Ray-Flanigan Nuptials Held

mony, Saturday

Miss Dorothy Louise Flanigan, daughter of A. Roy Flanigan, of 1323 Walnut street, Williamsport, became the bride of Phillip Benner Ray, of Bellefonte, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Horton Smith Ray, in an attractive wedding at 12 o'clock noon Saturday, at the Trinity Episcopal church, Williamsport.

Hospital Is Now Equipped To Treat All Kinds of Sickness

(By Winifred B. Shalleross)

As you enter the Centre County Hospital by the basement front door (and it isn't so much of a basement) after all, because its front entrance is on the level with the front lawn, the dining rooms and kitchens lie to the left and the X-ray rooms to the right. These latter seem mysterious and dark as you peer into them, but a personally conducted tour convinces you that their queer looking machines, although still mysterious, have been chained to science and medicine for your help.

If you have swallowed a nickel which you need for an ice cream machine, or if you want to follow the path that sodium and buttermilk take through your innards, or if you think you have a spot on your lung, the apparatus of the X-ray room is there to satisfy your curiosity or very real need. The fluoroscope shows on a lighted plate any stricture or foreign body that may be inside you. You can look down into yourself in the most amazing manner. The photographing machine makes negatives or plates that when developed and read by one who knows, can tell you that that queer feeling in your left side has been caused by a cracked rib or why that knee out of joint needs binding up.

A small machine treats you for such annoying ailments as pimples or moles that should not be touched by the electric needle. If you should happen to be ill in bed upstairs and that broken hip of yours refuses to get comfortable, the nurses can bring to your bedside a portable photographing machine, to look deep into the sockets of your bones.

If the X-ray could look deep into

New Attendance Record Is Set At County Teachers' Institute

Unusually fine addresses of an educational and inspirational nature featured the annual Centre County Teachers' Institute which was in session here last Thursday and Friday. The largest institute in history, the sessions were attended by 397 of the 401 teachers in the county.

Delegates named to the Pennsylvania State Education Association convention which will be held in Harrisburg from December 26 to 28 inclusive, were: L. O. Fawcett, Walker township; Albert Parkes, Rush township; and Harold Cronister, of Patton township. Alternates are: Maynard Henry, Philipsburg; Zoe Meek, Snow Shoe township; and George Sweeney, Potter township.

John S. Dubbs, of Bellefonte, and Miss Grace Corman, of Howard, were named as auditors.

Of particular general interest were the addresses by Salmon Risk, lecturer, whose talks centered principally around his own experiences as an immigrant to America. Mr. Risk was born in a small central European country and lived an extremely precarious life before he finally came to the United States. The narrative of his experiences is dramatic and inspirational and his comparison of living conditions in the United States with those existing in European countries is most forceful.

Another of the outstanding institute speakers was Dr. Allen Stockdale, of the National Association of Manufacturers, New York. Into his addresses Dr. Stockdale brought a wealth of experience, gained not only in the organization with which he is now affiliated, but also from his earlier life when he was a minister.

A third speaker of more than usual ability was Dr. Patrick V. Vielker, president of the Grand Rapids College, Grand Rapids, Mich., an educator of recognized ability and a speaker of great force. Dr. Vielker played a most important part in the success of the institute.

Other leading speakers included Dr. William B. Hays and Miss Margaret Riegall, both of the Pennsylvania State College.

Plunge Into Coal Pit
Near Snow Shoe

Mrs. Harry King, of Linden, R. D. 1, is in a serious condition in the Private Hospital, Lock Haven, where she was admitted Sunday about 6 p. m. following injuries received in a fall near Snow Shoe.

Her injuries have been diagnosed as a fracture and dislocation of the first and second lumbar vertebrae of the spine.

Mrs. King, with her husband and Mr. and Mrs. Hayes Dorsey of the Island had left earlier in the afternoon in the King car for a ride to see mountain scenery.

The members of the party went to her aid, drew her up from the pit and took her to Lock Haven, stopping enroute frequently for medical attention to relieve her severe pain.

Mrs. King was conscious when she arrived in Lock Haven, having stood the trip well considering all circumstances.

GUARDSMEN ORDERED TO SPEND EXTRA WEEK IN CAMP

Issues Warning On Hallowe'en Damage

Warning against Halloween vandalism involving damage to automobiles and other property was issued yesterday by Hardiman F. Harris, mayor of Bellefonte.

Parents and school children are strongly urged to instruct children against the practice of defacing motor vehicles as part of their merry-making activities.

Acts which fall into the category referred to by Mayor Harris include painting and marking cars with chalk and soap, breaking door handles and stealing radiator and gas tank caps. Breaking of milk bottles is another practice that should be discouraged, and the soaping of house windows or moving furniture or equipment from properties will not be condoned, the mayor added.

"When 'fun' reaches the expensive stage, it is no longer 'fun' but plain vandalism," he concluded.
