Church services on Sunday, Jan. 28, are as follows: Sunday School 9:30; C. E. 6:45 prompt, topic for discussion "What It Means to Support My Church." Worship with sermon at 7:30 at which time installation of the newly elected Elder and Deacons will be conducted.

There will be a young people Orange Meeting held at Pleasant Gap Grange Hall, Monday evening January 29, every member is invited and urged to be present.

Mrs. Kenneth Bradley was a Sunday dinner guest at the C. E. Aley home.

That dreaded disease called flu made its way into our little village and claimed as its first victim Mrs. Miles Bartley, who has been bedfast and under the doctor's care for more than a week already. Her many friends are wishing her a speedy restoration to health. Visitors to call on her were Mrs. James Lucas, Mrs. Harold Dolan, Dorothy Betz, Mary June Fye, Louise Beightol, Mrs. E. R. Bartley and son Arthur.

Sunday afternoon callers at the Lucy Conaway home were her daughters Mrs. Zela Kessling and children Christina, Helen, Henry and Clarence of Yarnell, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Conaway and children Kathryn, Lucy, Lester and Harry and Miss Dorothy Betz and Mrs. James Lucas.

The number of persons from our vicinity who attended the Farm Show at Harrisburg were very few due to the extreme cold weather and abundance of bad colds and grippe.

It is rumored that the electric current will be ready to turn on in Jacksonville in about three weeks, hoping this rumor proves true.

A large percentage of our farmers who have running water is now frozen, up and must haul water for their every use, sure is tough luck.

Mrs. Lucy Conaway served a chicken dinner in honor of her granddaughter Kathryn Conaway's eleventh birthday which fell on Jan. 17. Other guests were Miss Della Garbrick.

Mr. Lynn Winners and Mrs. Florence Stover of Lock Haven, spent Sunday at the A. A. Garrett home.

Mrs. James Lucas spent Friday evening at the W. E. Weight home at Howard, and spent Monday afternoon at the E. R. Bartley home.

Mr. Elmer Swope was a Monday afternoon caller at the Willard Harter home to see the sick who is not improving as fast as his many friends desire.

Merrill Kessinger of Nittany, called at the Robert Yarnell home Saturday to see his sister, Mrs. Olive Spicer.

Sunday dinner guests at the William Beightol home were: Mrs. Iva Berry and daughter Virginia and Clair Beightol of Lock Haven, Mr. and Mrs. John Dunkle and son Paul and Harry Beightol of Bellefonte, Milford Beightol of Bellefonte R. D. 2, Mrs. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Conaway and children Kathryn, Lucy, Lester and Harry, Mrs. E. R. Bartley and sons Arthur and Ralph.

Mr. Harold Dolan and sons Frankie and Walter, were confined to their home the past week with influenza.

Mr. Willard Walker was a Thursday evening supper guest with his sister Mrs. James Shaffer and family.

Mr. and Mrs. John Schaeffer and daughter Nancy, of Centre Hall, spent Friday evening at the C. E. Aley home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Dixon of Lock Haven, spent Sunday afternoon with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Dixon and sorry to find them not enjoying very good health.

Mrs. Roy Kearns of Milroy, called at the Robert Conaway home on Tuesday evening, Sunday callers were Clair Beightol and Virginia Berry, of Lock Haven, Louise and Milford Beightol, Mrs. Ed. Bartley and son Ralph of this place.

Mr. and Mrs. James Lucas spent the weekend at the Russell Lucas home at Milesburg.

Sunday callers at the James Shaffer home were Robert Conaway and family and Louise Beightol.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mabus of Bellefonte, spent Monday evening at the C. E. Aley home.

Mrs. Hogan Long was a Thursday caller at the William Beightol home.

Allegheny street might have become involved.

The weekend fires are listed chronologically, as follows:

Friday, 10:45 p. m. Fire at County Library building, corner of Allegheny and Howard streets. Both companies answered the alarm, and blaze was soon under control. There was no damage.

Saturday, 10 a. m. Logan Fire Company answered a call from Unionville where fire was raging under the tin roof of the Florence Ballard residence. The roof of the home was badly damaged before the fire was brought under control by the Logan Company, and the Unionville and Milesburg fire departments. Loss was estimated at $900.

Saturday, 2:45 p. m. Fire at the John Shecker residence on South Water street. No damage.

Saturday, 7:05 p. m. Fire at the Bruce Smith residence on Wilkesbarre street. No damage.

Saturday, 9:45 p. m. Logan Fire Company was called to Hecla Park where an old charcoal bank near the James B. Craig cottage on the Nittany Country Club golf course caught fire and showered the area with sparks. Logan firemen fought the flames with water pumped from a nearby river. No property damage resulted.

Sunday, 1:10 a. m. Firemen were called to the Worth store, South Allegheny street, where an electric iron had burned a hole through the ironing board on which it had been resting. The charred board was in momentary danger of bursting into flames, while the iron hung suspended from its cord. One end of the ironing board was under a rack of children's dresses. The room was filled with smoke, but damage was slight. The alarm was turned in by Miss Mary Saylor, who noticed smoke when she arrived home in her apartment over the store.

Sunday, 7:55 a. m. A small fire damaged two window sills of the brick dwelling occupied by Warren Caldwell, on West Logan street. Sparks from a neighboring chimney are believed to have settled on the outside of the sills, causing the blaze.

Sunday, 3:10 p. m. Fire at the Albert Smith residence, North Water street. No damage.

Sunday, 8:05 p. m. Fire fire at Lee

Solt residence on South Spring street. No damage.

Monday, 3:30 p. m. Both companies answered a general alarm when an oil line feeding the oil burner in the basement of the Chemical Line Company office building, North Water street, broke, and the escaping oil caught fire. Damage was confined to the motor driving the burner. The furnace room, surrounded on all sides and at the top and bottom by brick and concrete, showed its fireproof qualities. Had any part of the room been of combustible material the hot oil fire in all probability would have been a destructive one.

Monday, 7:45 p. m. Fire at the Edward Witmer residence on Reynolds avenue. No damage.

And that's the list—the largest number of fires in an equal period of time to happen in Bellefonte for many years. Despite the frequency with which they have been called into service, firemen are maintaining their rigid schedule of promptness in answering alarms, and for that reason the loss from the long series of fires has been virtually negligible.

political preference or identity, the new managers declare.

All the present employees of the plant will be retained, and a number of Watchman features are to be continued under the new management. The page 1 column, "ink blings," for the past 40 years written by George R. Meek, will be continued by John M. Fleming.

Mr. Meek and his sisters, who have conducted the newspaper since the death of their father in 1918, gives several reasons for the family's withdrawal from active management. One is that the third generation of the Meek family has shown no interest in country journalism. Another is that the Hatch bill prohibits postmasters having anything to do with partisan newspapers. Mr. Meek is postmaster at Bellefonte.

TRIALS

The trial of my life in the winter is ashes, coal dirt and soot. If winter never came I wouldn't give a hoot. I think I shall try an invention and make a chute or a scoop and attach it onto the stove so the ashes can loop the loop. And fall in a heap in the yard without any trouble at all. Who cares if they're not hauled away. 'Till some time in the fall. Now if I could contrive some way to take care of the coal dirt and soot. Why winter could last forever and I wouldn't give a hoot. But I suppose for the next two months I shall carry ashes and coal. I just hope on Feb. second the ground hog will stay in his hole.

MARTHA

Services on Sunday, January 28, in the Methodist church as follows: Sunday School at 10:00 a. m. and worship services with sermon by Rev. D. A. Sowers at 11:00 a. m.

16, 1936. An intermediate report filed by the Trial Examiner on June 1, 1936, found the company engaged in unfair labor practices, but recommended that the complaint be dismissed because the N. L. R. B. didn't have jurisdiction in the matter.

On February 24, 1938, the Labor Board, in a decision and order, reversed the recommendation of the Trial Examiner and ordered reinstatement of the involved employees, with back pay.

community affairs, in crippled children's work, underprivileged child work and other phases of activity.

The anniversary speaker was the Rev. Robert Thoma, a former president of the Bellefonte Club and present president of the York Club. "Why is Kiwanis?" he asked; "why do we meet from week to week?" In answer the Rev. Mr. Thoma said, "we find in it the recovery of the spirit of co-operation and fellowship that was in danger of being lost. During a century of national and industrial expansion a spirit of friendliness and working together was being lost in the business and selfishness of life. This is a step to the recovery of something fine in life. Another thing, he said, that makes Kiwanis worth while is that in it we are doing things that we do not need to do and that is good for our own souls as well as for those who receive the benefits of altruistic service."

"The spirit of service is being killed in many a country of the world. The state is taking the place of all the organizations and individuals who have gone about doing good. Compulsion is resting upon the citizens in the lives they live. They are in slavery in reality instead of being free men. And they lose something vital to the good of humanity."

Five of the charter members of the Bellefonte Club were present at the meeting. W. Harrison Walker, Earl K. Stock, Edward R. Owens, William J. Emerick, and Ray C. Noll.

Miss Mary Glover, assistant district secretary of the Pennsylvania District of Kiwanis International was present as a guest of the club. Other guests were M. S. McDowell, State College; Fred G. Hoffer, Phillipsburg; and Joseph R. Good, Hollidaysburg.
