Native of County Dies At Capital

Mrs. May Schnure Was Member of Prominent DeHaas Family

Mrs. May de Haas Schnure, of Washington, D. C., died at her home in the Pershing apartments, Mon-day, May 20, 1940, after a long illness. Funeral services were conducted in the Lutheran church in Laurelton, Union county, Wednesday afternoon, and interment was made nearby. Mrs. Schnure was a native of Centre county, having resided near Blanchard. She was a daughter of the late Joseph M. de Haas and his wife, Sarah Heckman de Haas, and the great-granddaughter of Major John Philip de Haas, who was given large tracts of land in Bald Eagle Valley, near Beech Creek, for his services in the Colonial and Revolutionary Wars. Mrs. Schnure was graduated from the Central State Normal School, now the Lock Haven State Teachers College, in the class of 1879, the second class to be graduated. She was later graduated from the University of Pennsylvania Before her marriage she was a teacher in the schools of Beech Creek and Liber'y townships, and in Hartleton, Union county. She later became the wife of the Rev. Charles Schnure of Laurelton, and for eleven years she and her husband served as Lutheran missionaries in India. The Rev. Mr. Schnure dled shortly after their return from India. After the death of her husband, she moved to Brooklyn, where she taught 27 years, serving as a supervising principal, and retiring about 12 years ago when she moved to Washington. She was an active member of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She is suryived by one sister, Miss Ida B. de Haas, of Lock Haven, and the following half-sisters: Miss Daisy de Haas, Indianapolis, Ind.; Mrs. Frank Grater, Pittsburgh; Mrs. Hersey Robb, East Northport, Long Island; Mrs. Jacob Bechdel, Miss Mabel de Hass, and one half-brother, Morton, of Beech Creek. Many nieces and nephews survive also.

How, for instance, would you be fixed if . . . your home burns down . . . a wind blows your roof off . . . a thief gets your furs . . . an explosion ruins your furnishings . . . you drop and smash your camera . . . you lose your jewels . . . your car is wrecked in a collision . . . your stamp collection is stolen

If you watch the papers you'll notice that things like that happen to somebody every day. There is no reason to think that it will always be somebody else. For most people, there is only one sure way to protect what they have, and that is with insurance. The peace of mind it brings is worth many times its small cost; and, if property loss is suffered, there's the money to replace it.
