UN-FUNNY JOKES.

For years I've marveled at some things which have amused most folks. I mean those often told, worn out, but still successful jokes.

The mention of bald-headedness is sure to bring gay smiles; And deafness or false teeth, oh my!

It's "lays 'em in the aisles." If losing hearing, teeth or hair Calls forth a laugh so sunny; Why shouldn't loss of limbs or strength, And blindness, too, be funny? When persons lose their teeth or hair, I think it causes sadness; And, somehow, that which brings them grief Could never bring me gladness! —Lyla Myers.

WILLKIE VS. ROOSEVELT

Election day is drawing near. We'll have to vote again. We'll have to pick the wiser. The best of these two men.

I think a lot of facts and figures I like to see results. So I guess I'll scratch out Willkie's name.

He hates too much on insults. President Roosevelt has done very well.

He presents the figures, you see, He doesn't make impossible promises For the voters, you and me.

Dorothy Thompson, a friend of Willkie's.

Has studied his policies hard. She's turned around and surprised us all.

And has turned against her pard. John L. Lewis, a worthwhile man, Is letting his country down. He's hinted that Willkie will give him a star.

In his artificial political crown. Everything is blamed on F. D. R. From mosquitoes to pesky gnats, Hitler via dictatorship.

The early frosts and women's hats. Half of the Willkie crusaders Say our President wants us in war. They say he's getting us armed, etc. To rap at Hitler's door.

The other half of the crusaders Say, he didn't prepare us in time To protect our country's freedom. And the Democracy at its prime. I could write for days, I guess. But I think I've made it plain That in this chaos of the world We alone, must be sane.

I know what I'd get in a third term But of a first term Willkie, I'm frightened.

So let's vote for Roosevelt, a natural born leader And we'll come out in the end, enlightened. —Mildred White.

Given Heavy Sentence

Two of three bandits whose rampage of crime in New York State was climaxed with the theft of a Sunbury automobile and its wrecking near Selingsgrove, were given sentences in New York State of from 30 to 60 years in prison. They were convicted of holding up a gasoline station near Elmira. Edward Flynn, of Johnson City, N. Y., had previously been convicted on a forgery charge. Anthony Rexford, of Bernice, was the other man sentenced. The third prisoner is yet to be tried.

There was a time, not so many years ago, when Americans would have been aghast at the indiscriminate bombing of London. Nearly every business will volunteer if the profits are high enough. A new idea is like poison to some minds that refuse to be educated.

Who is Responsible For The WPA WAGE CUT?

To place the responsibility where it belongs and so that the truth may prevail the following information concerning the WPA wage cut is taken from the official recordings of the Congress of the United States (Congressional Record, first session, 76th Congress, Volume 84, Parts 7 and 8.)

Let's have a look at the record!

On June 16, 1939, Congressman Tarver, Democrat of Georgia, offered an amendment providing WPA wage scale to be based on the cost of living, thus reducing the WPA wages in the North and raising them in the South. (Page 732).

On June 16, 1939, Congressman Woodrum, Democrat of Virginia, when speaking in favor of the Tarver amendment, stated, "I am sure no one's wages will be lowered." (Page 735).

On June 16, 1939, by a vote of 159 to 111, (Congressman Van Zandt being one of the 159) the House of Representatives defeated the Tarver amendment. (Page 735).

On June 27, 1939, Senator Russell, Democrat of Georgia, offered in the United States Senate the Tarver amendment to the WPA Bill which had been defeated in the House of Representatives. (Page 774).

On June 27, 1939, the Democratic majority in the United States Senate approved the Tarver amendment. (Page 797).

On June 30, 1939, Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States, Democrat, approved the WPA Bill for the fiscal year of 1940 which included the Tarver amendment, thereby making the WPA Bill a law.

On September 1, 1939, Colonel P. C. Harrington, Commissioner of Works Projects, (appointed by President Roosevelt, Democrat) issued General Order No. 1 establishing wage scale for WPA workers to be based on the cost of living as prescribed by the Tarver amendment and in doing so reduced the wages of the WPA unskilled labor in Centre county from $53.30 to $39.00; in Clearfield county from $53.30 to $42.90; and in Blair county from $57.20 to $48.10.

On June 30, 1939, Congressman Woodrum when asking the House of Representatives to accept the WPA Bill as passed by the Senate which included the Tarver Amendment said, "This Bill will please and will be heartening to millions of American citizens.—This bill will please hundreds of thousands of Democrats.—This bill provides every penny requested by the President for the WPA for the next fiscal year.—Democrats can hold up their heads and not find things of which to be ashamed."

(Congressional Record, first session, 76th Congress, Volume 84, Parts 7 and 8.)

The Congressional Record is an open book and clearly reveals that a Democrat offered the Tarver Amendment, a Democratic majority in the United States Senate wrote the Tarver Amendment in the WPA Bill; a Democratic President approved the WPA Bill which contained the Tarver Amendment, thereby making it a law. A Democratic appointed WPA Administrator established the WPA wage scale reducing WPA wages in Centre county.

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE WPA WAGE CUT? THE DEMOCRATS!

JAMES E. VAN ZANDT

MEMBER OF CONGRESS.
