Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Moyer, Mrs. Emma Corman, Mrs. W. J. Hackenberg and Mrs. David Solly visited the latter's sister, Mrs. Gertrude Frank on Saturday at the Centre County Hospital, where she is recovering from a major operation. Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Bierly and two sons and Mrs. Brungart and children called at the L. L. Meek home in Bellefonte on Sunday. Mrs. Meek (nee Hester Smull) was admitted as a surgical patient at the Centre County Hospital on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hackenberg moved to Hamburg on Tuesday where they attended a banquet on Wednesday evening given by the Hamburg Broom works for their employees. From there they journeyed to Allentown for a few days visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Zacharias, and thence to Hanover for the Christmas season with the Rev. C. F. Catherman family. About seventy-five people were present at the Christmas party at St. Peter's Reformed Sunday School held last Friday evening, December 15th. After a worship service, games were played and then a delicious lunch was served. An interesting fact of the party was that it was made a real "birthday" party, remembering that we celebrate Christmas on the birthday of Jesus. This was done by each bringing some article of clothing, etc. for the children of Bethany Orphanage at Womelsdorf, thus giving to the Christ by giving to His little ones.

CHRISTMAS

This happy season of the year Our hearts should all be filled with cheer, For unto us a Child is born So praise His name this Christmas morn. He came to us a Holy Child So poor and humble, meek and mild; With not a place to lay His head, A lowly manger was His bed. The shepherds watching flocks by night Saw hosts of angels shining bright Singing glory, peace on earth, good will. While praises rang o'er Judea's hill. An angel told them where to find, (And hoo the road was rough and wild) To Bethlehem they went that night With visions of that glorious sight. They found Him in a manger bed, In swaddling clothes, as angels said; And with His mother worshipped there, With halos round their head so fair. And soon the wise men saw a star That brightly shone in heaven afar, Which led them on and on their way 'Till it stood o'er where Jesus lay. They brought Him gifts, these men of old; Of frankincense and myrrh and gold; And like the shepherds, too knelt down And worshipped Him with halloved crown. So laud His name and praises sing, He came to earth great peace to bring; And when the story you've been told Just turn to Him--till near grow old. --Mrs. W. J. Hackenberg, Rebersburg, Pa.
