

L. Frank Mayes Is a Candidate

Lemont Auctioneer, Marble Dealer Seeks Office of Prothonotary

L. Frank Mayes, well known auctioneer from Lemont, (College Twp.) recently announced himself as a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of Prothonotary and Clerk of the Courts.

Mr. Mayes is widely known throughout the county, having followed the auctioneer business for the past thirty-three years. He comes from a family of "Old Line Republicans" and has been active in politics for the last forty-four years. He has served his party as County Chairman with credit to himself and benefit to his party. Frank served one term as treasurer of Centre county.

Mr. Mayes is now recovering from a recent operation and as his physical condition improves he will strive to contact personally as many voters as possible between now and the primary election on September 12, 1939. His many friends and associates have indicated their intention of assisting him as they can in what must be a short but active campaign, and he wishes to assure them of his appreciation and thank them for their efforts in his behalf. 'Esso News' Praises Big Spring, Trout Bellefonte's famous spring and big trout come in for some excellent publicity in the current issue of "Esso Road News," which has a wide circulation among motorists of Pennsylvania and adjoining states.

The article is reprinted below:

"Bubble, bubble, saves you trouble" might well be the refrain sung by the mammoth spring at Bellefonte, Pa., which for many years has abundantly supplied that community with its cool, sparkling water. The daily flow of eleven and a half million gallons is more than sufficient for the town's needs. The remainder swells the volume of Spring Creek which passes through the business section.

"Bellefonte itself owes its name to this amazing natural wonder. On the occasion when Talleyrand, the great French diplomat and statesman, visited the place, he expressed his admiration for the spring in an exclamation: "Quelle belle fontaine!" (What a beautiful fountain!) His hostess promptly seized upon these words as the best of names for the village. Her suggestion was adopted.

"Spring Sources Unknown"

"The spring has a near-constant 50-degree temperature winter and summer, for there is a variance of only one degree. Its source never has been traced.

"Below the pumping station, which forces the spring's waters into the city mains, Spring Creek acts as host for a large number of giant trout which attract thousands of visitors each year to Bellefonte. Chopped meat is sold nearby, and it is prime sport to toss particles to the fish and watch their swift and voracious response. At times the surface literally boils as they dash about for the food."

"What we call a successful invalid is too sick to wash the dishes but well enough to get to a bridge party."

Bridge Collapse May Lead To Suit

Highway Department Plans Legal Action to Recover Damages

The State Highway Department will institute legal action to recover damages for the collapse of the Juniata River bridge at Alexandria, Highways Secretary I. Lamont Hughes announced yesterday.

The east span of the bridge, which is located on the William Penn Highway, collapsed on July 24 when it was allegedly struck by a truck and trailer operated by Harry R. Tull, of Westmont, N. J. Three persons riding in a passenger car were killed at the time of the crash. At a coroner's inquest, witnesses claimed that Tull's truck struck the bridge, causing the collapse. Department engineers found the structure safe for traffic when it was last inspected on June 13. Tull is being held in jail on a charge of involuntary manslaughter.

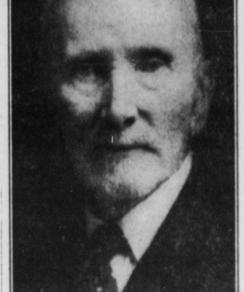

The damaged bridge, which is now being repaired as quickly as possible, will probably be ready for use about September 1. Until the Highway Department and Huntingdon county authorities can agree on a solution of the situation at Alexandria, where a grade crossing has complicated the engineering problem, Secretary Hughes said a timber deck I-beam construction will be sufficient.

County's Oldest Citizen Dies at Age 101

walk with the aid of crutches. Up until his 100th birthday and after he walked daily about town. Surviving are two nephews: J. Clarence Hamilton, Bellefonte; Thomas B. Broderick, Long Beach, L. O. and a niece, Mrs. E. M. Broderick, of State College.

Funeral services were held yesterday morning at St. John's Catholic church, with the Rev. Father William E. Downes officiating. Interment was made in the Catholic cemetery.

Mr. Hamilton was a descendant of a family long known for longevity. His brother, Thaddeus Rowland Hamilton, late of Bellefonte, was 92 years old when he passed away in 1927. His mother died in her 90th year, his grandfather lived to be 95 years old and his great-grandfather is reported to have attained the ripe old age of 105.

Mr. Hamilton's first wife was cast General Lincoln for president, and in the same election he cast a ballot for his cousin, Andrew Gregg Curtin, who became Pennsylvania's famous Civil War Governor.

Thomas Brew Hamilton was a native of Bellefonte, having been born in a stone house about where the present Markland Hotel is located, on January 13, 1838, making his age at time of death 101 years, 6 months and 17 days. His parents were William and Mary Brew Hamilton.

At the age of 23 years he answered Lincoln's first call for troops, and enlisted for three months' service, being assigned to the Eagle Guards, Company H, 4th Pennsylvania Volunteers. At the expiration of his enlistment he joined General John Irvin Curtin in forming another company and was twice elected as 1st Lieutenant of the company.

Mr. Hamilton served a total of three years in the army, having been with McClelland's forces before Richmond, and having served in the commissary department for a time. Shortly before the close of the war he contracted typhoid fever, and adequate medical facilities being limited, he was sent home to recuperate. His nurse during his illness was a daughter of the then mayor of Boston, Mass. The illness left a defect in hearing which persisted throughout his life.

Upon regaining his health Mr. Hamilton, who was a second cousin of the late Governor Andrew Gregg Curtin, entered the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and while acting as station agent at Antesport in 1865, was united in marriage with Miss Irene McKicken, whose father at the time was Sheriff of Lycoming county.

In addition to his duties with the Pennsylvania Railroad, he also was employed by the Empire Line, which operated over the P. R. R. lines. In the early days of the oil industry he was sent by Col. Fox to Olean, to look after the vast oil holdings of the Empire Line.

Upon giving up railroading as a vocation, Mr. Hamilton became associated with Hancock & Company, Philadelphia grain merchants, and was placed in charge of the Newark Branch. Later he opened an office in New York City and became a member of the Produce Exchange. At the termination of his activities in this line of work at the turn of the present century, he moved to Williamsport and after residing there until 1908 came to Bellefonte where he has since resided.

In 1934 he made history in the life insurance field when the Equitable Life Assurance Society, with whom he had carried an ordinary life insurance policy for 60 years, paid the policy in full and waived further premium payments. In July of that year when the Equitable Society celebrated its 75th anniversary, Mr. Hamilton was a guest of honor at the festivities held in the Waldorf-Astoria, New York.

On August 8, 1934, Mr. Hamilton was a guest of honor of the Edward A. Woods Agency, Pittsburgh, at the convention of agency representatives at the Nittany Lion Inn, State College. Upon returning home from State College he fell and fractured his hip. Despite the fact that such an injury frequently proves fatal to aged persons, he not only survived the accident but lived to walk once more.

Mrs. Hamilton died in 1922 after she and Mr. Hamilton had lived together 57 years. No children were born to their union.

Upon the occasion of his 100th birthday, the aged veteran was guest of honor at a testimonial dinner given at the Penn Belle Hotel by the Bellefonte Chamber of Commerce.

until his untimely death. On Wednesday of this year's convention, a pilgrimage will be made to his grave in the Brisben cemetery, where a monument was erected to his memory by the Houtzdale firemen and dedicated in 1912 when the convention met again at Houtzdale. He is regarded as the founder of the organization.

Present at the meeting that planned the first convention in 1892 were the following: Frank Weber, Phillipsburg; Frank Bradley, Clearfield; William Cairns, Tyrone; S. S. Cressman and Patrick Cloie, of Phillipsburg; Alexander Smith and Charles Langford, of Houtzdale; Ed. C. Bates, Charles Moffet and A. W. Baird, of Osceola Mills.

The convention speakers for this year will be David J. Price, of the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.; State Senator A. H. Letzler, of Houtzdale, and Congressman James E. VanZandt, of Altoona. They will speak at the Wednesday session. The general chairman of the convention is William Lewis, Sr.

Is Candidate For Re-election

Woodring is Republican Aspirant For Second Term as Recorder

Centre county's Recorder of Deeds Leamer R. Woodring, of Milesburg, in announcing his candidy for re-election, released the following statement:

"Mr. Woodring, Milesburg borough Republican, was born in Boggs township, a son of the late Dorsey E. Woodring and Mary Ellen Pennington Woodring.

"He received his education in the public schools of Boggs township, and at the age of 16 years accepted his first position with the Pennsylvania Railroad as clerk in the Milesburg passenger and freight station, two years later being transferred to the telegraph department. During the World War Mr. Woodring was transferred to the Superintendent's office at Tyrone, working there until 1922.

"In 1928 Mr. Woodring was again transferred to Altoona to do special work for the Williamsport Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, returning to Milesburg and working in Bellefonte as Assistant Yard Master under Mr. T. J. Kelleher during 1930 and 1931.

"In 1932 a decline in business caused his return to the telegraph department where he remained until 1933 at which time a general business depression caused him to be furloughed.

"In 1935 he entered into the political field with aspiration for the office of Centre county Recorder of Deeds, winning the nomination by a substantial majority, and the November election.

"Mr. Woodring is asking the voters of Centre county for their support in his candidacy for re-election.

"If re-elected he will give the office the same conscientious service that he has during the past four years." (Pol. Adv.)

Prowlers Are Reported Here

The prowler is reported to have fled down the alley past the Markland Hotel. It is believed the man climbed from the ground to the porch, a difficult but not impossible climb.

Police making their rounds shortly after 1 o'clock Tuesday morning discovered the sliding door at the northern end of the George A. Beezer garage on North Water street, partly ajar and notified Captain Herbert M. Beezer, who went to the garage at once and found that nothing had been disturbed. The door, which is locked by a chain on the inside, had apparently been opened from the inside, but there was no indication that anyone had forcibly entered the building.

Two weeks ago several local service stations were broken into and small amounts of merchandise were taken.

Harry C. Yeager Dies Suddenly

HARRY C. YEAGER

Wednesday, but on Thursday night seemed to be much improved.

At about 5 o'clock Friday morning he got up and awakened Mr. Malory who telephoned to Bellefonte for Mr. Yeager's son, Jack, to come for his father. Meanwhile Mr. Yeager had returned to bed where he died shortly before his son's arrival. Death was attributed to a heart condition from which he had suffered since May of this year. Up until that time he had never been ill.

Funeral services were held from the residence on North Spring Street on Monday afternoon, with the Rev. William C. Thompson, pastor of the Presbyterian church, officiating. The Bellefonte Elks Lodge of which Mr. Yeager had long been a member, held memorial services at the grave in the Union cemetery.

Surviving are two sons: Jack H. Yeager, at home, and Malcolm Yeager, of Perki Amboy, N. J.; a sister, Mrs. G. Edward Harper, of West High Street, Bellefonte, and three grandchildren, Mollie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Yeager; and Alice Ruth and Robert, children of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Yeager.

Mrs. Yeager, the former Ruth Triple of Bellefonte, and with whom he was united in marriage on June 19, 1909, passed away on December 10, 1904.

Harry C. Yeager was born on Bishop Street on July 3, 1874, a son of Henry C. and Emma J. Sourbeck Yeager. He received his early education in the public schools of the borough, and then attended the Bellefonte High school for one year; the equivalent of a partial college education today. He had worked part time at the Mingle shoe store for some months before May 30, 1938—the day of the Johnstown flood—when he was put on the payroll as a full time employee.

Mr. Yeager began work at Mingle's at a salary of $1.50 a week. After the first year he received $2.00 a week, and after twelve years at Mingle's, when he resigned to go into business for himself, he was receiving $90 a month.

A job in a store fifty years ago was really a job. The stores opened at 6 a. m. and remained open until 10 p. m. every day with Christmas being the only holiday during the year. There were no half-holidays, each week during the summer; no Thanksgiving, Labor Day or Memorial Day holidays.

June 19, 1902 Mr. Yeager and Emer Davi, went into partnership and purchased the Powers Shoe Company, located in the Bush Arcade building, West High Street. Several years later Mr. Yeager bought out Mr. Davi's interest, and conducted that business in the same location until 1925. He then moved to a small store room between the Elks home and the former Benner property just west of the Diamond, conducting "Yeager's Tiny Boot Shop" there until 1935 when the buildings were torn down to make way for the erection of the present G. J. Murphy store building. Since that time the Yeager store has been located in the Plaza theatre building.

Shortly after their marriage in 1900 Mr. and Mrs. Yeager went to housekeeping in the old Triple home, east on North Spring street, which had remained the family home ever since.

From 1905 to 1910 Mr. Yeager, his late brother, Maurice, and Thomas Saxon comprised a partnership which engaged in the manufacture of porch swings and toy furniture, at the Phoenix Mill property.

Mr. Yeager was a member of the Presbyterian church; had been secretary and treasurer of the Sunday school constantly since 1914; was a member of the Bellefonte Elks Lodge; was a member of the I. O. O. F.; a director of the Y. M. C. A.; a charter member of the Chamber of Commerce, and a member of the Fossils Bowling team. He was a charter member and president of the Sycamore Camp club.

For the past two years Mr. Yeager had been chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Committee in charge of street decorations during the Christmas season, and each year succeeded in having the streets trimmed more attractively than ever before in the town's history.

Only one other Bellefonte merchant has been in business longer than Mr. Yeager. He is W. C. Coxey, who was in the grocery business a half century ago when Mr. Yeager accepted his first job.

The following members of the Bellefonte Elks Club acted as casket bearers: A. C. Heverly, George Hanzel, Harry Eberhart, Russell P. Beezer, Paul N. Eckley and O. A.

Democrats Plan Annual Outing

Mr. Barr attended last year's Democratic picnic at Black Mosbarn and were enthusiastic about the central counties affair that has grown to be a looked-for event by political observers throughout the state.

The picnic executive committee, under the chairmanship of Walter E. Beezer, regional director of the Young Democratic Clubs of Pennsylvania, has chosen the following committee chairmen: reception, Hon. Edward Jackson Thompson, candidate for Judge of the Superior Court; women's clubs, Lucy Howe Merrell, regional director, Women's Democratic Clubs of Pennsylvania; program, James Wilson, finance, William H. Hoffer; decoration, Edward Gates; traffic, Edward Gustafson; registration, Pearly Edwards; sports, Edward Tekeley, and refreshments, Edward Loding.

The picnic program will include band concerts, soft ball games, watermelon eating contest, flag raising, and gigantic display of fireworks in the evening featuring a vivid aerial bombardment. The speaking program will be headed by prominent national Democrats, state-wide and county candidates.

The "Ten County Picnic" is being sponsored by the Philadelphia Women's and Young Democratic Clubs, under the direction of Doris Mattern Carroll, and Russell M. Lucas, presidents of those organizations.

Play Will Open Fair Activities

New Band to Make Debut at Centre Hall Event; Camping Begins August 23

The Grange Encampment and Centre County Fair committee announced several new activities for the 1939 Fair, opening August 24. Program activities will begin on Thursday evening, August 24, with the first production of the Centre County Grange Players in the auditorium at 8 p. m. The staging of these one-act plays will continue through every evening of Fair Week, Sunday excepted, judges' decisions and awards being announced on the closing Thursday evening, August 31.

Amateur programs on the band stand will follow the auditorium program; an hour of group singing for everyone is being arranged for several evenings. Mrs. John Dile, in charge of this event, will have more detailed announcements later in the month. A Centre county band will give the program during the closing Thursday evening, August 31.

Mr. Yeager began work at Mingle's at a salary of $1.50 a week. After the first year he received $2.00 a week, and after twelve years at Mingle's, when he resigned to go into business for himself, he was receiving $90 a month.

Railroad Man Seeking Office

Clark N. Aikey Candidate For G. O. P. Nomination as Commissioner

Friends of Clark Newton Aikey, of Mifflinville, who has announced his candidacy for the nomination on the Republican ticket as County Commissioner of Centre county, released the following statement regarding his candidacy:

"Mr. Aikey is forty-three years of age; was born and raised in Boggs township. He attended the public schools and after graduation entered the high school of Milesburg borough.

"When a lad of fourteen, Clark put in his vacation time working in the ore banks of Centre county which at that time produced iron ore for the McCoy and Linn charcoal iron furnace and for the Eagle Iron Works at Curtin. After he finished his schooling, he became employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in their maintenance of track department and worked his way up to a position in the signal department of the railroad. Later he was advanced to the position of a locomotive fireman. This position he maintained until the railroad in their program of re-trenchment reduced the personnel, and since leaving his employment with the railroad company he has continued to maintain his seniority rights.

"It is a credit to Mr. Aikey that never throughout his years of employment by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has he ever received a single reprimand nor has he ever been suspended for violation of the rules of the company.

"Mr. Aikey was employed for some time with the Centre County Commissioners as an investigator, and by reason of his experience in the Commissioner's office, he is familiar with the business and duties of County Commissioner.

"He was married on September 5, 1917, to Miss Bernice Dukeman, and to this union have been born two children—his son, Miles, and a daughter, Jane. Clark and his family are members of the Methodist Episcopal church.

"Clark Aikey has a host of friends throughout Centre county and they have very generously come forward and assured him of their united support to his candidacy.

"Mr. Aikey has been an active Republican all his life." (Pol. Adv.)

for injuries received, while Mr. Taylor seeks $1,000 to repay him for damages to his car; for medical attention for his wife; the loss of her services, and cost of employing domestic help. Mrs. Taylor lists her injuries as having been a severe laceration of the nose, bruising of the head, lacerations of the face which resulted in permanent disfigurement, impairment of eyesight, injuries about one knee, and shock.

The statement sets forth that the Taylors were driving northward toward Potters Mills when a delivery truck owned by the defendants and operated by A. C. Faus, an employee of the defendants, attempted to pass on a curve without sounding the horn and while traveling at excessive speed under the circumstances. Damage to the Taylor car is listed at $200.
