The charge by the National Labor Relations Board that Whiterock Quarries, of Bellefonte, indulged in unfair labor practices, has been amicably settled according to reports.

Chief features of the settlement was the taking back of 11 of the 23 employees involved in the dispute, and paying them an average of $100 each in back wages, or a total of $1100. Immediate and full reinstatement of the 11 men, without prejudice to their seniority and other rights and privileges, is provided in the settlement.

Terms of the settlement require Whiterock Quarries to post the following notice for a period of 60 days:

"The Whiterock Quarries, Inc., recognizing the right of its employees to self organization, to form, join, or assist labor organizations, to bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing, and to engage in concerted activities for the purpose of collective bargaining or other mutual aid or protection, as guaranteed in section 7 of the National Labor Relations Act, states that its officers and agents:

Sheldon and Fleming 'Lease'
Watchman; Drop Political Identity

Confirming reports published elsewhere in this newspaper in recent issues, formal announcement was made in last week's issue of The Democratic Watchman that the newspaper, salvaged in 1932 by P. Gray Meek and conducted continuously since then by the Meek family, has been "leased" to George Sheldon, of Philipsburg, and John M. Fleming, of Bellefonte.

For some years Sheldon managed and edited The Philipsburg Ledger, then owned by former Senator Harry B. Scott. Since the Ledger went out of print, Sheldon has been operating a printing establishment in Philipsburg. He expects to spend several days of each week in Bellefonte.

SUE RAILROAD FOR BLOCKING RURAL ROAD

Serge Conter, Roy B. Love and Walter Rigel, as road supervisors of Howard township, have filed a suit in equity against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company charging that the railroad had blocked a road under their jurisdiction rendering it impassable. The road in question leads from the underpass on route 64 at Mt. Eagle back towards the ridge.

When the railroad built the bypass around Howard, the supervisors claim that "excavations and barricades so blocked the road as to make it impassable" and ask the Court to have the railroad do the following things: (1) cease obstructing the road in any manner, (2) require the railroad to restore the road to its proper level and construct and maintain a crossing at grade or in place, provide a sufficient over-pass or under-pass at such crossing, and (3) compel the railroad to reimburse the township for the damage due to the obstruction of the road in such a sum as the Court may decide.

A decision and order filed last week by the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board in the case of Howard J. Thompson and Elizabeth B. Thompson, of Centreville, owners of the Plaza and State theatres in Bellefonte, directing them to offer to re-instate fully and without prejudice an employee allegedly discharged for union activities, has been appealed to the Centre County Courts, it was announced yesterday by the law firm of Fleming & Litke, attorneys for the Thompsons.

The Labor Board ruling ordering the reinstatement of Clifford Miller, of the Forge, near Bellefonte, as projection machine operator, also charts a course for the theatre owners to follow in the future conduct of labor matters in the local theatres.

HUNTER HELD FOR COURT

Bressler Charged With Shooting Man in Mistake For Game

George Perry Bressler, aged 19, of Zion, who on December 5 shot a neighbor, Donald Sampson, aged 25, in mistake for a deer while hunting in the mountains near Zion, posted $500 bail for Court here Saturday after a hearing before Justice of the Peace Harold D. Cowher, at his offices on East Bishop Street.

Bressler, charged with shooting at and wounding a human being, entered a plea of guilty before Squire Cowher. The prosecuting officers are H. D. Ream of the State Motor Police at Rockview, and Game Warden Thomas Mosier, of Bellefonte.

Bressler and a group of friends and the Sampson family were hunting deer in the same area near Zion when Bressler is said to have fired at a moving object in the brush about 100 yards ahead of him. He mistook moving branches for a deer's antlers, it was reported at the time of the accident.

The bullet struck Sampson in the back and passed entirely through his chest. The wounded man turned and walked toward Bressler and his companions, Lewis Baker, Walter Bressler and George Armstrong, who rushed him to the Centre County Hospital. Sampson recovered after undergoing treatment for several weeks.

Bressler at once admitted having fired the shot and told his story voluntarily to police officers.

SPRINKLER SYSTEM CAUSES WATER DAMAGE AT COLLEGE

Considerable damage by water resulted from a fire at 6:15 o'clock Tuesday night in the Leitzell building, State College, when the automatic sprinkler system went into operation in the second-floor offices of C. J. Rowland and Company, public accountants.

Set off by a blaze in a waste basket, the sprinkler system flooded the accounting offices within a short time. Water poured through the ceiling of the Athletic Store on the ground floor, damaging books and students' supplies before members of the Alpha Fire Company and store employees were able to cover the materials with canvas.

Police Say Suspects Admit
Plot; Are Held With-

Two youths who State Police said have admitted an attempt to extort money from a prominent Edgewood matron on a threat of harming her three children, were arrested Monday and jailed without bond in Wilkesburg.

The suspects are Joseph Stewart, 18, and Albert Delancey, 19, both of Coal Hollow Road, Penn township, near Edgewood.

They are accused of demanding $2,000 from Mrs. Janet Lindsay, daughter of W. F. Rockwell, president of the Pittsburgh Equitable Trust Company. Mrs. Lindsay is the wife of James Lindsay, nephew of Mrs. Charles R. Beatty, of East Curtin street, Bellefonte. Mr. Lindsay resided in Bellefonte for about a year while employed as sales manager for the former Beatty Motor Company. He is quite well known locally.

8 Made Homeless By Fire, Sunday

Fire believed to have been caused by defective fuse, destroyed the home of Albert Young and family, in Holts Hollow, north of Milesburg, at noon, Sunday.

The blaze originated in the attic of the two-story frame building and because there were no stairs leading into the attic, the first intimation the family had of the blaze while they were eating dinner came when they heard the roof cave in.

An alarm was sounded and neighbors armed with buckets and pails worked the home some time ago, but the fire had too much headway and the home was rapidly demolished. Members of the family and neighbors succeeded in carrying to safety most of the furniture on the first floor.

Mr. Young, a WPA worker, had purchased the home some time ago and had been paying off the mortgage. He carried $1000 insurance on the property, which will not cover the loss. Mr. and Mrs. Young and their six children are residing temporarily at the home of relatives in Yarnell.

The band is under the direction of Harold I. Breton of State College.

Wooden Pipe Lines Are Still Being Built In Centre County

Wooden pipe lines are definitely not things of the past in Centre county. Elsewhere they may be misused pieces or objects for scientific study, but here they are being built and used by farmers, who claim they have advantages over iron pipe.

C. R. Boob, well known farmer residing east of Aaronsburg, will begin work soon on the construction of a wooden pipe line from a mountain spring to his home, a distance of about one-fourth mile. Cost is not a great factor in his decision to build his own pipe rather than buy iron pipe, for he hasn't even figured what the wood pipe will cost.

Iron pipe, he estimates, would figure around $250 or $300. The wood pipe may cost more, he said, for in addition to lumbering off sufficient sap pine and hemlock timber, cutting it into 15-foot lengths and boring through the sections lengthwise with a 3-inch auger, the ends must be reamed out to admit short sections of iron pipe to serve as connections between the joints.

Club Observes 25th Birthday

Rev. Robert Thana, of York,
Former Local Pastor, is
Kiwanis Pastor

The twenty-fifth anniversary of Kiwanis International was celebrated by the Bellefonte club at the meeting Tuesday noon at the Penn Belle Hotel. Kiwanis had its origin in Detroit and received its charter from the State of Michigan on January 21, 1915.

The original organization has grown to 2,000 clubs in the United States and Canada, with a membership of almost 105,000. The membership has been kept in these two nations because of the similarity of ideals and of peoples, which makes it possible to have close co-operation in all types of work.

The motto of the original group was "We Trade," the organization being made up of tradesmen and merchants. In 1919 this motto was changed to "We Build" to exemplify the change of purpose and the constructive and idealistic character of the associated clubs.

Kiwanis is based upon the principle (Continued on page three)

MRS. DIEHL TO GO ON TRIAL AT LOCK HAVEN

The Clinton county grand jury in session at Lock Haven, on Monday afternoon returned a true bill in the case of Mrs. Nellie Diehl, 32, of Hartleton, former employee of the Hartleton State Village, charged with concealing the death of an illegitimate child. The case is expected to go on trial this week.

At the time of her arrest in Lock Haven on November 30, Mrs. Diehl, a former Centre county woman, entered a plea of guilty, which was later changed to not guilty. She will be represented by A. H. Lippe, Esq. There appear to be few witnesses in the case, and a long trial is not anticipated.

COUNCIL TO STUDY BORO ASSESSMENTS

Begin Task of Revising
Valuations; Hope to Increase Revenue

OCCUPATION RATES
ALSO BEING VIEWED

Appeals To Be Heard By Commissioners Next Month

Bellefonte Borough Council, at a special meeting at the Logan House Monday night, began a study and revision of real estate assessments and occupation ratings in the borough, in an effort to correct a condition which has resulted in a steadily declining total property valuation in the face of considerable amount of new building.

The realignment of occupational ratings is a kind of side issue which developed at Monday's session when the listings of various individuals was found to be manifestly in error.

Before beginning work on a comprehensive study of assessments, Council made it clear that its purpose was not to make sweeping revisions upward. The chief purpose, it was explained, is to lower assessments which are too high, and increase assessments which are too low. There was no doubt, however, but that the latter type of revisions would greatly outnumber the former. (Continued on page 6)

County In Grip of Cold Wave

Freezing of Springs Attributed to Lack of Snow and Drought

So far this year Friday morning holds the record for the lowest temperatures recorded in Centre county. According to official records at the U. S. weather station at the local airport, a low of 5 degrees below zero was recorded there early Friday morning. Unofficial but reliable reports from other communities at the same time were as follows: State College, 5 below; Rockview pentultimate, 6 below; Hecla Park, 6 below; Milesburg, 8 below; Pine Grove Mills, 6 below; Stormstown, 11 below; Centre Hall area, 13 below; Clarence, 10 below; Moshannon, 15 below; Pennsylvania Furnace 8 below, and Boalsburg, 7 below.

Conditions weren't helped by a none-to-gentle breeze. Since Friday, thermometers in this area have been hovering between about 10 and 20 degrees above zero, with readings near the zero mark during the night. At no time has the temperature gone above the freezing point in this vicinity for well over a week.

An oddity of the weather has been reported by many persons living in rural areas, who claim that for the first time within memory the springs under their properties have frozen up. They attribute this unusual condition to the prolonged low temperatures and to the fact that there is virtually no snow on the ground to protect the springs. They also claim that dry weather may be a factor in the freezing of the springs. Many farmers are forced to haul water because of the odd condition.

Two Narrowly Escape Death From Fumes

Fumes from the exhaust of an automobile on which they were working nearly caused the asphyxiation of two State College men at the Esso service station, South Atherton street, about 11:30 o'clock Friday morning.

Guy Korman had driven his car into the station to draw out the radiator, and he was being aided by Wesley Henninger, station attendant. Mr. Korman became unconscious, but Henninger was able to get outside and suffered only slightly.

Members of the Alpha Fire Company first aid team responded to a distress signal and aided a State College physician in reviving Mr. Korman. Mr. Henninger also was given first aid.

Lee is 23 inches thick. Lock Haven weather observers declare that for the past twenty years there has never been as much ice in the river at one time as there is today. A measurement this week revealed the ice to be 23 inches thick.

ROUND BARN AT JULIAN IS DESTROYED BY BLAZE

B. O. Harvey Named

LOSS INCLUDES
CHICKENS, CROPS

Origin of Fire Undetermined; Barn Built in 1918

The round barn at Julian, since 1918 a landmark in Bald Eagle Valley, was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin, Monday afternoon.

The barn was located on the Kyle M. Alexander farm, which is tenanted by Fred Summers. The loss includes about 50 tons of hay, 10 tons of straw, about 450 bushels of soy beans, 300 purebred New Hampshire Red and Plymouth Rock chickens, and some farming implements—all the property of Mr. Alexander, who carried some insurance but not sufficient to cover the loss.

During Mr. Summers' absence from home, Mrs. Summers and her nephew discovered the fire about 3:30 p. m. Monday. At the time of its discovery the blaze had apparently made considerable headway, for a cupola atop the roof was a mass of flames.

Neighbors quickly responded to an alarm, but a bucket brigade's efforts were futile. The barn was wired for electricity, but there is no way of determining whether a short circuit or some other factor was responsible for the blaze. Yesterday Mr. Alexander had not decided on whether or not the barn would be rebuilt. Prior to the erection of the round barn 22 years ago, another barn on the same farm burned to the ground. That fire was believed to have been of incendiary origin.

11 FIRES IN THREE DAYS

Bellefonte Fire Department Sets New Record;
Loss Held Low

In one of the busiest periods experienced by the Bellefonte Fire Department in recent years, the two fire companies answered a total of 11 alarms in less than 70 hours during the weekend, it was reported yesterday by officials of the department.

The unusual series of fires, resulting from the long an unintermittent cold weather, began Friday night and ended Monday night. Greatest damage from the fires was at Unionville where the Florence Ballard home was considerably damaged. Most of the losses were merely fire fires, which are not serious if kept under experienced observation until they burn themselves out.

The fire which held the greatest threat of widespread and heavy damage was one at the Worth store late Saturday night. Had a few moments more elapsed before the arrival of firemen it is probable that the entire business block on South (Continued on page 3)

Thrift Corporation Pays 8% Dividend

Payment of an 8 per cent dividend on stock, a sizeable addition to the surplus fund, and the opening of an office at State College were highlights of the annual report of the manager of the Centre County Thrift Corporation, Bellefonte, read at the stockholders' meeting last week. The report was submitted by Walter H. Adams, manager of the company.

Approximately 100 stockholders and guests attended a dinner at the Brockerhoff Hotel held in conjunction with the annual meeting.

George H. Hazel was re-elected president for another year, and other officers re-elected were: Dr. Walter J. Kuriz, Howard, vice-president; and B. J. Grycko, secretary. Martin Miller was chosen second vice president to succeed William H. Brouse, who resigned the vice presidency to become treasurer of the corporation. Other directors re-elected were: Dr. Hickox F. L. Struble, H. T. Struble, J. H. Turner, W. R. Kerlin and D. H. Houser.

William T. Litke, attorney for the corporation, spoke on various legal angles of the thrift company business. Earl S. Orr presided at the business meeting.

Jehovah's Witness Found Not Guilty

In an opinion filed yesterday in the case of Mrs. Benjamin Meyers, a representative of Jehovah's Witnesses, who was charged with a violation of the State College Borough nuisance ordinance, Judge Ivan Walker finds insufficient evidence to uphold a conviction on the charge, adjudicates the defendant not guilty and places the costs of the case on State College Borough.

Meyers was arrested July 15, 1939, after she visited several State College homes, left religious pamphlets and asked for contributions. The court holds that neither the distribution of pamphlets nor the direct or indirect solicitation of funds comes within the prohibition of the Borough nuisance ordinance. "Mere solicitation is not a violation," the opinion states.

Coppers Nipped By Cold

A frozen ear was suffered by Private R. G. Anderson and a bad cold by Private A. C. Shive, both of the Milton State motor police, while on duty at the State Farm Show in Harrisburg last week. Mr. Anderson had been assigned to directing traffic outside of the show building and stood in the cold for hours without adequate ear covering.
