The Centre Democrat.

WALKER BROTHERS..... Proprietors A. C. DERR.....Editor PAUL M. DUBBS...... Associate Editor CECIL A. WALKER..... Business Manager

Issued weekly, every Thursday morning. Entered in the postoffice at Bellefonte, Pa., as secondclass matter.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION $1.50 per year.....if paid in advance $2.00 per year.....if not paid in advance

The date your subscription expires is plainly printed on the label bearing your name. All credits are given by a change on the date of label the first issue of each month. We send no receipts unless upon special request. Watch date on your label after you remit.

Matters for publication, whether news or advertising, must reach The Centre Democrat office not later than Tuesday noon to insure publication that week. Advertising copy received after Tuesday morning must

All reading notices marked (*) are advertisements. Legal notices and all real estate advertisements, 10 cents per line each issue.

Subscribers changing postoffice address, and not notifving us, are liable for same.

All subscriptions will be continued unless otherwise

CIRCULATION OVER 7,000 COPIES EACH WEEK

EDITORIAL

Family reunions are now in order and will continue to be for weeks to come.

The Declaration of Independence made the United States free, but only good citizens can keep this nation free

And if the money spent for war could be spent to make people prosperous and happy, there would be cars enough to eliminate the surplus population.

Our neighbor Philipsburg is certainly a glutton for celebrating. No sooner has she gotten over the Fourth of July spree then she announces a Labor Day shindig.

The situation in Europe continues tense with Great Britain and France making it clear that if Poland uses force to protect herself, they will give her immediate aid.

Centre county can be thankful that it has been spared the expense of a murder trial by the admission of an alleged mistake in the fatal shooting of Winters, the young Beech Creek WPA worker. Unfortunate as the affair is, it would have been more horrible had proof of murder established itself.

Every citizen in Centre county should be certain he is qualified to vote at the primary and general election this fall. These elections, even though they ost purely local, are important. In the will choose county, borough, township and school district officials. Saturday, August 12, will be the final day in which voters may register.

Don't turn away the plea of some poor city slum child who would enjoy a few weeks of wholesome air in Centre county. If you live in the rural section, and are willing to take a child into your home for a brief vacation, notify Rev. C. Nevin Stamm or any of the Bellefonte ministers. Remember, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto Me."

The Centre County Grange Fair Association will feel keenly the loss of one of its active workers in the death of A. H. Spayd, who passed away unexpectedly Saturday morning. Mr. Spayd was for many years a valuable member of the Grange Fair Committee, whose counsel and advice will be hard to replace. As superintendent of the grounds at Grange Park, Mr. Spayd displayed wide knowledge in the performance of his duties. He was widely known and had many loyal friends.

The retiring from circulation of B. F. Carmack, who was sentenced by the court this week to a three to six year term in the Western Penitentiary, for a series of robberies throughout upper Bald Eagle Valley, ought to ease the minds of farmers of that area, who have been terrorized by the erstwhile "phantom of the pasture" for a long period. Carmack had adopted a method of western pioneer days, by helping himself to farmers' calves which he butchered for his own use. He'll be eating prison fare for the next few years.

Tony Galento gained more than he lost in his recent four-round encounter with Champion Joe Louis, the brown meat chopper. He lost nothing but a decision, which no one expected him to win, He gained, to say nothing of his $45,000 purse, tremendous respect and admiration. Billed as a musclebusting baffoon, he proved himself a glorious gladiator. He dished it out and took it, and he accepted defeat without a whimper. If the promoters are half as smart as they think they are they'll arrange an early return bout. It would pack the biggest ball park in the country.

One hears these days of petitions being circulated in various communities seeking a vote on local option, which may be a forerunner of a new form of prohibition. Prohibition, as will be recalled, was brought about largely through the efforts of zealous women who in their effort to better mankind worked hard to end an evil system. The result, however, did not measure up to their hopes nor to the expectations of any of us. Prohibition outlawed one evil system but created another which so many people became convinced was worse than the original one that they rose up in their wrath and wiped it off the statute books of the land. Now-about six years later-what is the situation? It appears that history is slowly repeating itself. Women are again the cause of a slowly rising tide toward some form of prohibition. But the rising tide is not influenced nearly so much by those same zealous women that caused the original prohibition amendment to be enacted, as it is influenced by the modern spectacle of other women frequenting the present day liquor joints. The women drinkers are disgusting so many people that there is a continually increasing number of communities taking advantage of local option and outlawing the liquor traffic.

Some things that Legislatures do seem to be beyond belief. Take our own august body that recently adjourned at Harrisburg, and consider the bill it passed which forbids the use of bar maids in the three largest cities of Pennsylvania, but which has nothing to say about the taverns and taprooms in all other places in the State. How can anyone make any sense out of such a cock-eyed law? Do the wise guys who voted for the law believe the country girls are more able to take care of themselves than their hard-boiled city sisters? Or do they believe that the patrons of rural taprooms should be sufficiently wise and sophisticated as to be able to resist the blandishments of coy bar maids? There would seem to be more sense to a law that would forbid the employment of bar maids in any place except the three

One of the most flourishing rackets in this country today is the contest racket. Hundreds of manufacturers and others make a regular practice of stimulating business sales by means of contests. The usual appeal is to have those entering the contest write a brief article on the good qualities of the product advertised and send it, together with a certain number of box tops or labels of the product, to the company sponsoring the contest. Thousands of people spend much money buying these products in order to obtain the box tops or labels required for the entries. There are very few winners in each contest that get large prizes. Most people get nothing but disappointment for their trouble and expense. The sponsoring company makes lots of sales in this way. The poor dupes who are the victims of the rackets are largely left holding the bag.

Many of us have been reading of the recent journey of Fred Snite, Jr., of Chicago, confined to an "iron lung" as a victim of infantile paralysis, to Lourdes for spiritual uplift and relief. Few, however, know what particular significance has attracted so much interest to the famous shrine. It appears that the Blessed Virgin appeared to Bernadette Soubirous, a poor fourteen-year-old girl, eighteen times during the year 1858. During one of these visions, the apparition commanded Bernadette to drink from a mysterious fountain before her, the existence of which was unknown and of which there was no sign, but which immediately gushed forth. This was at Lourdes, France, and around this spring has arisen the now famous shrine. As many as a million persons journey to this shrine each year. Many bathe in the water from the spring which still flows. There have been recorded thousands of miraculous cures obtained by persons with bodily diseases. More thousands have received strength spiritually upon visiting the shrine. Hundreds of doctors visit the shrine every year and agree that no natural cause is sufficient to explain the miraculous cures that occur where the Blessed Virgin appeared.

SHALL WE HELP GERMANY?

While German officials deny any intention to use force in connection with Danzig, other powers fear some overt act. In view of the false statements made in connection with assistance given to General Franco in Spain, it is easy to understand the doubts which arise in connection with German statements.

Undoubtedly, the situation in Europe is approaching a showdown. The nations are arming for war and storing supplies for such an emergency. The line-up is about completed and all that is necessary to get the guns going in an attempt by Germany or Italy to forcefully assert the claims that their responsible leaders continue to advance.

Unfortunately, the action of the Congress of the United States, in connection with neutrality, is hailed with satisfaction in Germany and Italy. The prospect that the supplies of this country will not be available to the democratic powers is encouraging to the dictators. If the Senate approves the House version of American neutrality and the dictators become convinced that Great Britain and France are barred from buying arms and munitions in the United States, they may come to the conclusion that the time to strike is favorable.

While the people of the United States have no inclination to become embroiled in a war in Europe, their overwhelming sentiment is in favor of Great Britain and France. In so far as international law permits, it is the desire of the people of this country to aid the democracies in their struggle against aggression. Any neutrality measure that operates to the aid of the aggressors is not only contrary to American public sentiment, but also injurious to the prospects for peace.

CAN WE USE OUR GOLD?

The seven billion dollars of gold that poured into this country in the last four and a half years has given the United States a gold supply that recently passed the sixteen billion dollar mark. It is nearly two-thirds of the world's stock of gold.

This accumulation has reached a point where other nations have not a sufficient supply of gold to finance international trade. Gold, it should be remembered, has been used chiefly as a medium of exchange for international commerce. Naturally, the nations that have little gold find it necessary to carry on a primitive commerce.

The fear has been expressed that unless the United States takes advantage of its gold supply to become the world's banker, the commerce of the world will have to be organized on a barter basis. If we get more of the gold and other nations "demonetize" the metal, we will have some 30,000 tons that will possess a questionable value.

This threat is not immediate and while it is deemed remote, it is not an impossible danger. Consequently, commercial and financial experts are beginning to urge that the United States should make judicious loans to selected nations, encouraging them to trade with us. The President, in his lending program, suggests that $500,000,000 be used to provide foreign governments with credit for purchases in this country. The resulting trade might help the unemployment situation and, in addition, serve as an insurance against the danger that other nations, unable to get gold, might organize their commerce on a barter basis. In other words, international trade resembles a poker game with the United States one of the players, holding most of the chips. If this nation gets a strangle hold on the chips, the game must cease unless we are willing to lend to the other players. In our opinion, it would be to the interest of the United States to keep the commercial game going and to take the risk involved in extending reasonable credit to the nations which tend to support democratic governments.

THE "A Little Nonsense Now and Then, Is Relished by the Wisest Men"

GRADUATION OF A FLAPPER

She learned to love, she learned to hate, She learned a car would carry eight. She learned to smoke, and how to tell Good whiskey, both by taste and smell.

She learned to coax, she learned to tease, She learned a new way of cooking cheese. She learned to neck, and break a date-She's ready now to graduate.

His Test of Faith

A couple, on their wedding trip, met a gypsy whose prophecies so greatly amused them that they gave her an extra dollar for good luck. In appreciation of the gift, the grateful gypsy presented her benefactors with a little white glass phial containing a clear liquid. She admonished them to hold this phial as a sacred treasure, because the liquid would retain its crystalline clearness only so long as the loving couple were faithful to each other. But, warned the gypsy, unfaithfulness on the part of either will cause this liquid to turn a grayish hue.

The couple laughingly accepted the small bottle, took it home, and although disbelieving the gypsical dope-sheet, placed it carefully in an unused linen closet. They soon forgot the incident and lived in happiness for some time

One summer, a few years later, the wife journeyed afar to visit relatives. Letters of love were exchanged and the hubby gave all his time to business cares, with the exception of Bundays, when he would enter tain a few friends at his home. At one of these Sunday parties he amused the guests with the gypsy story of honeymoon days.

At the finish of the host's recital, one of the men with an eye to a practical joke suggested pouring a bit of ink in the phial so as to make the liquid turn to gray. "On her return you can have a lot of fun at her jealousness." he said, "and then call us in to prove your faithfulness." The trick was done and in a few days Friend Wife came home.

While house-cleaning next day she came upon the phial. Great horrors. Its contents had turned from pure white to a grayish tint. "Heavens, is it really so?" But after a few moments of hesitation she quickly poured out the gray substance and refilled the phial with clear water, placing it back in its former location

Needless to say, it was not necessary for hubby's friends to testify in

Accessories Extra

There had been a motor accident. One of the drivers climbed out of the wreck and in a fit of temper strode up to a man standing on the sidewalk, thinking him to be the other driver. "Say, where the devil's your tail light?" he roared.

The innocent bystander looked up at him. "Wot do you think I am -a son-of-a-such of a lightning bug?"

I Knew Her When

St. Peter was interviewing the fair damsel at the pearly gate. "Did you while on earth," he asked, "indulge in necking, petting, smoking, drinking or dancing?

"Never," she retorted emphatically,

"Then why haven't you reported sooner?' said Peter. "You've been dead a long time."

What'd He Say

Mirandy-"My sakes, John writes from college that he threw the hammer 200 feet. Joshua-"Gracious. He must've hit his thumb an awful whack."

Intelligent Flies

He-"I killed five flies today-three males and two females." She-"How can you tell a male from a female fly?" He-"Well, three sat on the beer bottle and two on the mirror."

We'll Take the Larger One "Do you think there is any truth a the theory that big creatures are better natured than small ones?" asked the intellectual young woman on her visit to the farm.

"You bet there is," returned the farmer. "Just look at the difference between the Jersey mosquito and the Jersey cow."

How About the Other Answers Tourer-"So your daughter is going around the world this summer alone. Is she prepared for the journey?' DeTourer-"Well, she can say NO in twelve languages."

Ever Happen To You? Grocer-"You were gone longer on your auto trip than you expected."

Customer-"Yes, it took an extra week to fold up the road maps."

Very Thin Distinction

Tom-"What's the difference between 'caution' and 'cowardice'?" Dick-"Caution is when I'm scared and cowardice is when the other fellow is.

We'll Take Sarsaparilla

Young Girl (from the city, looking over the stock)-"Oh, I'm so glad you have a brown cow. Uncle John-"Why so, dear?"

milk while I'm visiting here.'

Phoning Pittsburgh It is said that a lady patron of the West Penn Power Company dropped into the office the other afternoon to pay a bill. While she was waiting for a receipt she heard a booming voice that resounded throughout the room.

"What's that noise?" she asked. "That's Mr. Popson, our dealer promotion representative," was the polite reply. "Is there anything the matter?"

"No, he's talking to Pittsburgh,"

"Why doesn't he use the telephone?" asked the lady customer.

A Short, Short Story

In the glowering dusk they walked along the path that encircles Hecla Park lake, holding hands and laughing like two unsophisticated

Suddenly she turned to him, and held open her arms. He drew her close to him, kissed her with all the first fires of passion. No one would have guessed they were married. They were not.

Tall, Dark and Handsome Lady-"This milk isn't good any more."

Milkman-"I know it, lady. Our cows haven't been contented since they tore down the tobacco sign with the handsome bull on it."

For Younger Chickens Just to show you to what lengths some people will go for a gag, we'll tell you about the husband who puttered around in the back yard with investment abroad? some boards and nails while his wife lay in bed with a bad cough.

"How's the wife?" asked the neighbor. "Not so good," was the reply.

"Sorry. Is that her coughing?" "Oh, no. This here is a hen house."

Cash and Carry Plan

Three farmers in Germany, so the story goes, were being questioned an investigator on the conservation of food.

"What do you feed your chickens?" he asked the first. "Corn," was the reply.

"You're under arrest," said the investigator. "We use corn to feed The second overheard this conversation, and tried to play safe.

"What do you feed your chickens?" came the question.

"Corn husks," said the farmer.

"You're under arrest. We use corn husks to make cloth. And you?" he asked, turning to the third man, "I give my chickens the money and tell them to go buy their own food." was the answer.

That's all, folks. Here's how we think up all these jokes. We just have a good laugh, and then think backwards to find out what we were many has 1,200,000 men in active child was sent to the Blossburg laughing at.

Louisa's Letter

Dear Louisa:

We have been having a discussion pertinent?" Some of the nicest people we know have rude children. Do you think the mother or father has the most influence on their behavior? We would like to hear what you think about this.

CLUB MEMBER. Kansas

ANSWER:

Usually courteous children are the products of courteous parents. A child who is spoken to softly and made to do his part, whether that part be easy or difficult, without church? emotion or temper, turns out to be a wellbehaved child.

But the child who lives in an atmosphere of tenseness and strife is ent form dates from that time: a marvel if he comes through it without becoming emotionally upset. Some parents have a habit of trying to blame every thing that happens on the other parent. Mother blames Father and Father blames Mother. Even when they do not do in words, the children can feel the unspoken censure in the air. This, of course, has a devastating effect on their behavior. They are supposed to look up to and respect their parents' opinions but when they hear one parent tell the other that he is lazy or selfish or nagging, their values become all mixed up and they lose their sense of security, o a certain extent.

Whenever I see boys who are particularly nice to their mother, I feel that they are reflecting their father's attitude, and whenever girls have a great respect for their father. you may be sure that mother thinks well of him, too.

There are exceptions to this, of course. There are cases where men are so mean to their wives that the children have a great sympathy for her and try to make up for such treatment by being particularly considerate. And there are children who feel a great love for the father whom they consider down trodden. But on the whole the children's attitude toward one parent is merely a reflection of the other parents attitude.

Suppose a father has many fine qualities but is impractical. If instead of dwelling on his good qualities, mother is always taking a dig at his gullibility you can imagine the effect on theri children. But, on the other hand, suppose she takes every opportunity to emphasize his good points. The children grow up thinking father is just the finest of men and it does as much for them as it does for him. And

But perhaps, the worse thing that can happen as far as a child is concerned is for parents to be divided when it comes to correction. If father tells one of the children about something he has done or left undone, if mother thinks it of no the King and Queen of England. consequence, it is better to wait until the child is not present to say so. A child is usually quick to use one parent against the other to gain his ends and it is well for parents to decide on a course together, and stick to it. Of course if one parent is absolutely unreasonable or brutal I don't think the other should sit by quietly, but I am speaking of the ordinary parents and not those who think that physical punishment is the cure for misbehavior. Personally, I think that those parents who resort to the whip are usually nothing but

As for judging whether the mother or father has the most influence on a child's behavior, I should think that would depend largely on the personality of the parent. If a boy adores his father. Young Girl-"Because now I won't have to go without my chocolate I imagine that he would be influenced more by him than by his mother. And if a girl worships her mother, the mother will influence her more than the father. This is only natural as the son's experiences will be more like the father's and the girl's will be similar to those of the mother. parents influence a child and it will be well for both mother and father to be careful of their words and LOUISA.

DO YOU KNOW 1. How many persons live on the farms of the U. S.? 2. How many miles does the "average" automobile travel in a year?

3. What was the largest Federal deficit?

4. How many consecutive games did Lou Gehrig play? 5. What is the gasoline consumption of the Atlantic Clipper on her flight across the ocean?

6. Have the Dionne quintuplets ever been spanked? 7. Who is the oldest member of the House of Representatives?

8. What is the extent of U. S. 9. With what nations does Japan trade most?

10. What is the strength of the German army?

The Answers Estimate, 32,659,000.

About 9,000 miles. $4,550,000,000 in year, 1936. 4. 2,130 from June 1, 1925, until he retired in May, 1939.

About one gallon a mile; 3,550 ilons crossing. 6. Dr. Dafoe says, "No." 7. Edward Thomas Taylor, of Colorado, 81 8. About $12,000,000,000. 9. Japan sells 80 per cent. of her of her imported war materials from these nations

Query and Answer Column

PROBLEM-If a match is cut through exactly in the center, which will be the heavy end? (Answer elsewhere in this department.)

W. G .- How large is the Universe?

Ans.—This is a mooted question. There is supposed to be no end to space. Hence scientists can only measure to the extent of their most powerful telescopes. Therefore, the latest and best estimates is that of Dr. in a little club of ours, "What makes Harlow Shapley of Harvard College. He says the group of all the stars some children polite and courteous which we can see through the best and largest telescope, and which asto their parents, and others so imfour quadrillion miles (4,764,000,000,000,000,000) in diameter. "Some" size, if you can grasp it. Believe it or not.

> V. H .- Will you please answer when and where Whittier, the poet, died, his age and religion, if any?

Ans.-John Greenleaf Whittier was born on a farm near Haverhill, Mass., Dec. 17, 1807, and died at Hamton Falls, N. H., Sept. 7, 1892, aged 85 years. His parents were Quakers, and while he had deep religious convictions, some writers doubt that he embraced the Quaker sect. S. Y.—What is meant by the terms "short ton" and "long ton"?

Ans.-A short ton is 2,000 pounds, and is the standard ton in the United States. The long ton is 2,240 pounds, and is the standard ton in J. D .- I would like to know what Westminster Abbey is, if it isn't a

Ans.-Westminster Abbey was founded in the 7th century as the burial place for England's kings; queens, peers, eminents, etc. The structure was remodeled in the 13th century by Edward the Confessor, and its pres-

A. G .- Why do vacuum bottles keep things hot or cold?

Ans .- A vacuum is the poorest conductor of heat known to science. The only heat that will pass through it is radiant heat, such as that received from the sun. Vacuum bottles are double-one bottle inside the other. The space between them is a vacuum. Since heat will not pass through this vacuum space, things inside the bottle do not get warmed up by outside heat, nor do things inside lose what heat they have.

H. S .- Why does air in an auto tire get so hot that it will sometimes

Ans-Air compressed into a tire will begin to heat when the motion of the atoms begin to vibrate back and forth. When you compress the air you push the atoms closer together. This makes them hit against each more often and makes them vibrate faster, and this increases heat. On hot days particularly the development of heat is about 50 to 75 per cent more rapidly

P. R .- What do you think of this? I've eaten meat all my life and I'm as strong as an ox.

Ans.-That's nothing. We know people who have eaten fish all their lives and still they can't swim a stroke.

N. T .- May I ask you if a pound of water is froze will it make a

Ans.-Yes, but it will be larger in volume.

G. W. B .- Who were the first professional baseball players? Ans .- The Sporting News Record Book says that Alfred J. Reach of Brooklyn, was the first professional player, being engaged to play for the Philadelphia Athletics in 1867. The first complete professional team was the famous Cincinnati Red Stockings of 1869, ten men drawing $9500. C. J. S.-What is the largest candle in the world?

Caruso, which is in Our Lady of Pompeii Church in Italy. Built in the Ans.-It is the candle built in honor of the famous tenor. Enrico

United States on order from his friends, at a cost of $3700, it is sixteen feet high, five feet in circumference and weighs a ton. The candle is lighted once a year on All Soul's Day and is expected to last 1800 years. P. G. C .- How far is the sun from the earth? Ans.—The mean distance of the sun from the earth is 92,897,416 miles.

United States entered the World War? Ans.-Goods sent to France for the use of American troops were ad-

C. G.-Was a tariff levied on war supplies sent to France after the

E. E. P.-How many signers of the Declaration of Independence were Ans.—Fifty-six names appear on the Declaration of Independence. L. T. W .- What is the most northern post office in the world? Ans.-Barrow, Alaska, is the world's most northern post office. The ost southerly post office in the world is said to be Ushuaia, Argentina capital of Tierra del Fuego.) L. C. B.-Was Mrs. Roosevelt an honorary member of the Daughters of the American Revolution or a member through eligibility?

Ans,-Mrs. Roosevelt is eligible through eight ancestors for membership in the Daughters of the American Revolution. H. D. H .- Please explain the initials R. I. and R. after the names of

Ans.—The initials R. I. after the name of the King of England stands

Rex Imperator-Rex meaning King, and Imperator meaning Emperor. The initial R. after the name of the Queen of England stands for Regina, meaning Queen.

E. S. H.-What was the first baseball scandal? Ans.-The first major scandal was in 1919 when eight Chicago White x players were barred for throwing the World Series to Cincinnati. E. H. L.-What city in the United States has the largest population per square mile? Ans.-Jersey City has the largest population per square mile of any city in the United States. With an area of only thirteen square miles and a population in 1930 of 316,000, it had in that year a population per square mile of 24,362 7. K. S. H.-Are black and green tea produced by different varieties of

Ans.—The difference is wholly a matter of preparation. The green variety is what makers call unfermented tea and the black is fermented. Permentation in this instance means about the same as oxidation, the leaves remaining in the open air from twenty to thirty hours. Certain oxidizing ferments work chemical changes in the leaf that make it black. M. J. H.-Please give the total circulation of Catholic newspapers. Ans.—In 1938 Catholic newspapers had a total circulation of 2,631,807.

C. B.-What is a saga? Ans.-A saga is an ancient Scandinavian legend, tale, or history, hence any romantic or mythical tale of ancient times. W. J. B .- How many hot dogs and hamburgers are eaten at the New

Ans .- Figures to June 11 show that there has been a consumption 2,286,264 frankfurters and 1,524,176 hamburgers. T. W. H .- Please give a list of some of the world's most unusual mon-

Ans .- At Enterprise, Ala., there is a monument to the boll weevil; in New York O'ty one is erected to an amiable child, and at Mont St. Michel, Brittany, there is one commemorating an omelet. At Little Compton, R. I., there is a monument to a hen; at Winnipeg there is a monolith to wheat, and at Llandudno, Wales, there is a statue of the famous White

M. M. G .- Is there any four-footed animal that cannot walk? Ans.-The sloth, said to be the laziest animal in the world, hange from the branches of trees, feeding on shoots, foliage, and fruits. The animal's anatomy is such that it can only hang. It has no defensive weapon, but is camouflaged by the coloration of its hair which is covered with a minute green algae. F. S. R.-Who were the first River Brethren?

York World's Fair?

Ans.-This name was applied to certain Christian bodies originating 1770 in settlements of the eastern part of Pennsylvania. Their religi ous leaders, Jacob and John Engle, became associated with Philip William Otterbein, Martin Boehm, and others in the revival movement of that time. Disagreement over the form of baptism to be used led to the development of separate movements. The followers of the Engles, wi believed that trine immersion was the mode to be adopted, came to be known as the River Brethren, either because they lived down by the river or because they were immersed in the waters of the Susquehanna in joining the brotherhood.

Answer to problem: The end which has the head, because that is the "light" end, of course.

Strengthen River Bridge Large rocks were placed about the bases of the second and third piers supporting the Reading Railroad bridge at Millon to strengthen the piers whose natural foundations have been washed out by the Susquehanna River. Two dericks lifted the rocks from flat cars on the bridge and placed them at the Boy Loses Two Fingers, A belated Fourth of July accident occurred at Canton, Wednesexports to the U.S., Great Britsin day morning, when a son of Mr. and France, and buys 85 per cent. and Mrs. William Summers, lost two fingers. A stick of dynamite, which he claimed he found on the

HELD AT GRANGE PARK

The twelfth annual reunion of the Albright clan was held at Grange Park, Centre Hall, on Tuesday, July 4th.

ALBRIGHT REUNION

A plentiful dinner was served at the noon hour to the one hundred or more persons present. A play entitled, "The Seashore Vacation," was given by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Albright and Mrs. Samuel Albright, after which officers were elected Games for the children employed part of the afternoon. Rev. C. C. Shuey of Bellefonte gave a short talk. Horse shoe pitching and mush ball concluded the day Everyone reported a fine time.

... Classified ads are thrifty.