own upon. Detectives, switching from a theory of robbery, were represented as believing the victim recognized her assailant and let him into the house. Neighbors said Buchanan's dog, usually excitable, failed to bark.

Dr. John C. Simpson, coroner's physician, announced after an autopsy that death was caused by strangulation.

Chief of County Detectives Kaye Mumshower, heading the police investigation, journeyed to Washington early today to have a blood-stained bedspread and clothing examined by G-men chemists. Mumshower said no valuables had been taken from the house by the intruder.

The husband, Edward, a descendant of President James Buchanan, was persuaded to stay with nearby relatives.

Detectives said the victim drove her husband to a train and took her son to school and then went shopping in Norristown. She returned about noon, it was believed, to her home in West Norristown township—a building 150 yards from the nearest house.

When the son tried to enter the house after school, he found the front door locked and entered by a cellar screen door. He found his mother a woman about five feet tall in height and weighing 120 pounds in the hallway and notified a neighbor who called police.

In defending herself, the victim apparently put up a terrific struggle. Part of her underwear had been torn from her and the upper part of her dress was ripped in several places.

The theory that Mrs. Buchanan was arrested by a sneak thief who slipped in the hallway and notified a neighbor who called police.

Fingerprints found in the house and on Mrs. Buchanan's pocketbook are being analyzed.

Mrs. Buchanan, the former Clara Oberholzer, of Phoenixville, was a member of a family that has resided in Chester county for six generations. Her mother, Mrs. Alice Oberholzer, 72-year-old Phoenixville widow, was prostrated by shock and has been placed under a physician's care.

groups that must have hospitalization and are unable to pay, notwithstanding the fact that the State will not accept them as charity patients.

In addition, for charity patients the State pays but $3 a day, whereas it costs the hospital $3.71 a day to care for these same patients.

Automobile accident cases also have increased and have created a tremendous problem. People from other counties and out of the State must be brought to the hospital and in a good many cases cannot pay. These people really should not be considered as Centre county responsibilities. Many Centre county cases are cared for in other hospitals of the State.

During 1932, $800 worth of charity work was done for which no remuneration was received from the State or other benevolent sources. Much progress has been made in the institution during the last year in equipment and buildings to make the hospital better able to care for the sick and injured of Centre county.

Any person contributing $1 or more is entitled to a membership in the hospital cooperation and is entitled to vote at the annual meeting to be held at the Court House in Bellefonte the evening of October 12.

posed Democratic candidates for auditor, spent $62.35 in the Primary.

D. A. McDowell, of Spring township, unopposed for the Democratic nomination for Recorder, spent less than $50, according to his account.

Russell P. Bezer, of Bellefonte, sole Democratic candidate for Prothonotary, lists expenses of $79.00. Leamer R. Woodring, of Milesburg, unopposed for the Republican nomination for Recorder, filed expenses of $72.50.

The only other expense account filed is one by James B. O'Connor, of Bellefonte, R. D. 3, who spent less than $50 in his campaign for constable.

Members of the Halloween celebration committee, of which John Galenda is chairman, also announced that the prize list for floats and bands is now being prepared and will be published in the near future.

The Harvest Queen will be crowned during the mummies' parade which will climax the Halloween celebration.

County Poor Home Nears Completion

Refusal of any ward of the county to live in the new home will probably mean that further assistance from the county will be withheld. When the new home is opened, all county wards will be cared for in the Bellefonte borough home which has been conducted for some time in the county, and from other places through the county.

Is Self-Contained "City" The home might well be termed "a little city within a building," for it provides for its spacious and fireproof walls facilities for practically every necessary human activity. It provides shelter and warmth for indigent, and the staff which will be necessary to take care of the county's poor.

The home might well be termed "a little city within a building," for it provides for its spacious and fireproof walls facilities for practically every necessary human activity. It provides shelter and warmth for indigent, and the staff which will be necessary to take care of the county's poor.

Some of the features of construction include built-in bronze weather-stripping on all doors and windows, and built-in bronze screens at all such apertures; sound-absorbing ceilings in all corridors and all recreation and day rooms; double faced clocks in corridors, all operated from a master clock in the administration quarters; drinking fountains liberally distributed through the corridors; terrazzo banisters about the corridors, so designed that wheel chairs will be prevented from striking the walls while being wheeled through corridors, bath-rooms erected on pedestals so nurses can more easily assist persons using the tubs; a built-in bedpan washer and sterilizer which is practically automatic in operation; marble and tile showers, bath and toilet rooms.

There are 24 guest bedrooms in the institution. Most of these are roomy quarters with inside heating floors and tinted plaster walls. Built-in steam radiators throughout are standard equipment in all rooms and corridors. Ventilating units, electrically operated, are installed in some of the showers and other rooms.

The basement of the structure is devoted to the boiler rooms, coal bins, storage rooms, laundry, baggage, elevator apparatus room and examination rooms.

The laundry, equipped with a large wringing machine, contains built-in ironing boards, with individual lights and electric outlets; a large pressing machine, an electric mangle, a washing machine, and a centrifugal drying machine. Just off the laundry proper is a small sorting room, where clothing from all parts of the building is sent down through an aluminum chute from the upper floors.

In the mangle is a standard table and other necessary equipment. Basement is "Heart" of Structure The heating plant consists of two large steam boilers, for heating, and a smaller furnace for heating water during the summer months. Two hot water storage tanks are provided, the larger being 6 by 12 feet in size. A pump in the basement automatically keeps the water pressure at a constant level, eliminating any possible water shortage due to low pressure in the Bellefonte borough water system.

An ash hoist in one end of the boiler room provides an easy method of ash removal. Coal bins are large enough to hold several rail-loads of coal. In the basement also is the main switchboard room for all lights and electrical equipment throughout the structure. A line carrying 2300 volts enters this room and is reduced through transformers to the various voltages required for different circuits. An emergency light plant, which automatically goes into operation in the event of a failure of the regular power source, guarantees a constant source of light.

The basement examination rooms are where all persons entering the home as guests will be first received. This section is provided with showers, clothing sterilizers, toilet facilities and other equipment. The carpenter shop, for use of guests, will be completely equipped for general woodworking. A paint room adjoins the carpenter shop.

Throughout the building spacious storage rooms are provided. The matrons' quarters on the first floor include a living room, bedroom, private bath, and other rooms, all of which have oak parquet floors. The first and second floors are divided in the middle by swinging doors.

Special Rooms for Invalids One half of the building will be devoted to men patients, while the other half will house women patients. The second floor will be used only for patients who are invalids or semi-invalids and require special care. One section of the second floor is separated from the rest of the building for use of feeble-minded guests.

On the second floor, all corridor light switches may be operated only with the use of a key, which will be in possession of the nurse in charge. This will prevent patients from unauthorized switching on, and off of lights.

In every bedroom in the institution there is a conveniently located push button which operates a signal at the nurses' station on the second floor. The button rings an alarm and at the same time indicates the room from which the call is sent.

All stairways are of steel construction. Asphalt tile treads have non-slip iron strips along the edges to prevent accidents.

The administration suite on the first floor includes a small built-in telephone booth, a private toilet for office workers, a bedroom for the night clerk and office quarters. All these rooms have tile floors and indirect lights.

All Electric Kitchen In the first floor general kitchen, all electrically equipped, are an electric warming kettle, dish washer, a dummy elevator to the second floor diet kitchen, 2 giant electrically refrigerated vaults, and a large electric refrigerator. This room has tile floor and tile walls.

Just off of the kitchen is the men's dining room, and nearby it is a smaller women's dining room. Locker rooms on each floor provide individual steel lockers for the possessions of each guest. Men's and women's day rooms are located on opposite ends of the first floor. These rooms are spacious, light and cheerful, and are well equipped.

Hospital Equipment The nurses' station on the second floor is completely enclosed in plate glass, giving the person in charge a full view in all directions. Nearby is located the separate quarters for feeble-minded guests. In the nurses' station are sterilizers for clothing and surgical instruments, air-conditioned cabinets, examination room and other equipment for the examination and treatment of patients. A drug room is provided in the building.

The second floor dining room, for use of the invalid and feeble-minded guests, opens off a diet kitchen which is equipped with a ventilating unit, shelves and other needed apparatus for preparing special diets.

The Baths and Showers Showers and toilet rooms, all spacious and equipped with tubs on pedestals, and all with tile walls and floors, are liberally located throughout the structure. Utility rooms, where cleaning equipment is kept and where apparatus is cleaned and sterilized are provided on both floors. The spacious sun deck, on the second floor level, is located at the rear of the building, and is surrounded by a four-foot brick wall. Litters can be wheeled directly from the second floor onto the sun deck.

The building must be seen to be fully appreciated. Its convenience, its completeness cannot be realized from description. It embodies features of a hotel, hospital, and sanitarium and apparently no detail has been omitted to provide for every contingency.

The superintendent in charge of construction for the general contractor is H. M. Bennett, of Williamsport, who three weeks ago replaced Harry J. Taylor, who was forced to discontinue the position because of a knee injury he received.

Earl E. Schreckengast is general clerk representing the County Commissioners and the architects, Humler & Caldwell, of Altoona. M. J. Eby is chief clerk for the Berwick Lumber and Supply Company, while Howard Melner is the Resident Engineer for the PWA.

Stevens said, Mr. Peters suddenly began to cross the highway. The driver of the machine attempted to avert striking the man, but the effort failed.

Immediately after the impact, Mr. Stevens stopped his car and loaded the unconscious man into his car for a quick trip to the local hospital. Attaches of the institution last night reported the Peters' injuries are of a serious nature, made doubly serious because of his age.

Mr. Peters is quite well known throughout Bald Eagle Valley and in Bellefonte, being a frequent visitor to this community.

flight Dobson had a 38 on the first hole and a 35 (1 under par) on the second hole. Charles Hinds, last year's champion, turned in a score of 80. Charles Yearick, who usually does well by himself as a golfer, had a 47 on the first nine holes, and evidently figured time was a-wasting, so he hung it up and went home to help his father cut corn.

Among the better scores resulting in the tournament were those of Earl Gates, 79; Oliver Dobson, brother of the champ, 85, and Lawrence Sellers, 84.

Since the tournament it has been announced that through the recommendation of W. W. Sieg, club president, a suitable frame table is to be placed in the caddie house where a permanent record of the names of the winners and runners-up since 1933 will be displayed.

Prizes awarded to Saturday's winners were; to the winner of the championship and second flight, a zipper sweater; to the runner-up in each of the two flights, a watch, and to several holders of high scores, golf socks.

At 6:30 o'clock Saturday the caddies were guests of the club at a chicken dinner served in the club dining room. Swengel Smith, of Bellefonte, acted as toastmaster, while the Rev. Father William E. Downes, of Bellefonte, was the principal speaker. Mr. Sieg, president of the club, and tournament winners also spoke briefly.

Speakers told the caddies that they are exceedingly fortunate in being able to earn their own spending money in an ideal environment. The association with men of high caliber, leaders in industry and the professions, they said, cannot but help to give the youth a solid background for future life.

Caddy Muggins Workman, who sat at the speakers' table, was called upon for a few remarks. Muggins explained that he was not prepared to speak, but obligingly contributed to the evening's entertainment by singing "Cutting Down the Old Pine Tree."

FARMER SHOOTS MAN ALONG POTATO FIELD A 66-year-old Lycoming county farmer is being held by police in the fatal shooting Monday night of Lawrence W. Hauser, 26, of nearby Linden.

County Detective C. E. Whipple said Emerson E. Edwards, of Salladasburg road, made a statement that he fired a charge from a shotgun at a passing automobile while guarding his potato field.

Whipple said Edwards told him that Hauser was in an automobile traveling along the potato field and that the driver increased his speed and almost ran over him when he attempted to stop it. The officer related that Edwards said he did not know the shot had struck anyone.

Edwards said his potato fields had been looted as late as Sunday night and that he and other members of his family were protecting them.

both of Bellefonte, was a member of St. Mary's Protestant Episcopal church, served as a vestryman, held memberships in the Kiwanis Club, the Manufacturers' Club, and church group; was a member of the Philadelphia school board; was a 32nd degree Mason and was trustee of the University Lodge, F. & A. M. for a number of years. He was one of the founders of the Pennsylvania Retail Jewelers' Association and was vice president of the Jewelers' Guild.

Mr. Garman, who spent his boyhood years in Bellefonte, was president of the Centre County Association of Philadelphia, and was a past president of the West Philadelphia Y. M. C. A.

Ira D. Garman, a son of Daniel and Louise Schreyer Garman, was born in Bellefonte on October 13, 1861. His wife, the former Miss Snow, of Camden, N. J., and two daughters; Mrs. Charles Hargens and Mrs. May Brommell, both of Germantown, survive. Other members of the family in addition to his brother and sister residing in Bellefonte, are another brother and sister; Robert, of Tyrone, and Mrs. Minnie Matland, of Williamsport.

Mr. Garman took an active part in the city government of Philadelphia, having served two terms of four years each as councilman of the 46th ward, and was a member of a number of important committees.

In 1915 he was honored by being elected a member of the Esport Committee of Council to the Philadelphia Liberty Bell when it was sent to the San Francisco World's Fair.

Mr. Garman learned the jeweler's trade as a youth, going to Coatesville at the age of 16 to learn watchmaking. Six years later he went to Philadelphia where for 12 years he was a salesman for the David F. Conover wholesale jewelry house. At the end of that time he went into business for himself and spent his entire business life from then on in the same area of Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

In 1928 he celebrated his fiftieth anniversary in the jewelry business. A member of an old and prominent Bellefonte family, Mr. Garman was always considered as a "Bellefonte Boy," and he had many friends in this vicinity who feel a distinct personal loss in his death.

Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at the residence of Mrs. May Brommell, 1214 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

Interment will be in the cemetery at Philadelphia.

Refreshments will be served both afternoon and evening, and a short program will be conducted by the women.

parriage ago, they made their wedding trip by horseback, upon their return they thought it would be a thrill to ride past the Centre Farm Furnace. When they approached the plant the men rushed out to greet them. In order that they might pass unharmed, Mr. Irwin loaned a handful of coins to the crowd, and the bride and groom were permitted to ride on.

In the collection to be offered for sale is a cereal dish, used in General Lee's home; also a sheepskin deed dated 1765; an album, quilt dated 1865; a spiced apple quilt, 77 years old, with four eagles and 21 stars on shield, and complicated grape leaf design on edge, a star in center, with filigree.

Refreshments will be served both afternoon and evening, and a short program will be conducted by the women.

CENTRE HALL COUPLES TO SPEND WINTER IN FLORIDA

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Dutton, of Centre Hall, on Saturday purchased an Indian house trailer which they are outfitting preparatory to making a trip to Florida. They will be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams, also of Centre Hall, who will make the trip with their Covered Wagon trailer attached to the car.

The party expects to spend the winter on the West coast of Florida, making headquarters at Sarasota where they will be citizens of the largest trailer camp in Florida, the Sarasota Municipal Trailer Camp, and will be entertained by the city of Sarasota in all the varied social activities, which are part of the winter's program for visitors there, and where each night in the large Community Hall a dance with a large orchestra furnishing music, or a show or part of the Ringling troupe perform for the camp members.

The Duttons and Williams are enthusiastic over the prospects of a winter in Florida, since both couples have spent winters in Florida in previous years. They expect to leave for the south about the last of November.

gar, when the keys of the machine, made of a highly inflammable composition, flared up with almost the suddenness of an explosion, enveloping the operator in a mass of flame. He was taken to the Centre County Hospital dispensary where his burns, quite severe, were dressed, after which he was permitted to return home.

Officials of the railroad expressed the belief that as Rounsley lighted his cigar, a small piece of the match head fell on the adding machine keys, igniting them.
