

Echoes From the Past

Fifty Years Ago

District Attorney J. C. Meyer will soon be up in Bellefonte. He rented one of Joseph Brothers new houses on Curtin street. There he will be highly elevated and can look down on most people.

It is reported that Mr. Frank Huey, formerly of this place, who enlisted in the U. S. Army on the frontier and was wounded in an engagement with the Indians, died from the effects of his injuries.

We hear complaint that rents are being advanced for next year. Landlords who do that, under the present financial depression, deserve no tenants at all. Rents and taxes in Bellefonte are its greatest injury.

During the present week religious meetings have been in progress in the Methodist and Presbyterian churches. A religious war appears to have come over our community and no doubt will result in much good.

If that much talked of libel suit of the Valentines versus Milliken takes place and Dan Dougherty, of New York, appears as counsel for Mr. Milliken, the court house will not be large enough to hold all the spectators. It will be a rare treat to hear a great orator at another fellow's expense. We are anxious to hear Dougherty.

A large sleighing party from Howard, consisting of Mr. Philip Loder, Mrs. Sallie Wister, William Woodward, Miss Elsie Long, Charles McClellan, Miss Corilla Thomas, William Weber, Miss Estella Hensel, Messrs. Jack DeHaas, John Henry, W. L. Cook, W. N. Neff and others, were in town on Tuesday evening and attended the opera house to hear Gorman's minstrels.

The meanest man on earth lives at Buffalo. If we may believe a local newspaper of that city. Two years ago he bought for a Christmas present for his two-year-old daughter a little chair, painted red. The next year he had it painted blue and gave it to her again as her Christmas gift. This year he had it glittered and presented it again. The poor little deluded child is indeed a legitimate object of sympathy.

The store of Mr. W. E. Hendrixson, near the Centre Iron Company's Works, has been closed by the sheriff and will be sold on the 23rd. This failure is caused by the suspension of the iron works, as many of the employees are unable to pay their bills. Mr. Hendrixson had a good trade established but lost too much in that way. As the works are likely to resume in a short time, we hope he will be able to start again.

About ten inches of light snow fell on Saturday night. It drifted considerably but did not delay traffic on the railroads. Engines were at work Sunday clearing the roads.

The farmers' institutes held at Pine Grove Mills and Howard during the past week were largely attended and the discussions were listened to with great interest.

There are plenty of people in Bellefonte who neglect to shovel snow from their pavements. Let the street commissioner attend to such parties as the borough ordinance directs. Ex-Gov. Beaver will soon

Twenty Years Ago

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Keller were called to Atlantic City because of the serious illness of their son, Elmer, who had been under treatment by a specialist there for some time.

Mrs. Frank L. Nagney, of Bellefonte, had gone to New Mexico to spend the winter months with her sister, Mrs. H. C. Rowe. She also expected to spend some time with relatives in California.

Owners of the Eagle Silk Mill, Bellefonte, were granted permission to erect an eight-foot iron bridge across Spring street from Water street to the mill. Permission was granted by Council when it was explained that the bridge would be a great convenience to workers going to and from work.

Dr. W. A. Stephens, well known Methodist Episcopal minister who had served three years in Bellefonte, died at his home in Carlisle at the age of 85 years.

A. G. Morris, veteran Bellefonte limestone operator, who for many years had served on the board of managers of the Huntingdon Reformatory, was elected president of the board at the annual meeting.

Camp Curtin Fire Company at Harrisburg was to be presented with an oil portrait of Governor Andrew G. Curtin, this presentation to be made by Henry G. Helf. The portrait, the work of John Froelich, of Harrisburg, was said to be one of the best reproductions of Pennsylvania's War Governor in existence.

"IT'S WONDERFUL TO FIND SUCH SPLENDID RELIEF"

Mr. Fitzgerald Declares RUX Compound Best Medicine He Ever Used.—Mr. Loughry Found Williams Formula Just The Medicine For Gassy Pains and Constipation That Caused Him So Much Distress!

When foods cause gas and bloating, your head aches, you feel dizzy, get tired, tired-out and most everything you do seems a burden and when your nights are sleepless, with rheumatic pain attacks and you get up hardly fit for the day's work—don't you think it's time to do something about it?

What Mr. Fitzgerald Did!
Mr. Fitzgerald (418 Spring Ave., DuBois, Pa.) is glad to have his friends and neighbors hear about his fine relief, feeling his experience will be worth much to others. Mr. Fitzgerald can speak from experience because his position on the Mining Engineering Staff requires considerable bending in the mines where he knows what it means to have pains tearing at your back.

Only a person who has had these tiring pains can appreciate what their relief meant to me, and I address all such sufferers when I say RUX Compound has proved itself for me, and I give RUX my sincere recommendation.

Mr. Loughry Gets Relief!
Mr. Covert Loughry, 111 Jackson Street, Johnstown, Pa., says: "After taking Williams' Formula I am now relieved of gassy pains and sleep like a top. Before I was nervous and upset with acid-indigestion and sluggish intestines, but now after using this fine medicine I have received such splendid relief I want all my friends to know it as the experience of using Williams' Formula has been most gratifying to me."

What Are You Going to Do?
That's entirely up to you—you can test these fine medicines for yourself so easily. Just go to the White Brothers Drug Store and say, "I want some RUX Compound and Williams' Formula." These economical sizes—so don't put it off another day. Get the Genuine (liquid). Stubbornly refuse any substitutes.

was used. Loss was estimated at more than $300.

Dr. W. D. Twitmore, of Lancaster, son of W. T. Twitmore, of Bellefonte, was elected president of the Harris Dental Association, composed of the dentists of Lancaster county.

Fire destroyed the bakery building on Rockview boulevard's buildings, together with all contents. The blaze was discovered about 8:30 a. m. and the whole building was a mass of fire. The prison's own fire apparatus, George G. Fink, ex-treasurer of Centre county, who recently had sold his farm near Martha, had purchased the Presbyterian manse at Phillipsburg. Mr. Fink was a stockholder in the Phillipsburg Hardware Company.

Three members of the State Constabulary were transferred to Phillipsburg for an indefinite time. They were: Corporal A. J. Hudock, S. M. Fellep, and Y. A. Pass. They were sent to Centre county from Greensburg barracks.

While driving a delivery truck Roy Clements ran into the rear of a car driven by Joseph Grafmire, near the McCoy residence. Clements claimed he was not responsible since the automobile ahead stopped suddenly in the road without giving any signal.

H. C. Angel has resigned as assessor of Rush township on account of ill health which developed from an accident in which he was involved the previous summer. S. E. Twigg, of Sandy Ridge, had been named as his successor in the township office.

It was reported that considerable cigarette smoking was being indulged in by boys and girls in some schools in the vicinity of Coburn. There also were reports of card playing. The teachers of the schools were strong able-bodied men and it was believed that they could have broken up the objectionable practices had they so desired.

The home of George Tate on High street, Bellefonte, was the scene of a pleasant surprise party in honor of Mrs. Tate's birthday. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Howard Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kline, Mrs. Fred Billett and son, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tate, Mrs. Luther Billett, Mrs. Fred Haupt, Mrs. Willis Shiley, Mrs. Jess Ewertzer, Dorothy Tate, Lester and Charles Martin, Edna McClintock and Isabella Tate.

The attention of Bellefonte authorities was called to the fact that during the past year someone had entered the Catholic cemetery and had committed an act of vandalism unheard of locally before. It was discovered that 25 or 30 maple trees were cut down and the cemetery had been run over by persons cutting rings in the bark around the trunk. These rings were cut so deeply that all of the trees would die. The trees were planted many years earlier by the late Father McArdle with the intention of beautifying the cemetery.

Ralph Weaver, aged 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Weaver, of Hubersburg, was recently killed at the door of the freight house at Howard when he was crushed under the wheels of an empty gondola car. Weaver and several other men were engaged in loading mine props on the car. The accident happened when an engine shifting nearby, cut a car loose with a brakeman on it to stop it at the proper place. The brakes failed and the truck, empty car which moved forward and struck the young man.

The death of Mrs. James Harris, of Bellefonte, released the estate of her husband, who died on August 19, 1908. Under the terms of Mr. Harris' will his estate was not to be settled until the death of his wife. These bequests became active with Mrs. Harris' death, to cousin, John W. Shugert, $1000 or ten shares of Whitlock Quarry stock; to a cousin, J. Harris Hoy, $2000; to Sallie Irwin and Maude Irwin, of Millintown, $1000 each; to the Bellefonte Hospital, $2000; to the Potter-Hoy Hardware Co., building, known as the Harris block, was left to the survivors of the late George F. Harris, a brother. They were: Mrs. George F. Harris and her daughters, Mrs. John M. Shugert and Mrs. J. Mac Curtin.

FARMERS CAUTIONED BY PENN STATE ENGINEER

A note of caution is sounded by John E. Nicholas, professor of agricultural engineering at the Pennsylvania State College, to farmers who are considering the use of electric fence.

Practical use and preliminary laboratory investigation of electric fence controllers have combined to convince Nicholas that many devices of this kind now sold to farmers still are in the state of development and are likely to require repairs soon after installation.

For this reason, some electric fencing may not prove much more economical than the more substantial kinds in common use, and be specifically charged wires may be dangerous. Because of mechanical troubles which may occur at any time, Nicholas strongly recommends that controllers never be hooked to electric lighting circuits or to high voltage wires. Dry or wet cell batteries may be used with little added cost of operation and with a great increase in safety.

Men Who Need Not Register

Governor James notified Pennsylvania's 42 local draft boards last Thursday that young men who became 21 since last October 16 would not be required to register for the draft unless the President fixed another registration day. He said registrants who became 36 since October 16, however, would remain subject to the provisions of the Selective Service Act. The announcement was made, he explained, in response to numerous inquiries.

Over The County News

Four or five extra street lights were added to Millheim borough's lighting system last Tuesday, the work being done by the West Penn Power Company crew that has its headquarters there.

Some residents along about the middle of the Penn street section in Millheim are complaining to the town Council. The complaint is made that the playing of a radio far into the night to the disturbance of the rest of other citizens has become so regular as to be classified as a nuisance.

Those individuals who, each winter, harvest a crop of ice for summer use on the farm and in the home, will probably get the customary supply before long. The weather man has brought us some real winter weather, temperatures going down to the zero point in some sections of the county.

The school board of Penn township is posting notices about the ice pond and a surrounding school grounds at Coburn for the purpose of protecting the shrubbery and trees, as well as providing some protection for the smaller children who enjoy the skating on the pond. Nobody is denied the privilege of using the pond and its ice skating if they can behave properly.

State College and Bellefonte residents were forced to eat part of their evening meals in darkness as a result of an 11-minute electric power failure about 5:45 last Tuesday night. The total blackout came after several minutes of flickering light. West Penn officials said that the lightless interval was caused by failure of an oil breaker-switch at the Summit switching station near Oresson, which caused feeder lines to go "out of phase" and necessitated a brief shutoff of current.

L. O. Packer, Frank Goodhart and Cleve Mitterling, all of Centre Hall, left last Wednesday morning for Hot Springs, Arkansas, there to take advantage of the health-giving waters of the Southwest for several weeks. Following the rest at Hot Springs, Mr. Packer will extend his trip into Phoenix, Arizona, for a stay of several weeks more, and thence on to the Pacific Coast. Returning in the spring, he will take the Northern Pacific route, thus visiting the great states of the Union which heretofore he has not visited. He will have the distinction of having been in every state in this country.

LAYING FLOCKS CAN BE WORMED WITH SAFETY

"My layers have worms. What can I do about it? Can I give them a worm treatment without danger of upsetting egg production?" This is a question that is asked frequently, and the answer is "Yes." Worm removing medicines are available that have no effect upon egg production. These worming medicines are manufactured in two forms, in powder and in pellet form. If it is necessary to give the pellet form, the birds should be handled very carefully so that egg production will not be upset because of handling. The worm medicine alone will not do it but rough handling will.

If your layers are wormy, the first thing to do is to find out what kind of worms are causing the trouble. This is important because certain kinds of medicines remove certain kinds of worms. After the cause of the trouble has been determined as due to roundworms, tapeworms, capillaria worms, cecal worms, or a combination of all of them, then make certain that the medicine you use will remove the worms that are the offenders.

Of the two forms in which worming medicines are available, the pellet form is the most satisfactory. By giving the medicine in this form you are assured of each chicken getting an accurate dosage of the medicine and therefore more efficient worm removal. However, there are times when the powder form is to be desired. Worm medicine in this form must be given in the mash and recommended when the poultryman cannot or does not wish to handle each of the birds. When worming is done in this manner, plenty of feeders should be provided so that all the birds will have easy access to the medicated mash.

Tapeworms are very difficult to remove. Worming medicines that merely desegment the tapeworm do not do an efficient job. There are worm removers available that remove certain species of tapeworms, heads as well as segments, and this is the kind that should be used. Just removing the segments is of little consequence since the head of the tapeworm remains imbedded in the intestine to continue to cause irritation and damage.

MEAT AND VEGETABLE STEW A HEARTY MEAL

Long cooking for the meat, short cooking for the vegetables—as a good slogan to follow in making stews. Modern cooks know that food values disappear when vegetables are over-cooked. So, wait until almost serving time before adding the vegetables, and cook them only until they are tender, food experts recommend. Short cooking means full flavor, bright color, and firm texture for the vegetables.

When choosing vegetables for the stew, think of the color and flavor combinations you want when the dish is served. Carrots, potatoes and onions are a favorite combination, but only a starter for the cook with imagination.

WPA APPROVES EXTENSION OF BEECH CREEK WATER

The Works Project Administration has approved a project which provides for the improvement of the water distribution system in the borough.

The WPA allocation amounts to approximately $10,000 and it is expected that the borough of Beech Creek will spend some $6,000 for materials and equipment for the work. The Lock Haven office of the WPA has arranged to start the project Jan. 27.

The work will be done in various sections of the borough and will involve the laying of almost two miles of water main. The project will employ about 25 men over a five or six-month period.

NAME SPEAKER FOR COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT

The speaker for the midyear commencement exercises at the Pennsylvania State College on Friday, January 23, has been announced as Professor Charles Love Durham, head of the Classics Department at Cornell University.

The graduating class, which is expected to exceed 200, will be made up almost equally of students for bachelor's degrees and candidates for master's and doctor's degrees. This is an unusually large number of candidates for the midyear commencement, which is by far the smallest of the three commencement exercises held annually by the College.

As a veteran educator with almost 50 years of academic service, Professor Durham is the present incumbent of the John Wendell Anderson distinguished professorship at Cornell. Except for periods spent in studies abroad and a brief tenure as vice-consul in Geneva, Switzerland, Dr. Durham has been associated with Cornell continuously since 1896.

Charnick has been assigned to the Quartermaster Corps at Fort Belvoir, Va.; Park to the Air Corps at Maxwell Field, Ala., and Smith to the Ordnance Department in the Hawaiian Islands.

PRINCIPALS AGAIN SELECT PENN STATE

The Pennsylvania Association of Secondary School Principals has decided to sponsor another "high school workshop" next summer at the Pennsylvania State College. The teachers and principals who register for the six-week program will again study the problem of modernizing high school courses of study.

As in last year's project, in which 115 teachers were enrolled, the "workshop" will be conducted by Penn State with the cooperation of the University of Pennsylvania and the University of Pittsburgh. The director of the program is Miss Jane Wyland, associate professor of education at Penn State.

Sunday School Lesson

CHRIST'S CONCERN FOR THE LOST

International Sunday School Lesson for January 26, 1941.

Golden Text: "The Son of Man came to seek and to save that which was lost."—Luke 19:10.

Lesson Text: Luke 15: 1-10.

Answering the criticism of the scribes and the Pharisees because of his friendly treatment and friendly attitude toward the publicans and sinners who came to hear him preach, Jesus pronounced three parables to them.

The first was the "Parable of the Ninety and Nine," which relates the story of the search by the shepherd for one missing sheep out of his flock of a hundred. Having found it, the shepherd rejoices and celebrates his good fortune with his friends and neighbors. The application he made was that "likewise joy shall be in heaven over one sinner that repenteth more than ninety and nine just persons, which need no repentance."

The "Parable of the Lost Piece of Silver" tells how a woman carefully searched throughout her house with a lighted candle and finally found one of ten of her coins. Finding it, she likewise calls her friends and neighbors to rejoice with her. So, also, "there is joy in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner that repenteth."

These parables plainly teach that the repentance of the meanest of mankind, however insignificant in social position, or degraded in character, says A. B. Bruce, "calls forth a sympathetic thrill in the heart of God. It teaches us that all souls and their moral history are precious in God's sight, that every human being has value in the esteem of heaven as endowed with reason and free will, and subject to infinite moral possibilities. On this earth, men are very cheap in the esteem of various reasons, theoretical and practical. Jesus assures us that, in heaven, human beings are not valued so cheaply."

One feature of the story of the lost sheep should be interesting to the average man and woman of today. It is this, that the lost sheep had no intention of wilfully deserting the flock. It had carelessly and heedlessly plodded along its way,

FARM CALENDAR

Timely Reminders from The Pennsylvania State College School of Agriculture

Bees May Need Feed—Some colonies of bees which had a short honey flow during the fall will need feeding soon to avoid starvation. Colonies light in weight will need feeding. A hive containing bees but no honey weighs 35 to 40 pounds. Sugar candy is recommended as a winter feed by extension apiculturists of the Pennsylvania State College.

Plan the Garden—It pays to grow vegetables for the family to eat and, in addition, the garden is a good source of nutrition, tasty vegetables for a complete diet. Vegetable gardening specialists of the Pennsylvania State College recommend planning the garden so that the necessary seeds can be ordered early.

Quality Wins Approval—Skill, judgment, and care are required in the preparation of a winning exhibit of fruit at the Pennsylvania Farm Show. Fruit specialists of the Pennsylvania State College say that the same qualities are necessary in putting up a good pack of fruit to meet consumer demands on the market.

Chickens Need Water—Fresh, clean cool water is needed in large quantities by chickens of all ages. Poultry specialists of the Pennsylvania State College explain that 100 fowls will consume approximately 16 to 20 quarts of water daily.

Short Course Offered—Production of feed crops maintenance of soil fertility, farm management, farm machinery, economic problems of the farmer, and rural life are among the subjects to be taught in the general agriculture short course at Penn State, Feb. 5 to March 5.

Feed Silage to Cattle—Alfalfa-moisture, silage has compared favorably with corn silage and alfalfa hay as a roughage for fattening steers in tests at the Pennsylvania State College experiment station.
