File Answer In Gates Case

District Attorney Denies Having Certain Items of 'Real Evidence'

The Commonwealth, preparing for the trial of Richard Millinder on a charge of slaying his neighbor Faye Gates, has no impressions or plastic molds of footprints; it has no fingerprints taken from the slain girl's car; it has no fingerprints taken from the death stone, and it doesn't think that Millinder's counsel has any business to examine before the trial the other physical evidence the prosecution has on hand.

That, briefly, is the substance of an answer filed here yesterday by District Attorney Muses W. Gettig in response to a Court Order directing the Commonwealth to set forth whether or not it has such "real evidence" as was listed in the petition.
