

Colorful Parade Climaxes Central District Firemen's Convention at Lock Haven

braided, and large yellow plumes or their high hats.

The Osceola Mills High School Band preceded the Columbia Fire Company of that community. The Rescue Hose Company of Curwensville, in handsome black and white uniforms with gold braided trim, drilled as they marched along the street and made a rickety appearance.

The Sugar Valley Vocational School Band completed the lineup of the parade.

Veteran Firemen in Cars
Bellwood's veteran firemen were conveyed in an automobile in the fourth division, which also included that community's fire fighting equipment.

The Good Will and Volunteer Hose Companies from DuBois, the former in maroon and gold and the latter outfit in grey, marched with their apparatus, the division being led by the Good Will Drum and Bugle Corps in handsome outfit corresponding with the firemen's uniforms.

Coalport carried out a grey and black color scheme in her firemen auxiliary and equipment. The Clymer Hose Company, which came the longest distance, in grey and gold, brought up the rear with its firemen and apparatus.

A small cannon, drawn on wheels with Jersey shore as its origin carried the sign, "We Are Ready." The Jersey Shore American Legion Junior Bugle Corps completed the line-up of this section.

County Band Wins Admiration
The East Centre County Band, a fine aggregation in blue, gold and white uniforms, led the fifth division.

Three Lewistown Outfits—The Henderson Fire Company, auxiliary and equipment in red and blue; the Fame Fire Company in black and equipment, and the Junction Fire Company and apparatus, the firemen in maroon and blue uniforms—made up the largest portion of this division. The High School Bands from Redsville and Burnham two suburban communities in that area were also included in this section, as were the Burnham Fire Company and its equipment.

Bellefonte, State College and Ebensburg units made up the sixth division, which was led by the Bellefonte Sons of the Legion Band in blue and gold outfits. Members of the Undine Fire Company, in blue, black and white, were followed by their apparatus. Next in line was the Daughters Fire Company Ebensburg, equipment.

The Lemon Band, one of the outstanding musical units of the entire parade, were next in their handsome uniforms which followed a color scheme of black, royal blue and red. The Alpha Fire Company and equipment from State College concluded this section.

Johnsonburg Units
Johnsonburg sent four fine looking units to the parade, the Central Hose Company Junior Drum and Bugle Corps, in patriotic color uniforms, leading the seventh division. Then came the Central Firemen with their equipment and the Armstrong Hose Company Drum and Bugle Corps.

Brookway, another community from that section of the state, displayed its equipment, which was followed by the Smethport Fire Company's Drum and Bugle Corps and firemen's equipment. This was a particularly good looking division of the parade with uniforms of red, white and blue; maroon and black; royal blue, white and gold, and royal blue and grey.

Tyrone delegations took up most of the eighth division. One of the most striking color schemes in the entire parade was carried out by the Macabees Drum and Bugle Corps, composed entirely of women dressed in bright green and white outfits, and the Citizens Hose Company, whose members were bright green uniforms to match. The Citizens also displayed their apparatus. Next in line was the American Legion Band in orange and black followed by the firemen of the Blazing Arrow Hook and Ladder Company in grey. The latter group led their auxiliary, in beautiful uniforms of white, royal blue and gold, the group including a drum and bugle corps.

The Neptune Fire Company Auxiliary, also from Tyrone, made a striking appearance in red and white satin costumes.

The Griffith Hook and Ladder Company from Kane, named in honor of the father of William T. Griffith, former Kane resident brought this section to a close.

Gallitzin Represented
Gallitzin sent its American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps, its beautiful red, white and blue uniforms, to head the ninth division. The Skylesville Volunteer Fire Company, in brown and tan, was led by a midwife who wore the company's uniform. The judges wondered if his short legs would carry him over the entire parade route.

The Skylesville auxiliary made a beautiful picture in white dresses, yellow and black caps, with yellow plumes atop their tall hats. The equipment from this community was also included in the division.

The crack Jersey Shore High School Band in black, orange and white uniforms, were followed by the Independent Hose Company and equipment from the down-river community, the firemen appearing in black and gold costumes. The Avis Fire Company, in similar outfits, marched next, followed by their apparatus.

The Lock Haven Junior Drum and Bugle Corps, in their new uniforms, scored a hit not only with their music but their fancy drill work. Although organized a comparatively short time, these lads give all the promise of a successful career. They made Lock Havenites swell with justifiable pride.

Banjo Band Leads Division
The Bellefonte Banjo Band, one of the most unique musical organizations in the state, led the 10th division, attired in handsome purple and gold uniforms. The Logan Fire Company and equipment, also from Bellefonte, followed, after which came the Milton American Legion Junior Drum and Bugle Corps, a good looking group in brown and orange uniforms.

The Sandy Hose Company, DuBois, with its equipment and auxiliary marched next in line, followed by the F. W. Drum and Bugle Corps of Williamsport in orange and black uniforms and chromium helmets.

The Auxiliary from Nanty Glo judged the best appearing women's group in the parade, came as a surprise to most people for it was not listed on the official line-up. There were 28 women in the group attired in gold satin blouses, tan skirts, brown and tan capes and caps, and gold slippers.

The fire department from Kersey in maroon and tan uniforms, completed this division.

In the final division were the Lock Haven firemen and equipment and apparatus from Mill Hall and Flemington. Out of deference to the weather, the Lock Haven fire ladders laid aside their coats. They looked as comfortable as could be expected.

At least three thousand men, women and children, making up the various delegations, marched in the parade. About 75 pieces of equipment, including ambulances, hook and ladder trucks and pumps, made up the procession of apparatus which was interspersed with the various groups.

ed and are capable of handling the biggest commercial and military planes. High hopes are held that the U. S. Army will take an interest in the airport and maintain a base there.

Boundary and range lights have been installed at the field and need only an electric power line run in to be hooked to.

Although the thousands of interested sightseers have visited the "oasis in the Alleghenies" in its various stages during the past several years, the state government has placed rigid restrictions on the field and closed it to the public.

"No unauthorized persons will be allowed on the Black Moshannon airport without permission," read the official order from William Schwartz, acting director of the Division of Aeronautics.

Warning that prosecution will follow violation of these orders, it is believed that these new rulings indicate that the state is taking no chances on possible sabotage.

nails and hair were perfectly preserved. This mummy was not even in a glass case but was exposed to the air.
When Alexander the Great conquered Egypt in 336 B. C. medicine took a forward step. Ptolemy, a great general under Alexander, became the ruler in 323 B. C. at the death of his chief. He founded a dynasty that became extinct in 30 B. C. with the death of Cleopatra, his descendant. Great medical schools were established in Egypt. Medicine had its heyday.

Cleopatra was a physician, also a literary genius, and showed great statesmanship until she lost her head over Anthony. She had a wide knowledge of medicine. Poisons and anesthetics especially interested her. She experimented with them upon criminals in order to find out the duration and effect. She folied the designs of Oestivius by ending her own life by a subtle poison and so escaped being taken by him to Rome to grace his triumph.

RANDOM NOTES

"Memory book" The girl is now engaged in library work in Dallas, Texas, and in all the years that have elapsed since the memorable game she has kept up through correspondence the friendships made at that time. And so it is only natural that when Miss Lillian G. Lightly, of Dallas, Texas, visits Bellefonte this weekend to renew acquaintances with persons she hasn't seen for 14 years, she will be heartily welcomed and warmly received.
You can have many things if you are willing to be patient about them.
When you touch the money nerve you get down to the real person.
Here's one thing you needn't worry about: the end of the world.

OBITUARY

SYLVESTER EDWARD MOYER

Sylvester Edward Moyer, 74, of Altoona, died Sunday morning, Aug. 18, after an eight months' illness. He was a retired elevator operator in the Juniata shops. Born in Centre county, November 22, 1866. He was the son of John and Amelia (Schwartz) Moyer. Members of the family include his wife, Virginia (Gill) Moyer; three children Chester E., of Altoona; Ralph T., at home, and Mrs. George Fleck of Altoona; two grandchildren and a brother, David of Centre county. Mr. Moyer was a member of the Third United Brethren church and of the P. R. Relief.

MRS. JULIA M. BOLLINGER

Mrs. Julia Munson Bollinger, of Tyrone, died Friday, August 16, 1940, at Indiana, Pa., following an illness of over five months from a heart condition. Mrs. Bollinger was recently a patient in the Altoona hospital for several weeks, and had gone to Indiana on her discharge from the hospital. Mrs. Bollinger was born March 4, 1864, at Phillipsburg, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Munson. In May, 1893, at Phillipsburg, she was united in marriage with George C. Bollinger. Mr. Bollinger passed away in 1899. She is survived by one sister, Mrs. William McClellan, of Bellefonte. Two sons preceded the mother to the grave. Mrs. Bollinger had made her home with Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Sauser in Tyrone for the past twelve years, Mrs. Sauser being her sister-in-law. She was a member of the Presbyterian church of Indiana, and of the Tyrone Civic Club. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon from the Beech funeral home, Phillipsburg. Interment was made in the Phillipsburg cemetery.

GEORGE D. FOUST

George D. Foust, for over thirty years a resident of Tyrone and well known business man, died at his home there Friday, August 16, 1940, following an illness from a heart condition extending from January of this year. Mr. Foust was born September 31, 1867, near Tyrone. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Foust. He was twice married, first to Nancy Ann Harpster, who passed away about 25 years ago. On June 27, 1929, at Tyrone, he was united in marriage with Miss Pearl McKinney. Surviving are his wife and these children: Mrs. Purdy, Mrs. C. C. Kreglinger, Mrs. H. F. Hutchings, Tyrone; H. F. Foust, Charlotville; B. L. Foust, Tyrone; two daughters and one son preceded the father to the grave. There are also 17 grandchildren and 6 great-grandchildren, one half-sister, Mrs. William G. Harpster, Tyrone; two half-brothers, Howard Foust, Pittsburgh, and H. F. Foust, Pittsburgh. Mr. Foust was a member of the First Methodist church of Tyrone. During his thirty years in Tyrone, Mr. Foust was an employee of the Templeton Company for many years, afterwards engaging in business with his wife in the Clover Farm store at 1500 Pennsylvania avenue. Funeral services were held at the home on Monday afternoon conducted by Rev. J. Resler Shultz. Interment in Grandview cemetery.

EDWARD WINSLOW

Edward Winslow, 67, a lifelong resident of the Beech Creek vicinity, died early last Wednesday morning, August 14, 1940, at the home of his granddaughter, Mrs. Charles Harter of Jacksonsville, who had been caring for him since his return from Geisinger Memorial Hospital at Danville. Mr. Winslow had been at Geisinger for several weeks. His illness had forced him to retire from active employment at the Harrison Walker Company at Monument on Feb. 16, after working for that company for 49 years. He was born June 7, 1873, at Blanchard, and was a member of the P. O. S. of A. at Beech Creek and of the Methodist Church. Surviving are his wife, Anna Council Winslow; four sons and three daughters, Walter and Miss Marvel Winslow of Beech Creek, Saylor Max and Mrs. Lenora Wharton of Philadelphia; Stewart, of Monument, and Mrs. Priscilla Confer, of Lock Haven; also by four sisters Mrs. William Welch of Avis, Mrs. George Schenck and Mrs. Foster Schenck of Blanchard, and Mrs. W. B. Lyle of Port Matilda; and 14 grandchildren. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at

College Woman Honored

Mrs. D. A. Krumrine, of State College, was elected central vice president of the State American Legion Auxiliary at the annual convention in Reading last week. For the past three years Mrs. Krumrine had been director of the central section of the State Auxiliary.

Darning Stockings

When darning stockings, avoid making knots in the thread, as they are hard on the feet. A knot is unnecessary if the end of the darning cotton is moistened to prevent its slipping through.

Grand Jury To Meet Monday

testimony is given to the Grand Jury.
The Grand Jury docket is unusually heavy with sex crimes, a survey shows. Five of the indictments involve paternity charges; two men are charged with sodomy; and another faces indictment on a charge of enticing a minor child.

The district attorney's list shows 18 cases for consideration Monday and seven for Tuesday. In addition the Grand Jury will make its usual inspection of the county property.

Eight summary convictions cases are listed for disposal at a special session of court to be held next Thursday, at which time a number of defendants against whom the Grand Jury returns true bills are expected to enter pleas of guilty.

Granting Wheat Loans, Insurance

Announce Storage Warehouses in Nearby Territory

To farmers who wish to take advantage of Federal crop loans, the Centre County Agricultural Conservation office announces that there are a number of storage warehouses already approved every day. Those approved and tentatively approved in Pennsylvania at present are:

Bellefonte Flour Mills, Bellefonte, Mifflin County.
Tyrone Milling Co., Ironsville, Blair County.
A. J. Herbster, Laurelton, Union County, and Spring Mills, Centre County.

The loan rate is 74 cents per bushel on number 2 winter wheat with deductions of 3 to 6 cents per bushel for grade or soil. Loans are made for 240 days at 2 per cent interest. Detail information is available at your county agricultural conservation office located at the office at the Post office building Bellefonte.

Seventeen hundred forty-six farmers have already applied for wheat crop insurance on the 1940-41 crop. It is probable that a total of 7,500 farmers will apply. This represents $90,000 to 100,000 acres of winter wheat that will be insured for 1941. Indemnities have been paid for the first year of operation of the crop insurance program in Pennsylvania for losses on 153 farms representing 7,749 bushels. These were distributed in 23 counties and the total amount of these indemnities was $5,440.78. The number of farmers applying for wheat crop insurance has been steadily increasing.

Injured in Fall

Clair Dickey, son of C. I. Dickey, of Cogan Station, suffered a fractured right shoulder and possible skull fracture when he fell into a basement at a warehouse at the Pfouts building in Renovo where he was assisting his father unload coal. He is confined to the Renovo Hospital.
