THE "FIVE-POINT CHILD"

Everyone likes to see a healthy child, and in judging health by appearance, the goal might well be each for the fingers and thumb of one hand.

The five points are: up-to-weight curtis Bay, Md., U. S. Coast cheeks, and bright eyes, according to Miss Helen S. Butler, home economics extension representative of Centre County. When a child scores 100 per cent on these five points, it is quite likely that the whole ap pearance will be satisfactory, toostraight legs, firm muscles, and the

A good diet is one of the most important factors necessary to build the health of a "five-point child." To provide the necessary building material, Dr. Mary Swartz Rose has suggested a "five-point diet."
