

MILESBURG

Here we are about snowed under and still coming down. But then what can we expect in the winter.

Miss Martha Walker, R. N. went to Philadelphia on Friday to go on duty at the Presbyterian Hospital there.

Miss Betty Smith has been quite ill during the past ten days, but is much improved at this writing.

Recent visitors at the George Smith home were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Greeninger of Lockport Heights, and the latter's son-in-law and daughter of Lock Haven.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Flack of Yarnell, purchased and are now living in the former Geo. Smith home.

Sunday visitors at the John Smith home were Mr. and Mrs. George Smith of Lock Haven, Mr. and Mrs. William Wenrick and family.

Blanche Wenrick and son of Snow Shoe, visitors throughout the week were Mrs. Cameron Cacher and daughter Lyle Wenrick of Snow Shoe.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McCartney and Mrs. Oscar Fisher of Mt. Eagle.

Mr. John Tate, who is ill with pneumonia at this writing is somewhat improved.

It is an old saying that snow purifies the air, and if this is true it may help control the epidemic of grippe and flu.

In a recent letter from an aunt in Los Angeles, Calif., she states that the weather is a trifle cold and that their rainy season has set in.

And they have had close to 7.67 in. Out there they keep track of the inches instead of the river like we do here in the East. Their river just there is an underground one just a tiny trickle in the summer but it can go on a rampage too. It is dry enough at times for person to walk across the bed of it and not get their feet wet. It was 45 years ago the 8th of Jan. 1941 since she has lived in California and in all that time has never seen the river running full. Also there are some high mountains there that are usually covered with snow during the rainy season. And the residents feel the cold without seeing any snow.

Each passing scroll. Tonight I scan the open scroll of time Where life has dipped its gilded pen each day.

To write thereon the truths which make it mine. A changeful record marred by streaks of gray.

Yet shining through are spots of lacquered gold Which give me strength to wait, and trust, and pray.

And as we give ourselves to pass-ways, Each shaped and set by individual mold, So life has penned it all in gold and tears.

Too soon the year is dead; the pen runs cold As fearfully I scan the once white scroll.

And thank my Maker for those flecks of gold The gold I hoard, but tears have taken toll. And yet, with joy, I watch the new unroll.

March 23 will mark the first anniversary of the murder of Rachel Taylor, Penn. State co-ed. Two Pennsylvania Motor Police officers are still indefinitely assigned to the investigation. They have been "let down" so often in their work that they are almost afraid to hope that a definite clue, turned up last week, may be the right one. This department hopes high officials of the Motor Police continue to keep the men on the case. They are literally "driving" in their work and one of them is confident that the crime was not a "perfect murder," that sooner or later they'll come to the right answer. As long as they feel that way the Taylor slayer cannot draw an easy breath.

Symphonic Styling Featured In 1941 Hudsons

The Hagan Motor Co., newly appointed Hudson dealers for Bellefonte and vicinity, will hold a formal opening and "housewarming" celebration today and all this week at the new sales and service headquarters for the line located on North Thomas street, according to an announcement today by Bruce Hagan, head of the new dealership.

A cordial invitation was extended by Hagan to all Bellefonte motorists to inspect the facilities of the new Hudson home.

"We are proud of the service facilities we can offer all motorists and Hudson owners in particular," Hagan declared, "and I hope we will have the opportunity of greeting old friends and new at our housewarming."

Three new lines of 1941 Hudson cars featuring a brand new style achievement called "Symphonic Styling," striking new body designs, longer wheelbases and a host of new features, will be on display at our opening," the dealer declared.

"Symphonic styling offers, for the first time in a full line of motor cars in standard production, complete harmony between the interior shades of upholstery and trim and exterior body colors. Basically, the new 1941 Hudson interiors are styled in three color combinations, grey, green and tan—the one included in any car being determined by the exterior color. For example, if tan is the basic color harmony selected, not only the exterior body color but the upholstery, headlining, trim, carpets, floor mats and instrument panels will also be in harmonizing shades of tan. Color harmonies in grey and tan are standard in the new Hudson Six, in the lowest price field, while all other models, beginning with the new Super-Six, have all three.

"An entirely new series of models known as the Hudson Commodore Series and presented as 'America's Lowest Price Fine Cars,' rounds out the 1941 line. Headline offerings in this group are the new 128-horsepower Hudson Commodore Eight, mounted on 121 inch wheelbase, and its companion car, the Hudson Commodore Six of 102 horsepower, which is identical in practically every respect except power plant. In this series the new Commodore Eight Custom Coupe, on 121-inch wheelbase, and a new Commodore Custom Sedan, on 128-inch wheelbase, are presented as the most luxurious cars Hudson has ever built.

"All the new 1941 Hudsons are lower, longer and more graceful in silhouette." Particularly striking in the new body styling is the sweep of the new rear deck design, with accompanying new design of rear quarter windows and roof panel.

"Hudson's new 1941 front-end design is distinctively re-styled in a new decorative chrome treatment. For 1941 the die-cast and chromed front grilles are wider, heavier, spaced closer together, and increased from 7 to 9. They also extend closer to the newly designed center bar which carries a new type radiator ornament and identifying Hudson crest.

"A new silent-mesh transmission of the latest blocker type, Hudson designed and engineered for steering wheel gear shifting, is introduced on all new 1941 Hudsons. The new design permits more efficient gear shifting through simplification of remote control connections at the steering wheel. All gears are helical giving extremely quiet operation.

"Hudson's Overdrive is also new for 1941, and represents the latest type of simplified and improved overdrive unit. Over a dozen parts have been eliminated and the overdrive comes into operation at lower speeds, increasing economy.

"Hudson's time-tried Fluid-Cushion Automatic Clutch is further refined for 1941 by extra cushioning in the clutch engagement mechanism.

"Hudson's patented double-safe hydraulic braking system, with a separate reserve mechanical system that takes hold automatically from the same foot pedal if ever needed, is further improved for 1941.

"Hudson's patented Auto-Pointe Front Wheel Control, which contributes to safer, surer steering by helping hold front wheels on their true course, in heavy side winds or even if a tire blows out, has been further improved for greater strength and longer life.

"New increased rear vision is provided in all body types by a one-piece rear window 50 square inches larger than previously."

We don't want to see more matchings, but it just doesn't seem reasonable that the occurrences, which took place with such frequency before Christmas, should quit so suddenly with no apparent reason. The logical end of the series would have been the arrest of the person. The only answer that fits the question is that "phantom" has left Bellefonte. And it is to be hoped he doesn't come back.
