

Odd and Curious News

Painful Experience

A dozen men and two physicians worked three hours to free Marty O'Brien whose arm was drawn to the shoulder into the gears of a gasoline power saw...

Too Poor

Too poor he said, to afford hospital care, John A. Kasper collapsed in an alley at Excelsior Springs, Mo. An examination of his pockets at a sanitarium to which he was taken disclosed $4.95 in cash...

Cat Came Back

Traffic Officer Alvin Bush, of White Haven, Pa., was assigned to a housewife's request that a cat be destroyed. Bush reported the job done. Coming to work the next day he was greeted by this note from the night crew: "The lady called up to report that cat you killed this morning arrived back home tonight in time to have kittens."

No Swapping

A young woman telephoned Deputy Clerk of Courts Wayne J. Moore, of West Chester, and inquired if she might exchange her marriage license for a hunting license. She explained her prospective bridegroom has disappeared. "You probably need a hunting license," Moore agreed, "but you can't get it here."

Absent-Minded

A certain member of the faculty of Virginia Tech, of Blacksburg, Va., drove to a nearby town in his automobile. Forgetting it, he boarded a train for home. Realizing that he would have to go back for the car, he went to the railroad station and bought a round-trip ticket.

Neighbors Meet

Although they live within several blocks of each other in Los Angeles, Calif., Dallas Reppert and William Heacock had to come to Danville to meet. Both have been visiting relatives there and Reppert was seeking a companion for the return trip to his home when he made Heacock's acquaintance.

Boys Take 258 Keys

Suddenly imbued with a key-collecting mania, a 12-year-old Tucson, Ariz., boy obtained the assistance of two smaller boys. The three collected 258 keys from automobiles in parking lots and garages. Now police have the job of distributing them to their owners.

Preacher's Pants

The Rev. Edgar H. Bradley, pastor of the Muncie Valley, Lyncoln county Methodist charge, returned from a trip out of town, to find that his typewriter and a pair of his trousers had been stolen. Other valuables in the house were undisturbed.

Pear Shoots Gun

Resting under a pear tree after a squirrel hunt, Lee Berkes, 14, of Dixon, Ill., rested his loaded rifle against the tree. A pear fell from the tree, struck the trigger, and the load struck the boy in the abdomen, critically wounding him.

Lots of Heads

Mother nature went on a spree and produced seven solid heads of cabbage on a single stock for James Millard, of Bloomsburg. The heads were nearly of uniform size, weighing from three to three and a half pounds each.

Boys Give Warning

Dog-catchers in Gloucester, N. J., are having a hard time of it. Ahead of them, as they go down the street are a group of boys who shout "Get the dogs in. Get the dogs in. Here comes the dogcatcher." And there's not a dog to be seen.

Sets Own Arm

Noticing that his arm looked crooked after a fall, Johnny Knipper, 13, of Lansford, Pa., gave it a jerk, after a physician examined the arm, found it to have been broken, but perfectly set by the jerk.

Bird Fires House

A sparrow which picked up a lighted cigarette butt and carried it to its nest is blamed for a fire which damaged the second floor sleeping porch of W. S. Wolf, at Blacksburg, N. Y.

Workman Hurt at Factory

Harry Showers of Nittany, an employee of the R. K. Griffin Company, Lock Haven, suffered an injury to his left eye at the plant where a piece of wood struck him. He was taken to the Williamsport Hospital for observation and treatment of the injury, which is not considered serious.

The Most Widely Read Newspaper in Centre County.

A Visitor in Seven Thousand Homes Each Week.

SECOND SECTION

The Centre Democrat

NEWS, FEATURES

VOLUME 58.

BELLEFONTE, PA., THURSDAY, AUGUST 17, 1939.

NUMBER 33.

STATE COLLEGE MAN IS HERO IN WRECK OF CRACK STREAMLINER

Dr. E. A. Betts Credited With Saving Many Lives As 19 Are Killed, Sixty Injured Near Reno, Nevada

Stories of horror and of praise for rescue workers were told at Reno, Nevada, Sunday night by survivors of the wrecked streamliner train City of San Francisco.

Dr. Betts, himself badly bruised, was credited by fellow passengers with saving the lives of many who would have died to death had it not been for his work.

Nineteen persons were killed and nearly 60 injured in the wreck of the Southern Pacific streamliner as it derailed over a small bridge 20 miles west of Carlin, Nev.

A coroner's jury and railroad officials said the tragedy had been caused deliberately.

While the rescue crews dug into wreckage of the luxurious "City of San Francisco," seeking more dead or injured, railway investigators said they found definite evidence

Machine Shop at Osceola Burned

Stine Plant With All Machinery and Patterns Destroyed by Fire

Osceola suffered another fire loss last Thursday when the Stine machine shop, located near the town burned to the ground. The origin of the fire is not known.

Nothing was saved as the 275 by 75 foot frame building housing metal working machinery and machine patterns burned with flames and threatened the surrounding homes.

The shrieking whistle of a locomotive operated by a railroad engineer, who first noticed the fire, notified the firemen of the blaze at 12:25 a. m. Firemen, answering the alarm, were met by a flaming furnace of heat. The fire had developed so rapidly that the entire building was quickly enveloped in a blanket of fire.

As heat-cracked paint bubbled burst into flames on nearby homes, Osceola firemen sent in alarms to Tyron and Phillipsburg at 12:55 a. m. and then confined their efforts to preventing the blaze from spreading.

The Pedrazzani Service Station and homes owned by William Krage, and Martin Copella were slightly damaged by the intense heat.

When firemen from Tyron and Phillipsburg arrived the machine shop was destroyed, so quickly had the flames eaten up the wooden structure.

Sunbury Girl, 13, Mother 5 Months

Former Gladys Arlene Derr Was Wed to William Zeiser Last Winter

The marriage of a 13-year-old Sunbury girl, who is the mother of a five-month-old daughter, has just been revealed.

The girl, the former Gladys Arlene Derr, admitted she quit the seventh grade of the public schools to become the bride of William Zeiser, Jr., 18, of Sunbury, last winter.

The news of the marriage had been suppressed until a few days ago when court house records confirmed the wedding. A special court order was issued which permitted the issuance of a license and the marriage by a magistrate. County officials said news of the court order was suppressed at the request of the young couple.

The couple and their daughter, Rosebud, blue-eyed Mary Mae are living on a $2.50 per week relief check in a two room flat. The walls of the flat are decorated with water colored paintings from the brush of the young husband, who has an ambition to become an artist.

The child-bird was 13 last Oct. 31. She is big for her age, standing five feet, two inches, and has red hair and freckles. She takes care of all the house work, cooks all the meals, and still finds "plenty of time" to attend to Mary Mae.

"I'm as happy as can be, and why not with a family like mine," Mrs. Zeiser said, "Bill helps me when he isn't out looking for work." Zeiser said he also quit school to be married.

Both said they were too busy "keeping house" to think about "going back to books."

Named Loganton Teacher George Mumma, 32, Washington, Pa., teacher, was elected supervisor of agriculture in the Sugar Valley Vocational Schools, succeeding Jacob B. Bartzes who resigned.

Chosen from seven applicants, Mr. Mumma was elected at a special meeting in the new $65,000 school annex which will be opened to classes in the fall. He is expected to begin work Aug. 16 and will receive a salary of $1,800. Mr. Mumma is a 1937 graduate of Penn State.

Salutations

HOPE IN FUTURE

An inquest, conducted by Coroner Roy S. Harris, of Eureka county, returned a verdict that the victims "came to their deaths by train accident, and to the best of our belief and judgment the wreck was caused by a misplaced rail, misplaced by a person or persons unknown."

The derailment spread death, terror and injury throughout the sleek, $1,000,000 train, aboard which many passengers were asleep and others

(Continued on last page)

16 FROM COUNTY GET HIGH DEGREE AWARDS AT STATE COLLEGE

Foster T. Augustine, of Bellefonte High School Teaching Staff, Gets Master Degree; Miss Mills, Arts and Letters

Announcement has been made by Penn State of advanced degrees presented at the sixteenth summer session commencement exercises on Thursday evening. Diplomas were awarded by President Hannah D. Metzler, while Dr. Alexander J. Stoddard, superintendent of schools in Philadelphia, gave the commencement address.

Among those who received advanced degrees are the following from Centre County:

Bellefonte—Foster T. Augustine, master of education in education. State College—Richard Eisenman, master of education in physical education; Laura S. Heimbach, master of education in education; Albert H. Holtzinger, doctor in chemistry; Edward Niedro, Jr., master of science in chemical engineering; Herbert A. Wahl, doctor of Philosophy in botany; Kenneth B. Waterbury, doctor of education in education; Cyril D. Wilson, doctor of Philosophy in chemistry.

The following from Centre county received baccalaureate degrees at the close of the summer session:

Bellefonte—Margaret Cecelia Mills, arts and letters. Boalsburg—Arthur D. Jeffrey, pre-medical. Snow Shoe—Oscar J. Harm, pre-medical.

State College—Ann W. Bonine, arts and letters; John J. Brodick, forestry; Dorothea Covall, home economics; Leda B. Mason, education; Urwin Rounisier, industrial education.

Random Items

FRUSTRATION This department's hope for county unity in the spelling of the plural of "referendum," seems doomed to disappointment. At hand we have a genteel but uncompromising letter from friend Donald Sanders, editor of the Centre Daily Times, who claims that our preferred way of spelling the word "Referendums," has a "strangely harsh sound" in addition to being too long for newspaper use. Sanders makes a strong plea for the county's newswriters to stick together in the defense of the journalistic terms "ousts," "flays," "rape," "quix," "probe," "tot," "cop," "rab," "slash," and even "that most astounding creation of all, furled plura!" Sanders still likes good old, short form, he writes. But he notes an exception in the word "bus." He alleges that "bus" is a fairly short word and holds that when he sees the short plural "buses" he always says "busses," which he concludes, is a horrid word. So we'll have to resign ourselves to the fact that there's to be no standard plural for "referendum" in Centre county. It's a great pity, too, for this department has never waved since we heard about Shylock's chiding in the "Merchant of Venice," "Should Steady Dates Neck?" There's a question for you! The class gave less time to this problem than to the first one, as they were "nearly all agreed that it is permissible for steady dates."

SHOULD CASUAL DATES "NECK" This somewhat blunt question is answered in a fresh and understandable way in the publication "Summer Session Highlights" issued last week by students at the summer session of the State College High school. The topic was discussed in a class on social studies, and the problem provoked considerable discussion from the class before pupils decided that "very casual dates should not neck at all, but that persons who date each other more than 'just once in a while,' might occasionally." The second topic for discussion, no less interesting to this department, whose interest in neck has never waned since we heard about Shylock's chiding in the "Merchant of Venice," was "Should Steady Dates Neck?" There's a question for you! The class gave less time to this problem than to the first one, as they were "nearly all agreed that it is permissible for steady dates."

ABSENCE MAKES THE HEART GROW FONDER Congressman James E. VanZandt in his newspaper column last week made much of the fact that during the recent session of Congress he never missed a roll call on the 157 occasions when one was taken in the House. Maybe the interests of this district would have been better served had a little absentee representation on his part once in a while.

DON'T BE BLUFFED You camera fans who have wondered whether or not anyone can stop you from taking pictures will find much information in the comment of a prominent Centre county attorney, who declared that you are within your rights in taking a picture of practically anyone or anything. The only exceptions are governmental buildings or functions against which there are specific bans to photographers. (Example: death chamber and electrocutions at Rockview prison.) You can go on a man's property and take a photo of his house without fear of going to jail as long as you don't damage the property and as long as there are no signs posted on the land prohibiting trespassing. You can take a photo of anyone on the streets without fear of the house-gow. Of course, someone might bring legal action against you, but the chances are they wouldn't get very far for the taking of a picture is not a crime in most cases. Some states have passed laws imposing severe penalties on persons who, becoming angered at press photographers, damage their cameras. So the next time anyone threatens to jail you for taking a picture of him, of his house, of his manservant, maid-servant or anything that is within his gates, within reasonable limits, tell him to go flag a freight and use all the film you choose.

BUSINESS NOTE The Titan Metal Company is figuring on doing away with the candy canners it had placed throughout the plant some time ago, so workmen could purchase candy bars by dropping a nickel in the slot. It seems that some of the boys found that by taking a rod of Titan Metal and sliding it down on a saw they got pieces of metal which the machine couldn't tell from a nickel. According to reports it has gotten so that when the machines are opened the company finds hand-

BELLEFONTE'S SECOND FIRE OF 1887

The year 1887 was noted for its severe fire losses to the business interests of Bellefonte. Last week was noted for the burning of the Bush Arcade which occurred on the morning of January 2, 1887, entailing a huge loss to the downtown business section. Scarcely had the ill-fated merchants adjusted themselves to new locations when the Reynolds Block (now Bellefonte Trust Company building and Garman Hotel) became a prey to another costly conflagration. This fire occurred on Saturday, February 26, in the early darkness of that morning the citizens were aroused by a bright light in the vicinity of the diamond, and it was soon discovered that the brick business block occupying the southeast corner of the Diamond was ablaze.

The building was owned by Major W. F. Reynolds. The second story was occupied by Dr. C. M. Boardner, who had his dental offices there; Miss M. Musser, Misses Stover, and Miss S. Ohm-macht, as dwelling apartments.

Two Couples Observe 25th Anniversaries Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Watson, of Milesburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Johnson, of Holtz, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary at the Mayas picnic grounds on Sunday, August 6.

Among those present were the following: Clyde Watson and family, Merrill Watson, Kenneth Watson, Eugene Watson, Lee Johnson and family, Eleanor Franko, Sue Wesley, Frank Johnson, Clair Johnson, Marie Johnson, Lee Johnson, Jr., Dick and Anna Johnson, Mack Reese and family, J. F. Pfele and family, Charles Lucas, Jane Lucas, Helen Brown, Lillian Franco, Dr. Franco, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Conifer, J. T. Watson, Nevin Watson, Mr. and Mrs. William McKinley, Mr. and Mrs. Roy McKinley, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Baird, William McClure, Walter Kesting, Jeanne Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Orvis Walker, family, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Walker, Mrs. Earl Powell, Verma and Harvey Walker, Thelma Charlton, John Shewley, Cora Tensbury, Mina Weaver, Edith Fye, Mr. Keller, Jean and Ruth Masagale, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Slicker, Abe McKinley, Mrs. Ida Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Johnson, Mahlon Johnson, Eugene Tyson, Louise Lucas, Mr. and Mrs. William Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Fetzer, Rev. C. C. Shuey, Mr. and Mrs. John Lucas and two girls, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Butler and son, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Vonada, and Mrs. Olive Rhoads and children.

Many beautiful and valuable gifts were received by the guests of honor and a very pleasant time was had by all.

Spring Mills Man Is Honored On Birthday Daniel H. Slagle, well known plasterer of Spring Mills, was the guest of honor at a dinner held in observance of his 75th birthday Friday evening. The event was held at the Slagle home in Spring Mills.

Mr. Slagle was born at Madisonburg 75 years ago and has been engaged in the plastering trade practically all of his life. In the family are six children: Miss Mary, State Nurse for Centre county; Miss Orwayne and Fred, all at home; Mrs. Wayne Mangle, of New York City; Eugene, of Fairfield, Conn., and Robert, of State College.

Among the guests at the dinner were: Elmer Hettinger, Al Mark, Harry A. Corman, Mr. Eungard, William Graden and Walter Auer, all of Spring Mills, and William Dreese and Andrew Heister, of Laurelton.

School of Love Interesting discoveries of a new kind of "marriage laboratory" which teaches how to pick your life partner and what to do afterwards to insure lasting happiness. One of many illustrated articles in the August 27th issue of The American Weekly, the big magazine distributed with the Baltimore Sunday American. On sale at all newsstands.

The Burning of Reynolds Bank Building and Garman Hotel Followed Closely the Destruction of the Bush Arcade

Miss Ohm-macht, it is said, became ill during the night, and arose, lit a hot stove for the purpose of heating a cup of tea, and again sought her couch for a few moments' rest.

She fell into a doze, and when she again awoke at half past three, she discovered her room to be on fire. Quickly arising she called the other occupants of that floor, and an alarm was given.

Soon the firemen were there, but delay was caused by the frozen corner of the hose, a difficulty which seemed to harass our early-day fire companies during the cold seasons.

However a great effort was made to subdue the flames, but in vain. The Reynolds building was joined on the east by the Garman Hotel, and on the south by the old Conrad House, owned by the Broker-book store. Then came the entrance leading upstairs.

Those occupying the second floor lost nearly everything. All the books and papers and valuable furniture belonging to W. F. Reynolds & Co., bankers, were saved.

The loss to the owners of the Garman Hotel was heavy, but a small portion of the furniture was saved. Everything on the third floor was lost. The fire wall dividing the new from the old hotel building saved the former, although the furniture and bedding was badly damaged by water and smoke.

At one time the Court House was considered in danger and men were placed upon the roof, the fear being that the dome would ignite. Fortunately it escaped.

Water was thrown upon the vault in the bank, and it was kept as cool as possible. When opened, the contents were found intact.

L. T. Munson, while helping to subdue the flames in the second story of the Garman Hotel, was (Continued on last page)

Retired Druggist Expires Suddenly

George F. Troutman Was Prominent Phillipsburg Resident Since 1900

George F. Troutman, prominent Phillipsburg citizen and retired druggist, died from a heart attack last Thursday morning, aged 70 years. Mr. Troutman was born in Contraila, Pa., and went to Phillipsburg in 1900, becoming identified with the drug establishment of Druggist W. B. Brown. In 1908 he purchased the George Drug Store, and this became known as the Troutman Drug Company.

On April 19, 1902 he married Miss Nellie M. Gibbons, of Phillipsburg. Surviving, along with (Continued on Last Page)

College Gains Thru Public Works

Statistics Show How Wages Are Divided Among Business Men

The grocer and butcher in State College and vicinity lead in the list of local businessmen benefiting from pay envelopes received by workmen on PWA heavy construction projects there. Traveling Engineer C. E. Strausser announced this week in the first analysis of the contribution PWA projects make to local trade.

On the basis of new studies by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the United States Department of Labor in Washington, C. E. Strausser found that the wages paid by private contractors to their employees on the new State College Construction Program in Centre County is divided among the local business men approximately as follows: (Continued on last page)

Political Theories Given More Than Square Deal

Unlike the procedures in vogue in foreign dictatorships, Americans tend to give opposing political philosophies more than a square deal. Dr. Alexander J. Stoddard, superintendent of schools in Philadelphia, recently told the largest graduating class ever to obtain degrees at the Pennsylvania State College.

"Sometimes in our eagerness to make sure that all other forms of government have a fair hearing," Dr. Stoddard said, "we are apt to neglect our own case."

"We exaggerate our sense of fairness to the degree that in our enthusiasm for the open mind, we actually indoctrinate in favor of that for which we are asking only a square deal."

To correct this natural tendency, he advocated a qualified form of indoctrination of democratic principles and urged that all institutions connected with education consistently place before the public the advantages of a democratic form of government.

There are at least three criteria which distinguish this type of government, he stated.

"In the first place, our democracy is a government of the people, by the people and for the people. It is no longer a democracy if it lacks any one or two of these characteristics. No government in the long run can be for the people unless it is also of and by the people.

"The second principle is that if a government of any by all the people for all the people, it cannot be of and by part of the people for part or all of the people, because in the long run part of the people will not govern in the interest of all the people but only for part of the people.

"The third principle is that the primary objective is the welfare of each and every individual. The cooperative arrangement is a means to that end. That is, all are joined in a common bond to promote the interests of each individual in the compact."

A dependable newspaper has a prestige value that is worth money to any advertiser. The difference between a slick scheme and a smart business deal is the difference between a loser and the winner.

$12,070 Annual Saving Predicted

Freezing of Old Age Social Security Tax Forestalls Automatic Increase

Freezing of the social security old age benefit taxes for the next two years will save Centre county retailers, wholesalers and service establishments, and their employees, an estimated $12,070 each year, it was learned today.

As one of its last acts, Congress agreed on social security act amendments which freeze the old-age insurance tax, placed upon both employer and employee, at its present one percent rate for the next two years. It was to rise automatically to 1 1/2 percent next January 1.

Currently one percent is paid by employer and employee alike. The additional half percent of tax would have made employers and employees in the three main business groups in Centre county pay $6,035 each, basing the estimates upon payroll figures for each business group as (Continued on Last Page)

Tyrone Girl Hit By Stray Bullet

Operation Necessary to Remove Lead Slug From Her Leg

Accidentally shot in the leg by a bullet from a gun being used for target practice by a group of young boys, Joan Lewis, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lewis, Northwood, Tyrone, is a patient in the State hospital, Phillipsburg, where an operation was necessary to remove the lead slug from her leg.

The accident occurred on Thursday afternoon at about 4 o'clock along the state highway on the west end of Northwood. The Lewis girl, accompanied by another youngster, were enroute to their home at Northwood from Tyrone. Just as they walked around the curve and near the path leading down over the embankment to the Bald Eagle creek, the girl suddenly fell to the highway screaming. Her companion and a passing motorist picked her up and took her to the office of Dr. Edwin B. Murchison, Tyrone, who (Continued on Last Page)

Interest Cut To Bring Savings

HOLC Reduction Will Save Nearly $700 Monthly to County Borrowers

Reduction of Home Owners Loan Corporation interest rates as just announced will mean an estimated monthly savings to Centre county HOLC borrowers of nearly seven hundred dollars, it was learned today.

Using the formula by which HOLC arrived at an estimated savings of five million dollars to the nation as a whole, the estimated savings in Centre county would be $642 each month.

HOLC officials said to determine the average monthly savings derived from the reduction from five to four-and-a-half per cent, one fourth of one per cent should be applied to the net unpaid balance of loans in Centre county. This is necessary to allow for the adjustment due to the fact that each monthly payment reduces the unpaid balance upon which interest is levied.

All HOLC loans in Centre county totalled $321,351, of which some twenty per cent have been liquidated. It was said, leaving a balance of approximately $257,085.

The twenty per cent liquidation figure as applied to Centre county is based upon the total amount repaid for the entire country, but HOLC officials said the rate of amortization in individual counties did not vary greatly from the figure for the nation as a whole.

To correct this natural tendency, he advocated a qualified form of indoctrination of democratic principles and urged that all institutions connected with education consistently place before the public the advantages of a democratic form of government.

There are at least three criteria which distinguish this type of government, he stated.

"In the first place, our democracy is a government of the people, by the people and for the people. It is no longer a democracy if it lacks any one or two of these characteristics. No government in the long run can be for the people unless it is also of and by the people.

"The second principle is that if a government of any by all the people for all the people, it cannot be of and by part of the people for part or all of the people, because in the long run part of the people will not govern in the interest of all the people but only for part of the people.

"The third principle is that the primary objective is the welfare of each and every individual. The cooperative arrangement is a means to that end. That is, all are joined in a common bond to promote the interests of each individual in the compact."

A dependable newspaper has a prestige value that is worth money to any advertiser. The difference between a slick scheme and a smart business deal is the difference between a loser and the winner.

A large trailer-truck owned by the Beauty Motor Express company, of Washington, Pa., and loaded with 26,000 pounds of sugar, upset over the bank at the bridge three-quarters of a mile east of Bald Eagle, last Wednesday noon. The driver, Ralph Lont, and his helper, Harold Sompen, both of Washington, Pa., escaped injury when the machine hit the abutment on the east side of the bridge, swerved across the bridge, hit the west abutment and then toppled over on its side on the embankment.

It is said that Lont was headed toward Tyrone when he was forced to the extreme right side of the road on the east approach by an oncoming truck. The truck broke down the guard rail and slid along the embankment and then turned over on its side. The driver and helper extricated themselves from the truck cab without aid. Damage to the truck and cargo will amount to approximately $1000. Due to the sturdy construction of the truck cab and trailer, the driver and his helper were only subjected to severe jolting and bumping.

The modern husband far from ruling his wife, is satisfied if he can have his way in a few minor matters of life.

The Titan Metal Company is figuring on doing away with the candy canners it had placed throughout the plant some time ago, so workmen could purchase candy bars by dropping a nickel in the slot. It seems that some of the boys found that by taking a rod of Titan Metal and sliding it down on a saw they got pieces of metal which the machine couldn't tell from a nickel. According to reports it has gotten so that when the machines are opened the company finds hand-

(Continued on Last Page)

'KEEPING UP WITH THE JONESES' — Looks Bad for Eddie's Date

By POP MOMAND

By POP MOMAND

