Elks Sponsoring Essay Contest

chairman, Jerry Galaida, H. G. Kline, Francis Crawford, Russell Rider, O. T. Lambert, and Harry Dunlap, in cooperation with local school authorities, is distributing the poster cards and rules governing the contest.

This patriotic essay contest is unique in that it calls for an analysis of the painting of Uncle Sam in addition to writing a 300 to 500 word essay on "What Uncle Sam Means to Me."

The painting is a composite picture of Uncle Sam by the well known artist C. C. Beall. It was recently presented to President Roosevelt by members of the Commission and will be used by the War Department as a national defense poster. At a distance of ten feet, it is a remarkable portrait of Uncle Sam—held up close it becomes a group of individual people and things which go to make up the important elements in our national defense.

E. K. Stock, supervising principal of the Bellefonte schools, has chosen a jury of three, consisting of John S. Dabbs, Mary R. Forbes and Grace Corman to select the three best essays at the end of the contest which closes on March 31.

Students can obtain the rules of the contest from their school principals and from members of the Elks National Defense Committee or from Secretary Richard P. Noll, at the Elks Home, West High street. Local merchants are also displaying the Uncle Sam poster in their windows. The rules of the contest are printed on the back of these poster cards.

Former Slave Dies at Home

their deaths, he was employed at the Blanchard home on West Linn street, Bellefonte, and until coming ill continued to do chores about his home.

He leaves one daughter, Miss Martha E. Thornton, at home, two sisters, one his twin, both living in Clarville, N. J., and a granddaughter, Mrs. Rosa E. Lee, of Boston, Mass. His wife and an older daughter preceded him in death. He was a member of St. Paul's A. M. E. church of Bellefonte.

Funeral services were held Tuesday night at 8 o'clock at the Wednesday funeral home, Bellefonte, with Rev. Evans David Brown, pastor of the Bellefonte A. M. E. church, officiating.

In fulfillment of a wish expressed during his lifetime, the body was shipped yesterday on the 1:03 p. m. train to Charlottesville, Virginia, where interment will take place upon arrival of the body at 10:20 a. m. today.

Blanchard Girl Injured
Margaret Ann Harter, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. I. Harter, of Blanchard, fell on the ice in the back yard at her home Monday evening, fracturing both bones between the elbow and wrist of the left arm. An X-ray was taken at the Lock Haven Hospital and a local physician set the bones.

Lobo Wolves at Kane, Only Ones In World, Attract Many Visitors

One wolf at the door is enough to worry most of us but Dr. E. H. McCleery, owner of Lobo wolf pens near Kane, has 30 and expects that many more in a mass blessed event in April, the State Department of Commerce has been advised.

Thirty pups are expected to be born in April at this pens on the McCleery estate six miles east of Kane which is on U. S. Route 61 in northwestern Pennsylvania. The animals are not raised for commercial purposes but rather for the interest the owner has in the Lobos which are said to be the only remaining members of their kind. They are descendants of the most ferocious of all killers ever to have existed in the American animal world and once followed the buffalo herds in their migrations along the Rocky Mountains and from the Canadian border to central Texas and Arizona. There are no specimens of this particular animal in any other zoo or wild locality, Dr. McCleery says.

Visitors are welcome during daylight hours. Besides the Lobo variety there are also two unusually large white Arctic wolves, a species of which still exists beyond the 84th latitude and preys on musk oxen. It is said that Lobo wolves once cost cattle raisers hundreds of thousands of dollars annually. When herds of buffalo were increasing and had over run the country, the Lobo killed the old and sick buffalo by the thousands, not for eating but for the love of killing. When these herds of buffalo were destroyed the Lobo was left with his same habits and transferred his attacks to cattle, horses and big game. Consequently it was necessary to get rid of the wolves and the American and Canadian government cooperated in this matter.

Dr. McCleery does his own handling of the mature wolves. He has been bitten several times and when a wolf goes that far he is always killed. One exception to this, however, is Old Idaho who has sent Dr. McCleery to the hospital on three occasions. Idaho is accused of having killed more than $50,000 worth of cattle in western territory. He is quite famous, having had his life described in several radio broadcasts by explorers, many of whom visit the pens. Idaho is the wolf whose picture appeared on billboard advertisements of an oil company during 1932-33. He was used to exemplify the connection between wolves and the depression.

There are interesting tales connected with each of the wolves in the collection. Dr. McCleery describes their habits to visitors who are pleased to know that in all their ferocity Lobos prove that chivalry is not dead for although they will cold-bloodedly tear apart other male wolves, they will not attack a female.

Sarah Ann's Cooking Class

The following recipes are repeated by request.

Egg Plant Balls
Scoop out the inside of an egg plant that has been steamed or boiled without peeling. Mash the pulp. Measure and add half as much cooked meat. Season with 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper and 1 tablespoon onion juice. Bind with 1 or 2 beaten eggs, form into balls, roll in fine crumbs, then in slightly beaten egg, then again in crumbs. Fry in deep fat.

Egg Shortcake
2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons baking powder
1 cup grated cheese
1 egg beaten
1/2 cup milk
Sift flour, salt and baking powder together cut in the shortening, add the grated cheese, beaten egg and milk. Mix well. Roll 1/2 inch on lightly floured board. Cut in squares. Bake 20 minutes in an oven 400 degrees. Split and serve with egg sauce.

Egg Sauce
Make a cream sauce using 3 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour and 2 cups milk. Add 1/2 teaspoon minced parsley and 6 chopped hard boiled eggs.

Horse Radish Sauce
1/2 cup cream or evaporated milk
4 tablespoons horse radish
1 tablespoon vinegar
1/2 teaspoon salt
Beat cream until stiff. Add horse radish, vinegar and salt. Mix well. This is a favorite sauce to serve

Curried Lamb
1 slice onion
1 1/2 tablespoons butter
1 1/2 tablespoons flour
1/2 cup lamb stock
1/2 to 1 teaspoon curry powder
Cooked lamb
Cooked peas
Steamed rice
Parsley
Cook onion chopped fine, with butter until tender. Add flour and lamb stock. Stir until thick. Flavor to taste with curry powder, salt and pepper. Add lamb, cut in slices free from fat and let stand in sauce until heated through. Do not allow to boil as meat will become toughened. Put a row of peas in the bottom of a greased ring mold and fill with rice mixed with chopped parsley. Unmold on a hot platter and fill center with curried lamb. Garnish with peas and sprigs of parsley.

Angel Food Desert
Slices of angel food cake
Vanilla ice cream
Canned pear halves
Fresh sliced almonds
If the cake is very stale moisten with the pear juice. Place a slice of ice cream on each portion of cake and top with half of a pear into which strips of sliced almonds have been placed porcupine style.

Turkish Pilau
2-3 cup rice
1/2 cup butter
1 can tomato soup
1 cup whole cooked shrimp
Cayenne
1/2 cup mayonnaise
Cook the rice in boiling salted water until tender. Drain and rinse with boiling water. Melt the butter in a frying pan. Cook the rice in the butter for 3 minutes. Add the tomato soup, shrimp and cayenne and cook for 10 minutes. Fold in the mayonnaise just before serving.

CENTRE HALL MARKET
Prices at the Reigel, Caves Barn, Centre Hall, Tuesday were: (by the hundred wt.) 82 veal calves, good, $11.50-$13.50; common, $8.00-$11.50; 94 fat hogs, $7.75-$8.15; 8 sows, $5.00-$7.00; 23 beef cattle, good, $5.50-$7.25; common, $4.00-$5.50; 7 dairy cows, $40.00-$75.00 ea.; 11 bulls, $30.00-$47.00; 23 young cattle, $18.00-$40.00; 51 pigs and shoats, $3.00-$7.00; 46 coops of chickens, heavy, 18c-19c per lb.; Leghorns, 12c-14c per lb.

FARM CALENDAR
Keep Chickens Warm—No more than 300 to 350 chicks should be started under one brooder stove, say Penn State poultry specialists.
Chicks Need Space—Poultrymen will find that their chicks will develop better if they have plenty of space in which to live, say poultry specialists of the Pennsylvania State College. One square foot for every two chicks is recommended for the first six weeks and this must then be doubled. At 12 weeks the need becomes 1 1/2 square feet per chick and then steadily increase to 3 1/2 or 4 square feet at maturity.
Grow Strong Plants—The best and earliest vegetable plants are started in greenhouses and after transplanting they are hardened off and conditioned for the open air in coldframes, report vegetable gardening specialists of the Pennsylvania State College. Hotbeds sometimes are used on farms where earliness is not important.

Seed Corn Needed—It is expected that seed corn will be much in demand this spring. Much moisture in the corn, poor drying weather, and early hard frosts hurt most corn in the crib for seed. However, some cribs may be all right and agronomists of the Pennsylvania State College urge germination tests to discover possible seed sources.

Leaflet Available—A leaflet on vegetable varieties for Pennsylvania has been revised at the Pennsylvania State College and is available at the offices of county agricultural extension representatives.

Radio Noises 'On Trial' by Council

Jackson said metered parking until 8 p. m. daily, as now provided in the ordinance, would work a hardship against theatres and other business.

Mrs. Frank P. Hoag, owner of Hoag's Dairy Store, requested that when meters are installed a space be left for the use of delivery cars at that store. Mrs. Hoag claimed that such a space is necessary since the store will be in the midst of the metered zone.

H. A. Defoe, of the Automatic Canteen Co., which has candy, gum, and peanut vending machines in Bellefonte, declared that the proposed annual tax of $1 on each machine would compel him to remove his machines from town, since the income from them would not warrant the payment of the tax. In response to questions Mr. Defoe said he didn't know they had a similar tax in State College where he said he has been operating machines for about two months. No action was taken on the request.

Ralph Myers appeared in Council with a list of radio interference noises he said he located in the business section of Bellefonte with the aid of the borough's new radio-interference detector. Covering the section from the railroad crossing on High street to the Diamond and from Howard to Bishop street on Allegheny street, he reported that radio interference noises came out of all except two stores in that area. Evening is the worst time for the noises, he reported, adding that most noises can be completely eliminated if a filter, costing $1, is placed on the set with which the noise-making electrical appliance is connected.

Myers declared that he'd be willing to survey the entire town, listing all sources of radio noise, if Council would purchase oil and gasoline for his car and pay him a fee of $50 a month.

Councilmen declared that they didn't believe taxpayers' money should be spent to locate noise, particularly since there is no absolute test for noise. The noise can be eliminated. The Fire and Police Committee was given power to act on the matter, with the suggestion that Myers see whether businessmen and householders will cooperate in trying to eliminate the noise. During the trial period, it was indicated, Council will compensate Myers for his work. A report on the experiment is to be made at the next meeting of Council, March 17.

Chamber of Commerce Secretary Karl E. Kuse asked Council to consider the installation of additional street lights on Bishop street, particularly from Allegheny to Spring street, where he declared the light is extremely poor after business hours have turned off their lights at night.

George I. Purcell and John Somerville were present to ask that Council aid the County Library in financing the repainting of the library building at the corner of Howard and Allegheny streets. No action was taken.

At the request of representatives of the Bell Telephone Company, the Street Committee is to meet soon with Bell officials to review and approve plans for conduits which will be necessary when Bellefonte telephones are converted from manual to dial instruments.

The Fire and Police committee reported collection of $24 for parking violations and noted that 79 tickets were issued for parking violations in the past two weeks. Of these, 37 were excused because they were visitors; 5 were exonerated, and the fine deadline on 5 has not expired. Council approved a suggestion by the committee that the borough purchase new glasses for Frank Neff, member of the Undine Fire Company, who lost his glasses while fighting the fire at Howard last week. The expenditure will be $13.50.

Council authorized the installation of a gadget on the stop signs at the corner of Allegheny and Bishop streets to control traffic when fire alarms are sounded. Connected with the fire alarm circuit, the gadget will turn all lights on red and hold them there until fire apparatus has passed.

Councilman John Weber reported that repairs to the Phoenix mill are progressing rapidly and that new leases with the Bellefonte Body Works and the Susquehanna Paving Materials Company, tenants of the building, will be signed in the near future.

The vending machine ordinance passed its second reading in Council. Final action will be taken on the proposed law after the third and last meeting, scheduled for February 17.

Council President Thomas B. Beaver is to appoint a committee of three to represent Council at a meeting to be held at the Legion Home March 14 to organize a group of leaders to control any subversive activities which might develop in this locality.
