E. A. Yoder, the Kansas City horse dealer who offered 28 head of horses for sale in Millheim, succeeded in selling only about half of them at around a hundred dollars each. A part of the original shipment of 58 animals went to New Holland, Lancaster county, with no better success as to sales.

Garth N. Kreamer, of Coburn, acquired a fairly rare coin in a very unusual manner last week. It was when he made a purchase at the Millheim Pharmacy that he was given fifteen cents change. Being a coin collector he always examines each coin before passing it on to the next individual. As he examined the dime among the change the next morning he immediately noticed that it was a "10 centavo" coin from the Republic of Argentina, being over 21 years old and slightly rare. It is very unusual that a foreign coin gets so far into the interior of another country and is actually used as legal tender without being noticed, especially when the coin is rare.

Centre Hall-Potter school board recently authorized the payment of $43,750 to Architect Dean Kennedy of State College for preliminary drawings of plans for the new grade school building for Centre Hall as well as an addition to the present high school building, under the Thompson plan. Last year, which plan fell by the wayside. The fee is 1/2 of one per cent of the estimated cost of the projects, which was $64,750 for the grade building and $44,000 for the high school addition, a total of $108,750.00. The arrangements with Mr. Kennedy are such that in any event of a future reopening of the school building plan, and its ultimate conclusion, the school board will receive full credit for the architect's fees paid at this time.

OPPORTUNITY OPEN FOR BETTER HERDS IN COUNTY

During the last twenty-eight years Dairy Herd Improvement Association work has probably done more to strengthen the dairy industry in Pennsylvania than any other phase of the business.

It is by the records obtained through careful testing and recording, that many farmers have been able to build their herds up from a liability to a handsome asset for themselves and the community in which they live.

In 1911 the Dairy Herd Improvement Association was conducted in Pennsylvania. There were 21 herds in the Association which included 784 cows or about 1/4 of 1% had a production of more than 30 lbs. of butter fat. The average production for the association was 5,724 lbs. of milk and 234 1/2 lbs. of butter fat per cow.

Contrast the above figures with the 1937 records which included 47,145 cows on test, 19,113 or 40 1/2% of the cows from 1932 herds and 91 associations had an average of over 300 lbs. of butter fat and the average production for the cows was 8,412 lbs. of milk and 337 1/2 lbs. of butter fat.

The Dairy Herd Improvement Association has not only gradually increased the production of our herds but has established a source from which superior foundation herd material may be secured.

Mr. Carson F. Myers, State Director of the Farm Security Administration announces that during the fourth week of March the first Dairy Herd Improvement Association of Farm Security clients was formed through the cooperation of the Rural Rehabilitation supervisor, Louis W. Stevenson of the Williamsport District and County Agent, Paul P. Kroy, Tioga County Agriculture Extension Agent in Tioga County.

We are of the opinion that the Farm Security clients who are pursuing the dairy profession can insure their income by using this instrument to eliminate the border cost from his herd and thus assure himself of a profitable herd instead of one who has been causing long hours of labor and depleting his bank account due to lack of information about the individuals of the herd.

Farm Security clients of Centre, Blair, Huntingdon, and Mifflin Counties may avail themselves of the same services as those of Tioga County and in so doing, improve the quality and increase their income from their herds.

The Birth of a County Seat

To accomplish their purpose they hired a large flat boat and a team of mules. Upon arriving at Milesburg they secured a lot of second-hand furniture that had been stored there, and loaded it upon the boat. With their improvised cargo they started back to Bellefonte reaching their destination without mishap. That done, they hurried a messenger to Laurauger, where the Legislature was in session. The messenger contained the announcement, with a properly attested affidavit, that the first boat of the season, with freight aboard, had arrived in Bellefonte.

The electrifying news had the desired effect. The lawmakers accepted it without question. The statement of facts seemed to indicate that Bellefonte and not Milesburg, at the head of navigation. The claim being quickly pressed by the parties in interest, it resulted in the passage of the Act making Bellefonte the county seat.

This is the story repeatedly told of how Bellefonte out-witted its rival in what seemed a losing race. Incidentally, the first court convened in Bellefonte in 1801. The sessions were held in one of the first houses erected by Col. Dunlop—the former Jacob Valentine property at the corner of High and Spring streets, now owned by the White brothers.

Mill Hall School Annex Destroyed

ed with water, which may require the laying of a new floor. The main building, which is separated from the annex by stairs, was not damaged except by smoke and a little water.

Only a few teachers—no pupils—were in the building at the time. The fire was discovered by J. C. Rohr, the janitor, who smelled smoke.

Mr. Lytle said the fire probably started from an oil stove in the home economics room, which was being used to cook a ham for a dinner of the School Board that evening. It is surmised the stove set fire to a nearby table.

Tables, chairs, stoves, the ceiling and other equipment in the room, were badly damaged. The composition floor seemed to be little damaged.

Some athletic equipment in the gymnasium was damaged, Mr. Lytle said, but the piano was taken outside. Chairs were watersoaked.

The annex was a comparatively new building. It was erected about five years ago, Mr. Lytle said.

Easter Sunday was a day of unusual events at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Bowen of Hecla Park. Due to Mrs. Bowen's birthday falling on Easter and Mr. Bowen's birthday on March 28th it was thought very fitting that the children join the aged parents at the parental homestead in honor of the occasion. Mr. Bowen celebrated her 74th birthday and Mr. Bowen has passed the 75th mile stone of life. Despite their age they are enjoying fairly good health and rallied in fine spirit, adding tremendously to the pleasure of the day.
