

New School Building Stresses Convenience

sist of brick trimmed in Indiana limestone. There is some possibility that native limestone will be used on the main body of the structure, but the cost of preparing and setting stone may prove to be prohibitive. Otherwise the main body of the building will be of different shades of red brick.

The gymnasium wing will be three stories in height. Under the gym will be manual training shops, domestic science rooms, sewing rooms, cafeteria, and locker and shower rooms. On the third floor will be chemistry and physical laboratories. This wing will be completely fireproof.

The gymnasium will have tile walls, from floor to ceiling, and the ceiling will be acoustically treated. The floor of the gymnasium and the floor and stage of the auditorium will be of maple. The gymnasium will be heated through ceiling outlets, and electric returns will be flush with the ceiling. There will be no hanging or projecting fixtures in the gymnasium.

The gymnasium will be provided with collapsible bleachers, which will seat approximately 700 persons with ample standing room for others. When the bleachers are removed the gym floor can be converted into two playing or practice floors by drawing canvas curtain across the center of the room.

The basement of the gymnasium wing will be one of the most modern of its kind in the state, according to reports. There will be separate entrances to the boys' and girls' locker and shower rooms and every convenience will be provided for athletic teams.

Teams coming in from practice will first enter a washroom room, where muddy or dusty players can stand fully clothed under streams of water while their clothing is freed of excess dirt.

From there the players will go into a drying room where their clothing will be placed under currents of warm air to afford quick drying before being placed in racks. Meanwhile players continue on to the shower and locker rooms. Entrance to the washroom room will be direct, so dirt covered players do not have to pass through any other part of the building.

Shower rooms will include vapor proof light fixtures and the rooms will be of concrete and tile construction. In the girls' showers a block of stalls will be reserved for the use of women teachers. There will be six individual stalls in the girls' room.

Just off the gymnasium will be toilet facilities for spectators. The new building will contain approximately 35 classrooms of an average size of 23 by 30 feet. Each room will have a 16-foot blackboard in front and additional blackboard space on the corridor side. All rooms will be illuminated by a semi-indirect system of lighting. Heat in classrooms will be provided by unit ventilators which will afford a complete change of air six times each hour.

Heavy brown linoleum will be the floor covering in classrooms, while all interior woodwork, including doors, will be red oak. Steel windows with small panes are specified throughout.

The auditorium stage will be used for band practice and is so arranged that it will be on a level with corridors in the building. Over the stage will be a tower for changing scenery. Under the stage will be a large storage room for stage props, music instruments and uniforms.

The laboratories will be covered with a special floor covering, while extra strong drains, designed to resist the action of chemicals, will be installed. The heating system throughout the building will be of the dual control type, with different temperature levels for day and night. Regardless of this feature, the heat in any room can be increased at will while the remainder of the building is at night temperature.

The administrative offices will be located at the corner of Allegheny and Lamb streets. These offices will include space for the supervising principal, building principal, health rooms and considerable storage space.

Corridors throughout the structure will be covered with asphalt tile flooring. Lockers will be recessed in the walls, and students will keep clothing and books in lockers at all times when they are not in use. Because such items will always be out of the way, any rooms, such as the library, or other rooms, can readily be converted into classrooms if necessary.

The roof of the building, constructed of pitch slag will be completely fireproof and will carry a 20-year guarantee.

The clock and program installation is complete. There will be clocks in every corridor and program bells in every room. These will operate from a master clock in the supervising principal's office. Extra time periods in shops and special classes can be sounded by the master clock.

A complete public address system throughout the building is included in the plans. There will be outlets in each room, so that all teachers are in instant communication with officials at microphone stations in the supervising principal's office, in the gymnasium, and in the auditorium. The teachers may reply from classrooms, but calls cannot be originated from classrooms. Radio or other programs may be carried into every room in the building over the system. The fire alarm will be coded so that when an alarm is sounded everyone will know where the fire is located.

The auditorium and gymnasium will be provided with emergency lighting system, controlled from the boiler room.

The school cafeteria and a dining room adjoining will have facilities for seating from 100 to 150 persons. The dining room can be readily converted into a classroom when not otherwise in use.

In the three-story section, a dumb waiter will be installed to facilitate the handling of janitors' and school supplies. The coal chute will be built so that trucks can back up to the opening and dump the load into the bins. In the boiler room will be space for additional boilers in the event the building is enlarged at some future date. A mono-rail car will be installed to haul coal from the bins to the furnaces, and an electric hoist will be used in removing ashes.

During the time the building is under construction, Hunter & Caldwell will have a superintendent here continuously, while the architects also will provide other supervision to guarantee that the specifications are being followed.

Physician Dies

Quaker ancestry, he clung throughout his life to the rigid beliefs of the sect. Hunter & Caldwell.

Miles Armagost Kirk was a son of William and Barbara Emerick Kirk and was born near Luthersburg, Brady township, Clearfield county, on September 25, 1855, making his age at time of death 85 years, 3 months, and 20 days.

After receiving his early education in local schools he entered the Electric Medical College, Cincinnati, O., from which he was graduated about 1880. Dr. Kirk went from college to Rebersburg, where he practiced for two years before coming to Bellefonte where he and his brother, Dr. E. M. Kirk, late of Renovo, conducted a drug store in the Arcade building, West High Street, for several years until the store was destroyed by fire.

While Dr. Kirk was in the drug store business he was united in marriage, on May 5, 1885, with Eva Musser, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Musser, of Valentine Hill, near Bellefonte, the ceremony being performed at the bride's parental home.

The couple went to housekeeping in the same house on West High Street which has been their home all during their married life.

Dr. Kirk for many years was a member of the State Examining Board at Harrisburg, the group which passes upon the qualifications of all persons seeking to enter the medical profession. He was Centre County physician for a long period of time and served as a Bellefonte Councilman for 12 years.

During his term on Council, Dr. Kirk became the leader of a hard-fought battle to have the Pruner Orphanage established here, and when his efforts met with success he withdrew from his Council post.

He was a member of the Royal Arcanum, Lewisburg, a lodge that once had considerable strength in the Bellefonte area.

Before the establishment of the Bellefonte Hospital, it was the custom when anyone needed surgical treatment to summon a surgeon from a city to perform the operation.

One of the best known of these surgeons was Dr. Fisher, of Philadelphia, and he was called in to perform the operation. Dr. Fisher, Dr. Kirk, and the late Dr. Melvin Locke were close friends.

Dr. Kirk was a type of doctor rapidly passing out of existence. For years he traveled about on his calls in a horse-drawn, horse-drawn cart. Later he used a buggy for transportation, and he was the first person in Bellefonte to get a rubber-tired buggy which was specially made for him by the McQuisites here.

In later years Dr. Kirk turned to the automobile, but he continued to wear the vest and bowler hat and to continue other time-honored customs of physicians of a past generation.

Survivors include his wife; two sons, Harold Kirk, at home, and Norman M. Kirk, of Harrisburg; a daughter, Mrs. Charles H. Young, of Meadville; six grandchildren, one great grandchild, and a brother, Dr. Thomas Kirk, aged 83 years, of Portland, Maine.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at the home, with the Rev. C. Nevill Stamm, pastor of the Bellefonte Reformed Church, officiating. Interment will be made in the Union cemetery.

underwent treatment in the office of a Centre Hall physician before being brought to Bellefonte.

David T. Stoner, Centre Hall, driver of the car, was admitted to the local hospital Monday suffering from injuries received in the accident. He received a fracture of a neck vertebra.

For several days he did not know he had been injured to any extent. His condition is not critical.

Miss Lillian Rickett, daughter of Mrs. Alma Rickett, escaped injury. The car was badly damaged.

Crash at Wingate One person was injured in a three-car accident at Wingate last Thursday morning. The victim, Fyetta Spicer, a passenger in a car operated by Toner M. Spicer, of Wingate, suffered bruises about the right side of the body and head.

Involved in the mishap were machines driven by Dr. W. J. Schwartz, Bellefonte, and Milo L. Yancy, of Julian, R. D. Total damage was estimated at about $125. The crash resulted when Spicer drove on to the main highway from a side road, Motor Police said.

Ice Causes Mishap Cars driven by Sanford Kellin, State College, and Philip Vonada, also of State College, were damaged to the extent of about $25 in a collision at the corner of Albertson Street and Foster Avenue about 12:30 o'clock last Thursday afternoon.

Vonada's machine struck the Kellin car as Kellin slowed down to make a right turn. Ice on the road was assigned as the cause of the mishap.

The trouble with education is that there are teachers who know very little about teaching.

Training in parachute and plane transport warfare pushed.

strong L. Francis, Aaron D. Leitell and Karl E. Kusse, all of Bellefonte, and William J. McMullin, of Millheim, met in the offices of Congressman James E. Van Zandt, at Washington, yesterday, to complete plans for today's hearing.

Also at the conference in Van Zandt's office were committee members from DuBois, Clearfield, and Ocedo Mills. Sarah Ann's Cooking Class

In the whole food family there is no food as versatile as rice. It combines well with vegetables; with fruit; with meats; with cheese and with milk.

2 cups white rice
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 small onion, chopped
2 stalks of celery, leaves and all chopped
4 cups canned tomatoes
1 cup stock or boiling water
1 cup left over meat cut in pieces
Wash rice and grain thoroughly. Heat heavy frying pan and add shortening. Fry the raw rice five minutes until brown, stirring occasionally to keep from sticking. Add salt, paprika, and pepper, stir and fry until well blended. Add onions and celery; cook 5 minutes, then add tomatoes, left over meat and stock. Lower heat. Cover closely. Simmer slowly until rice is tender, about 25 minutes. Stir occasionally with a fork. If you prefer a brown crust, uncover skillet and brown 5 minutes in a hot oven.

YOUR HEALTH

ALCOHOL. "From the figures of the United States Internal Revenue Bureau we learn that in this country the total amount paid by consumers for all kinds of liquor by the people of the United States is $4,691,935,957 annually."

In his book "The Amazing Story of Repeal," Fletcher Dobyns of Chicago, a lawyer, says the repeal of prohibition in 1933 has been a campaign of fraud and hypocrisy unparalleled in America to mislead the people to demand the repeal of prohibition.

He declares, "It was a conspiracy against the government. The leaders in this conspiracy pretended to be opposed to the saloon while they were secretly plotting to bring it back to promote the sale of liquor and increase the liquor revenue."

Instead of banishing the saloon, it has brought it back in increased numbers, and women as well as men are now purchasers, and young women numbering over a million are tending the bars.

Alcohol is debauching the manhood and womanhood of our country. A fearful reckoning is on the way.

Even in Germany, the land of beer drinkers Hitler is putting a ban on it. Brewers are panicky.

The French Government has refused to drink less wine and spirits.

Great Britain, as a war measure, has put restriction upon the taverns and public houses, and upon the consumption of alcohol. These restrictions have come as an aid to winning the war. So we see that in a time of dreadful fear and danger, liquor is tabooed. This is only done that the people may be rendered physically more fit, and to bolster up their morale.

These governments demand obedience and abstinence, because they want their people to have clear heads and strong bodies. In a time of crisis they cannot brook weakness caused by indulgence in alcohol.

The drinking habit grows on the person who is known as a drinker seldom has the desire to study, read and sacrifice to make his life a success. He either just manages to "get by" or he becomes a total failure, a burden to his family and friends. If he allows the drink habit to master him, he may end in suicide, a crash on the highway, or he may become a permanent resident of some state institution.

Most crimes are committed while the perpetrators are under the influence of liquor or drugs, or both. We are shocked today at the vast number of youths who are filling our jails and penitentiaries. Many of these revolting crimes are due directly to the effects of alcohol.

The majority of our criminal offenders become the steady drinkers or the drunkards. It is not true that these drunkards who make themselves so offensive belong to a type that are rather weak mentally. Some of the brightest and most intellectual succumb to the drink habit.

A great number of these people have been reclaimed from the lowest depth of degradation through turning to God for help. He heard their cries and reached down and saved them. There are many sacrificial workers among the down and outers, who spend the remainder of their wasted lives in helping to save others.
