

Echoes From the Past

Fifty Years Ago

William Blair, one of Benner township's most respected citizens died suddenly at his home near Fillmore on Sunday evening. Drop of the heart was his ailment. The deceased was about 65 years of age.

The old Washington Furnace in Porter Township, Clinton County, has been torn down and in a few days not a stone will be left to mark the spot where it stood. The iron is being shipped away and the stone used for building purposes in Nittany Valley.

Last Friday E. M. Huyet & Co's steam sawmill near Wolf's Store was destroyed by fire. It is supposed that sparks from the stack lodged in the trunk of a dead tree nearby and that at night it caught on fire and fell towards the mill. The loss is about $1,200 with no insurance. No lumber was lost.

On Tuesday Mr. E. C. Hickman foreman on the B. E. V. railroad at Mt. Eagle, was found lying beneath the Curran bridge. His watch was missing and it is supposed that he may have been assaulted by a gang of tramps seen in that vicinity. He was unconscious when found. No further particulars could be learned.

The school teachers say that pupils who have access to newspapers at home when compared with those who have not, are better readers, better spellers, better grammarians, excellent in pronunciation and read more understandingly and obtain a good knowledge of geography in almost half the time it requires others.

Last Thursday morning, after we had gone to press, the news reached us of the sudden death of John Force, who was crushed by a falling tree while working in the woods near Moshannon. The tree fell upon him without a moment's warning. The deceased was the same John Force who was badly cut in the affray with Viehdorfer last March.

Marriage licenses were issued to the following couples: R. C. Thompson, Port Matilda, and Miss Martha Welt, Bellefonte; Charles W. Whitehill, Lemont, and Mary A. Devo, Tusseville; Jacob Rubie, H. Inok, and Mrs. Mary E. Richards, Unionville; Harry E. Shadle, Williamsport, and Miss Sadie C. Binner, Centre Hall; Israel Poorman and Miss Mollie Walker, both of Boggs Twp.; Harvey B. Haugh, Wolf's Store, and Miss Annie Spangler, of Tylersville; George W. Grimes and Miss Catherine Delige, both of Bellefonte, colored.

At 9:30 o'clock on Wednesday morning of last week, the ceremony took place which united in marriage John T. Fowler, of Fowler this county, and Miss Elizabeth Beck, of Cross Roads, Huntingdon County. Rev. George Elliott, of Bellefonte, was the officiating clergyman. The wedding took place at the parlor of the room at Fowler Station, and was a quiet but elegant affair, only the immediate friends of the contracting parties being present. On the noon train Mr. and Mrs. Fowler left for an extended wedding trip. They go first to Baltimore from which place they will proceed to Fredericksburg, Virginia, by boat, and other points of interest in the south will be visited before their return in about ten days when they will take up their residence at Fowler.

Twenty Years Ago

Malcolm Love, employe at the match factory here, had one foot painfully injured when it was caught in an elevator he was operating. The injury was not serious.

Walter G. McCullough, local superintendent of the State Highway Department, had tendered his resignation from that post to enter the employ of the Besty Motor Company, Bellefonte, as a salesman. It was rumored that W. E. Hurley of Bellefonte, was to succeed McCullough in the State Highway job.

A cave-in occurred at the pike quarry of the American Lumber and Stone Company, Sunday afternoon which filled part of the quarry with hundreds of tons of stone, dirt, trees and debris. A shot had been put off that morning and thus coupled with incessant rains was thought to be the cause of the slide. No one was injured.

Mr. and Mrs. David Houser, well known residents of Lemont, celebrated their 50th, wedding anniversary.

William Potter Humes, lifelong resident of Bellefonte, banker, and active member of the Presbyterian church, died at his home as the result of a heart condition from which he had suffered for some time.

Clymer McClenahan and Alfred Crawford returned to their home in Centre Hall from a 104-mile trip to Vermont in the former's Ford runabout. They had but one puncture on the entire trip and made 250 miles in a single day's driving. The men praised New York State's road, being in better condition than those of any of the other states they passed through.

A fat steer which had escaped from Butcher Leitell, of Millheim was discovered in P. F. Conner's cornfield several days later. A dozen men with rifles tried to round up the steer but the animal was wild and huddled fence in a dash for freedom. After more than a dozen shots were fired the steer finally dropped on the state highway between Millheim and Aaronsburg.

A sweet clover stalk, eight and a half feet long, was seen on the farm of Wallace Igen, east of Centre Hall. Ole Giekner, eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Giekner, of Centre Hall, had one of her fingers badly lacerated by an exploding dynamite cap. The little girl found the cap near the stone quarry at the station, and suffered the injury when she hammered it with a stone.

A tentative report of the recent registration of women voters in Centre County revealed that there were more women electors in the county than men. The totals were: men, 8,734, and women, 9,874.

Edward J. Gehret and John Lambert, who for 12 years had been conducting a contracting and general building business in Bellefonte, mutually agreed to dissolve their partnership. Mr. Gehret was to continue in business as usual, while Mr. Lambert expected to follow his trade as carpenter.

Marriage licenses were issued to the following couples: William Furl Runville, and Catherine Delaney Harkovick, Adam Krosaki and Mary Ganit, both of Kato; Paul A. Vonada and Lila E. Clevenstine both of Zion; William C. Thompson Lewis, Del., and Grace O. Winter State College; Charles V. Long Hughesville; Forrest E. Gardner Blainville; Margaret Giosner Howard; John B. Kane and Erma N. Eckley, both of Bellefonte; Henry C. Stine, Unionville, and Katharine R. Watson of Milesburg.

Tripping and falling in front of a car loaded with stone at the Centre County Lime Company operations near Fillmore, John Fogelman, aged 63, was instantly killed when his head was crushed beneath the wheels. There were no eyewitnesses to the accident and it wasn't known whether the horse pulling the vehicle jerked him forward, or whether he stumbled and fell in front of the car. By coincidence one of the two horses Mr. Fogelman used at the quarry had been killed the day before when it fell over a steep embankment breaking its back.

Russell Caldwell, of Mill Hill suffered severe burns about his face, shoulders and hands and his wife and two daughters suffered burns about the hand when a can of gasoline exploded while the family was on the way home from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Conner at Howard. Engine trouble developed, and Mr. Caldwell, believing the gasoline line had become clogged, emptied the fluid in a bucket. While he was attempting to pour the gasoline back into the tank, using a lantern for light, the fumes exploded, showering him and his family with flame. The car was considerably damaged.

FORMER P. R. R. NURSE SUCUMB TO INJURIES

Sara Robinson, 30, of Tyrone, former P. R. R. Altona works nurse, died Monday morning in Kittanning hospital of injuries received in a collision of her automobile and a truck-trailer Sunday at Walk Chaik, near Kittanning.

Her parents, who were riding with her, are reported in a critical condition at the same hospital. Miss Robinson, who until recently was a nurse in the office of Dr. Hurst in the P. R. R. Second street office, suffered from a fractured skull, it was reported.

The family were enroute home from a visit in Beaver Falls when the accident occurred. It was learned.

HITLER REMOVING FOOD FROM FRANCE

Predicting "widespread famine this winter," Dr. Joseph Stokes, Jr., professor of pediatrics at the University of Pennsylvania, declared Monday upon his arrival from Europe via Dixie Clipper that European children are "already showing evidence of malnutrition."

Pointing out that food is being removed from German-occupied areas of France, Dr. Stokes asserted that this was good indication that Germany itself is in great need of foodstuffs.

GOOD BREEDING IS LOST THROUGH WORMS

It is impossible for a pullet to show her true merit or produce in accordance with her inheritance and breeding if she is handicapped by a heavy parasitic infestation.

Pullets coming in from the range may have picked up worm eggs from the soil or have eaten many insects, such as grasshoppers, beetles, flies, and slugs which harbor worm eggs during a part of their life cycle.

There are three ways in which worms are harmful to fowl. First they absorb food from the digestive tract and cause much more to pass through undigested. They surround themselves with a slimy, protective secretion which is poisonous to the fowl. Finally, they impair the digestive efficiency of the fowl permanently by injuring the cells lining the walls of the intestine.

The first step in expelling worms is to use a preliminary treatment which will clear out the protective secretions with which the worms have surrounded themselves, and thus expose them to the full force of the remedy. Such a treatment can be given in the drinking water for several days prior to worming and feed should be kept from the flock for half a day.

Worm "caps" can be administered to each individual most conveniently when the pullets are moved from the range. A new compressed tablet is available which will discharge the heads as well as the body segments of tapeworms, and cause no toxic after shock. There is no point in removing the segments only, leaving the heads to grow out again in a very short time.

THE EVER-PRESENT GOD.

International Sunday School Lesson for September 15, 1940.

GOLDEN TEXT: "If a man love me, he will keep my word, and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him." John 14:23.

(Lesson Text: Psalm 139).

While the definite time of the writing of this beautiful psalm is not known, we can be sure from its content that it was written during the time of King David and best biblical students believe that it was written by David himself. Another fact that is practically certain is that it was written during David's mature or later years, because his conception of God was the product of long years of experience with God.

What is your conception of God? Do you think of him as an austere Judge, keeping records of your actions, anxious to condemn your mistakes? Or, do you think of him as your Heavenly Father, who while not condoning your sins and mistakes, is ever near to help you guide you, and, while necessarily punishing you for your wrong doings, lovingly restores you unto himself when you repent of your sins and ask his forgiveness?

It is upon our individual conception of God that this lesson hinges. If we think of God as a strict Judge then the thought of his presence everywhere, his knowing every thought and action, naturally fills our hearts with fear and dread, because none of us is perfect and we all, at times, fall far short of doing what we know to be in accordance with the will of God. The idea of an all-seeing God brings terror to the heart of any person who cherishes some secret sin, and well it may! Does the thought of the psalmist, "Thou art acquainted with all my ways," bring joy or terror?

To the heart of the psalmist the realization of God's intimate knowledge of him did not frighten him in any way. He realized that God knew him, inside and out, but he was also reassured in the belief that God's was an understanding knowledge, full of sympathy for his weaknesses and of praise for his goodness, and that he need not attempt to hide anything from him.

Sunday School Lesson

In this psalm, we are also confronted with the omnipresence of God. God is everywhere. Not in the sticks and stubble, or rocks, and images of the heathen, but his spirit hovers over us any and everywhere we may be. He is not confined within the four walls of any temple, or to a sacred mountain or to any one nation. He is present everywhere and is available to every sincere, seeking soul. We cannot hide from his presence at any time, as Adam and Eve discovered, or as Jonah or Judas found out.

This is at once a terrifying and a comforting thought. For those whose lives are lived contrary to the will and purpose of God, it is no reassuring to know that they cannot successfully run away from him and hide their actions. For those who are trying as best they can, but ineffective as their efforts as they strive to do the will of God and carry out his will in their lives, the fact that God knows and is always near to help them fills them with a power which other-wise would be lacking.

From the experiences of his own life, David knew that God loved him and was his friend. Do you know God? Is he real to you? God is not primarily an impersonal force, or power, or creative energy. He is a personal God who knows us each one, who cares for us, to whom we may talk about our plans and desires in life through the medium of prayer and who has promised to give us whatsoever we ask of him in faith.

David was the first to suggest the conception of God which Jesus later gave to the world—that of the Fatherhood of God. Jesus, who knew God's character and purposes perfectly, taught us that God cares for us as a real father cares for his children of the Heavenly Father we should love and serve him, opening our hearts and lives to him doing the things he has told us to do and abiding in close communion with him.

Let us remember that we cannot hide our thoughts or our deeds from God, who is omniscient and omnipresent, and that we can find joy and strength in his presence when we repent of our sins and walk in the paths he has directed for us.
