

Echoes From the Past

Fifty Years Ago

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" is billed for Bellefonte September 5. The company is a complete show in itself traveling with large canvas and gives a number of attractive features never shown before.

Last, a few days ago an ebony handled umbrella with oxidized top was left in the front entrance of the residence of the late John Irvin Jr. It was probably carried away in mistake by someone who is requested to return it to the owner, Mr. Hard Harris.

The Anniversary Association of the Patriotic Order Sons of America of Centre and Clinton Districts will hold its first annual demonstration at Eastville on Thursday, September 5. There will be a parade in the morning and a picnic in Gerring's Grove in the afternoon.

In order to accommodate the public during the Granger picnic special trains will run over the Lewisburg and Tyrone Railroad according to the following schedule: Six trains daily are scheduled to leave Bellefonte for Centre Hall and return, while three trains, including two regular ones, are to leave Montandon to accommodate Penn's Valley residents.

Mr. W. E. Hendrixson, for some time connected with Joseph Brothers, has been compelled to seek other employment as the confinement does not agree with his health. Mr. Hendrixson is an energetic young man and is well known throughout the county. The new Hale building is rapidly looming up and from appearances it will be a fine structure and a valuable addition to that section of the town. Drunks were plenty on our streets on last Saturday. This is nothing new—just an ordinary event, but since local items are somewhat scarce we make mention of it.

A great many mechanics are employed at State College making improvements and erecting new buildings. Miss Lou Harper, of this place, leaves today for an extended trip to Chicago and other points in the West. Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Bible and baby spent last week visiting friends at this place. Monday morning the train from Penn's Valley could not seat more than one-half of its passengers. Miss Paula Demuth, of Monteville, Clinton County, is dangerously ill with typhoid fever. An immense sliding has been put down near the station at Centre Hall so that trains and shippers can reach the Grange picnic grounds more easily than before.

Of the original twelve sons and daughters forming the well known Herr family residing at near Salona, seven survive. Their combined age is 518 years, or an average of 75 years. Of these seven, Aunt Lottie Moore the only one remaining out of Clinton County is 85. She emigrated west many years ago. The youngest son, a well known fireman, Fred Daniel Herr, whose age is 61. Aunt Katie Wilson, of Salona, the next oldest, has seen the snows of 68 winters and is still active.

Married: Wesley-Kline; Al Boalsburg, August 22 by Rev. W. A. Trostle. Mr. Andrew J. Weibley and Miss Lizzie M. Kline, both of Oak Hill, Centre County. Died: A. Jacksonville, on the 21st of August. Mrs. Fannie Reish, aged 56 years and 9 days. Wagner: At Howard on the 14th of August, John Wagner, aged 62 years. Ladelager: Near Cedar Springs on the 19th of August.

Dr. J. V. Foster, of State College, was in Philadelphia attending clinics at the Will Eye Hospital and the Children's Hospital. Dr. Foster had been giving considerable attention to eye and ear diseases.

Fred H. Stover, Penn township farmer, suffered a badly bruised ankle when he was struck by a monkey wrench pitched to him by his hired boy. The boy, named Stover and he was unable to see the wrench.

Marriage licenses were issued to the following couples: Walter S. Kerstetter and Justina May Markley, both of State College; George M. Brennan, West Lampeter, and Ruth R. Shawley, State College; Robert Jackson and Dena B. Mackler, both State College; Glen V. Hoover and Ada E. Cowher, both of Sandy Ridge; Harry E. Bryan, Altona, and Ethel M. Thompson, Altona.

The Catholic congregation in Bellefonte had decided to build an addition to the Parochial school on Bishop Street. For this purpose John Murray, of this place, has donated a large amount of stone for the bridge abutments of the defunct Central Railroad of Pennsylvania, and he had a number of workmen on the job removing the stone and hauling them to the building site. The stones were of fine quality.

Among those who took their first airplane flights here, with Gilbert G. Budwig, former air mail pilot at the controls, were: William F. Shope, local editor of The Centre Democrat; Lloyd Glantz, George Carpeneto, C. W. Henney, H. W. Harter, all of Bellefonte; Sam Dick, of Pleasant Grove; George Pfeiffer, of Newell; L. Ward Ellis and Ray C. Noll, all of Pleasant Gap; and Miss Henrietta Quigley and S. H. Poomman, of Bellefonte. Bids were charged at the rate of $1 a minute for air rides.

After spending a brief vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hollibaugh, of Coleville, Ellice L. Hollibaugh returned to her duties in Altona. While walking along one of Altona's main streets, Hollibaugh was assaulted by an Altona character named Eric Corp, alias Pierce Malone. Elliott claimed Corp came up behind him and struck him, knocking him down. As he tried to rise, Corp hit him again, knocking his head through a large plate glass window. He suffered a severe laceration of the back of the head, which required medical attention. His assailant was arrested. and he too was partially overcome by the deadly fumes, but managed to crawl to safety. Mrs. Shaw, and her niece, who had accompanied the trip to the mine and who were picking huckleberries, heard Rainer's cries of distress and rushed to the mine opening, where they could see the bodies of the two men prone on the mine floor less than fifty feet from the mouth. Rainer made an attempt to rescue the two, but was obliged to abandon the attempt. Miners passing the scene on their way home from work, crawled into the mine, but were overcome by the sickness one by one after entering a short distance. Rainer offered a slip to anyone who could devise a method of getting the bodies out. Finally a young miner, with wet towels fastened about his mouth and nose and with a rope and iron hook, succeeded in getting the bodies out into the open. Three hours had elapsed since the men had entered the mine and both were dead. Mr. Caldwell's body had swollen almost beyond recognition, but the poison had not affected Mr. Stott in that manner.

Announcement was made of the sale of Newman's Ladies Shop to Charles Schlow of Philadelphia. The store was to be known as Schlow's Quality Shop. Miss Newman was to remain at the store for a time.

Master John Krumsine, 10-year-old son of Commodore John Krumsine of State College, had full charge of the gas engine for the hoisting of brick and other materials to the second and third floors of the new condensary being erected at Coburn. He handled the engine like a veteran.

On Tuesday afternoon at about 3 o'clock at Maitland's Boiler Works, near the Pennsylvania Railroad, the life of young Roy Heister was terminated by a boiler rolling over him and crushing his skull. The particulars of the accident are as follows: Mr. Maitland and his workmen were engaged in loading a large boiler on a freight car in front of the building. The boiler was built from the ground to the floor of the car, up which the boiler was to be hoisted. A large rope was attached to the boiler and led up over the top of the car to a telephone pole where by the use of pulleys and tackle the men gradually pulled the boiler up the incline. As they drew it up, young Heister, who is employed in the shops, was stationed behind to block it up and keep it from rolling back. When they had the boiler almost to the top of the car the ropes broke and the huge mass of iron, weighing over five tons, rolled back and caught the unfortunate boy who was standing on the middle of the log skidway. He was knocked over and his head struck on the end skid log and the boiler passed over it. When the rope broke Mr. Maitland called for him to run but the warning was given too late. They rushed around to the other end of the car and saw the lifeless body of the boy lying on the ground under the skidway with half of his skull taken off. Heister was aged 14 years and was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heister, of this place. His father, who was a Bellefonte marble dealer, was in State College when the accident occurred. Mrs. Heister was not informed of the accident until the undertaker had claimed the body. This horrible event completely unstrung the nerves of Mr. Maitland who walked to and fro through his shops in a bewildered condition, not noticing anyone thinking apparently only of the young lad's death. The men about the shops took off their aprons and left the scene.

Health and Beauty

THE DAWN WILL COME.

"Night's candles are burned out and rosy dawn stands tip-toe on the misty mountain-top."

How many of us have been lost on a strange road on a pitch black night? We scan the horizon eagerly for some glimmer of light that will tell us which way to go. We always have the assurance that the dawn must come and then we will find our bearings.

Out of chaos God ordered the light and the darkness. He set the stars and the moon in the sky to cheer, comfort and guide us. Sometimes the clouds and the darkness shut them away from our physical eyes, but He has given us a spiritual guide to shine in our hearts. The psalmist knew that thousands of years ago. He said, "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet and a light unto my path." As we travel along life's journey we often lose our way and wander into a morass of doubts and fears. We are sometimes very miserable and can see no glimmer of light to guide us out. Then is the time to stop and remember that God still rules this universe. As the dawn is sure to come so our dark hours will pass. Did you ever hear of anyone worrying himself out of a bad situation? No; you never did, and you never will.

Not so long ago an old gentleman called at my office. He did not seem to have much of this world's good, but he was busy and cheerful. He is making a living and is full of hope for the future. He said that several years ago he was in New York City. He had just lost $25,000 which was all the money he had.

Our Weekly English Lesson

Answers to Modern Etiquette

1. A tip should be given quietly and courteously, without showing the least display. One who gives a tip in a conspicuous manner invariably does so to impress those who are watching.
2. Never. The fork should rest on the plate, the prongs pointing upwards.
3. "Mrs. Baker? This is Dorothy Moore."
4. It indicates both negligence and laziness. Every desk should contain a dictionary, and it takes but a minute to consult it.
5. Yes; he should be patient, and wait, even if in a hurry.
6. The woman should pay her own caddy.
7. No; they do not receive any congratulations in the church, but should go at once to the place where the breakfast or reception is to be held.
8. Yes. Unless he has formal evening dress he should not attend.
9. Only at family dinners.
10. No; but he should know the habits of his guests before inviting one who is so weak in his habits that he is liable to lose all self-control, as well as self-respect.
11. It indicates that the hostess needs training in the rules of etiquette.
12. No; it is not required.

Over The County

The H. O. Beahm farm, south of Aaronsburg, sold last Saturday at Sheriff's sale, was purchased by C. H. Pressler, of Millheim, for $1600.

A pigeon, apparently a carrier, has taken refuge from some flight at the home of Photographer Cal Brown, East Main street, Millheim. The bird seems to like the place and will not leave. It carries a band with the marking 954F 39 MCC.

Announcements have been received in Bellefonte of the marriage of Edward Dickson Maltby, a former Academy student and Marjorie O'Brien Kelley, which took place Saturday the fifth of August, at Beverly Hills, California, which place will be their future home.

An operation by Robert McCormick of Potters Mills was held in a crash with a machine driven by Harry S. Kinnefelter, Centre Hall, at the Tusseyville intersection, on Wednesday evening of last week. No injuries resulted from the accident.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Kerlin, of Centre Hall left for Culver, Indiana, early last Wednesday morning to attend the commencement exercises of the Culver Military Academy, where their son William H. graduated. Miss Lois Arney was a motor guest of Mr. and Mrs. Kerlin on the Indiana trip.

Falling to comply with a compensation claim, Ray Aumiller of Millfin county is under $500 bond to pay a fine of $100 or undergo a jail sentence of 30 days. While awaiting saw mill at Hecla Park in 1938, Raymond Vaughn received an injury to his hand. Only a small part of the claim was paid.

Among the recent wedding announcements is that of Samuel Reynolds and Mrs. Mary Burrell, who were married in New York and are now on a wedding trip to Bermuda. Mr. Reynolds' brother, Mrs. Hugh M. Quigley, is well known here, through his visits with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Reynolds, and Mrs. Quigley.

The Potter township school board awarded contracts for the transportation of school children on various routes in the township, as follows: From Strump-Barstow route to L. H. Garbrick, Nittany Mountain route to Blaine Lester; Dauberman route, to Rush Hackett; Sprucevorn-White House, Potters Mills, to T. E. Schaeffer. Georges Valley and Mountain route, to Homer Neff.

Kenneth Brandt, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Brandt, of near Coburn, took himself a bicycle ride. Without much regard as to his intentions, he asked his father to fix the bicycle. Starting about a month ago, he began riding according to a well defined route he had outlined on the map he carried. Last week, his father received word that he was in Dunlap, Tenn., apparently at work of some kind.

George Mumma, 32, of Washington, was elected superintendent of agriculture in the Sugar Valley Vocational school, at a special meeting of the board of education held in the new $65,000 annex which will be opened to classes this fall. Mumma will receive a salary of $1800 and will reside in Logan. He was graduated from Penn. State class of 1937. Jacob B. Bartzger, who formerly held the position, resigned.

A business transaction of importance to the community was closed Monday when Marvin Miller, formerly of Mill Hill, purchased the E. R. Shreckengast & Son grocery and dry goods merchandising stand in Millheim. Mr. Miller, who formerly was manager of a Weis store at Mill Hill, states that with his wife and young daughter he will move to Millheim some time this week, occupying a part of the A. J. Burrell home on Penn Street.

Bellefonte Borough officials will in the near future, make application for a project which will give work to some ten or twelve relief recipients. It is to improve the appearance of Spring creek at the northern entrance to town by cleaning away all the rubbish along the banks and building a loose stone wall along the eastern side for a distance of approximately 500 feet. It will be a continuation of the wall built further down stream by the Bellefonte Authority as a protection to the big sewer line.

Members of the Milesburg town council were in Centre Hall a few days ago to contact councilmen on the water proposition. Milesburg like Centre Hall, owns its own water plant, but the increase in population and use of water is forcing the borough authorities to obtain an increase of supply. To do this the council has in mind after taking proper measures, to sink a well. The body went to Centre Hall, more particularly to inspect the large deep well pump and ascertain how it is performing. The five councilmen in the group were Messrs. E. J. Hess, Edward Reed, Arthur S. Wasson and D. T. Sherry.

Paul Kerstetter, 30, son of Mr. and Mrs. Myrl W. Kerstetter of Bellefonte, R. D. 2, received a fracture of the left hip on Monday afternoon of last week about 3:30 o'clock when a loaded hay wagon he was driving upset and fell on him at his farm along the Nittany Valley highway, just east of town. The injured man was taken immediately to the Centre County hospital where he was subjected to an x-ray examination which revealed a fracture of the hip at the socket. He was then returned to the home of his parents where he must remain bedfast for five or six weeks. The young man is married and lives on a farm near that of his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Emerson McDray Blough, of Ebensburg, Thursday were appointed warden and matron of the Central Penna. Odd Fellows Orphan Home at Sunbury by 200 representatives of subordinate lodges in the 26-county district. Blough formerly was engaged in banking in Johnstown for 16 years and was superintendent for two years of the Cambria County Old Folks Home. Cyrus Hoy, Bellefonte, was elected president of the board of directors. Other officers re-elected are the Rev. C. R. Helm, of Lyoville, first vice-president; E. L. McKinstry, of Mansfield, second vice-president; Edwin C. Leber, of Middletown, secretary; Chas. E. Mensch of Bloomsburg, treasurer.

Sunday School Lesson

UZZIAH: A KING WHO FORGOT GOD.
International Sunday School Lesson for August 27, 1939.

GOLDEN TEXT: "Every one that exalteth himself shall be humbled; but he that humbleth himself shall be exalted."—Luke 14:14.

(Lesson Text: II Chronicles 26.)
Following the assassination of Amaziah, King of Judah, by his own army, his son Uzziah, a lad of sixteen, became king, apparently by the popular acclaim of the people. The name of this boy and also that of his mother is significant. Uzziah, in the Hebrew, means "strength of Jehovah," and Jehoviah, his mother, means "Jehovah is able." It is likely that Uzziah owed as much to his mother as to his father in the way of godly training and good home influence.

Under the leadership of Uzziah, Judah attained its greatest heights of material prosperity. Immediately, he brought into subjugation the nearby Philistines, the Ammonites, and several other ancient enemies of his people. He extended and strengthened the defenses of Jerusalem and recruited and equipped a large army. Loving things agricultural, he encouraged farming and cattle-raising. For more than fifty years, practically everything he undertook was crowned with outstanding success. But, in the midst of apparent prosperity, disaster struck.

A careful look into the record, recorded in II Chronicles 26, reveals the answer. There we have the secret of Uzziah's early success and there, also, we have the reason for his later downfall. There are two significant sentences which we must take from the Scriptural record of this young king's life which should act as an inspiration and a warning to every young person today. The first, "And he set himself to seek God..." and, "As long as he sought Jehovah, God made him to prosper."

Under the guidance of the prophet of God, Uzziah, the young king sought to do everything that was right in the eyes of God. As a natural outcome of this sincere and earnest effort, success was the reward and his kingdom prospered.

Report Savings Stolen
Lock Haven city police are investigating the theft of $83.76 from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Lannen, 17 South Jay Street, reported Thursday evening. The money, according to the Lannens, had been hidden under a loose board in the attic floor and they alone knew where it was kept. Mrs. Lannen said she was out of the house between 7 and 7:30 o'clock, earlier in the evening. The officers have few clues on which to work.
