

Echoes From the Past

Fifty Years Ago

Burgess Brouse, William Grauer, Chairman Brown and Harvey Van Pelt, of Centre Hall, expect to make a tour through Europe the coming summer.

Mr. Samuel Harter, of Georges Valley, killed a hog which weighed, dressed, 700 pounds. Its length was 8 feet 6 inches. This beats Mike Burkholder's 635 pound hog by 65 pounds, and Mike will proudly transfer the belt he held to Mr. Harter, whose porker is the heaviest killed this season.

John A. Lehr, until the first of November last, chief of police of Philipsburg, died on Tuesday, January 7, aged 49 years. He was a veteran of the late war, having entered the service when 19 years old. He leaves a wife and seven children. Mrs. William Thompson, of Altoona, is a sister. The deceased was born at Lewistown.

On last Tuesday evening, January 7, the Logan Hose Company held election of officers to serve for the ensuing year. The new officers are: president, John Connors; vice president, Joseph Lutz; chief, Howard Yerger; secretary, W. T. Hill; treasurer, James Selbert; 1st assistant, A. Haupt; 2nd assistant, Harry Ryan; 3rd assistant, John Cunningham; 4th assistant, Michael Shields; pluggers, George Shilling and Orren Miller. The Logan boys are well organized and are always on hand when the alarm is sounded.

On last Thursday at 12:15 o'clock p. m., Mrs. David G. Beal expired at her home on Spring street. She had been suffering with a lingering illness of several months. It was just one week after the death of her sister, Miss Lucy Burnside. Mrs. Beal was the daughter of the eminent Judge Thomas Burnside and was married to David G. Beal. At the time of her death she was in her 68th year of age. She is survived by a son, David G. Beal, a daughter, Mrs. J. B. Taylor, and a daughter, Mrs. J. B. Taylor. The funeral will be held on Monday next at 10 o'clock at the residence of the deceased. The interment will be in the Mt. Pleasant cemetery.

Everything about the glass works, at this place, has been put in order. The furnace has been fitted up and will soon be ready for the first report about today was that they would start on Monday next week. Mr. Munson informed us on Tuesday that they would be put in operation inside of a few weeks. They will start but one furnace which would give employment to about sixty men. The works will be operated by Mr. Munson who is a thorough business man and capable of making them a success. The plant has been idle for ten months, and many of the old employes are anxious to go to work again.

Don't forget the "Racket" when in town... Beezer Brothers have purchased a new wagon for use about their meat market. It is the first one used about here and is convenient for their business... The skating rink was well patronized last Saturday evening. The barrel race was a laughable affair and was won by Harry Spicher in fine style... A turkey supper will be served at the Mountain House this evening for the benefit of the Lutheran congregation of Bellefonte... A Sternberg of this place, has opened up a clothing house down at Millheim, and is making the people of that section happy with the bargains he gives them... Many of our farmers have been plowing the last three weeks. The soil is loose and easily turned. In the spring they harrow it over to loosen it up when it is ready to plant corn.

Twenty Years Ago

A cow, cross between a Jersey and Guernsey, owned by Daniel Boob, of Wingate, gave birth to triplet calves, all of which were healthy. The cow was giving about 25 quarts of milk daily.

The Centre County auditors, D. M. Gramley, Herbert Stover and T. A. Fletcher had begun the annual audit of the county's books. Gramley was chosen president and Stover secretary of the board.

Manuel Juranus, who was one of the last boys from Centre County to leave the service of Uncle Sam, opened a lunch room in State College. All foods were to be cooked in the front window, in full view of passersby as well as of patrons of the establishment.

E. F. Grundhoeffer, of State College, who was in charge of a research station at Penn State, had a champion egg-producing machine in the form of a barred plymouth rock hen which made the exceptional record of 313 eggs during her first year's laying period. Mr. Grundhoeffer had several other hens which averaged from 202 to 260 eggs a year.

Marriage licenses were issued to the following couples: John W. Garis, and Elizabeth P. Crust, both of Bellefonte; John Hrobokoraki, Barnesboro, and Rosella Voytkick, Munson; Stanley R. Brockley, Pitsburgh, N. Y., and Mildred B. K. Coble, Housserville; Arthur D. Crozier, Orriston, and Mary E. A. Singer, Howard; Philip McK. Budge, and Myra D. Watson, Budding; Harry S. Walter, Millmont, and Verna C. Stover, Aaronsburg; Daniel Kittrelle and Eliza Davis, both of Bellefonte.

County Register Frank Sasserman had quite a time one evening when his son, Frank, Jr., decided to pretend he was painting. The two were in the living room of the family home when young Frank, using a celluloid comb as a paintbrush, and a gasoline lamp as the paint bucket, "dipped" the brush into the lamp. The comb caught fire and fell on the tablecloth. The father snatched the comb from the table and before dropping it, suffered burns of three fingers. The burning comb fell under a piece of linoleum, and the county official had some little trouble in tramping out the fire which resulted. Neither his burns nor damage to the house was serious.

Dr. McGlynn, the famous priest and public speaker appeared before a small audience at the Court House, Tuesday evening.

Edgar Swartz, of Punksauway, arrived in town on Tuesday to remain a few days among old acquaintances. Ed is engaged in the tailoring business at that place and has a well established trade.

The Madisonburg correspondent reported that "Our pavements have now been built over a year, but at the crossings one can wade mud four inches deep. Some of the influential citizens ought to take hold and have them built."

Shamokin editors recommend the following to knock smitherens out of La Grappe: Take a twelve ounce tumbler, put in two ounces of sugar, one ounce of butter, one ounce of the best brandy, fill the tumbler with boiling water and cover top well with grated nutmeg. Take two cups of coffee and add a dash of the house and take one dose before going to bed.

The new Distin Works, at Williamsport, manufacturers of band instruments, expect to commence operations this week. Everything is now in readiness to begin operations. The engine was started one day last week and the machinery was found to be in good running order. No trouble is expected when the machinery is set in motion this week.

James Waltz, employed as night watchman at the railroad bridge on the Beech Creek Railroad a short distance below Beech Creek borough, was found dead Monday morning by the workmen when they went to the bridge to begin their day's work. The dead man was in a sitting position and his supposition is that he both or other piece of iron had fallen from the upper portion of the structure and struck him. Coroner Mader has gone to Beech Creek to hold an inquest. Mr. Waltz was about 33 years of age, a resident of Beech Creek borough, and leaves a wife and two children.

The following offices were chosen by the voters: Editor James A. Fielder, of the Gazette, would be the next postmaster for Bellefonte and that his appointment would be made at once. True to our prediction, with authority from headquarters, we are able to announce that Mr. Fielder's appointment was practically made last week but will be officially sanctioned and announced about the first of February. Dr. Dobbin's term of four years expires on the 10th, when the new official will step in and disturb things generally. The amount of cancellation of postage stamps, we are told, is sufficient to give us a free delivery system in the future. The new system will likely be put in operation by the first of April next and everybody will rejoice.

Chester Barnes departed for Philadelphia to resume his studies at the University of Pennsylvania after having spent the holiday season in Bellefonte.

Wayne, young son of Leon Yorks, of Millsburg, was scalded painfully when he fell into a bucket of hot water being carried by an older brother. The burns were not of a serious nature.

Wallace S. White, popular Axe Mann miller, was reported to be seriously ill at his home near the mill, a victim of the dreaded influenza. His son, Curtis, also was ill and Curtis' daughter, Cleavy White, was undergoing treatment for the same malady.

All American records for non-stop flights of more than 200 miles were believed to have been broken when Pilot James H. Knight, stationed at Bellefonte, made a flight from Cleveland to Bellefonte, a distance of 215 miles in 83 minutes. The flight was made at an average of 156 miles an hour and was seven minutes better than his former record made the previous September. When he left Cleveland a snow storm was raging.

Petrin Hall, West High Street, was threatened by fire when a blaze broke out in the Tate Plumbing shop while Bud Tate was vulcanizing a tire. Tate ran upstairs to the scenic theatre and notified proprietor T. Clayton Brown, who informed patrons at the matinee to leave and they departed without any confusion. Meanwhile Tate secured a large fire extinguisher from Mr. Brown and succeeded in quenching the blaze before any serious damage resulted.

The following Bellefonte residents participated in a sledding party to the Hubler Hotel, Hubersburg, where a chicken and waffle supper was served; George Austin, Francis Crawford, Clair Deitrich, Gilbert Nolan, Clair Lyons, James Morrison, Allen Cruse, Ralph Smith, John Smith, Ed. Bertram, Eugene Corey, Ira Sewour, Russell Rider, Robert Willard, Joseph Wagner, Oran Kline (chaperone) Joseph Beizer, Dick Beizer, Jeannette Miller, Elizabeth Hartman, Sara Hartman, Alice Waite, Julia Waite, Blanche Malone, Hazel Burley, Mary Smith, Isabel Kessinger, Elizabeth Eckenroth, Martha Haines, Rebecca Fleming, Maude Rocky, Ruth Badger, and Marion Bover. Jacob Gross was able to be about once more after having been hearted up for some time with a heart condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Paulk, of Pleasant Gap, had gone to Akron, Ohio, where Mr. Paulk was employed by a firm of contractors and builders.

After undergoing treatment for several months at St. Francis Hospital, Pittsburgh, Conrad Miller returned to his home in Bellefonte, greatly improved in health.

James McCulley, Earl Kline and Ferdinand Winzer, of the government aerial mail service station at Bellefonte, went to Mexic Run to bring back the plane which Fred S. Robillard was forced to land in the mountains during the hunting season.

Frank Davis purchased a new Dodge Brothers car and was using it in his taxi service. The car was warm and comfortable... Earl and Ralph Teaman returned to their work in Akron, Ohio, after spending a vacation with their parents.

Mrs. W. E. Hurley became the owner of the brick dwelling on West Howard Street, occupied by C. H. Bucking and wife and formerly owned by M. I. Gardner. The consideration was $2,900.

County officials and deputies sworn into office by Judge Henry C. Quigley were as follows: District Attorney, James C. Furst; Commissioners, George M. Harter, George H. Yarnell and Harry P. Austin; Prothonotary, Roy Miller; Recorder, William H. Brown; Treasurer, L. Frank Hayes; Sheriff, Harry Dukeman; Register, Frank Sasserman; Commissioners, Rash Irwin and Harry Valentine; Auditors, Thomas Pletcher, Clement Gramley and Herbert Stover; Deputy Treasurer, A. C. Smith; Deputy Recorder, Walter Armstrong; and Deputy Sheriff, Miss Marion Dukeman. Miss Vera Chambers, who had been in the Treasurer's office, was to remain until Mr. Smith became familiar with the work, and D. R. Foreman was to remain in the Prothonotary's office with Mr. Wilkinson for a few months.

Over The County News

Claude G. Aikens, of State College, has announced candidacy as a delegate from this Congressional district to the national Republican convention.

Herman Hazel, elected in November for a second term as Judge of Election in the West ward of Bellefonte, has resigned and Robert B. Montgomery has been appointed as his successor.

Tax Collector W. A. Stover, of Millheim, being at the home of Miss Doris Eckman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Bokman of Bellefonte, last Tuesday began her new duties in the school pension division of the Department of Public Instruction at Harrisburg.

The largest hogs reported to date were butchered by Miles Decker of near Centre Hall; one weighed 825 pounds live weight, on the Bradford mill scales; and the next were those butchered by D. H. Siegel—two which weighed 600 pounds each, live weight.

Russell and James Watson of Julian, well known members of the Hill Billy Orchestra "The Covered Wagon Boys" were given an audition over Radio Station WLW at Cincinnati Friday evening. Both of the players sang and played their regular songs on the program.

Smoke caused by burning refuse in the furnace is believed to have been the cause for a false alarm at the Mrs. Viola Harter residence, State College, shortly after 3 o'clock last Tuesday afternoon. Members of the Alpha Fire Company responded to the call but no assistance was needed.

Sheriff Edward R. Miller's first call for duty after being inducted into office was received at 4:20 last Tuesday evening, when he was asked to remove a drunk lying on a certain street in town. He responded to the call but when he arrived at the place designated the drunk was gone. Friends of the man had removed him.

Marjorie, 2 1/2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vilas Hazel, of Aaronsburg, was the victim of a scalding accident about noon last Tuesday. The little tot, was playing on the floor of the dining room while her mother was performing her usual household tasks. The latter had attached the cord of the electric percolator to make coffee, and stepped out of the kitchen for a moment. The child took hold of the cord and pulled the percolator to the table, on herself. The percolator struck her on the chin, the lid came off and the scalding liquid drenched the child to her waist. She was rushed to the office of a local physician and her burns treated. She is reported to be resting comfortably.

Dr. George C. Thomas, former resident physician at Spring Mills, and later employed as medical officer for this area of CCC camps, was called back into service in the capacity of Lieutenant Commander of the United States Navy Medical Reserve Corps and ordered to report at the League Island Navy Yard, Philadelphia, as of January 2. Dr. and Mrs. Thomas moved several months ago to Millburg from their residence at Spring Mills because it would be closer to the work in which he was engaged. The recall for active service states that it will be for "the duration of the emergency," meaning in all probability for the duration of the war in Europe and the subsequent expansion of the naval forces of the United States.

Health Letter

No one has ever been known to fall through ice on an artificial ice rink. Many skaters will fall through thin ice this winter on pond or stream. Rescue of such unfortunate is a difficult and hazardous business.
Frequently the would-be rescuer crashes through the ice, too. A long pole with a rope at the end is a practical way to rescue a victim. This allows the rescuers to work at a safe distance from the hole. A knot at the end of the rope, a stick, or still better, a loop large enough to pass around the neck and one shoulder of the victim aids rescue work.
A plank or bench is often the only equipment at hand in such emergencies. When no human help is at hand—what then? The best manner of self-rescue is to extend both arms on the surface of the ice to support the body. The victim's legs tend naturally to come up forward under the ice. This may be prevented by executing a crawl stroke. This planes the body on the surface of the water.
The victim should endeavor to crawl forward flat on his stomach until the hips are at the edge of the ice. Then a quick movement sideways and the victim may be able to roll away from the breaking edge of the hole. Keeping one's head is of great importance in rescuing one's self or in rescuing others. No one should venture on the ice of pond or stream until certain the ice is solid enough to hold him.
Keep away from thin ice!
DO YOU KNOW
Dr. Chevalier Jackson, discoverer of the bronchoscope by which he, personally, has removed foreign bodies from the air passages of more than 3,500 people, suffered from tuberculosis between 1911 and 1916, but conquered it and still teaches the use of his life-saving instrument.

COMMON NATIONALITY DRAWS PEOPLE CLOSER

What would you consider the outstanding characteristics of a well-organized community? According to Dr. M. E. John, professor of rural sociology at the Pennsylvania State College, there are a number of things that you would want to consider.
For example, in his studies he has found that persons having similar ideals and interests find it easier to work together. Common nationality, religion and occupation tend to bring about a closer feeling of unity between the people of a particular area. The absence of physical or geographical barriers helps hold a group together, while a mountain ridge tends to separate the people living on either side.
Because people develop the habit of going to a central point, schools, churches and other public organizations will be more likely to succeed if they are located at this community center. Dr. John believes. Community fairs, old home days, and similar communal functions help bring about greater unity.

SCIENTIST STUDIES SECRET OF MELTING ICE

Dr. Helmut Landsberg, assistant professor of geophysics at the Pennsylvania State College, has announced the results of experiments that might ultimately lead to scientific melting of large areas of ice and snow in the Arctic regions.
His experiments showed that icy surfaces, being smooth and white, normally absorb 80 per cent less of the sun's energy than those same surfaces do when covered with a dark layer such as coal dust.
When a mere one-fiftieth of an inch of coal dust was placed on blocks of ice, the blocks promptly melted in the open air while uncovered blocks remained undisturbed.
For this reason, Dr. Landsberg thinks it might some day be practical to melt glaciers in certain parts of the world to lengthen the growing season of adjacent regions.

PENNSYLVANIANS PROVE MANY DAIRY HERD SIRENS
Only one state proved more dairy herd sires than Pennsylvania during the period from April 1 to October 1, 1939, according to a report issued by R. R. Welch, dairy extension specialist at the Pennsylvania State College, from the U. S. Department of Agriculture.
Of the 1,033 sires proved during the period, Pennsylvania had 167 head. Wisconsin was first with 221 head and New York third with 158.
A "proven sire," Welch explains, is a bull having five unselected daughters whose production records have been compared with the production records of their dams.

HEART SPECIALIST DIES AT CLEARFIELD HOSPITAL

Funeral services were held at Clearfield, Saturday, for Dr. William G. Falconer, 51, prominent Clearfield physician and heart specialist, who died in the Clearfield Hospital last Wednesday. Although not in good health for some time, Dr. Falconer continued his practice until December 29, when his condition became worse. Interment took place in Bradford Township, near Clearfield. Dr. Falconer, well known by many Centre county residents, was the husband of Mary Waterworth, who died in Clearfield in August of 1936. She was a daughter of Dr. Samuel J. Waterworth, prominent Clearfield physician, and the late Catherine Cunningham Waterworth.

Grip Epidemic at Laurelton
Forty girls of the State Village at Laurelton are ill of grip, a mild epidemic of which is prevailing. It was reported at the monthly meeting of trustees. The patients are confined to their quarters, as the hospital of the institution, completed last year, has not been furnished, and the old infirmary is not large enough to accommodate the sick.

Sunday School Lesson

THE PROBLEM OF FORGIVENESS
International Sunday School Lesson for January 14, 1940.

GOLDEN TEXT: "Forgive us our debts, as we also have forgiven our debtors."—Matt. 6:12.
(Lesson Text: Matthew 18: 21-23)

In studying this lesson, it would be well to read and consider carefully the whole eighteenth chapter of Matthew which deals with the intricate and difficult matter of human relationships and of the effects of one's behaviour upon his fellowman. While we should weigh carefully our actions in the light of their effects upon those with whom we come into contact, in the lesson for this week we are to consider what we must do when someone has wronged us.

Perhaps there is nothing more difficult for the average human being to do than to forgive a person who has intentionally, apparently willfully done something or said something harmful or untruthful against him or her. By nature, it seems, we find it hard to overlook the wrong and dispel from our minds thoughts of revenge.

In our lesson on Forgiveness today we base our thoughts on a passage which shows how Jesus advised his followers, likewise, to make every effort to regain the friendship of one of their fellow-men.

The rabbi required that an offender should go to the man he wronged and seek forgiveness, which their rule said should be granted three times. Jesus laid down the general thought that love recognizes no limit in its effort to redeem, that forgiveness is not a matter of arithmetic but an attitude of the heart.

Jesus would not leave it to the initiative of the guilty one to seek reconciliation, but advised the injured party to seek an interview in an effort to adjust matters. If a private discussion failed, then the help of others was to be enlisted in an effort to bring the recalcitrant to a realization of his obligation. This was to be done in a spirit of love and generosity, not of punishment and revenge.

As so often happened it was the impetuous Peter who voiced the question in the minds of the disciples by asking how often should he forgive a brother. Peter suggested seven times, more than required by the Jewish rule, but Jesus multiplies the number indefinitely, saying "until seventy times seven." Knowing the boundless expanse of perfect love, Jesus knew that no confinement could be placed upon its exercise.

Then Jesus illustrated his teaching by the story which forms the basis of our lesson. A servant who had been forgiven by his king for his own deficiency forgot the kindness bestowed upon himself and when one of his own subordinates was found in a like state in relation to himself, adopted an attitude of severity against him. The fact that his own master had been moved by pity for human misery on his behalf was forgotten as he sought to apply torture and pressure in the other case. Jesus pointed out that every human being was the recipient of so great heavenly forgiveness that an attitude of oppression or severity would be entirely inconsequent.

It is easy to give way to hatred and carry animosity, but it is nobler to forget and forgive injustice and wrong in the interest of a more peaceable and complete life. The world suffers greatly because of its various antipathies and enmities. Discord between individuals sits up strife in various localities, hostility between various classes, sectional animosities, national prejudices and racial repugnances, all contribute to prevent the reign of fellowship and mutual helpfulness which love would implant in every human soul. The spirit of man grows reciprocally; therefore, "Tennyson correctly appeals: "Oh man, forgive thy mortal foe. Nor ever strike him blow for blow. For all the souls on earth that live To be forgiven must forgive. Forgive him seventy times and again seven. For all distressed souls in heaven Are both forgivers and forgiven."

ANNOUNCE BETROTHAL AT PRETTY LUNCHEON

At a luncheon given at the home of Mr. John Kilgore Johnston, Tyrone, on Thursday, December 28th, 1939, announcement was made by Mrs. Harry Barnes of the engagement of Miss Suzanne Louise Esamour of Tyrone, and James Patton Scott, of Philipsburg.

Miss Kanour, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barnes, is a member of Tyrone's younger social set and is attending Randolph Macon College in Virginia.
Mr. Scott is a son of former Senator Harry B. Scott and the late Ida McCauland Scott, of Philipsburg. He is a graduate of Philipsburg High school, Philip Andover and Dartmouth. He is a senior in the Medical School of Temple University, Philadelphia.

TROUBLES DON'T COME SINGLY TO INDIANA FARM

Troubles didn't come singly for Farmer Tom Singleton, of Washington, Ind., with the snow storm. In his barn he found a NEW-born calf beside its mother. After caring for them he went to a pond to break the ice and water his fifty hogs. But twenty-five of the porkers had plunged through the ice and drowned.
Neighbors helped Singleton recover another butcher, thirteen hogs; twelve were sent to a slaughterhouse.
Returning to the barn, the farmer found the calf killed by snow.
