

Odd and CURIOUS NEWS

SAME SCARS

Allen and Charles Thompson, 3-year-old sons of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Thompson, Princeton, Ill., are identical twins—even to appendicitis scars. They have been exactly the same height and weight since birth, cut teeth together and learned to walk together. They underwent appendectomies within 45 hours of each other.

FULL EARS

Four boys at Belleville, Ill., had their hearing restored instantly when a physician examined 83 out-of-hearing school children. Out of the ear of one boy the doctor took a deeply imbedded bead. He removed a piece of lead pencil for another lad and from the ears of the other two wads of cotton.

ROAMING ROMEO

Richard Denny, celebrating his 100th birthday, said he couldn't remember whether he had been married 9 or 13 times. The Civil War veteran's present wife is 86. "Women are easy to get," Denny observed. "When I go lonesome I just went out and got one."

FEET TOO BIG

Harry R. Ellis, of Royal Oak township, Michigan, is too big a man for the army. He volunteered but was rejected, according to his local board, "because his feet were too big for military shoes." Ellis is 6 feet 10 1/4 inches tall and weighs 210 pounds.

NEEDED MONEY

A defendant in court at Windsor, N. C., charged with stealing six hams from the Bertie County jail, told County Judge J. B. Davenport that he took them to get money to repay ten dollars he had stolen from the mother of a policeman.

PENN STATE COURSES ENROLL 191 STUDENTS

Short courses in agriculture at the Pennsylvania State College enrolled 191 students this winter, reports Professor A. L. Beam, director. Of these, 101 studied the three dairy manufacturing short courses. In addition to Pennsylvania farm youths, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, West Virginia, Ohio, Wisconsin, Massachusetts, Maryland, and Oregon were represented in the enrollment, and one student, Robert R. Balbonin, came from Santiago, Chile. Poultry husbandry, horticulture, dairy farming, and general agriculture were the short courses given, in addition to dairy manufacturing. Herdsmen's courses will be offered beginning March 10.

$1,200 Damage in Death

Earl Troutman, of Milton, father of Sylvia Troutman who lost her life last summer when she was electrocuted as she touched a fallen street lamp was awarded $1,200 damages in Northumberland County Court. Troutman had filed suit against the P. & D. and the Borough of Milton. Settlement was reached by agreement with the borough ennobler and company paying damages.

Williamsport Man in Crash

Spencer Shipman, of Williamsport escaped injury, but his car suffered $100 damage, when it was struck by a truck driven by a Woodland man, in an effort to avoid striking a dog, near Philipsburg. The truck went into a skid and struck a pole before swerving into the car. Damage to the truck was estimated at $250. The driver, Lewis Graham, also escaped injury.

Blood Bank Gift

Gift by the Sayre Lodge of Elks will enable the Robert Packer Hospital at Sayre to purchase equipment to establish a blood plasma bank, which will provide what may be life saving time in giving transfusions. The lodge made known that it planned a donation of equipment and Dr. Donald Guthrie, surgeon-in-chief, suggested the blood plasma "bank."

Woman Named Deputy

Judge Albert Johnson Friday appointed the appointment of Mrs. Paul Macey of Scranton, as deputy clerk of the U. S. District Court. Mrs. Macey, whose husband died two weeks ago, succeeds Albert Shannon, Lewisburg, who was called for Army service.

Bellefonte Firm Gets Order

Among contracts awarded for defense purposes by the War Department is one to the Titan Metal Manufacturing Co., for $315,000, for fuse rings. There are no empty honors for fathheads. Use our Classified Ad columns.

Condemned Men Denied Broadcast To Warn Others Against Crime

Four Arkansas convict-killers were hanged Friday at Columbia, Louisiana, shortly after their requested "death row" broadcast warning against crime was banned in a last-minute move by authorities. Denied the privilege of personally broadcasting prepared speeches from microphones set up in their cells, the condemned men, one by one trudged the thirteen steps up the scaffold and stoically dropped to their deaths within two hours. The final statements, in which they told others to profit by their

Lock Haven's Snow Plow Wrecked By P.R.R. Train At Water Street Crossing

Plow and Truck Reduced to Pile of Debris When Train Strikes It After Motor Stalls; Loss About $1,300

Fate played an unkind trick on the City of Lock Haven on Saturday when it decreed that the municipal snowplow should be struck by a train and put out of business just at the height of one of the heaviest snow falls of the season. The accident which has deprived Lock Haven of its street-cleaning machine, occurred shortly after 2 o'clock a. m. Saturday at the Water street railroad crossing near the Teachers' College.

Perishes When Cabin Burns

Aged Man Dies as Blaze Destroys His Home in Juniata County

An 80-year-old man perished in flames which swept his two-story log house a half-mile west of Reed's Gap, Juniata county, last Thursday. Until the charred remains were found in the smoldering ruins of Bruce Woodward, a neighbor, Friday morning, it had not been determined whether Phillip Bolinger had been burned to death or not. A bachelor, he lived alone in the house. Karl B. Guss, Juniata county coroner, opened an investigation into the fire with the discovery of charred remains. He was told that the dwelling caught fire shortly after 5 o'clock, and that those first on the scene, Harry Lawert and John Buchanan, could not determine whether Bolinger was in the dwelling even though they were able to enter the first floor for a short time. It was presumed Bolinger was in bed on the second floor, where the fire apparently started.

Lock Haven Police Probe 3 Thefts

Moose Club Latest Victim in Trio of Robberies in Heart of City

The third robbery in so many nights has the Lock Haven police busy, after the Moose Club's report Saturday morning that the sum of $50 had been taken from its hiding place at the club some time during the night before.

22 Inch Ice on Mountain

In spite of promises of Spring in the lowlands, there is snow at the top of North Mountain, from knee to hip depth, and ice in many of the lakes is solid for 22 inches, residents of the section report. Ice houses have been filled and residents will welcome the coming of sunny days and warm winds.

Jersey Shore Contract

Among contracts recently awarded by the Navy Department is one to the Central Cable Company, Jersey Shore, for wire for the U. S. Navy, $60,992.

Drive For Students

Bucknell is planning a concentrated drive to raise funds for needy students throughout war-torn Europe and China, which will be started during the coming week. A committee of 20 students will manage the effort, in which $1.80 is sought as the university's share in the drive which is headed by Dr. Homer P. Rainey, former president of Bucknell.

People who mind their own business

People who mind their own business successfully usually are too busy to stick their noses in that of their neighbors.

Happy Landing

TO HOLD SEED CORN MEETINGS

Due to the seriousness of the seed corn situation this spring and the need for information on hybrid corn which has been so widely advertised, meetings have been arranged according to the schedule below, reports County Agent R. C. Blaney. At these meetings Mr. J. B. Dickey, Extension Agronomist of State College, will give you the benefit of variety tests that have been run on hybrid corns for this section, and a general discussion of corn varieties and methods of running germination tests.

Dead Bodies of Man and Woman Companion Found In Cabin Near Lewistown

Contorted Faces Would Indicate Couple Had Died of Poisoning; Discovered by Proprietor of Tourist Camp

An investigation has been ordered to determine the cause of death of a man and woman found in a tourist cabin five miles south of Lewistown. State Motor Policemen James E. Kane and T. B. Wise said the couple had been identified from papers found in their neatly folded clothing as Josephine Royer, about 42, and Charles E. Stutor, about 36, both of Lewistown.

When the bodies were discovered Friday night the faces of both were contorted as if in agony, and Millin County Coroner Robert W. White theorized they died of poisoning. He said there was no evidence of suicide and that their deaths apparently were caused by something they had eaten or drunk prior to entering the cabin. Richard Y. Cargill, proprietor of the camp, told of the couple's actions after stopping at the camp. He testified as follows:

The two drank at the establishment's bar Thursday night. Later the man asked for a cabin for himself and his wife. The man said he had to be at work in a Lewistown rayon mill early in the morning. It was not until Friday night that a waitress noticed the couple's car still in the yard. Cargill investigated and found the cabin door locked. Looking through a window he saw the bodies. Then he called state police. After a preliminary autopsy by Dr. F. W. Black, owner of a private hospital at Lewistown, organs of the man were taken to Dr. George R. Hoffelt, Harrisburg pathologist. Dr. Black said that both Stutor and his companion, Josephine Royer, apparently had died of the same cause, and their faces were contorted in agony. He said his examination did not disclose suffocation, although a gas heater had been turned high for warmth in the cabin. Privates James E. Kane and T. B. Wise of the Lewistown sub-station state police, theorized that the fumes may have overcome the pair. Samples of hamburger and beer consumed by the couple Thursday night showed no trace of poison, they said.

Two Aged Persons Burned In Homes

Man Dies Alone in Log House; Woman Perishes in Huntingdon Co.

Two aged persons in different sections of nearby counties lost their lives last week when fire destroyed their homes. The first tragedy occurred in Huntingdon county when Mrs. Sarah Jane Shultz, 77, perished in flames that trapped her in her bedroom Thursday morning. Her husband, Daniel Shultz, also 77, was badly burned about the face and hands while trying in vain to rescue her from the fire that reduced their rural home to ashes.

On Friday the charred body of Phillip Bolinger, 80, was found in the ruins of his two-story log house at Reed's Gap, 18 miles from Mifflintown. The house, in which Bolinger lived alone, was destroyed by fire Thursday night of undetermined origin. Neighbors, living some distance away, were attracted by the blaze but by the time they arrived the house had burned to the ground. Two aged persons in different sections of nearby counties lost their lives last week when fire destroyed their homes. The first tragedy occurred in Huntingdon county when Mrs. Sarah Jane Shultz, 77, perished in flames that trapped her in her bedroom Thursday morning. Her husband, Daniel Shultz, also 77, was badly burned about the face and hands while trying in vain to rescue her from the fire that reduced their rural home to ashes. On Friday the charred body of Phillip Bolinger, 80, was found in the ruins of his two-story log house at Reed's Gap, 18 miles from Mifflintown. The house, in which Bolinger lived alone, was destroyed by fire Thursday night of undetermined origin. Neighbors, living some distance away, were attracted by the blaze but by the time they arrived the house had burned to the ground. Two aged persons in different sections of nearby counties lost their lives last week when fire destroyed their homes. The first tragedy occurred in Huntingdon county when Mrs. Sarah Jane Shultz, 77, perished in flames that trapped her in her bedroom Thursday morning. Her husband, Daniel Shultz, also 77, was badly burned about the face and hands while trying in vain to rescue her from the fire that reduced their rural home to ashes. On Friday the charred body of Phillip Bolinger, 80, was found in the ruins of his two-story log house at Reed's Gap, 18 miles from Mifflintown. The house, in which Bolinger lived alone, was destroyed by fire Thursday night of undetermined origin. Neighbors, living some distance away, were attracted by the blaze but by the time they arrived the house had burned to the ground.

Satan Abdicates Throne of Hades in Favor of Hitler

The foregoing is supposed to be a satirical missive addressed to the German Fuehrer Adolf Hitler and signed by "Lucifer H. Satan," ruler of the throne of Hades.

"I can call you by that familiar name for I have always been very close to you, much closer than you had hoped for. From the time that you were yet an undeveloped being I have shaped your destiny for my purpose. In the days of Rome I created a roughneck known in history as Nero. He was a vulgar character and suited my purpose at that particular time. But he lacked the cruelty of character necessary to succeed me. "As civilization changed to the modern stage, a more classic demon was needed, and as I knew the Hebrew blood I picked up William of Orange and placed on earth an annex of hell. He would have succeeded if the cursed America had not interfered. He is now a broken old man, incapable of aiding me. "Having nurtured and watched you all your life, I am convinced to do your bidding—yours and mine. "The spell has been perfect. I watched you deprive your people of the necessities of life that you might build thousands of fighting planes and tanks and best of all, snatch all the young men from their families and homes to teach them the art of killing peaceful folks with whom they had no quarrel. "I chorled with glee when you loaned part of your fighting machine to Spain to help rid that country of a lot of innocent people who had no right to live. Yes, Ad. I was proud of you at the time. "But your big moment came last year when you let the world know that you are a true son of Satan. You set the world on fire and the bells of hell ringing. Your rape on Poland gave me the utmost joy. I knew it was the beginning, the foundation of a perfect hell on earth. "The destruction and suffering you have wrought among the smaller nations gives you title to the Perfect Fiend, and your name is being hailed with joy in the infernal regions. "You made war on friends and foe alike, and the murderer of civilians showed my teachings had borne fruit. Your treachery has created universal upheaval, the thing I most desired. When you persuaded Mussolini to stand in the shadows and wield his murderous knife on a friendly neighbor, I was convinced you knew your stuff. "I want you to know that as a War Lord you have no supreme, for you have no mercy. You have no consideration for the baby clinging to its mother's breast as they both go down under the piled-up ruins of their home. Kill all the women and children in these countries now. Many of them are starving since you plundered their homes. I begin to doubt if my own inferno is really up to date. "You have killed and robbed the people of friendly nations and destroyed their property. You are a liar, a hypocrite and a bluffer of (Continued on page six)

Man Dies Alone in Log House; Woman Perishes in Huntingdon Co.

Two aged persons in different sections of nearby counties lost their lives last week when fire destroyed their homes. The first tragedy occurred in Huntingdon county when Mrs. Sarah Jane Shultz, 77, perished in flames that trapped her in her bedroom Thursday morning. Her husband, Daniel Shultz, also 77, was badly burned about the face and hands while trying in vain to rescue her from the fire that reduced their rural home to ashes.

On Friday the charred body of Phillip Bolinger, 80, was found in the ruins of his two-story log house at Reed's Gap, 18 miles from Mifflintown. The house, in which Bolinger lived alone, was destroyed by fire Thursday night of undetermined origin. Neighbors, living some distance away, were attracted by the blaze but by the time they arrived the house had burned to the ground. Two aged persons in different sections of nearby counties lost their lives last week when fire destroyed their homes. The first tragedy occurred in Huntingdon county when Mrs. Sarah Jane Shultz, 77, perished in flames that trapped her in her bedroom Thursday morning. Her husband, Daniel Shultz, also 77, was badly burned about the face and hands while trying in vain to rescue her from the fire that reduced their rural home to ashes. On Friday the charred body of Phillip Bolinger, 80, was found in the ruins of his two-story log house at Reed's Gap, 18 miles from Mifflintown. The house, in which Bolinger lived alone, was destroyed by fire Thursday night of undetermined origin. Neighbors, living some distance away, were attracted by the blaze but by the time they arrived the house had burned to the ground.

Accidents Injure Pioneer Doctor Dead at 87 Years

Gray Furey Suggested For Jersey Shore H. S. Football Coach

Gray Furey, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Furey, of East Linn street, Bellefonte, is suggested as a candidate for the vacant post of football coach at Jersey Shore High school in a column "Old Scribes," appearing in the Lock Haven Express last week.

Here are some excerpts from the column: "The Notre Dame system, as used by Gray Furey at Mill Hall, would be just what the doctor ordered for Jersey Shore. One need only to recall the great strides Lock Haven High school has made in the past two years after changing to the Notre Dame system—Susquehanna League champions in 1940. "Furey is a veteran of the Notre Dame system. His high school coach, Jay Elden, present Lewistown mentor, was an intimate of Knute Rockne. Elden (formerly coach at the Bellefonte High school) taught valuable football strategy which he learned from Rockne. Elden does not hesitate to say that Furey is the finest athlete he has developed in his coaching career at Mount Union, Bellefonte, Sunbury and Lewistown. "Furey was a four-letter man for three years at Bellefonte, winning (Continued on Page 6)

Local Athlete Highly Praised

Gray Furey, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Furey, of East Linn street, Bellefonte, is suggested as a candidate for the vacant post of football coach at Jersey Shore High school in a column "Old Scribes," appearing in the Lock Haven Express last week.

Here are some excerpts from the column: "The Notre Dame system, as used by Gray Furey at Mill Hall, would be just what the doctor ordered for Jersey Shore. One need only to recall the great strides Lock Haven High school has made in the past two years after changing to the Notre Dame system—Susquehanna League champions in 1940. "Furey is a veteran of the Notre Dame system. His high school coach, Jay Elden, present Lewistown mentor, was an intimate of Knute Rockne. Elden (formerly coach at the Bellefonte High school) taught valuable football strategy which he learned from Rockne. Elden does not hesitate to say that Furey is the finest athlete he has developed in his coaching career at Mount Union, Bellefonte, Sunbury and Lewistown. "Furey was a four-letter man for three years at Bellefonte, winning (Continued on Page 6)

Former Minister In County, Dies

Rev. Fred Baker Morris Served Pastorate at Pine Grove Mills

The Rev. Fred Baker Norris, aged 39, a former pastor of the Pine Grove Mills Methodist church, and at present completing the third year as pastor of the Methodist church in Shippensburg, died Saturday morning in the Harrisburg hospital. His death followed a severe illness due to a kidney infection.

Reverend Norris is survived by his wife, Pearl States Norris, three children: Joseph, Fred Baker, Jr., and Robert; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Norris, of Huntingdon; a sister, Miss Helen Norris, of Harrisburg, and a brother, the Rev. C. Gal Norris, of the Wesley Foundation, State College. Funeral services, in charge of the Rev. Dr. Lester A. Welliver, superintendent of the Harrisburg District of the Methodist church were held on Tuesday, in the Shippensburg Methodist church at 10 a. m. and in the Fifteenth street Methodist church, Huntingdon at 3:30 p. m. Private interment was made in the Huntingdon cemetery. Have you heard the one about the local 'wain who told his girl, 'I'd like to ask you for this dance but all the cars are occupied.' (Continued on page six)

School Dismissed But Not Teacher

Adams County Man Outwits Directors When Notified to Quit

An effort to serve John A. Miller, 32-year-old Adams county teacher with notice of dismissal was thwarted Friday when Miller left his students out an hour early, locked up his school and departed. The Hamilton township school board ordered the dismissal because of Miller's refusal to use the Flag salute at opening exercises. Miller is a member of a religious sect that opposes the flag salute as "contrary to God's law." The dismissal order, voted Thursday night, directed Miller to turn in his keys and attendance books at the close of school Friday. Miller has indicated he will appeal the board's decision.

Although his car received damages estimated at $225, when it toppled over a 30-foot embankment near Ringtown, Carl Lewis, of Danville, suffered only minor injuries. He was blinded by the glare of the sun on his windshield and steered too close to the edge of the road. Gets $153,488 Contract The Central Builders Supply Co. of Sunbury, has been awarded a contract at $153,488 for the following work in Pike county: U. S. routes 206 and 208, Milford borough and Dingman township 74 of a mile of concrete approaches and a bridge over Sawkill Creek. $12,000 For Teachers Payment of $12,000 to Centralls borough, Columbia county, for teachers' salaries, out of the state fund for financially-distressed school districts, has been authorized by Auditor General Warren R. Roberts. FEED THE BIRDS: Some alarm has been expressed locally that a warm rain or several days of warm weather might melt the accumulation of snow so rapidly that serious floods might result in this region. The frost is still in the region, and it probably is true that a rapid thaw would result in most of the water running off the ground into the streams. St. Patrick's Day, next Monday, will mark the fifth anniversary of one of the worst floods in Central Pennsylvania's history.

11-Year-Old Moshannon Girl Sent to Hospital With Broken Leg

Three persons were injured over the weekend in the Phillipsburg area, due to the slippery condition of the highways. Swerving his car in an attempt to miss two boys who darted in front of his car Friday night, Ira Plubell, 33, of Pine Glen, ran into 12-year-old Rosa Fay Hahn, seriously injuring her, along the highway near her home at Moshannon R. D. Picking up the child he rushed her to a physician to be suffering from two breaks in her left leg. Mr. Plubell told police he was traveling at only 15 miles an hour at the time of the accident.

A mixup of two trucks and an auto on route 53, between Phillipsburg and Oseola Mills Saturday night, resulted in the injury of John Tirsch, 40, of Oseola Mills, who was riding in a truck with his son, Nicholas, 26. The elder Tirsch suffered lacerations of the head. Mrs. William Yergler, 23, of West Decatur, suffered head abrasions and a sprained ankle Saturday afternoon when her husband's car and another skidded on route 322, west of Phillipsburg, and collided. Edward R. Parkinson of State College escaped uninjured Friday night at Flat Rock on the Port Matilda mountain road when his car skidded, ran into a bank and then struck a truck operated by Russell Cruickshank of Tyrone R. D. Parkinson failed to see the parked truck in time to avoid skidding.

Accidents Injure Pioneer Doctor Dead at 87 Years

Gray Furey, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Furey, of East Linn street, Bellefonte, is suggested as a candidate for the vacant post of football coach at Jersey Shore High school in a column "Old Scribes," appearing in the Lock Haven Express last week.

Here are some excerpts from the column: "The Notre Dame system, as used by Gray Furey at Mill Hall, would be just what the doctor ordered for Jersey Shore. One need only to recall the great strides Lock Haven High school has made in the past two years after changing to the Notre Dame system—Susquehanna League champions in 1940. "Furey is a veteran of the Notre Dame system. His high school coach, Jay Elden, present Lewistown mentor, was an intimate of Knute Rockne. Elden (formerly coach at the Bellefonte High school) taught valuable football strategy which he learned from Rockne. Elden does not hesitate to say that Furey is the finest athlete he has developed in his coaching career at Mount Union, Bellefonte, Sunbury and Lewistown. "Furey was a four-letter man for three years at Bellefonte, winning (Continued on Page 6)

Local Athlete Highly Praised

Gray Furey, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Furey, of East Linn street, Bellefonte, is suggested as a candidate for the vacant post of football coach at Jersey Shore High school in a column "Old Scribes," appearing in the Lock Haven Express last week.

Here are some excerpts from the column: "The Notre Dame system, as used by Gray Furey at Mill Hall, would be just what the doctor ordered for Jersey Shore. One need only to recall the great strides Lock Haven High school has made in the past two years after changing to the Notre Dame system—Susquehanna League champions in 1940. "Furey is a veteran of the Notre Dame system. His high school coach, Jay Elden, present Lewistown mentor, was an intimate of Knute Rockne. Elden (formerly coach at the Bellefonte High school) taught valuable football strategy which he learned from Rockne. Elden does not hesitate to say that Furey is the finest athlete he has developed in his coaching career at Mount Union, Bellefonte, Sunbury and Lewistown. "Furey was a four-letter man for three years at Bellefonte, winning (Continued on Page 6)

Former Minister In County, Dies

The Rev. Fred Baker Norris, aged 39, a former pastor of the Pine Grove Mills Methodist church, and at present completing the third year as pastor of the Methodist church in Shippensburg, died Saturday morning in the Harrisburg hospital. His death followed a severe illness due to a kidney infection.

Reverend Norris is survived by his wife, Pearl States Norris, three children: Joseph, Fred Baker, Jr., and Robert; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Norris, of Huntingdon; a sister, Miss Helen Norris, of Harrisburg, and a brother, the Rev. C. Gal Norris, of the Wesley Foundation, State College. Funeral services, in charge of the Rev. Dr. Lester A. Welliver, superintendent of the Harrisburg District of the Methodist church were held on Tuesday, in the Shippensburg Methodist church at 10 a. m. and in the Fifteenth street Methodist church, Huntingdon at 3:30 p. m. Private interment was made in the Huntingdon cemetery. Have you heard the one about the local 'wain who told his girl, 'I'd like to ask you for this dance but all the cars are occupied.' (Continued on page six)

Drive For Students

Bucknell is planning a concentrated drive to raise funds for needy students throughout war-torn Europe and China, which will be started during the coming week. A committee of 20 students will manage the effort, in which $1.80 is sought as the university's share in the drive which is headed by Dr. Homer P. Rainey, former president of Bucknell.

Man Dies Alone in Log House; Woman Perishes in Huntingdon Co.

Two aged persons in different sections of nearby counties lost their lives last week when fire destroyed their homes. The first tragedy occurred in Huntingdon county when Mrs. Sarah Jane Shultz, 77, perished in flames that trapped her in her bedroom Thursday morning. Her husband, Daniel Shultz, also 77, was badly burned about the face and hands while trying in vain to rescue her from the fire that reduced their rural home to ashes. On Friday the charred body of Phillip Bolinger, 80, was found in the ruins of his two-story log house at Reed's Gap, 18 miles from Mifflintown. The house, in which Bolinger lived alone, was destroyed by fire Thursday night of undetermined origin. Neighbors, living some distance away, were attracted by the blaze but by the time they arrived the house had burned to the ground.

Local Athlete Highly Praised

Gray Furey, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Furey, of East Linn street, Bellefonte, is suggested as a candidate for the vacant post of football coach at Jersey Shore High school in a column "Old Scribes," appearing in the Lock Haven Express last week.

Former Minister In County, Dies

The Rev. Fred Baker Norris, aged 39, a former pastor of the Pine Grove Mills Methodist church, and at present completing the third year as pastor of the Methodist church in Shippensburg, died Saturday morning in the Harrisburg hospital. His death followed a severe illness due to a kidney infection.

'KEEPING UP WITH THE JONESES' — Eddie's Proud of It

