

Sarah Ann's Cooking Class

When buying oysters be sure they are absolutely fresh. For the oyster stew the small ones are preferred, while the large are best for other dishes.

Oyster Cocktail
Mix together 1 finely chopped pimiento and one green pepper, finely chopped with 4 teaspoons of grated onion and 1 cup of tomato catsup, adding salt, pepper and paprika to taste.

Fried Oysters
2 dozen oysters
2 eggs
Fine bread crumbs.
Seasoning.

Oysters and Chicken Livers
1 pint of oysters.
10 chicken livers.
Salt and pepper.
1 cup oyster liquor.
2 tablespoons butter.

Panned Oysters
1 quart oysters.
4 tablespoons butter.
1 teaspoon salt.
2 teaspoons of grated onion.

Broiled Oysters
Select large oysters. Drain, season with salt and pepper. Dip each oyster in melted butter, then in cracker crumbs. Place on a broiler rack, well buttered.

Creamed Oysters
1 pint oysters.
1/2 cup mushrooms.
1 1/2 cups white sauce.

1/2 teaspoon celery salt.
Put the cleaned oysters in a saucpan with the liquor drained from them. Heat and cook until oysters are plump and the edges begin to curl.

Oysters in the Shell
2 dozen oysters in the half shell.
1/2 seeded green pepper.
1/2 medium onion.
4 slices bacon.

Chop the green pepper and onion very fine and combine them. Cut the bacon slices into thirds, crosswise. Melt the butter with the Rouquefort cheese and add the Worcestershire sauce. Place a piece of bacon on each oyster, then spread each with a little of the green pepper and onion mixture and last top with a little of the butter and cheese mixture, dropped from the point of a spoon.

RECENT WEDDINGS

Gilson-Dore.
Howard Lewis Gilson, of Sandy Ridge, and Miss Thelma Lois Dore, of Houtzdale, motored to Winchester, Va., where on Saturday afternoon, October 12, they were united in marriage. The ceremony took place at the Methodist parsonage. George Lorian attended the groom. The former Miss Dore is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dore, of Houtzdale. She was a recent graduate of the High School at Houtzdale. Mr. Gilson is employed by the Harbison-Walker Refractories Company plant at Sandy Ridge.

It usually takes less than four years to demonstrate the foolishness of most campaign speeches.

A phase, typically American and explaining many of our national difficulties: "The almighty dollar."

No community in the world ever made progress when it was dominated by a "lightwad" mentality.

RANDOM NOTES

main issue, production, is an important factor in national defense, as both Mr. White and Mr. Roosevelt fully realize, but it is not a matter over which audiences can stand and cheer. And we doubt that most of us, including many speakers, know what production really means.

THIRD TERM:
We don't know how the rest of you feel about it, but this corner has as much fear of a third term for any United States President as we have for the bogey-man who is supposed to get bad little boys, in fact, we believe the two are cut from the same cloth. Bath, we feel, get their strength from superstition. We'd like to hear just one good, sound, logical reason why a third term is the insane our Republican friends would have us believe. "It's a step to dictatorship" is out because a President has to be elected every four years, and that's our assurance that no President can become dictator against the wishes of the people. "It's against the ideas of so-and-so, who was a great leader in his day" is equally weak because so-and-so probably rode in a horse and buggy, wore a bag of herbs around his neck to ward off disease, and otherwise lived and thought in a world that is gone. "No President has ever served more than two terms" is pure drivel. No President up to 1900 ever rode in an automobile, or an airplane. And for the life of us we can't see that a third term is any different. There is nothing in the Constitution or any other set of laws against a third term. To say that two terms is enough for any President is exactly the same as saying that because you have held your job for eight years, even though you have done your work well, you should be fired.

During his second term as Governor, he continued his efforts to improve the economic status of the lesser-privileged, for better schools, for better roads and highways, and for agricultural expansion in the State.

Senator Bilbo is a member of the following committees: Agriculture and Forestry, Commerce, Library, Pension, District of Columbia.
Senator Bilbo's activities and achievements in the Senate include his militant fight for the legislation which made flood control on the Mississippi River a national responsibility and obligation. He was author and aggressive sponsor of the bill creating the Regional Farm Research Laboratories, designed to find new industrial uses and outlets for farm products. He has been a consistent supporter of President Roosevelt's New Deal Programs. He advocates liberal Old-Age pensions, free school text books, better educational facilities for rural districts.

Why? Just because eight years is enough.

Rally Speaker

native Pearl River County, he attended Peabody College and Vanderbilt University, in Nashville, Tennessee, and later the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor. Funds for defraying college expenses were earned at various jobs—including that of school teacher, as a fleasbutch, and as sawmill employee.

Profoundly interested in governmental affairs since young boyhood, his earliest known ambition was to be twice governor of his state before passing the age of fifty. His official career had its beginning when he became State Senator from the 4th Senatorial District, for the term 1908-12. Then followed his election as Lieutenant Governor of Mississippi, term of 1912-16, which paved the way to Governorship, term of 1916-20. He served his second term as Governor of Mississippi during the period 1928-32. He was elected to the United States Senate in 1934 for a six-year term ending January 3, 1941.

His first administration as Governor of Mississippi was characterized by legislation favoring the agricultural classes and the underprivileged institutions for agricultural education and farm development were expanded. The State Tubercular Sanatorium was established, the Industrial and Training School for incorrigible youths was established. The historic Old Capitol Building was restored. The State Highway Department and the State Tax Commission were formed. A Colony for the People-minded was projected.

On August 27, 1940, Senator Bilbo won renomination in the Democratic Primary in Mississippi, defeating former Governor Hugh White, wealthy lumberman of Columbia, Mississippi. Party nomination is equivalent to election in Democratic Mississippi.

FARM CALENDAR

Timely Reminders From The Pennsylvania State College School of Agriculture

Prepare Sprayer Now—Sprayer troubles next season can be prevented by proper preparation of the sprayer for winter storage, say agricultural engineers of the Pennsylvania State College. To avoid corrosion of metal parts, all spray material should be flushed out, and used crankcase oil then run through the machine. Drain out the excess oil.

Bleaching Improves Endive—The quality of endive is improved by bleaching. In crowded plants, the centers will bleach automatically, but in spaced plants a covering of loose leaves, burlap, or boards will exclude the light. Vegetable gardeners of the Pennsylvania State College say that endive is one of the finest fall green or salad crops.

Prevent Sheep Losses—Drenching every 21 days is recommended by livestock specialists of the Pennsylvania State College for the control of stomach worms in sheep and lambs. Weather conditions during past months have encouraged the development of the parasites, and large losses are expected unless control measures are used.

Train for Judging—County apple judging teams are preparing now for the state-wide boys' and girls' contest at the Pennsylvania Farm Show in January. The contestants must be over 14 and under 20 years of age, announce fruit specialists of the Pennsylvania State College.

Soft Corn a Problem—An unusually large amount of soft corn is expected this fall. Agronomists of the Pennsylvania State College suggest early feeding of the softest corn making silage, and drying.
Eggs Need Humidity—Poultry specialists of the Pennsylvania State

College say that for best quality eggs must be kept in a room with relative humidity of about 75 per cent and temperature under 65 degrees.

The man who flashes large bills at every opportunity is obviously not accustomed to much money.

TEN PRESIDENTS OF THE UNITED STATES
Are the Authors of this Advertisement

George Washington: (on declining a third term) "It appears to me proper, especially as it may conduce to a more distinct expression of the public voice, that I should now apprise you of the resolution I have formed to decline being considered among the number of those out of whom a choice is to be made."
Jefferson, Madison and Monroe, has forever determined that no President shall be more than once re-elected. The principle is now become as sacred as if it were written in the Constitution.
Rubenford B. Hayes: "In furtherance of the reform we seek and in other important respects a change of great importance, I recommend an amendment to the Constitution prescribing a term of six years for the presidential office and forbidding a re-election."
William H. Taft: "I am strongly inclined to the view that it would have been a wiser provision, as it was at one time voted, in the Convention, to make the term of the President six or seven years, and render him ineligible thereafter."
Woodrow Wilson: "It is the 'illicit powers' of the Presidents, not their legitimate influence with the country that the advocates of a Constitutional change (to limit the president's term) profess to be afraid of, and I heartily sympathize with them. It is intolerable that any President should be permitted to determine who should succeed him—himself or another—by patronage or coercion, or by any sort of control of the machinery by which delegates to the nominating convention are chosen."
Calvin Coolidge: "I do not choose to run."
Thomas Jefferson: (from a letter written in 1821) "The example of four presidents, voluntarily retiring as the end of their eighth year, and the progress of public opinion that the principle is salutary, have given it in practice the force of precedent and usage, in so much that should a President consent to be a candidate for a third election, I trust he would be rejected on this demonstration of ambitious views."
Andrew Jackson: "It would seem advisable to limit the service of the Chief Magistrate to a single term of either four or six years. I cannot but believe that more is lost by the long continuance of men in office than is generally to be gained by their experience."
William Henry Harrison: "The Republic could commit no greater error than to adopt or continue any feature in their systems of government which may be calculated to create or increase the love for power in the bosoms of those to whom necessity obliges them to commit the management of their affairs."
James Buchanan: "The example of Washington which has been followed by
