Countians Win At Farm Show

Livestock, 4-H Club and Home Economics Exhibits Figure in Judging The entries of four Centre countians were listed as winners at the State Farm Show at Harrisburg last week. Mrs. Ida Morton, of 239 West Beaver avenue, State College, won a first and second prize in the table or chair mat divisions, and a fourth prize in the cotton floor rug division. E. H. Dale, of State College, R. D. 1, won these awards in the Shropshire class; third and fifth for rams under one year; second for pen of three ewe lambs bred and owned by exhibitor; first for ewe one year; second in the breeders' young flock division; second in the best pen of lambs; third for ram lamb under one year; and first for ewe lamb. A sheep exhibited by William Hess of State College, won third place in the Shropshire division. The East Penna Valley Junior High school won sixth prize in vocational agriculture division of the statewide contest of vocational school exhibits. Charles E. Waring, of Port Matilda, was awarded fourth prize for his exhibit of light comb honey. Centre County sheepsman, according to County Agent R. C. Blaney, successfully competed at the Farm Show in Harrisburg last week. 4-H lamb club members exhibited six pens of lambs divided into the following breed classes: Shropshire, Southdown, Hampshire and Dorset. William Hess, Boalsburg, exhibited the first prize pen of Shropshires which later in competition with first place pens from other breed groups was awarded Reserve Champion. They were purchased by the Harrisburg Hotel for 25c per pound. Their weight was 315 pounds. A pen of Southdowns exhibited by Dan Stearns, Bellefonte, R. D. 1, placed second. In the Hampshire class Randall Miller, Centre Hall, also exhibited a second place pen. Lynn Miller, Centre Hall, exhibited a second place Hampshire pen. In the Dorset group third award was won by Wilma Peters, Stormtown, Centre Hall. The Centre County lambs sold for an average of 15.5c per pound. E. H. Dale, of State College, R. D. 1, won the following awards in the Shropshire show: ram under one year, third and fifth; pen of three ewe lambs, second; ewe under one year, first and sixth; young flock, second; pen of lambs, second; Shropshire Special, ewe lamb first and ram lamb third. Willowbrook Farm, Boalsburg, exhibiting Southdowns won four third-place awards, one fourth-place and one fifth-place. The Centre County exhibitors competed with the best flocks in the state. All classes were well filled and the competition was very keen. Exhibits by three Centre Countians figured primarily in the home economics division at the State Farm Show last week. Mrs. W. L. Fing, of Phillipsburg, received the following awards for her exhibits: third prize for girl's washable dress; third prize for simple cotton dress suitable for general wear; second prize for simple afternoon dress of cotton. Exhibits entered by Francis Zerbby, of Spring Mills, placed as follows: first prize for remodeled dress; first prize for sweepstakes in the woman's clothing division; third prize for apron for general household use; first prize for nightgown; first prize for pajamas; first prize for tailored slip; third prize for lingerie. In the 4-H Club clothing classes, exhibits entered by Ruth Saxton, of Port Matilda, received recognition, as follows: fourth prize for aprons, and third prize for nightgown. Entries of Willow Brook Farm, State College, were prominent in the prize lists in the sheep and poultry exhibits. Following is a list of winning entries by Willow Brook Farms: Southdown sheep; fifth prize for ram under one year; third prize for pen of three ewe lambs bred and owned by exhibitor; third prize for ewe under one year; fourth prize for flock; third prize for breeder's young flock; third prize for pen of lambs. Poultry awards were: in Brown Chinese Geese division, first prize for young gander; second prize for young goose. In the White Chinese Geese division, Willow Brook Farms took second prize for young gander.

LIVESTOCK MARKET. The following livestock was sold at the weekly sale at the Penna Valley Sales Barn, Tuesday: 35 veal calves, $11.50 to $13.50 cwt.; 85 hogs, $7.75 to $8.45 cwt.; 18 beef cows, $4.25 to $6.25 cwt.; 4 beef heifers, $8 to $8.25 cwt.; 2 lambs, $8. cwt. 3 stock bulls, $40 to $55 head; 48 pigs and shoats, $2.25 to $6.50 head; 2 dairy cows, $55 to $60 head; 11 coops heavy chickens, 17c to 18 1/2c pound; 2 coops turkeys, 16 1/2c to 17 1/2c pound. Change Tagging System State College borough police are now attaching tickets for parking violations on the left door handle of cars. Formerly, tickets were placed under the windshield wiper, but winds blew some away, causing confusion, it is reported. Most of us buy books and never read them; others do not even buy them.

Unknown Woman Killed By Train

Facilities at County Institution Below Standard Set For Federal Prisoners The body of an unidentified woman, between 45 and 50 years of age was found above Jersey Shore, west of Williamson's crossing, along the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks in Nippenose township, about 8 o'clock Monday morning. County and State police and railroad officials at noon yesterday still were endeavoring to identify the woman, but were handicapped because of the probability that she is not a resident of the Jersey Shore area. Dr. Thomas C. Brandon, coroner, said the woman apparently was struck by a train and died of shock, fractured skull and a severed left arm. The body was removed to the Kelchner's Funeral Home, Jersey Shore. Meanwhile, County Detective Lyell S. Spangie, and Private Melvin L. Woodring, Williamsport Motor Police, were trying to check a story that a woman answering the victim's description got off the train at 2:45 p. m. Friday at the Jersey Shore station. To Meet Brother The woman remained at the station some time, told the station attendant she was to meet her brother but had apparently missed him, and then started walking west along the railroad tracks from the station. The station man cautioned her that she had better use the overhead across the track but she replied that she knew the section and would follow the tracks. Authorities found little on the victim's person to aid in establishing her identity. They said she weighed 150 pounds, has dark brown, almost black hair, and was plainly dressed in a black dress, brown stockings, black shoes, gray tweed coat and a green Peter Pan hat. She carried a small patent leather handbag, but its contents gave no clues other than fragments of theatre tickets. "Gent" was on the portion of the ticket and police suggested the name of the theatre might be "Regent" or "Scragent". Thrown 150 Feet An investigation of the scene near where she was believed struck indicated she was walking west and was struck by an east-bound train 1,000 feet west of the crossing and carried or thrown about 150 feet east toward the crossing. There are several houses in the vicinity, but residents there were canvassed for a suggestion as to who the woman might be, police looked elsewhere in their investigation. At the funeral parlor, it was reported the dead woman has two gold teeth, one an incisor and the other a canine. Examination further revealed two abdominal scars, one eight inches long and another 10 inches long. Her purse contained about $31 in cash. Holiday For 900 Pupils of the five Clearfield county schools of Morris township, the Morrisdale, Hawk Run, Munson, Allport and Troy schools, had a holiday Wednesday when the school district went to court in its case against Charles E. Miller, former principal of the township schools, whose pupils numbered about 900. Every one of the 28 teachers of the township has been subpoenaed to give testimony. The dismissed teacher is charged with incompetency and neglect of duty. Maybe the reason you can find so much fault is because nobody wants it.

PAROLEE SEEKING PARDON TO RENEW ARMY CAREER

The Board of Pardons has been asked to pardon Edward T. Miller, Lock Haven, who was sentenced September 20, 1938, to a year and a half in the Clinton county prison for embezzlement of $5,000 from the Lock Haven Trust Company. He was paroled after serving 10 months. Major General Edward Shannon, retiring commander of the Pennsylvania National Guard, appeared before the board on Miller's behalf. Shannon said he had "solicited" with Miller in France and that "I would take a chance on him."

Miller, a former major, is working as a mechanic in the Piper Aircraft Company but seeks to go back into Army service. It would be necessary for him to obtain a full pardon before becoming acceptable to the Army. The world is full of neighbors who will borrow everything but the baby. If you keep looking up you'll find out that sky's the limit.
