Purse Snatcher Resumes Activity

her daughter set out alone for the family home on East Curtin Street. Miss Hassinger said that while she was walking north on Allegheny Street a car cruised slowly behind her, and that as she began to walk up "Reynolds Hill," the car passed her and turned right into the alley at the Widdowson Funeral Home.

The pedestrian continued to the top of the hill and turned right on Curtin Street. As she neared the alley at the Lenhart home, Borough police were informed, she saw a car parked in the darkness at the side of the home. Behind a tree at the corner of the Baum lot she saw a man standing quietly.

Miss Hassinger reported that, as she passed the tree she expected some move on the part of the man behind the tree, and an instant later she heard the crunch of shoes on gravel just behind her. She began to run toward the Lenhart home seeing a light in the east side occupied by the Hays W. Matern family. As she did so, a hand grabbed her coat collar at the rear and pulled her over backwards. At the same time the assailant jerked a brief case out of her hands.

Her piercing screams frightened the man, who ran back to the alley, jumped into his car and drove south toward Linn Street. Meanwhile Mr. Matern and other neighbors, attracted by the screams, rushed outside to investigate. The Lenhart's were not at home at the time.

A check-up revealed that Miss Hassinger's coat had been pulled with sufficient force to rip several buttons from their moorings. The assailant overlooked a purse containing $15, which she carried. In the missing brief case were some textbooks and papers, Miss Hassinger said.

She described the man as being tall and well dressed. He wore a long overcoat and slouch hat, she told police. She estimated his age at between 30 and 40 years. The victim's coat was dusty and smeared from the scuffle on the sidewalk.

Chief of Police Dukeman and other borough officers, investigating the attack, reported that on Saturday night Mrs. Ira Sprankle, of Pine Street, reported that two men had grabbed her roughly as she was walking near her home on Stony Battery. They fled when she screamed. Police said.

Miss Hassinger has been the victim of acts of terrorism since last summer. Her mother reported to police shortly after the Payne Gates murder last year. Miss Hassinger was reading in the living room late one night when someone pulled the main electric switch on the back porch, throwing the house into darkness. The same thing has happened twice since then, Mrs. Hassinger said.

At last six acts of purse-snatching and other forms of molestation were officially reported to police from December 7 to December 28. The series stopped suddenly shortly after the Chamber of Commerce and Bellefonte Borough Council posted a joint reward of $75 for the arrest and conviction of the person responsible.

Here is the "Phantom's" schedule: December 7: Purse taken from Mrs. W. E. Crossley, on Bishop Street.

December 10: Handbag grabbed from Mrs. Harry Miller, on Howard Street.

December 13: Purse taken from Miss Sara Cunningham, on Halfmoon Hill.

December 26: Mary Elizabeth Sloop molested on Curtin Street.

December 26: Prowler tries to force way into upstairs apartment occupied by Miss Agnes Sepriah, East Bishop Street.

December 28: Sara Esther Rhoades, 15, bowled over and robbed of purse at Coleville.

And there the series ended until Saturday night's reported attack on Mrs. Sprankle, and the attack on Miss Hassinger Tuesday night.

Police are redoubling their efforts to solve the series of crimes, but are seriously hampered by lack of an accurate description of the man. Nearly every victim describes the assailant in a different manner, police report.

National Roads Survey Aids Highway Planning

Surveys to guide the planning of future highway improvements are progressing rapidly in 46 states and the District of Columbia, according to the annual report of the U. S. public roads administration. These surveys, jointly financed and conducted by the road administration and the state highway departments, include complete inventories of all rural roads and detailed studies of highway traffic and highway finance.

The report states that one of the most generally useful products of the planning surveys is a series of large-scale state and county maps. The county maps, generally on a scale of one inch to one mile or greater, show, in addition to transportation facilities, all physical features and man-made improvements, and will form the first up-to-date and comprehensive series of county maps ever made. Other series of maps to be drafted on the base maps show highway and other transportation systems, bus and truck routes, postal routes, school-bus routes, and traffic volume.

The 1940 federal census will be more complete because of this mapping work, according to the report. For the first time the boundary limits around the settled areas of unincorporated urban communities of 800 or more population have been established in 29 states, making possible census reports for such communities.

Field surveys, which form the basis of the map work, and also an inventory of the present extent and condition of all rural roads, have been completed in 43 states, covering an aggregate of 2,748,833 miles, the report states.

In co-operation with the Association of American Railroads pertinent facts relating to rural and urban grade crossings are being supplied. This information will be combined with data from a field inventory of the crossings and with traffic counts to develop new improvement programs in which first attention will be given to the most dangerous crossings.

Field work on the traffic surveys has been completed in all but nine states, according to the report. At 3,237 stations the weights of trucks, commodities carried, and other data trucks and truck-trailer combinations. Information on the weights and dimensions of buses and number of passengers carried was also obtained.

Special Driving Tests Reduce Accident Cases

In a special automobile driving test based on psychological lines given by a group of the 97 of California's worst traffic violators, the result showed a drop of 63 per cent in major and 40.6 per cent in minor violations for the group.

A similar select group of chronic and dangerous violators remained untested. These untested drivers experienced a rise in violations after the testing date. For the two years after the tests the untested group had 557 convictions for traffic law violations as against 164 convictions for the tested drivers.

Similar tests were made on a group of good drivers, represented by the track drivers of a certain corporation. Variations in their driving efficiency were measured in terms of accident frequency before and after testing. Following the administration of special tests, the records of the tested drivers improved even more. A group of untested drivers from the same company, used as a control, experienced more accidents after the testing date; although all of the drivers concerned, both tested and untested, were considered safe, cautious and capable.

The only conclusion that can be drawn, according to the authors of the tests, were that the tests in question made better drivers out of good ones and materially improved both the driving technique and the caution of the poor drivers.

line or fire department vehicle or ambulance, the driver of every other vehicle shall immediately drive to a position as near as possible and parallel to the curb, clear of any intersection and shall STOP and remain in such position unless otherwise directed by a police officer until the police, fire department vehicle, or ambulance has passed.

(b) "It shall be unlawful for the driver of any vehicle to follow any fire apparatus traveling in response to a fire alarm closer than 500 feet or to park such vehicle within 500 feet where fire apparatus has stopped in answer to a fire alarm. This rule will also be applied in Bellefonte to firemen's cars with respect to parking on blocking streets or alleys in the vicinity of a fire. Penalty: Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall upon summary conviction before a magistrate be sentenced to pay a fine of $10 and costs of prosecution, and in default thereof, undergo imprisonment for not more than 3 days.

Extreme caution must be observed at all stop signs and traffic light intersections as all vehicles must come to a STOP (regardless of whether the green light is on or not) upon the approach of police cars, fire apparatus, or ambulances, as these vehicles have the right of way and may go through the intersection of the red light may be against them. When this is done, however, it places the responsibility upon the apparatus driver to go through in a careful and cautious manner with due regard for the safety of both pedestrians and other vehicles.

Police and firemen are awaiting the next alarm with interest to determine if effective this warning has been as they are determined to make arrests in all cases of violation. The hazards to firemen and apparatus are too great to allow these practices to continue.

AUTO SOCIAL TO BE HELD AT BRANCH SCHOOL TONIGHT

The Democratic Women of State College will hold an "auto social" at the Branch school house beginning at 8 o'clock this Thursday evening, February 27. Mrs. E. M. Grove, of State College, is in charge of arrangements.

The "auto social" is a new form of entertainment, and shows promise of plenty of fun and excitement, committee members report. Automobile races, stunts and other original forms of competition will be held and winners will be awarded valuable prizes such as garage, and accessory stores in State College and vicinity. Even the refreshments will carry appropriate labels, such as "tires" and "gasoline." Admission will be 25 cents and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Parent-Youth Conflict Due to Rapid Changes

Conflicts between parents and their children are an inevitable product of the rapid changes through which civilization is now passing, says Dr. Kingsley Davis, associate professor of sociology at the Pennsylvania State college.

"In primitive society, there is little or no change of standards from one generation to another," he pointed out by way of contrast. "Hence there is rarely any parent-youth conflict."

One of the biggest sources of family conflict today is that youth is just gaining full powers at a time of technological change while parents are losing theirs and need security, said Dr. Davis. "Most societies assign different and complementary duties to each. Among us, however, there is inter-age competition since most positions are hierarchically based on accomplishment rather than age. Arrogance and frustration appear in the young; fear and envy in the old."

In a general way, he added, larger families have a better chance of escaping conflict than small families, whose attachments are closer.

700 Per Family For Fun

During 1939, American families spent around $30 per family for amusement. A census of amusement places just completed showed that during 1939, their receipts totaled approximately $1,000,000,000, with motion picture theatres accounting for nearly half the amusement places and for more than half the total receipts, $572,045,000.

Seven Volunteers For March Quota

College, will be required to send 9 men, and it is believed that some of that quota will be made up of volunteers.

The March contribution of Centre County will bring the total number of local men called by Selective Service since registration last October to 63.

Four men, two from each of the Local Draft Boards, were inducted into Army service on November 27, 1940. Seventeen were called January 22, and eight from Board No. 1 and nine from Board No. 2. The third draft saw 23 Countians inducted February 5, eleven coming from Board No. 1 and 12 being supplied by the second section.

Induction of 19 men March 15th raises Centre County's contribution to the nation's armed forces under the concentrated defense program to well over 200. Battery B, Bellefonte's National Guard troop, supplied 90 men, more than 40 called for service and the rest were reserve officers called to regular duty.

NEBRASKA FARMERS STAGE JACK-RABBIT ROUND-UP

Rev. H. A. McKelvey, of Cotesfield, Neb., sends us a page torn from "The Nebraska Farmer" showing by numerous illustrations how the farmers are compelled to get rid of destructive jack rabbits. Mr. McKelvey writes:

"Here are pictures of a rabbit hunt in this State. How some of the Pennsylvania sportsmen would enjoy this paradise for rabbits. These rabbits get to be a nuisance, and the citizens put on a hunt to destroy them. They are quite destructive as you can see by the article. We have a few deer in the State and antelope are getting quite plentiful. It is estimated we have about five million ring-necked pheasants in this section. Almost every hunter got his limit of five the first day of the season."

The magazine article gave this description of the rabbit hunt: "Two hundred Perkins county farmers and businessmen met on the Chancey Kays farm south of Madoc, December 25, and spent the day killing jack rabbits. When the jackrabbits were shot they were sunk low over the western prairie long-eared lopers had been flushed out from every cornfield and from behind every histle and soap weed on seven sections. The huntman bagged 812 jacks. Bill Johnson and O. W. Shuey each rolled a coyote for the count.

"Purpose of the hunt was to get rid of grain-consuming rabbits, Chancey Kays and Bill Johnson, who talked up the idea and furnished free sandwiches, doughnuts and coffee to the group, figure 500 bled about $7 worth of damage a day to crops still in the field.

"The rabbit roundup was sponsored by the Perkins county farm bureau and managed by County Agent Pete Horby. The rabbits were delivered to buyers for nine cents each, the receipts used to pay for shells, handbills, and other expense items."

"Enough" And "Too Much"

Evidence that a child didn't take them at their words. When he delivered the twelfth child to Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Rollin, of Buffalo, last year, they named her "Enough." However, when the thirteenth baby, a son, arrived recently, Rollin declared his middle name would be "Too Much."
