

Man Killed In Fall From Freight Train

tighting the accident, deemed an in-quest unnecessary.
The train was in charge of Engineman J. G. Stover, of Tyrone; Conductor Lewis Meyers, of Tyrone; Brakemen Charles Hoover and James Bathurst, both of Bellefonte, and Fireman Longacker, of Tyrone.

Hoover was on the west side of the crossing flagging motor traffic at the time. The train in going south on the crossing consisted of two cars, a cabin car and the locomotive, with the cabin car being halted near the sidewalk. Spectators reported that when Mr. McKinley arrived at the crossing he boarded the cabin car platform and was about half way across when the locomotive began to move west into the Match Company switch. The jolt unbalanced the man and he fell over the railing of the cabin car platform, landing on the tracks.

Flagman Hoover discovered the accident a moment later and signaled the engineman to halt. The train stopped within a distance of about 15 feet, it is reported.
Members of the train crew and spectators removed McKinley's body from the track and a call was sent immediately for the E. E. Widdowson ambulance. When the ambulance arrived a few minutes later the man was breathing his last and he was pronounced dead upon his arrival at the hospital only one-eighth of a mile distant.

J. D. Cameron McKinley was a son of Daniel and Carrie Kirk McKinley and was born in Milesburg on June 24, 1895, making his age at time of death 45 years, 4 months and 8 days. He is survived by his father; his wife, the former Rebecca Fleming; two daughters, Jean and Joan, at home; a brother, George, of Milesburg; and a sister, Mrs. Sidney Sliker, of Detroit, Mich.
Mr. McKinley formerly was employed as a telegraph operator by the Pennsylvania Railroad, but for some years has been employed by the State Highway Department. He was a World War veteran and was a member of a U. S. Army band during the war. He was one of the charter members of Our Boys Band, Milesburg, when that organization was founded in 1913, and was a member of Brooks-Doll Post American Legion, Bellefonte.
Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Wetzel Memorial Chapel, Milesburg, with the Rev. H. O. Kline, pastor of the Milesburg Baptist church officiating. Interment was made in the Union cemetery, Bellefonte.
Military services at the grave were in charge of members of Brooks-Doll Post, American Legion, and a firing squad paid a last tribute to the former soldier.

tory, and finally retired with the announcement that he would have no statement until Wednesday. About 10:30 a. m. yesterday Wilkie telegraphed President Roosevelt, extending congratulations, expressing gratification at the large turnout of voters, and wishing the President personal health and happiness.
State is Democratic
One of the major surprises of the election was Pennsylvania's unexpected support of all national and state Democratic candidates. The Chief Executive ran up a lead of more than a quarter of a million votes over Wilkie, although the Reter. The move was made to better acquaint members of the lodge with the operation of their city government.

Chamber of Commerce Secretary Karl E. Kusse appeared in Council to ask that the 2-hour parking limit in the business district be extended from 8 p. m. to 10 p. m. Saturday nights. Kusse declared that dozens of Bellefonte citizens park their cars downtown after 4 p. m. Saturdays, walk home for the evening meal, and walk downtown in the evening, using their parked cars as headquarters for social visits. He declared that the practice forces many out-of-town buyers to park well out of the business area, makes it necessary for them to carry packages long distances. No action was taken by Council.
S. M. Shallerross, superintendent of the American Lime and Stone Company's plant, in a letter to Council regarding the lime dust nuisance, stated that new dust collectors have been purchased which should materially reduce the dust nuisance. Mr. Shallerross added that his own home is directly in the path of prevailing winds from the lime dust does not injure the paint on his home or car. He countered with a complaint that he finds smoke from the creamery and from locomotives more objectionable than the lime dust.
Council passed a motion to the effect that the secretary is to notify Mr. Warner, head of the Warner American Co., that if the lime dust nuisance is not abated in a reasonable time, action will be taken.
W. I. Scott, head of the National Youth Administration in this area, is to be called before Council to confer on a program for the elimination of rats from town. Mr. Scott, in the role of a modern Pied Piper, is to be asked to explain the NYA procedure in eradicating rats.
Council decided not to bill residents of Willowbank street and Holmes avenue for their share of the cost of street improvements until next spring when all the work has been completed. Some sidewalks are to be repaired and Council is to seek a WPA project for the construction of a retaining wall along the high bank south of the Willowbank street and Holmes avenue intersection.

Luther Cain, lowest of three bidders on the re-roofing of the Phoebe Mill property, was awarded a contract for the work at his bid of $396.
A rate of $2 an hour, including fuel and the services of an operator, was set for those wishing to borrow the borough's new power hammer and portable water pump. The rental arrangement will eliminate controversies over the borrowing of the machines and will assure their proper operation when in use by borrowers, Council believes.
The West Penn Power Co. is to be asked to make a survey of radio interference on Bishop, Shoppe, Burnside and High streets, complaints having been received from those areas.
Council authorized the purchase of a pipe-finding and leak-locating machine for the Water Department at a cost of $590. The machine, in demonstration, has proved highly efficient in locating pipes and leaks, water officials declared.
The Fire and Police Committee submitted the police report, and Health Officer Heister noted that 14 cases of whooping cough in the borough have been quarantined.
Brooks-Doll Post American Legion was granted permission to erect a 40-foot steel flagpole in front of the County Goes GOP

In contrast with the national and state Democratic swing, Centre county remained solidly in the Republican column, although the Republican majorities in all cases were less than the 2,776 difference in county Republican and Democratic registrations.
Centre county can point with pride to the fact that 81.5 per cent of its 25,170 registered voters turned out to cast their ballots, Tuesday. The total vote for President was 29,536, of which Wilkie received 10,662 and Roosevelt 9,870, or a Wilkie majority of 796 votes.
Joseph P. Guffey, Democrat, running for re-election to the U. S. Senate against Jay Cooke, trailed Cooke by 1069 votes in the county. Guffey polled 9,568 while Cooke's total was 10,637.
For State Treasurer James P. Malone, Republicans, with a total of 10,532, had a margin of 863 over G. Harold Wagner, his Democratic opponent.
Judging from the vote, F. Clair Ross, candidate for Auditor General, was the most popular Democratic candidate on the county ballot. He polled 5,758 votes, to 10,409 given his Republican opponent, Frederick T. Gelder. Gelder's majority was 651—the lowest given any G. O. P. candidate in the county.
Congressman James E. VanZandt, Republican, running for re-election, was accorded the largest vote on the county ballot, receiving a total of 11,359 as compared with 9,900 chalked up for William M. Aukerman his Democratic opponent. VanZandt's majority was 2266.
