received by the diners. Mrs. Paul Beaver, accomplished and talented organist and pianist, contributed two piano solos, while Foster Aupubler, teacher in the elementary department, and Mrs. Krader concluded the musical program with several piano-accompanied duets. Miss Dorothy Wilkinson, speaking for the elementary teacher, John S. Dubbs, representing the high school, and O. F. Sollenberger, speaking for the principals, tendered congratulations to Mr. Stock on his eminently successful twenty years as teacher, principal, and supervising principal. They assured Mr. Stock of the teachers' confidence in his ability as administrator and of their respect and admiration for him as a citizen and a man.

Lettres of congratulation from several local organizations were read by Mr. Sollenberger and Mr. Dubbs. The Bellefonte Chamber of Commerce in addition to congratulating Mr. Stock expressed its admiration for him as an administrator and business man, and hoped he would continue as head of the school system for the next twenty years. The Bellefonte Kiwanis Club sent felicitations and good wishes. The Club complimented the principal on his conscientious work and expressed the thought that his "influence and service have not been confined to educational circles. You have shown yourself a public spirited citizen in many forms of community service. The community has been made the richer from your presence in it."

Brooks-Doll Post No. 33 of the American Legion expressed its sincere congratulations to Mr. Stock and to the people of the community for their good fortune in having him as an administrator. Dr. Westlake, principal speaker of the evening, told the assemblage that members of the faculty and others in State College who know Mr. Stock consider him an excellent man. The speaker urged the teachers to do all in their power to progress so that they approach a real professional status. He believes that public school teachers do not receive salaries commensurate with the standards of living and of preparation which the public and state departments demand of them. "Teachers will probably never attain the professional independence enjoyed by doctors and lawyers because of a number of factors beyond their control," stated Dr. Westlake. One of these factors, according to the speaker, is that the teacher performs a public service quite different from that of the other professions and that they receive their recompense from the public treasury.

Dr. Westlake warned, "teachers must compromise between a state of complete professional independence and that of public servants." He urged teachers to improve themselves professionally, and to organize and crystallize their efforts that they may demand salaries more in keeping with their positions. Turning to the two school directors present he expressed his hope that his words hadn't fallen upon the ears of the teachers only. At the conclusion of the program Mr. Stock was presented with a gift from the appreciative faculty.

Child in Double Trouble. Automobiles heaped trouble on six-year-old Forrest Moyer, of Altoona. First Forrest fell out of his father's car as it rounded a curve. Second, another car, following behind the Moyer car, ran over the youngster and smashed his leg.
