65-Foot Ladder Fails; Fireman Fatally Hurt

James Holt, Your patronage will be appreciated. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith of Curwensville were Sunday callers at the home of Mrs. Roy Hall and family. BE NONCHALANT Your world may be in a turmoil and then at times you are peeved. Put on a brave front and smile. Don't wear your heart on your sleeve. Jus: keep all your troubles hidden. For the world doesn't seem to care. Put on a brave front and smile. Walk along with a nonchalant air. To you your troubles are tragic. To others they don't mean a thing. You might just as well laugh as cry. Then your troubles might take wings. For troubles have been man's lot ever since the world began. And every one has their share. They were woven into life's plan. L. S.

UNIONVILLE

Some idea of the height of the 65-foot ladder may be gained from the fact that when placed against Temple Court building, South Allegheny street, Bellefonte, the top of the ladder extended about five feet above the roof. Name Members For Draft Board

Superintendent of Schools F. Glenn Rogers, and County Commissioners Charles F. Hippie, Fred C. Mensch, and Harry V. Keeler. Meanwhile the County Commissioners, who are charged with carrying out the registration throughout the county next Wednesday, October 16, have set up the necessary machinery to gather facts on the thousands of Centre county men between the ages of 21 and 35 years who are eligible for the forthcoming draft. All judges of election throughout the county have indicated their willingness to serve as registrars without pay during the day, and most of the other election officers also have agreed to serve. In most of the precincts the election board will be aided by volunteer registrars, the total number in the larger districts totaling up to ten registrars, and in the smaller ones, five or six. The necessary forms will be filled out on a typewriter, or in printing, by the registrars. At Penn State College, eligible members of the student body will be registered by a board of 75 persons in charge of Edward Hilsman, the registration being scheduled to be made in the College armory. A special registration board will visit the Centre County Hospital to register any men patients within the age limits. At Rockview prison and at the County Jail the wardens are charged with registering eligible inmates when they are discharged from custody. As prisoners they are not considered as being eligible at this time, but will become so on their release. Registration places will be provided with tables and chairs instead of the customary voting booths. Everything connected with the registration is being done free of charge. The polls will open at 7 a. m. and close at 9 p. m. Eligible men are asked to register in the precinct where they live, if possible, but they may register in any other precinct if necessary. Any person unable to register for any sound reason on October 16 is charged with the duty of registering at the first possible opportunity after October 16th. At such time he will be compelled to register in the precinct where he did not register on the 16th. The precinct registration boards are given the responsibility of getting all registration cards, unused supplies and other material into the Commissioner's office on the day following registration. The Commissioners will hold the cards intact until they are turned over to the county draft boards. Severe penalties are provided for failure to register. In order to complete final arrangements for registration the County Commissioners yesterday announced that the regular Friday meeting of the board this week will not be held. This announcement is made to prevent disappointment to persons having business to transact with the Commissioners. In each precinct the registrations will be taken at the regular polling places. Needlework Guild Begins Campaign (Continued from page one) respective lists for two new garments for a child or adult. These donations are utilized in the community, distributed through the school, a Red Cross, and State nurses, and other authorized channels of public service. There has been a reorganization of the Needlework Guild this year. The former officers who served so long and efficiently expressed a wish to hand down their work to the Reading Club, a group of Bellefonte women who have met once a week for the past five years and who agreed to cooperate in this worthwhile project. For that reason persons who have been listed in previous years may find themselves on the lists of new directors, but their help is requested just as formerly. Anyone who wishes to be on the list, or may not get in touch with the secretary, Mrs. Hugh M. Quigley. Officers of the Bellefonte branch of the Needlework Guild for 1940 are as follows: Mrs. W. Fred Reynolds, president; Mrs. W. W. Sieg, vice president; Mrs. Hugh M. Quigley, secretary; and Mrs. John G. Love, treasurer. There were 761,567 visitors to the Great Smoky Mountains National Park of Tennessee-North Carolina during 1939.

Bank Completes Interior Changes

(Continued from page one) tion of the building was rebuilt to match the architecture of the bank building, and the entire first story devoted to the new quarters for the Trust Department. The Trust is the private office of the Trust officer's consultation and conferences. Next to the front, and connected by a wide opening with the main lobby of the bank, is the space for the Assistant Trust officer, with a wicket and counterwork, similar to the teller's equipment, for the Trust Department's money transactions. Next, toward the rear, is a new vault for the safe keeping of Trust records. This vault is built with walls, floor, and ceiling that will qualify for the highest rating as a burglar proof vault, so that when the bank's present burglar proof vault is filled by expansion of the bank's needs, the new Trust record vault can be made burglar proof by the installation of only a new burglar proof door. At the rear of this Trust portion of the building is a work room to house the accounting and clerical work of the Trust Department. In addition to the new Trust Department, this remodeling affected worthwhile changes throughout the bank, except in the Board room, Posting room, and vaults, which were already adequate because of long term foresight in previous planning. These excepted rooms, however, were included in the re-decoration and renovations, so that the entire bank presents a new, clean, and modern appearance. In the rearrangements, the entrance and public lobby remain in their former locations. The private office, however, is now located immediately to the left of the vestibule entrance. Next to this, at the corner of the room overlooking the two streets is the open office where the officers are accessible to clients for matters other than private discussions. The tellers occupy the side and rear lines of the public lobby. Here a modern banking screen, containing an increased number of wickets, has been installed. This screen is of the low type that puts the minimum barrier between customer and teller, and enhances the architectural aspect of the room. The sight lines are so calculated, for this new type of banking screen, that the customer has the friendliest possible contacts with the teller, and yet all tellers papers, etc., can be completed by out of public sight and reach. Space is provided at the customer's side of the wicket for writing a forgotten endorsement, etc. The wicket itself has an open center for conversation, between side panels of glass for more open view. Behind the screen, each wicket is equipped with built-in steel furniture containing cash drawers, filing trays, and cupboards, all individually designed for the teller's use. The increased number of wickets will allow the speeding up of transactions in busy times. For the safe deposit department, new coupon booths have been provided. These are conveniently located near the vault entrance and are nicely equipped for the convenience of the users. The entire floor of all spaces in the banking room and Trust Department, except the public lobby, has been covered anew with battle-slip linoleum, a quiet, soft walking durable floor covering which is easily kept clean. The fine marble floor formerly in the lobby was cleaned and preserved in place. The cabinet work which forms the office partitions and top screen in the banking room is of genuine American walnut wood, finished in the same manner as fine furniture. The banking screen wickets, and the railing at the open office are of architectural bronze, made by skilled workers in this craft. For the ornamentation included in this work, models were made by an architectural sculptor, and the bronze was cast from these models. These handsome materials, together with the redecoration of the entire banking quarters, combine to make this remodeling a clean, new, and modern in appearance, as it is in its working arrangements. The public is in-

Board Acts To Aid BHS Band

(Continued from page one) Ereon, of State College, now teaching music part time in the Spring Mills school, will be retained as a full time teacher by the Spring Mills school, but will spend up to three days each week in the Bellefonte schools, instructing prospective band members. Under this arrangement a total of $702 of Mr. Ereon's salary will be paid through State appropriation, while the $7.50 instruction fee from each prospective band member will be sufficient, it is believed, to pay the remainder of the instructor's salary. Under this plan the cost to the school district is expected to be negligible. As new players become familiar with their instruments they will be absorbed into the band, but their instruction will continue throughout the school year. There will be no additional charge for this instruction, the $7.50 fee covering all charges to the student. It is hoped to obtain between 25 and 35 new members in the band, and the number of days Mr. Ereon will spend weekly in instruction here will depend upon the number of students in the class. In compliance with a request by Governor Arthur James, the schools of Bellefonte will be closed all day, Wednesday, October 16, when all men from 21 to 35 years of age will be required to go to the polls to register for conscription. The purpose of closing the schools is twofold: to release from normal duties persons of registration age, and to lend moral support to the United States efforts to provide adequate national defense. The Junior organization of the Bellefonte Woman's Club was granted permission to use the high school gymnasium for a Halloween dance, October 31, and the Bellefonte High School Alumni Association was granted use of the gym for a similar purpose Friday evening, October 19. The board passed a resolution asking the County Commissioners and Borough Council to exonerate the school property from county and borough tax in the event a holding company for the school buildings is high school. Normally the holding company would be liable to payment of taxes, although schools and school property are tax free. The board moved to ask the solicitor for an opinion as to how the school district may include its $55,000 bond issue as well as a $14,000 bond issue which may be renewed, in the holding corporation's fund for a new building. Because of legal requirements there is some doubt as to how the district can turn over its money to the fund expected to be provided by the holding corporation.

Fire Victim Succumbs Here

(Continued from page one) rousing his wife told her to follow. After Hanley carried the child downstairs, and placed her on the grass outside he discovered that his wife had not come out of the house. Returning to the building he found her at the head of the steps, her nightgown badly charred. She was rushed to the hospital, where hopes were held for her recovery until shortly before death ensued. Centre County Coroner Charles Sheekler, of Milesburg, conducted an investigation, but deemed an inquest unnecessary. He certified that death had been accidental. The fire at the Hanley home was confined to the living room. Eleanor Waugh Hanley was a daughter of Karl T. and Emma Sprightly Waugh and was born at Beloit, Mich., on January 1, 1914, making her age at time of death 26 years, 9 months and 3 days. Surviving are her parents, her husband, one daughter, and a brother, Charles M. Waugh, of Princeton, N. J. Funeral services were held in Washington, D. C., on Monday, followed by interment in that city.
