EDITORIAL

If Germany wins the war in Europe the United States will have isolation in fact instead of in theory.

Americanism is good enough for real Americans, but let us practice it instead of merely preaching about it.

The experts are still guessing about the war—so we will add our guess that Russia, if she enters the war, will fight on the side of the Allies.

Governor James, who wants Congress to remain in session to act as a brake on the President against drifting into war, was very insistent in having the special session of his own Legislature adjourn in a hurry so that it could not act as a brake on the State's financial juggling.

Colonel Lindbergh's recent radio speech was that of a good flier, but that's all. How can he believe it makes no difference to the United States who wins the war in Europe? In fact, what does he mean in everything he said? He surely is not counting on that Nazi medal Hitler planned on him for protection from these inhuman beasts abroad—or is he?

Regardless of how we define "neutrality," our country is face to face with an uncertain future. The United States must assume that the future interests of this nation will have to be defended by the army, navy and air force without assistance from any friendly power.

The Centre Democrat wishes to congratulate the students of our high schools who complete their courses this year and at the same time, to extend felicitations to those of this county who complete their college careers. The high schools of Centre county are graduating a fine crop of young men and women.

Some of the experts are worrying about what will happen to the United States $19,000,000,000 hoards if the European war changes the monetary system of the world. Bankers and economists in this country have expressed the opinion that the gold standard cannot operate if Germany and her allies win the war and dominate the future economic set-up of the world.

A tourist from another State let fall the remark the other day that it was a pleasure to note how business-like and gentlemanly were the Pennsylvania motor police. And he followed with an example of smart-aleck wise-cracking indulged in by highway motor police in another State.

We who stand at a safe distance and view the terrific speed and sweep of battle abroad, cannot hide our horror at the inhuman philosophy of the German Nazis. There is something indecent as well as brutal in the persistent propaganda fed to German women that their job is to have more and still more babies.

NO LIMIT TO NUMBER WISHING TO JOIN NAVY The Altoona Navy Recruiting Office, Navy Headquarters for the Bellefonte area, this week announced information on new recruiting instructions to be placed in effect immediately.

Under the new order, the Navy will abolish the system formerly in effect, assigning monthly quotas for this district. Now, all eligible applicants making application, will be enlisted shortly after making application regardless of number applying.

Generally, the existing requirements will remain in effect. Applicants must be 18 years of age on date of enlistment, and must be morally, physically, and mentally fit, and must furnish satisfactory references. Also ex-members of the Army, Marine Corps and the Navy may be enlisted if discharged under honorable conditions and under 35 years of age.

Applicants on their first enlistment are ordered to the Newport Naval Training School for a two month training period after they are granted a leave period prior to receiving further orders for assignment to one of the Navy Trade schools or to one of the various units of the fleet.

Oh, Doctor A newly-married doctor was taking his young wife out walking one afternoon when an attractive young woman bowed to him. The wife, scenting an earlier love affair, asked, "Who's the lady, dear?" To which the doctor replied, "Oh, only a young woman I have met once or twice professionally."

Served Him Right A young officer returning from leave abroad was about to take his place in an air liner when a girl ran up and asked the passengers if any of them would be kind enough to sell his seat as her mother was dangerously ill and the liner was full up.

That's all, folks. In case you don't know it, a military man is a man who is ready to lay down your life for his country. —SCAT.

Sunday School Lesson TESTING HABITS BY THEIR USEFULNESS International Sunday School Lesson for June 2, 1940. GOLDEN TEXT: "By their fruits ye shall know them." Matt. 7:16.

It is difficult for us to overestimate the importance of habit in our every-day life and the part that must be assigned to it in the explanation of both thought and action.

Granted the supreme importance of habit for the individual and for society, it is evident that it is essential that right rules be followed in order to develop suitable habits. Every act of an individual leaves its mark upon that person's nervous system and these marks, in the end, make the man.

As a result of their sins, Jerusalem was razed, the beloved Temple despoiled and desecrated, and the Israelites themselves were driven into exile in Babylon. The prophet declared that the Lord had made their land a desolation because of the abominations which they had committed.

The test of character is conduct, and our conduct is controlled by our habits. Good habits, as William James declared that ninety-nine hundredths of our activity is purely automatic and habitual, from our rising in the morning until our lying down to sleep each night.
