Economy In Union Produce Markets

E. B. Bower Cites Saving to Both Farmer and Con-

Between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000 annually could probably be saved for farmers and consumers in Pennsylvania and New York State alone by construction of the new union produce market proposed for Man-hattan, it was estimated yesterday by E. B. Bower, of Bellefonte, general manager of the Pennsylvania Cooperative Potato Growers Association

"Mayor LaGuardia's recent announcement that a Hudson River site has already been chosen for the market indicates that economies already adopted by some bulk distributors may soon be widely applied to marketing in this area.
