

A Ramble Through the Sunny South

(By IDA R. WILLIAMS)

A party of six including Mr. and Mrs. I. G. Harpster, of Penna. Furnace, their interesting little daughter, Anna Margaret, Mrs. Loretta Harpster, Mrs. Blanche Burns and your scribe, left the hospitable home of the Harpsters at 8 a. m. February 11, while the mercury registered 12 below zero and a deep snow covered the ground. We were quite comfortable in a Lincoln Zephyr with Mr. Harpster at the wheel and enjoyed the beauty of the winter scenes through which we passed. The beauty was enhanced by the frost and snow and the dark green of the pine trees along the roadside.

We wound our way around curves, up hills and down, speeding over level stretches. All this variation of country was glimpsed in Fulton county. It is the Alps of Pennsylvania; the smallest county in the Keystone State and the only county that does not have any railroads. By noon we had passed through Washington, D. C., and stopped in Fredericksburg of historical fame. Virginia has many points of interest. The Richmond skyline and Mayo bridge over the James river is a fine steel and concrete structure, replacing the old Mayo bridge over which the Confederate army defending Richmond retreated before the evacuation and burning of the city in April, 1864. This new bridge was erected by the city at a cost of $300,000. It resembles the famous "Point Neuf" over the Seine near Notre Dame. Williamsburg is one of Tidewater, Virginia's most historic and one of the most charming cities in all America. Its restoration was made possible by John D. Rockefeller, Jr. Altogether 149 buildings have been re-constructed and 69 more repaired during the course of this great restoration project. Twenty-one other buildings not in keeping with this 18th century atmosphere have been razed so that it is a truly colonial city. Many of these buildings are open to the public. The climax of the Williamsburg tour is a visit to the Governor's palace, a handsome reproduction of the imposing English Georgian structure completed in 1720. Here resided all the royal governors and the first two governors of the commonwealth.

Patrick Henry and Thomas Jefferson.

One's visit to Williamsburg is hardly complete without visiting Jamestown Island, site of the first permanent English settlement in America, and Yorktown, the scene of the final episode in the American struggle for independence. A visit to the Natural Bridge brings one into the heart of Virginia, through territory consecrated by historic shrines and filled with interesting places. This bridge, not made with hands, spans a river, carries a highway, and makes two mountains one. Lowell Thomas said that every American should visit the Natural Bridge. This giant causeway is impressive and remarkable by day, but at night a new thrill awaits you. When darkness descends on mountain and glen and murmuring streams, you may wish to purchase a ticket for a night of light and harmony will take you back into the eternal ages. Celebrated lighting engineers, famous artists, gifted composers and musicians have combined their talents to make this a spectacle you will cherish always. Man has raised magnificent cathedrals, but nature spent a million years building one. Out under the stars where gentle winds might stir the quiet depths within, and mountains raise its crests above its walls, nature builds this cloistered sanctuary of unutterable loveliness.

Here in nature's cathedral the exciting drama of creation is re-enacted each evening. When darkness comes symphonic music fills those ancient walls. Full-throated voices lift their soft melody and the swell of the mighty organ drifts out upon the night, wondrous, magnificent, majestic colored lights spread a canopy of soft hues across the great stone arch, while a voice from far overhead tells the Bible story of the dawn of the world. It is a pageant profound and breath-taking, and one you will never forget.

Crossing into North Carolina we found much unoccupied territory. Rocky Mount, with a population of 21,000, is an industrial and commercial center, and the fifth largest bright leaf tobacco market. The Lewis home near the town is a beautiful mansion of red brick. Other homes in this area are typical of old plantation homes. The Tar River, from whence came the name of "Tar Heels" for North Carolina residents, flows near. There are large turpentine groves and turpentine stills in the Carolinas and Georgia. Raleigh, the state capital, is an industrial and trade center. The capitol is a beautiful and historic building of the Greek Revival period style. Other buildings along the oak shaded streets are interesting. Pullen Park contains the original building where Andrew Jackson was born.

South Carolina is more progressive. Many beautiful gardens were found near Aiken. The Whitney Squash Court, Twin Gables and the formal garden "Hopelands" are beautiful beyond description. In Augusta, Ga., is located the U. S. Arsenal, the only arsenal in the south, east of the Mississippi. Georgia is called the Peach State. It is the world's center. The chief industries are the raising of cotton, corn, fruit, tobacco, pecans, peanuts, sugar cane, vegetables, lumber, turpentine, and rosins.

IDA R. WILLIAMS.

BETTERS to the Editor

DO WE WANT THIS? Bellefonte, Pa., Feb. 25, 1941. Editor, The Centre Democrat, Dear Sir:

You, Mr. Average Citizen, or a member of your household, are going to have occasion to visit the family physician. You'll drive to the office, put a coin in the meter as the penalty for not having walked and go inside. Awaiting your turn is a familiar diversion with which you are familiar. In the meantime, the parking meter hatched to your car is running a temperature. The same thing is happening to you at the thought of the fine awaiting you. No picnic at all!

You, Mr. Citizen, or one of your family will make frequent visits to the grocer. Again you will pay for the privilege of hauling your food items instead of carrying them. Inside the store you will likely develop a fine case of jitters at the fear of over-parking and forest to purchase anything you had intended. Annoying, isn't it?

Mr. Rural Citizen and his family are also coming to Bellefonte to shop. Mother and the children will go to one store and Dad to another. Each is cautioned to hurry back to the car or they will be fined for over-parking. This is distracting thought compels them to make haste and cut their visits short. Result, less money spent in Bellefonte. Dampfoolishness, isn't it?

Lock Haven reports twenty-six fines collected for parking meter violations in the past two days. Sponsors of the Bellefonte meter set-up declare that fines of as much as $50 can be levied on violators.

If we must do something to drive business from Bellefonte, why not equip the borough's "White Plymouth Rock" with gas and stink bombs and let the police do it? BELLEFONTE MERCHANT.

(Ed. Note:—We will be glad to publish any communications relative to this question or any others of general interest. But all communications must bear the signature and address of the sender.)

Buhl, Idaho, Feb. 18, 1941. The Centre Democrat. Dear Sirs: Please find enclosed check for which extend my subscription to The Centre Democrat. We (my husband and I) surely do enjoy the Democrat, as we were both born and raised in Centre county, and get rather anxious to learn how everything is coming along back there. Our paper reaches us always on Monday to start the week out just right.

We are enjoying real spring weather here in Idaho, with showers of rain and then the sun comes out to give the grass a start. Our winter has been a very mild one. Thanking you again. Sincerely, MRS. HARRY REESE.

Crew Exonerated In Fatal Crash

Coroner's Jury Probe Collision in Which Two Sisters Were Killed

A coroner's jury impaled Tuesday night at Tyrone in charge of Coroner Chester C. Rothrock of Blair county, issued a verdict inferring that lack of protection at the Bald Eagle grade crossing, near Tyrone, resulted in the deaths February 4, of Mrs. Marguerite Fisher, 17, and her sister, Joyce Ethel Rott, 15, after a train struck their car. The jury exonerated the engine crew of all blame.

The young sisters, daughters of George E. Rott, proprietor of the Triangle tavern at Bald Eagle, were killed when the P. R. R. Lehigh Express, No. 511, struck their car, carrying it about 2,500 feet westward. Fireman F. D. Byer of Tyrone, testified he saw the car approaching the track and thought it would stop. Middle Division Supervisor R. H. Joyce, who was aboard the train when the tragedy occurred, estimated its speed at 60 miles an hour. The scene of the accident is about 75 yards away from Mrs. Fisher's husband's home, from where the two sisters were enroute home after taking their two sisters-in-law, Caroline, 18, and Marjorie Fisher, 16, home from school. Another witness, Mrs. Fred Evans, whose home is located near the scene, said she heard the engine whistle for the crossing. The verdict read: "Death was caused by a grade crossing accident near Bald Eagle station, their auto being struck by the locomotive P. R. R. train No. 511. According to the evidence present we exonerate the engine crew from any negligence on their part. We firmly believe the accident could have been avoided had there been flasher signals or a watchman protecting the crossing at the time of the accident."

Jurors were: James C. Warrender, foreman; Walter S. Sturdy, Frank L. Wagner, Harold E. Baker, James W. Fleming and Verne C. Portney, all of Tyrone.

REVIVAL SERVICES AT THE UNITED BRETHREN CHURCH

Rev. L. M. Rasmussen

Revival services will begin at the United Brethren church in Bellefonte, next Sunday, March 2nd and continue until March 16th. The Rev. L. M. Rasmussen, of Monmouth, Illinois, will be the evangelist.

Rev. and Mrs. Rasmussen conducted revival services in the United Brethren church two years ago, and the congregation was so well pleased with the services that they have invited them to conduct another here.

Rev. Rasmussen is an able evangelist, while Mrs. Rasmussen is a specialist at the piano and the vibra-harp. Both are accomplished vocalists. There will be solos, duets and chorus-choir selections each evening.

Rev. Rasmussen will conduct a song service each evening, beginning at 7:30. The public is cordially invited to attend the services.

Grade Schools Will Present Pageant Here

The students of seventh and eighth grades, all attending the Bishop street building since the burning of the high school building, will stage a pageant, entitled "Through the World War in War Music," in one of the local theatres on Friday, March 14, as an assembly program for the high school students.

About one hundred fifty students will take part. Herbert Mallin will recite President Coolidge's speech on value of music in times of national crises. Thomas Lyons will, as Uncle Sam, act as narrator for the pageant. The pageant closely resembles "The Ramparts We Watch" cinema, and not only affords a marvelous project for the students participating but should provide a most interesting and inspirational program for the listening audience. Teachers of these upper grades and Alberta Kruder are in charge of the program.

FARM HELP SCARCE IN VIRGINIA

Accompanying an advertisement for the Democrat's classified columns, is the following interesting letter from F. B. Tate, describing the method of farming at Manakin, Virginia, where he is employed as manager of a 650-acre farm.

"The defense program is taking most of our men from this area. Farm help is very scarce, so I am trying to get a man from Central Pennsylvania. As many of you readers and you know, I formerly farmed near Pine Grove Mills.

"At present I am managing Beebel farm, which contains 650 acres, 300 acres are river bottom, where we do all of our farming. The rest is upland, which is used to pasture our white-faced Texas steers, and 30 head of horses and mules, all ages.

"This year we have 60 acres in winter oats, and get an average yield of 40 to 50 bushel per acre. Two years ago we had 75 bushel average on 22 acres. Have 29 acres of winter barley which yields 30 to 45 bushel per acre; 11 acres of wheat, yields about 20 to 25 bushel per acre, but get a very large growth, making a large amount of straw; 18 acres of rye and vetch, which will be cut for hay, as last fall's winter killed our new seedings of clover, lespedza and timothy.

"Last year we had 125 acres in corn. In the middle of August, had a very high water which ruined our corn. I filled our two large silos after the water went down, then we husked about 3500 bushel of ear corn when we should have had around 8 to 10 thousand bushels of ear corn. We saved some of the fodder for bedding, it being unfit for feed as there was so much mold on the stalks. The high water deposits a large amount of sediment on our fields, which makes them very productive.

"This year we have over a hundred acres plowed for corn. We had 30 to 60 acres each year of hybrid seed corn for a firm in Richmond and get a premium of 70 cents a bushel for it.

"When we plant the hybrid seed corn we plant two rows of one kind, very truly yours, F. B. TATE.

Woman's Club In Monthly Session

Sectional meetings for the coming month are: American Home, March 17, at the home of Miss Mary Linn; Drama Section, at the home of Mrs. Paul Eberhart, Logan street; covered dish supper at 6:30; Music Section, March 25th, at the home of Mrs. Philip Wron, Bishop street.

The program chairman, Mrs. Arthur Dale, introduced the following entertainment: Allen Hewitt, violin solos, "The Swan," by Saint Saens; "From Cane Brake," by Gardner.

Mrs. Rose Hum Lee, a student at the University of Pittsburgh and a native of Canton, China, spoke on "Current Situations in China," "Art and Symbolism," "What America Looks Like to the Chinese."

Mrs. Lee gave a review of the history of China during the past 45 years, revealing the Chinese traditional "long view" of the situation. She claims that although China has been at war for a long period of time their reconstruction has been continuous. At present in China there is a rebirth of social ideas and education and a rebirth of cooperative industry whereby they are manufacturing and using the products of China and thus relieving the grave economic situation. Chinese linens, jewelry and art work were displayed and for sale.

Edna Nilsson played two piano solos. Refreshments were served and a social hour followed.

Teachers Locked Out

Pupils returned to classes at nearly a score of Snyder county schools Tuesday after a one-day "lockout" of their teachers. The "lockout" was in observance of Pastnach Day, an annual custom of Pennsylvania Dutch students. At Middleburg High school, 150 students arrived early and barricaded the doors until the teachers returned home. There were similar lockouts in many rural schools.

Draft Evading Minister Held

Federal Grand Jury Indicts Rev. Lambert, Who Refused to Register

A federal grand jury at Pittsburgh on Tuesday indicted Rev. Alben Clay Lambert, 34-year-old minister who refused to comply with the selective training requirements. Rev. Mr. Lambert is pastor of the Sinking Valley Lutheran church, near Tyrone, and is the father of three children.

Mr. Lambert announced from the pulpit that he would refuse to register for training, saying he conceived "selective training to be out of harmony with my understanding of the will and word of God." He would have been placed in a deferred class as an ordained minister had he registered. Another draft indictment named Howard W. Manbeck, alias Roy J. Howe, Erie county, on charges of failing to register under his correct name. He was accused of giving false information.

Tomato plants may be saved from "damping off," a destructive disease, if chemicals are applied to the soil in the flats to which they are transplanted. Treatment may be applied immediately after transplanting, according to Dr. W. S. Beach, plant pathologist at the Pennsylvania State College.

"Damping off" the most apparent symptom is the rotting off of the seedlings at the surface of the soil. It is caused usually by two fungi, pythium and rhizoctonia. Copper sulfate was found somewhat more effective in the control of pythium than rhizoctonia in the College experiments. For practical purposes, a solution of 1 ounce of the material in 6 1/2 gallons of water applied at the rate of 1 pint per square foot gave best results. Semesan controlled both fungi and may be applied at the same rate, although considerably less often.

(Continued from page one) ments, in January, April, July and October. In the new periods, members which will be accepted to fill vacancies which occur in camps after the regular periods of enrollment.

Effective January 1, this year, a change in the system of paying CCC members was made. Under the new setup, CCC members receive $8 monthly in cash for their own use; $15 is sent to their families, and $7 is placed on deposit for them. The deposit, payable only when the members complete their service and are discharged from camp, is a kind of "nest egg" for them, it was explained. Heretofore members received $8 in cash and the remaining $7 was sent to their families.
