Shaffer Stores 43rd Anniversary

Today is red-letter day for Shaffer Stores.

Thursday, November 7, marks the beginning of Shaffer Stores' 43rd anniversary celebration which highlights the company's progression into its 43rd year of growing success in food merchandising.

The success of Shaffer Stores Co. has not been accidental. It is the result of years of soundly principled business practices which consistently have given the customer every possible benefit and courteous service.

As an expression of its gratitude to the people whose trade it has enjoyed throughout the area included by the 63 stores of the company, a great sale is being conducted throughout the remainder of November 14. This sale is replete with splendid bargains in every food department, made possible by the great buying power of the stores.

The present Shaffer Stores company began with the merger of the Shaffer Store Co., the Ortle Co., and the Altoona Merchandise Co., and the Altoona Merchandise Co. was formed in 1912 for the purpose of eliminating the middleman's profit by establishing direct sources of supplies.

Mr. G. W. Shaffer, founder of the company, has always kept abreast of the times. Constant remodeling and added equipment in all the stores is proof of this. The key-note of the Shaffer Stores system of supplying customers of Bellefonte and central Pennsylvania with quality food is the maintenance of a well-stocked and fully equipped store.

Each Shaffer store has the same yellow front and the same Shaffer standard of courteous, efficient service.

Nineteen forty finds the familiar, traditional yellow store fronts in the following towns: Altoona, Alexandria, Bellefonte, Bellwood, Belleville, Claysburg, Duncansville, Everett, Hollidaysburg, Huntingdon, Juniata, Lakemont, Martinsburg, Mount Union, Ocoosa Mills, Petersburg, Philipsburg, Lyswen, Reising Spring, Saxton, State College and Tyrone.

Besides the 63 stores there are the extensive headquarters buildings, land warehouses at 717-19 Green avenue, the company meat plant at Tyrone and the bakery in Altoona.

A. E. Wilk is manager of the up-to-date, efficient and productive bakery at 300 Chestnut avenue, Altoona, which meets all demands of the Shaffer customers for all varieties of fresh, quality bread, cakes and pies.

The Shaffer Stores' meat plant on Muncy street in Tyrone, which is in charge of S. S. Jensen, has been considerably enlarged for installation of the new Tuesday processing room. This is the headquarters for the sensational new tenderization of beef used exclusively by Shaffer stores. Another reason for enlargement has been to take care of the greater meat trade since the inception of the Tenderay process.

G. W. Shaffer is president of the company; J. C. Galboun, first vice-president; D. G. Weidel, second vice-president; W. A. Wagner, secretary; C. E. Shaffer, treasurer and general manager; R. G. Shaffer, assistant treasurer; directors include: J. Q. Replogle and F. E. Shaffer.

Other office executives include: J. D. Price, head accountant; W. H. P. Lehman, credit manager; C. W. Clugh, supervisor, and W. C. Stewart, advertising manager.

Home delivery service, accomplished speedily by the company's large number of fleet and powerful trucks, is one of the company's outstanding services to the housewife beside the regular personal service rendered at all Shaffer stores.

Truckenmiller Death Is Termed Suicide

Traces of the bullet which early Friday morning snuffed out the life of Paul Truckenmiller, 23, of Clintonville.

The importance of the bullet was great, for upon its discovery rested the branding of the strange death definitely as a suicide, or as something more sinister.

When the walls, ceiling and floors of the house had been combed minutely by police, Tuesday, they declared that if the bullet is in the house, it can be found only by tearing down the building board by board and inspecting each piece separately. The search was conducted under the supervision of Corp. S. Mollerkoof, of the Rockview station.

As an indication as to the thoroughness of their search, police pointed to the fact that they set up a portable electric light plant in the unwarmed home, borrowed powerful searchlights from Bellefonte fire companies and augmented those lights with other portable lanterns to burn the interior of the brooding house into a blaze of light.

But the 22-caliber bullet remained hidden. Hidden, perhaps, behind the blistered paint, smoke smudges and soot film deposited over walls and ceilings by the smouldering flames from three beds in the house which were destroyed by fire without setting the ancient frame building in flames.

From their investigation to date police have been unable to give a definite answer whether Truckenmiller met death by his own hand or some other person is involved. The absence of the bullet, which passed entirely through the young man's chest, the somewhat odd position in which the rifle was found beside the victim's body; the fact that he clutched a box of cartridges in his left hand—these and other factors, might point to either of two possibilities: a murder. On the other hand, police contend that all odds leading into the home were locked from the inside; windows were nailed fast; and there was no apparent motive for murder. These factors, they believe, point to suicide.

A strange pattern of fire and of apparently unexplainable actions on the part of young Truckenmiller led to the discovery of the tragedy.

The youth, who normally made his home with his sisters Helen and Mabel, at Clintonville, had been with a brother, Willard Truckenmiller, at Hubersburg, while his sisters were visiting another sister, Mrs. Louise Kreamer, near Shipensburg. The home near Hubersburg where the strange shooting took place is owned and occupied by another brother, Melvin, who was in Buffalo, N. Y., seeking employment. During Melvin's absence his home had been closed and his wife and family were staying with her relatives at Hubersburg.

La 1 Seen at Lamar

According to reports, Truckenmiller was last seen alive last Thursday night at the Lamar post-office. From that time on, events moved in strange sequence until his body was discovered.

About 2 o'clock Friday morning the home of Truckenmiller, situated in Clintonville, was rufled by a fire. Mill Hall firemen were called, but the entire interior was badly burned before they arrived.

A close examination of the house revealed pipes from stoves in the living room, kitchen and dining room badly twisted by the blaze.

Private Edward F. Bouse, of Willard, Pa., was inspecting for the State Motor Police, reported that the blaze was of incendiary origin. Bouse later said the fire at the Hubersburg home also had been set intentionally.

Learning of the fire at his sisters' home Willard Truckenmiller visited the scene Friday and became alarmed when he failed to learn the whereabouts of his brother, Paul. At first he feared his brother had been lost in the fire. Returning to Hubersburg about 4 o'clock Friday afternoon Willard saw Paul's car parked in front of Melvin Truckenmiller's home, which is situated at the end of a quarter-mile lane leading south from the main highway through Hubersburg.

Discovering Body

Knowing Melvin and his family were absent from home, he attempted to enter the house, but found the door blocked with a chair. He broke into the house and found it necessary to forcibly open the door, leading to the second floor before he could go upstairs. At the head of the steps he found his brother's lifeless body.

Fine white ashes covered floors and furniture; the walls and ceiling were blackened and blistered and a heavy acrid smoke hung in the house. Willard found a small daybed in the downstairs living room completely destroyed by fire. A bed in each of the two bedrooms on the second floor similarly had been destroyed by fire, but the house, strangely, had not ignited.

An empty two-gallon can, believed to have contained oil or gasoline, rested on the charred remnants of the front bedroom bed. The frames of all the beds were cold, and there were no sparks.

Calls Police, Coroner

Willard drove to Mill Hall and from there telephoned Centre County coroner Charles Sheekler, of Milesburg, and State Motor Police of Rockview. Coroner Sheekler who arrived at the scene about 5:30 p. m., declared that Paul had been dead about 12 or 15 hours, which would have placed the time of the shooting in the early hours of the morning—or at about the same time the Truckenmiller sisters' home in

6 Injured On Mt. Eagle Road

Cars Collide at Underpass in First Mishap on New Highway

Six persons were injured, none critically, in the first serious accident on the new section of highway between Mt. Eagle and Howard, Tuesday, 8:30 o'clock Sunday night. The accident happened at the railroad underpass at Mt. Eagle.

Car occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Harsh and Mr. and Mrs. Grayford "Ted" Casher, all of Snow Shoe, traveling west, and Francis A. Eldridge and his brother, Milford, going east, met head-on at the east side of the underpass.

All the occupants of both machines were brought to the Centre County Hospital, five of them remaining in the institution for treatment. Some of the injured were brought here in the E. E. Widdowson ambulance.

Merrill Harsh, 37, proprietor of a tannery at Snow Shoe, suffered a fractured right knee and his wife, Blanche, 35, received a severe laceration about the face and about the right knee.

"Ted" Casher, 38, engaged carpenter with a bruised eye, while Mrs. Casher, 38, had severe bruises of the left thigh and left ankle.

Francis Eldridge, 36, driver of the other car, suffered lacerations of the chin and right eye and his brother, Milford, 18, suffered a fractured knee cap. All with the exception of "Ted" Casher were admitted for treatment.

Pvt. J. M. Adams, of the State Motor Police at Pleasant Gap, who investigated the mishap, said damage to each of the cars would total about $250. When the machines came to rest, the Eldridge sedan was against the south side of the underpass. The cars collided with their respective left front portions taking the force of the impact, and they remained locked together after the crash.

6 Injured On Mt. Eagle Road

Cars Collide at Underpass in First Mishap on New Highway

Six persons were injured, none critically, in the first serious accident on the new section of highway between Mt. Eagle and Howard, Tuesday, 8:30 o'clock Sunday night. The accident happened at the railroad underpass at Mt. Eagle.

Car occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Harsh and Mr. and Mrs. Grayford "Ted" Casher, all of Snow Shoe, traveling west, and Francis A. Eldridge and his brother, Milford, going east, met head-on at the east side of the underpass.

All the occupants of both machines were brought to the Centre County Hospital, five of them remaining in the institution for treatment. Some of the injured were brought here in the E. E. Widdowson ambulance.

Merrill Harsh, 37, proprietor of a tannery at Snow Shoe, suffered a fractured right knee and his wife, Blanche, 35, received a severe laceration about the face and about the right knee.

"Ted" Casher, 38, engaged carpenter with a bruised eye, while Mrs. Casher, 38, had severe bruises of the left thigh and left ankle.

Francis Eldridge, 36, driver of the other car, suffered lacerations of the chin and right eye and his brother, Milford, 18, suffered a fractured knee cap. All with the exception of "Ted" Casher were admitted for treatment.

Pvt. J. M. Adams, of the State Motor Police at Pleasant Gap, who investigated the mishap, said damage to each of the cars would total about $250. When the machines came to rest, the Eldridge sedan was against the south side of the underpass. The cars collided with their respective left front portions taking the force of the impact, and they remained locked together after the crash.

Harrisburg Man Is Jailed for Bad Check

W. Jack Kiely, alias Leon Speck, Harrisburg, was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail when he pleaded guilty to forgery and passing a forged check before Judge Ivan Harsh, Monday morning.

Kiely was arrested after he passed a check for $18.40 in Philipsburg, July 21. Motor police told the judge he passed bogus checks in Clearfield, Curwensville and DuBois the same day. The defendant has made restitution for amounts of the checks. It is understood, Detainers have been lodged against him by officials of the other cities in which bad checks were issued, it was reported.
