Friends of the Rev. E. W. Moyer, former pastor of the Bellefonte Reformed church who has been in charge of a church at Shenandoah for some time, have learned that the pastor suffered a fractured leg on January 27 while making some calls among his flock. The first Sunday after the mishap the pastor was a patient in a hospital. Since then, it is reported, he has been conducting services every Sunday from a chair on the pulpit of his church, being assisted to and from the church by members of the congregation.

At a public sale in Bellefonte, Saturday, a number of persons smiled when someone brought a box of buttons for a dollar. Perhaps the buyer really wanted the buttons. Perhaps he or she was a devotee of a new hobby which is coming into being—the collection of buttons. One of the most progressive collectors of buttons is Mrs. Marie M. Wetzel, of Millsburg, Conn., daughter-in-law of Mrs. Emma V. Wetzel, of Willowbank Street, Bellefonte. A recent issue of the Waterbury Republican carries a lengthy illustrated story concerning Mrs. Wetzel's remarkable collection of buttons, which includes samples of the button-makers from the 1700's down to the present day. Many of the items in her collection are rare ones, even though she has been pursuing the hobby for only one year. Residing in the center of what was one of the chief button manufacturing areas during the early history of this country, Mrs. Wetzel frequently finds worthwhile buttons in old trunks and boxes of buttons purchased at public sales.
