Youth Is Fatally Shot by Comrade

Tragedy Occurs in Shanty Hangout in Philipsburg Vicinity

In a flimsy shanty hangout near Hawk Run, Clearfield county, Norman Cartwright, 19-year-old Hawk Run youth, was killed Monday afternoon when a bullet from the .38-calibre revolver a companion was pointing at him ploughed through his temple.

Nick Chutko, 20, also of Hawk Run and a companion of Cartwright's, is being held for questioning by Clearfield motor police.

Chutko, according to District Attorney Carl Belin, of Clearfield, said he did not realize the bullet was in the barrel of the gun when he pointed the gun at Cartwright and then saw his companion slump to the floor as the bullet ploughed through the youth's left temple.

District Attorney Belin said Cartwright, Chutko and a group of other boys, including Paul Sudik, John Lucas and George Hurtak, who had been in the habit of loafing in the shanty, owned by Mike Chutko, Nick Chutko's uncle, had been "fooling" around with each other before the fatal shooting.

Chutko was standing eight feet away from Cartwright when the gun went off. The wounded youth crumpled and fell on the floor in a heap, his head facing the wall of the shanty.

Cartwright was dying when Dr. J. L. Cornely, of Morrisdale, arrived at the shanty at 2:45 o'clock, a short time after the shooting. Cartwright had not been moved by the time the physician reached the hangout.

Dr. Cornely said the group of boys had been too badly frightened to attempt to give aid to Cartwright. He said some of the group had thought Cartwright had not been badly hurt by the shot.

Cartwright was treated by Dr. Cornely and was then rushed to the hospital, where he died about an hour later. Dr. Cornely said the shot had punctured the brain tissue and had lodged in the youth's head.

District Attorney Belin stated that Chutko had carried the revolver, said to belong to one of his brothers, with him every now and then.

Chutko faces arrest for carrying the revolver without a permit in violation of the firearms act. District Attorney Belin said.

Hasted Headache.

A grizzled 49-year-old dynamiter, denying he was drunk as charged, told Judge John L. Draper he had eaten bits of explosive to stop a headache. Them pills," explained the old-timer who lives at Nashville, Tenn., "is the onliest thing that'll make my head stop hurting' after a hard day of blasting." But it makes me stagger." The judge freed him.

CENTRE COUNTY HOSPITAL IN THE WEEK'S NEWS

Treated for Injury.

Dr. Francis J. Tschan, Penn State history professor, underwent treatment at the Centre County Hospital during the weekend because of an arm injury and a heart condition resulting from a fall near the Horticulture building on the campus at State College.

Dr. Tschan was assisted indoors where College physicians recommended his removal to the hospital. The trip was made in an ambulance, and the patient responded readily to treatment.

Almost a Baby a Day

The Centre County Hospital birth record shows that on an average of nearly a baby a day was born at the institution in 1939, the total being 347. Up until Tuesday of this week the baby-a-day average was holding good, for on January 9, 1940, nine babies had been born in the new year.

X-ray Examination

Earl C. Markle, 29, of Pleasant Gap, was admitted to the hospital early Monday for examination of deep injuries received in an automobile accident at Centre Hall. He was discharged from the institution later in the day when the injuries were found to be of a minor nature.

Building Boom Largest In 1939

Pennsylvania Aided By Administration PWA Recovery Program

1939 brought the largest heavy public construction boom in a decade to the State of Pennsylvania due to Public Works Administration recovery program, started and largely completed during the year, Regional PWA Director Colonel M. E. Gilmore announced yesterday.

A $215,000,000 program, involving 340 projects from schools to sewers was underway at the first of the year by Pennsylvania communities aided by PWA grants of $96,000,000.

All but 80 of these projects were completed and put into operation during the year. The remaining projects involving slightly over $60,000,000 in construction cost, will be completed in the first half of 1940.

Outstanding among the projects undertaken were: the Pennsylvania Turnpike at a cost of $55,000,000; waterworks at Bethlehem, $3,900,000; and a hospital at Pittsburgh at a cost of $1,990,000.

Almost half of the current program was devoted to schools with 126 projects totalling $23,000,000 in new construction. Included were such projects as the high school at Coatesville at a cost of $696,000; high school at Homestead, $454,000; high school at Mahanoy City, $427,000; high school at McKeesport, $1,242,000, and school improvements at Philadelphia, $1,457,000.

Next in number were the 38 public building projects; $9,000,000 has provided many new houses, libraries, county homes, municipal buildings, city halls, recreation centers, court buildings, etc.

In addition to projects built by PWA, this agency also allotted funds for 34 projects such as postoffices and army quarters built by the Federal Government at a cost of $4,500,000.

The construction program totalling $215,000,000 provided construction site payrolls to local workmen in excess of $73,000,000. The workmen were employed by private contractors through regular employment channels in conformity with PWA regulations.

The remaining expenditures $146,500,000 were expended for materials, many of which were fabricated within the state providing additional employment in mills and factories throughout the area.

In making the report public, Director Gilmore stated "this program was designed to aid heavy industry, and primarily the construction industry, but the payrolls created have been a strong factor in general business improvement. Surveys have shown how rapidly these payrolls move into general business for the butcher, the baker and tailor, and other fields.

"The rapid completion of this program, and no provision for continued PWA aid, means that all men working at construction sites or in supply and allied industries such as transportation, will be out of jobs until private construction can take up the slack, or local communities are ready to carry on. These men are the cream of the construction industry. Their employment creates a challenge which must be met."

NURSES' ALUMNAE MEETING

The annual meeting of the Centre County Hospital Nurses' Alumnae Association was held in the Directors' Room of the Hospital on Monday evening, January 8th, at which time the annual reports of the various departments of the Association were presented and officers were elected as follows: Grayce V. Treasurer, R. N. who has been president of the Association for the past two years, was re-elected to that office. Others elected were: 1st vice-president, Elizabeth S. Corman, R. N.; 2nd vice-president, Rachel L. Seegar, R. N.; Secretary-treasurer, Mabel I. Finlin, R. N.; directors: Mary E. Swartz, R. N. and Jane A. Keller, R. N. Other directors whose terms expire in 1941, are Beatrice K. Seckinger, R. N. and Helen S. Lambert, R. N.

Preceding the business meeting a delicious luncheon was served on tables which were attractively decorated by candies and the association colors of blue and gold. Members present included: Mesdames Pearl Minnich and Beatrice Seckinger of State College; Miss Ethel Beaver, Lemont; Miss Jane Keller, Madisonburg; Mrs. Iva Jones, Huntingdon; Mrs. Rachel Seeger, Port Matilda; Miss Marie Murtagh, Wingate; Mesdames Grayce Tressler, Artie Washburn, Mary Locke, Mable Finlin, Margaret Williams, Helen Lambert, Hazel McCoy, Mary Beezer, Elizabeth Corman and Misses Martha Walker, Lucille Neal, Catherine Ventre and Florence Smith, all of Bellefonte. Mrs. Nellie Geary, supt. of the Hospital was unable to be present at the luncheon, due to another engagement.

The next meeting of the Alumnae Association will be held on the regular meeting night, which will be the first Tuesday of February.

The annual meeting of district No. 5 of the Pennsylvania State Nurses Association will be held at the Masonic Temple, Valley Pike Johnstown, Pa., Saturday, January 20th, at 2:00 P. M.

Auto Bought With Nickels. Stanley Resor, of Ft. Maries, Ind., saved for two years to get enough money to buy a new car and paid for it in cash—all nickels. Resor walked into an automobile display room, selected his car, then plunked down his money and demanded a receipt. The accumulated nickels weighed 62½ pounds.

"JESUS, SAVIOUR, PILOT ME"
- REV. EDWARD HOPFER -

Jesus, Saviour, pilot me
Over life's tempestuous sea,
Unknown waves before me roll,
Hiding rock and treacherous shoal,
Chart and compass come from Thee,
Jesus, Saviour, pilot me!

Little GREAT STORIES OF HYMNS

This mariner's hymn has for long years appealed to the hearts of singing seamen wherever they may be. It was written by Rev. Hopfer while pastor of the Mariner's Church at New York harbor. The Church of the Sea and Land.

NEED MORE MEN IN LOCAL GUARD UNIT

More men are needed in Battery E of the 166th Field Artillery, Capt. Herbert Beezer of Bellefonte, reported yesterday. In line with federal plans for peace time preparedness, volunteers are wanted to increase the number of men in the troop from 65 to 80, he announced. Drill is held at the armory every Tuesday and Thursday nights. Besides receiving instruction in war technique, the guardsmen have the use of a large social hall for games or dances.

Battery E is divided into three sections. The gun battery is in charge of Lieut. Fred Shope; battery detail is under the supervision of Second Lt. Victor Emel, and the motor section is directed by Second Lt. Harry Simmonds.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT OF MINISTER'S DAUGHTER

On Tuesday evening the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Milesburg Methodist church held their monthly meeting at the home of Rev. and Mrs. D. D. Kaufman, with Mrs. C. W. Bullock, Mrs. Peters, and Mrs. Askins of the Unionville Missionary Society as guests, the other members of their society being unable to attend.

The following members were present from Milesburg: Mrs. John Sholl, Miss Hilda Haupt, Mrs. Harry Rossman, Mrs. George McCullough, Mrs. Lee Jones, Mrs. Howard Stere, Mrs. James Leitzell, Miss Anna Adams, Miss Anna Schroyer, Miss Hannah Schroyer, Grace Schenck, and the Kauffman family.

After the meeting had adjourned a social hour was held during which time Rev. and Mrs. Kaufman announced the engagement of their daughter, Christine, to Lee Alexander, formerly of Milesburg, who is now instructor of industrial arts in the High School at Greenwood Delaware. No definite date has been set for the wedding, which will take place this summer at Newton Hampton.
