ed at night and that police are hampered in their work through lack of a good description of the prowler. No two descriptions given by victims are alike, the Chief declared. There is no point of similarity on which to base a search, he added.

Mahlon K. Robb, assistant to the president of the Bellefonte Trust Company, appeared in Council with a report that the borough may be sued by Mrs. Magdalene Thompson, as the result of damages alleged to have resulted to Mrs. Thompson's property through the construction of the new Bellefonte-State College road, on Willowbank street.

Robb said that two of Mrs. Thompson's properties on the north side of the road, extending from a short distance west of Holmes avenue to the borough line have been seriously damaged by the road fill at that point. The lots, which extend to the creek edge, have been reduced in size and are far below the level of the road, Robb said. He claimed Mrs. Thompson places the damage at about $1000. The matter was referred to the special committee.

When the Bush Addition Water Association asked Council, through a letter, for discussion and action going to the heavy expense the Association had last summer in rebuilding the mains along the new College road, Council instructed the secretary to invite property owners in Bush Addition to seek incorporation into the borough. In that way, it was pointed out, residents of the area would have the benefits of borough water rates.

The purchase of a transit, a rebuilt instrument, was authorized by Council, the cost being $225. The transit would be used on all borough surveying work, and the purchase price is not greatly in excess of the rental fees charged for the use of such an instrument for one year, it was reported.

The lime-dust question again was brought up for discussion, and Council again authorized the solicitor to write to the president of the Warner Company, and to S. M. Shallock, superintendent of the local American Lime and Stone Company plant, to urge immediate action to eliminate the nuisance.

Borough police were cautioned against having visitors with no official business sitting and riding in the police car, although police were instructed to lend protection to any person asking it. This ruling was made when a Councilman reported that several girls had been seen "riding" with an officer while the police car was parked on the Diamond.

The long-standing inactive feud between Council and Dr. Rogers over the parking of Dr. Rogers' car at his office on South Spring street, took a new turn when Council directed that the physician's car be tagged every time it is found parked in Cherry Alley, instead of in the space particularly built and reserved for Dr. Rogers on Spring street. Council has long held that parking of the car in the alley restricts traffic in the alley, particularly in the case of fire.

The secretary of Council was instructed to prepare a minute upon the death of the late Charles L. Gates who served long and faithfully as borough auditor. A copy of the minute is to be sent to members of the family.

Councilman John Weber suggested that Bellefonte provide a playground for the use of youngsters. He envisioned a playground with adequate facilities and supervision. Council President Beaver added that Hughes athletic field might be taken over by the borough and the swimming pool repaired and opened to the public. The playground could be located on the same tract, he indicated.

Charles E. Dorworth, owner of the north portion of Crider's Exchange, from Center street to the borough line, signed a petition to Council asking that the street be repaired and resurfaced. The work is to be done as soon as weather permits.

The West Penn Power Company reported that it had conducted radio interference surveys in two areas of town and had found that none of the interference was caused by the power company's equipment. Paul M. Dubbs was appointed borough auditor to serve out the unexpired term of the late Charles L. Gates.

Council received a check for $15 from Mrs. Elizabeth Heckman for service rendered by the Undine Fire Company. The check was divided between Council and the Undines on the usual basis.

A check for $92.89 was received from the West Penn Power Co. from poll tax on 464 poles in the borough for the year.

Death Attributed To Heart Attack

the man from to death after suffering an attack which rendered him unconscious. The coroner ruled that an inquest was not necessary.

Smith's overall dead body was discovered about 8:30 o'clock Tuesday morning by Robert Jackson and his father, of Axemann, while they were on their way to work. Identification of the body was made by Thomas E. Sauer, employee of Penn State, and Fred W. Hanks, State College plumber for whom Smith had worked for a time.

The body was found on the ground at one end of the school porch. Smith had fallen on his back and blood had streamed from the mouth and nose. There were indications that Smith had walked around from the other end of the porch about the time before he fell. Smith worked as usual Monday morning in the Grounds and Buildings Department of the College, but did not work in the afternoon.

John R. Stoner, of State College, R. D. and his sons, Ralph and Arthur, said they had seen a man in Smith's description near the school about 7 o'clock Monday night as they drove by. Others also are reported to have seen Smith in the vicinity, police said.

The autopsy revealed no marks with the exception of reddened areas about the chin. It is believed that these marks were caused by quick freezing. The ears similarly were a deep red.

The autopsy was performed in the Hardman P. Harris funeral home on East Howard street, Bellefonte, Tuesday night. Before the body was moved from the school property, Lt. Donald Wagner and Police Photographer Schuster, both of the Harrisburg headquarters, visited the scene to gather evidence in preparation for any later eventualities. Officers S. R. Richardson and C. E. Smith, of Rockview, were assigned to the case.

Smith, formerly of Albany, N. Y., went to State College about 18 months ago. After working for William H. Seckinger, State College plumber, for some time, he was employed by the College. He lived in a room above the Roy Gentzel store on East College avenue, State College. Survivors include a sister, Mrs. N. M. Norstrand, of Albany, N. Y. Smith was a member of the Moose lodge.

Up until last night the body remained at the Harris funeral home, and no arrangements had been completed for the funeral, pending possible word from relatives.

Predict More Rockview Escapes

year. The five in the first group as well as two who escaped January 3 all appeared in court, all admitted their guilt, and all had their sentences doubled. While the five in the first group entered complaints about their treatment, the two in the latter group had no comment.

Under questioning by Judge Walker, one of the five, Joseph Peters, admitted that there is a "lawyer" in Rockview. This admission confirms a suspicion which has been in the minds of prison officials and county officers for some time. During the last number of months Centre and other counties which have prisoners in Rockview, have been receiving pleas from prisoners asking their release through alleged technical errors in the laws which sent them behind bars. The papers are in proper legal form, etc. similar cases and otherwise show a more than usual familiarity with law.

Questioned about this phase of the morning's developments, Deputy Rhoads declared that there is a "lawyer" somewhere in the institution or whose services somehow are being made available to prisoners. He said efforts have been made to locate the source of legal information being received by prisoners but indicated that so far the search has been fruitless. He declared that it is amazing how much legal knowledge some of the prisoners have acquired.

Stimmil, who appeared to be the ringleader of the five who escaped prison last Wednesday, declared that Rockview officials threatened to confine him in the death house with no clothing and on a diet of two slices of bread a day. The threat, he admitted, was not carried out. "I fled from Rockview for protection, not for liberty," he said.

Peters, who told the court there was a "good lawyer" in Rockview, said he didn't want to come to Rockview from Pittsburgh, where he began his term. "I heard about Rockview out of 'The Wall' and didn't want to come here," he said. He said that another man confessed to the crime he was sent to prison for and that he wishes the public would demand an investigation of Rockview.

Alfred Wick, who appeared well fed and healthy, complained that prisoners were given only a ham-burger to eat and were expected to work a half day at farm work on that scanty food. "I'm serving a term for my first offense against the law," he said, "and they're making a criminal out of me up there instead of trying to have me become a good citizen."

John Olfie declared he didn't like conditions at Rockview and decided to leave. He also recited a list of grievances. The last of the five, William Clark, said he didn't escape to effect his liberty but to "let people know how the place is run. When the court asked if he was being a martyr, Clark answered: "yes." Clark alleged that he couldn't get mail into or out of the prison.

It was after sentence was passed on the five, as follows: Stimmil, 2 1/2 to 10 years; Peters, 2 to 4 years; Wick, 2 1/2 to 5 years; Olfie, 3 to 10 years, and Clark, 3 to 6 years, that Stimmil told the court that 37 more inmates were going to break from the prison in a week or so.

The handcuffed delegation was led from the courtroom, on a way heard to sneer: "They call it justice."

The five were considered unusually unruly and all during the time they were kept at the county jail, from the time of their capture until they were taken to the Western Penitentiary at Pittsburgh, a guard from Rockview was stationed in the cell block to prevent trouble. Each guard was on duty eight hours and didn't leave the jail until the relief man arrived.

The other two Rockview fugitives, John Kottak, 21, and Harry Burrows, made their getaway about 9:30 o'clock Friday morning during a brief period while they were engaged in threshing and baling at the "jack-barn" along Spring Creek. They crossed the creek, went over the mountains to Buffalo Run Valley, and then into Bald Eagle Valley where they separated.

Kottak was captured about 6 o'clock the same evening near Martha Furnace by State Motor Police officer James P. Lyon, of the Phillipsburg sub-station.

Burrows was apprehended about 6 o'clock Saturday night by Corporal Robert Raymond and Officer Lyon, of the Phillipsburg sub-station State Motor Police, on information received from Mary C. McMonigal, of near Hannah.

Burrows broke into a cabin owned by Chester Thompson, of Altoona, near the Squire R. C. English property north of Hannah. When officers arrived at the cottage they failed to find Burrows at first, but upon looking back of the chimney just under the roof their flashlights revealed portions of the fugitive's body. He surrendered peacefully.

In court Monday, Kottak, who was serving 2 to 5 years for the larceny of an automobile, and Burrows, serving from 2 to 5 years for robbery, each heard their sentences doubled. They offered no comment or complaint.

The five who escaped last Wednesday night and who were captured near the Nittany Lion Inn, State College about 4 hours later, comprised the largest number to flee from the local prison at one time in nearly 20 years.

The inmates, all white, left by climbing the stockade at the rear of the bakery building about 7 o'clock, while prisoners were on their way to cells after attending movies in the auditorium.

The five were captured shortly before midnight without resistance as they huddled in a woods near the hotel in State College, possibly looking for a car to take them west. The capture was effected by H. R. Johnson, assistant deputy warden, and I. R. Baumgardner, a guard at the prison.

The group claimed they escaped because they didn't like prison, and didn't like the work there. Taken to the Centre county jail, the five told Sheriff Edward Miller they didn't intend to plead guilty as most Rockview fugitives do.

The five, their ages, place and nature of original sentence and terms, follow: Leland Stamford Stimmil, 24, Fayette county, stealing motor vehicle, 1 to 3 years. William Clark, 29, Greene county, larceny, 1 to 3 years. Alfred Wick, 24, Butler county, larceny of an automobile, 2 1/2 to 5 years. Joseph Peters, 24, Butler county, burglary, 2 to 4 years. John Olfie, 28, Allegheny county, arson, 3 to 10 years.

Compensation Board, which disagreed with the referee's findings, but found that certain statements made by the representative of the insurance company relative to the signing of the receipt "amounted to improper conduct on the part of the defendant's representative."

In affirming the compensation board's order the court ruled Frumrine entitled to payments of $7.25 a week for 300 weeks, less $77.70 for a period of ten and four-sevenths weeks, or a net sum of $2,127.30.

NEEDY FAMILY EXPRESSES THANKS FOR ASSISTANCE

We desire to take this opportunity of expressing our sincere thanks to the Centre Hall Fire Company for their prompt response to our call and for their successful efforts in saving the farm buildings, stock, etc., from destruction when our home and entire contents were recently destroyed by fire.

Words fall us in our expressions of appreciation to the many good people who so very generously responded to the solicitation of the fire company in showering us with truck loads of provisions, clothing and a very liberal cash donation.

To all those who have also aided us directly, in many ways, we shall forever be profoundly grateful. While our family of eleven has sustained a substantial loss as well as members of the family suffering severe burns in our escape from the flames, we have been truly comforted by the many expressions of the "needy neighbor" spirit manifest by our friends.

It is our sincere hope that the Centre Hall Fire Company will be given the whole-hearted support of the citizens in the communities which they so bravely serve. Respectfully, MR. AND MRS. DAYTON LANSEBURY AND FAMILY.
