Local Native Dies In Dayton

J. Harvey McClure, 58, President of Bus Company, Succumbs Suddenly

J. Harvey McClure, 58, of Dayton, Ohio, president of the Cincinnati and Lake Erie Bus Company, died suddenly at 10:38 o'clock last Thursday morning in Miami Valley Hospital, Dayton. Mr. McClure was born in Bellefonte and resided here until about 30 years ago. Mr. McClure went to Dayton 15 years ago from Aurora, Ind., as receiver for the company which later was reorganized into the present Cincinnati and Lake Erie Railway Co. As vice president of the company he introduced many new methods in operation of the line, rehabilitated much of it and purchased entirely new equipment, then the finest to be obtained. The old wood cars were piled in a huge heap in a large field near Dayton and made into a giant bonfire as a kind of public spectacle.

With the advent of the motor bus and more general use of the automobile, traction travel declined. After a period of depression the railway was reorganized into the Cincinnati and Lake Erie Bus Company, with Mr. McClure as president, a post he held at the time of
