

SEASON FOR SMALL GAME OPENS FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 1

Steady, Boy!

Hunters who have been training their dogs now have visions of the scene pictured here. 'Steady, boy!', says the gunner and anxiously waits for the bird to flush from cover. The small game season opens in Pennsylvania November 1.

Now is the happy time for the small game hunter in Pennsylvania. The opening of the season is only a few short days away—November 1. It is the season of brown stubble fields, tangy air and crisp days for which the nimrods have been waiting for long, long months.

Inquiring for information as to good game fields and accommodations for hunters received by the State Department of Commerce evidences the growing interest in Pennsylvania's favorite outdoor sport that annually draws close to 700,000 resident licensed hunters and nearly 10,000 non-resident gunners.

And what do these gunners get? 1938 they brought down approximately 7,000,000 pieces of game for a total weight of 25,252,899 pounds or 12,762 tons!

But think of the fun and enjoyment of following the chase and the days and nights in camp with boozem companions of the game trails!

According to the records provided by hunters, who are required to send in their reports, the following game was killed:

Deer, legal antlerless, 171,662; bears, 383; rabbits, 4,263,759; hares, 2,120; squirrels, 1,106,914; raccoons, 36,046; wild turkeys, 6,766; ruffed grouse, 224,479; ringneck pheasants, 317,230; quail, 109,891; woodcock, 50,085; shorebirds, 8,717; blackbirds, 78,613; wild waterfowl, 21,329; woodchucks, 145,528.

But even before the general small game hunting period arrives gunners have had cries at woodcock and wild geese and ducks the season for which opened October 30 but the season on wild turkeys and geese continues until December 14.

Small game—ruffed grouse, quail, wild turkeys, ringneck pheasants, rabbits and squirrels—are legal game to hunters beginning November 1 and extending to November 30.

Bear season begins November 18 and closes November 21. Deer season, when specimens of both sexes may be shot—except those with only a visible spike antler or antlers without points—opens December 2 and lasts until December 14.

Game Commission attaches report the season for small game will be a good one and that the deer season will be above the average. Ducks and wild geese, too, are reported more plentiful than they have been for years in Pennsylvania.

Many families in hunting districts afford accommodations for hunters by supplying sleeping facilities and meals. Community inns and hotels are glad to welcome sportsmen and farmers look forward to pleasant contacts made during each hunting season's pilgrimage to the woods.

The Tourist and Recreational Information Division of the State Department of Commerce is compiling a list of available housing accommodations for hunters near the gunning areas. In this way sportsmen who seek information from the department are directed to places where these accommodations may be found.

Pennsylvania offers an additional interest to sportsmen in the two archery preserves set aside for bow and arrow hunters only. One of these areas is located in Davidson Township, Sullivan County, and borders on the west side of Hickory Township, Route 115 between Elk Grove and Nordmont. The other is located in Allegheny National Forest, in Forest County. It is easily reached from Kettletown which is on Route 666. Application for archery preserve permits can be made to the Pennsylvania State Game Commission, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

A federal duck stamp is required to hunt duck and geese and these stamps, which cost $1.00, may be purchased at any post office. This is in addition to the regular Pennsylvania hunting license. The only firearm that may be used to take wild waterfowl is a shot gun not larger than 10 gauge fired from the shoulder. Repeating shotguns may not be capable of holding more than three shells in the magazine and chamber combined. Automatic shot guns are barred.

PENN STATE DAIRY HERD MAKES HIGH TEST MARK

Thirty-three registered Holsteins in the dairy herd of the Pennsylvania State College produced an average of 494.1 pounds of butterfat in 15,206 pounds of milk for the past test year, reports A. A. Borland, head of the college dairy husbandry department.

The average cow in the herd produced nearly three times as much butterfat as the country's average dairy cow, according to statistics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Victim Landed Earlier

The unsuccessful forced landing at Wellsboro, which resulted in the death of Charles M. Stewart, Worcester, Mass., salesman, Sunday night, was preceded by a successful landing at Ogdensburg, 30 miles south of Wellsboro, further investigation of the fatality revealed, Stewart, whose small plane crashed in flames after it had struck high tension wires, was said to have asked directions of Archie Carey, Ogdensburg, about a half hour before the fatal crash.

Principal speakers at the institute session were: Dr. Paul V. Vorkler, of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Dr. Charles Copeland Smith, Chicago, radio commentator and lecturer.

The teachers unanimously adopted a resolution endorsing the work of the Centre County Library as an essential part of the educational program of the county, and recommended that the County Commissioners sponsor the library as generously in 1941 as they did in 1940.

This action was taken after a review of the accomplishments of the library, which were outlined as follows: It has established and maintained a free public library, reference service, reading rooms and historical museum; has circulated 41,500 books through main library and 7 active branch libraries; has furnished 96 schools with recreational and supplemental reading; circulate books weekly to Centre County Hospital wards and private rooms; conducts weekly story hour for children; pro-

Q. O.—Kindly advise me the proper size of a burial lot for a family of six adults?

Ans.—The proper size burial lot for six adult persons should be 8 1/2 x 20 feet. If there are to be no monuments and only small markers, if there are to be monuments, the space allowed for six graves and a two-foot walk is 18 x 10 feet.

Q. H.—What became of Bob Ford after the James boys died?

Ans.—Bob Ford survived Jesse James about ten years. He settled in the mining town of Crede, Colo., where he opened a bar and gambling den. He was shot by a former deputy, Ed. Kelly, and died on June 9, 1892.

Q. R. B.—What are the Seven Capital Sins?

Ans.—They are: Pride, Covetousness, lust, anger, gluttony, envy, sloth.

Q. V. F.—Is there a statue of Thomas Jefferson? If so where is it located?

Ans.—A statue of Thomas Jefferson by Karl Bitter stands on the campus of the University of Virginia at Charlottesville.

Q. G. D. K.—Please give me some information about the coon cat?

Ans.—The so-called coon cat originated in Maine and is the result of breeding a domestic cat and a coon. It has coarse hair and the breed is now nearly extinct.

Q. W. F.—Can the American Indian claim exemption from conscription?

Ans.—Indians are exempt from conscription if they are living on Indian Reservations. If they are not living on reservations they must register for the draft and are subject to the same regulations as are other men in the age group.

Q. J. B.—Could you tell me the exact words Gladstone used in writing of our Constitution?

Ans.—In a letter to the committee in charge of the celebration of the Centennial Anniversary of the American Constitution, July 20, 1867, he said: "I have always regarded that Constitution as the most remarkable work known to me in modern times to have been produced by the human intellect, at a single stroke, in its application to political affairs."

Special Court Held This Week

met out at Monday's session when Austin Keith, 28, of Bellefonte, R. D. 1, entering pleas of guilty to forgery and the larceny of an automobile, was sentenced to serve a total of from 3 to 6 years at the Western State Penitentiary. His companion in crime, Earl Page, of Bellefonte, a first offender, was sent to the State Industrial School at Huntingdon for an indeterminate term.

Dean T. Runkle, 20, of Centre Hall, charged with involuntary manslaughter in the death of Bernice Horner, 17, of Spring Mills, who died as the result of injuries received in an automobile accident, was sentenced to serve from 1 to 2 years in the county jail.

Ill-fated Romance

A sordid tale of illicit romance was unfolded in court as Gardner was brought to the bar of justice. Pvt. Joseph P. Jordan, of the State Motor Police at Rockview sub-station, outlined the events preceding the shooting as told to him by Gardner shortly afterwards.

Mrs. Miller and Gardner had been on intimate terms for a "great many years," it was stated. The Saturday night of the shooting Mrs. Miller and her daughter Goldie had been in Phillipsburg and had spoken with Gardner several times, returning home about 10:45 o'clock.

After his last conversation with Mrs. Miller in Phillipsburg Gardner went home, got his revolver and set out for the Miller home. He admitted he had consumed 2 double-headers of whiskey and 15 or 20 beers from about 3 o'clock that afternoon and declared he was not intoxicated.

Gardner entered the kitchen of the Miller home and asked for a drink of cold water, which was given him. In the kitchen at the time were Mr. and Mrs. Miller, their son William, aged 20; two daughters, Goldie, 16, and Betty, 13, and William's wife.

Gardner, who reportedly had been ordered several months previously by Mr. Miller to keep away from the Miller home, became argumentative and Mrs. Miller told him to leave, picking up a stove poker and taking a step toward him. Gardner went out and slammed the door. An instant later as Mrs. Miller was walking back toward the stove, Gardner opened the door, fired a single shot from a .28-caliber revolver and walked over to where his victim fell.

Mrs. Miller is quoted as having pleaded with Gardner to go away and let her die in peace.

Gardner is reported to have answered: "You brought this on yourself." He then asked her to shake hands with him as a farewell. The would-be slaver, with smoking gun in one hand, and his victim, lying in an ever-growing pool of blood on the kitchen floor, then shook hands, it was stated.

Mrs. Miller was taken to the Phillipsburg Hospital, being admitted about 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning. The bullet had entered her back and partly severed the spinal cord. Several days later an operation was performed and the slug was removed from the muscles of her back. Latest reports from the hospital give her a 50 to 50 chance for life, but the chances are said to be 9 to 10 that if she lives the lower part of her body will be permanently and completely paralyzed.

Gardner offered no resistance to arrest and when interviewed by police at the Osceola Mills lock-up, confessed to the shooting and showed no remorse for his act.

In court Monday, he related under questioning by Judge Walker that Mrs. Miller "enticed" him in the first place, and that during their outings together in taprooms, Mrs. Miller frequently picked up the change and put it in her purse. He also claimed she'd say she'd go out with him and then go out with someone else.

Local Youths Plead

Austin Keith and Earl Page, both of the Bellefonte vicinity, were charged jointly with the larceny of a car owned by Charles Harrison of West Howard street, last August 23, and separately with the passing of checks to which they had forged the signature of Sam Capparella, of Coleville.

They took the car to Harrisburg, stole a license plate from a car in that vicinity and returned to Bellefonte, hiding the Harrison license plates in a woods near town. They then drove the car to Coleville, abandoning it on a little-used dirt road.

Although each youth was formally charged with issuing only one check, they admitted having issued forged checks totaling approximately $160. Chief of Police Harry Dukeman, of Bellefonte, was prosecutor in the cases.

Keith, who has served time in Williamsport, Glenn Mills and Huntingdon, drew 2 to 4 years in the penitentiary on the forgery count, and an additional 1 to 2 years on the larceny count. Page's lighter sentence resulted because he is a first offender.

Runkle Jailed

The charge of involuntary manslaughter against Dean Runkle was brought shortly after the death of Miss Horner at the Centre County Hospital here on October 7. Miss Horner was a passenger in Runkle's car about 8:40 p. m. September 19 when the car sideswiped a truck on Route 322 near Boisburg. The girl suffered puncture wounds of the esophagus and windpipe and other injuries.

Car Slightly Damaged

An accident Sunday evening at the corner of Main and Jay streets, Lock Haven, involved cars driven by Albert H. Kaufman, Jr. of Kingston, N. Y., and Russell Hines, of State College, R. D. 1, both traveling west on Main. Kaufman was forced to stop suddenly and the Hines machine struck the rear of his car. Damages were $15 to the Kaufman car and $25 to the other vehicle.

less driving and disregarding a red light.

The police had received a report earlier in the evening that Smith was behaving in a disorderly manner and had gone through a red light, and were on his trail when the accident report was telephoned to headquarters. He was placed in the city jail and released Monday morning on bail for a hearing.

Both the wagon and the Smith car were traveling west at the time of the crash. The wagon, properly lit with lanterns, the police report, was demolished. Damages were $50 to the Smith machine and $25 to the wagon.

Loganton 4-H Club HAS CALF ROUND-UP

The Loganton 4-H Calf Club had its third annual roundup Saturday at the home of R. S. Schrack, leader of the club.

The original heifers of this club have all freshed twice and some were shown with their offspring which have been added to the herds of club members. New members are added to the club each year following the roundup. The results accomplished by the members are attracting new members.

Joe Nagotte, in charge of extension calf work at Penn State College, awarded ribbons to members judging the type and production of their animals as excellent. There have been seven offspring from the original cow group.

Blue ribbons were awarded in the cow class to Martha Overdorf, Mildred and Lois Schrack and Hazel Embick; blue ribbon in the calf class to Martha Overdorf, and red ribbons in the calf class to Mildred (two), Lois and Daniel Schrack and Hazel and Levi Embick.

and traveling at high speed, sideswiped the truck which was going in the opposite direction. Boards from the side of the truck entered the sedan and injured the passengers in the rear seat, he said. Marjorie Lingle, 16, Floyd Vogt, 14, and Jeanette Shaffer, all of the Spring Mills area and all passengers in the car, suffered injuries.

Runkle, in his own behalf, had nothing to say before sentence was passed.
