Sunday School Lesson

JOB'S REPENTANCE AND RESTORATION.

International Sunday School Lesson for July 21, 1940.

GOLDEN TEXT: "And Jehovah turned the captivity of Job, when he prayed for his friends."—Job 42:10.

Lesson Text: Job 42:1-13

This lesson brings to a close our three week's study of Job. The long period of trial, which included loss of worldly goods, and his family, severe physical chastening through bodily suffering and mental anguish is now over for this sorely tried servant of God.

In other words, Job received a vision of God and when he did, his suffering and bodily discomfort became as nothing. While we do not assume to suggest that God is responsible for the suffering that comes to mortals on this earth, because we believe individuals are to great extent, responsible for their own suffering and misfortune, we do believe that God can use such happenings in our lives to cause us to have a vision of Him and, often times, to draw our lives into closer harmony with his plans for them.

This certainly was the experience of Job. What a revelation! A vague conception of God, which had been handed to him by others probably the religious leaders of his community. He had accepted their conception of God, incorporated into his beliefs and had, to the best of his ability, been faithful to God.

A study of the result of Job's vision of God will cause us to find that, a true vision of God usually brings a sense of our own shortcomings which leads to confession. Several instances of this are seen in the Bible. When Isaiah saw God, he repented of his faults and shortcomings of himself and of his people. When Peter had a clear understanding of the power and purity of Jesus, he said, "Depart from me, for I am a sinful man, O Lord." (Luke 5:8) Even John, the beloved disciple, fell "at his feet as one dead," when he saw the vision of the glorified Christ.

"Where are Job's assertions gone? One sight of God has scattered them as it ever does. A man who has learned his own sinfulness will find few difficulties and no occasions for complaint in God's dealings with him. If we would see clearly the meaning of our sorrows we must look at them on our knees. Get near to God in heart-knowledge of him, and that will teach our sinfulness, and the two knowledge will combine to explain much of sorrow and to make the unex-
