

Echoes From The Past

Fifty Years Ago

W. Miles Walker leased a valuable tract of land in Westmoreland County and has received a number of good offers for the same. The tract covers 2000 acres and is underlaid with rich deposits of coal and iron ore.

Twenty Years Ago

Boniface Mignot, who had been employed by Nathan Iskowitz, Bellefonte coal dealer, had resigned to accept a post as janitor of the Catholic church and caretaker of the cemetery.

"I Want My Friends Who Suffer To Know How I Got Splendid Relief"

From Pittsburgh, Pa., Mrs. Catherine Parker, living at 238 Jones Avenue, writes the story of her experience with RUX Compound. She says, "Yes, RUX Compound is a 'grand' medicine, in my opinion, for it is relieving the rheumatic-like pains in my hips and limbs. I sleep so much better with the pains relieved, and feel so much better relieved of the distress. It's great to find a medicine like RUX and I have al-

"Bill" Doak, well known resident of Bellefonte, who had been blind and deaf for many years, was seriously injured when he was struck and run over by a car backing out of the Wian garage.

Commencement exercises for the Spring township high school were held in the Methodist church at Pleasant Gap, with Prof. T. B. Shannon, superintendent of the school, in charge.

Marriage licenses were issued to the following couples: George A. King and Anna Bell Gill, both of Bellefonte; Benjamin H. Pike and Barbara A. Beezer, both of Bellefonte; Reuben S. Iddings, Marfa, Texas, and Bessie I. Summers, Wintgate, Joseph Urban, Philadelphia, and Mary Heleno Klarstetter and Pauline Noll, H. S. Taylor and Clement Dale, both of Bellefonte, were among the commencement speakers.

Edward A. Bullock of Milesburg, who was visiting with Warren Wood along the Boalsburg pike near the penitentiary lands, claimed to have been chloroformed and robbed after he had been tricked into taking a ride with a stranger and thrown from a car along a lonely road at night.

HOLTS HOLLOW

Don't forget the Easter service to be held next Sunday morning at 6 m. on the beautiful hill top above the Advent church. Everyone welcome.

Mrs. Edith Burd was an overnight guest at the Clair Sawley home at Yarnell last week, also visited at the J. E. Confer home in Milesburg on Sunday.

WHO SAID We Couldn't Afford to REMODEL! Converting a drab, dreary home into an attractive, inviting one is fun, and costs just $5.95 a month! Perhaps all your home needs to make it more livable is a recreation room—built in equipment—or a freshly painted interior. Then again, you may want to insulate or make roofing and siding repairs. Let us help you plan your remodeling right away, so it won't conflict with your spring house-cleaning.

Over The County News

Mrs. B. F. Heckert, of Millheim, who suffered a light stroke of paralysis several weeks ago at St. Petersburg, Fla. is slowly recovering from the attack.

A. B. Lee, Spring Mills butcher, has had a new Kelvinator cooling system installed at his place of business in the Gregg township metropolis, the apparatus being set up by Merchants, Stanley C. Bierly.

The pupils of the Millheim grade school, from the first to the eighth, rendered a fine musical program last Tuesday evening in the school house to a small but appreciative audience of parents and patrons.

Smoke from a burning ammonia compressor bell resulted in the Alpha Fire Company being called to the Dairy Building on the Penn State College campus about 8:30 o'clock last Wednesday night, but the fire was put out with a fire extinguisher before firemen arrived.

The fire alarm at Milesburg sounded about 11 o'clock last Wednesday morning, but the members of the fire company who were in the fire house at the time did not have far to go in answering the alarm.

William W. Sieg, general manager of the Titan Metal Co. gave an interesting talk on "National Defense" at a meeting of the Bellefonte Rotary Club last Monday night, at the Hotel Markland.

Modern Etiquette

- 1. When a man is waiting in a doctor's or dentist's office, a barber shop or some such place, should he give up his turn to a woman, as a matter of courtesy?
2. What is a fauxpas, and how is it pronounced?
3. When a daughter has callers who remain as late as 1 A. M., aren't the parents justified in telling them it is time to leave?

Answers to Modern Etiquette
1. No; nor should the woman request or expect it.
2. This is a French phrase meaning a false step, especially an offense against social convention.

MILLIONS IN LUNGS Yes, indeed, there are millions in your lungs who are all tiny air sacs. That's where the cold virus often likes to settle and hang on. Says Mrs. Harry Baumbardner, 1245 Market St., Lewistown, Pa. "I have found that a good laxative is one of the best ways to guard against colds. Personally, I like World's Tonic for this sort of precaution against colds. So many of my friends, using it and saying such good things about it got me started and I've used it ever since."

RUNVILLE

Hand Badly Injured

George Wettlaufer, the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wettlaufer, of Bodines, R. D., received a very extensive cut and laceration of the back of his hand, when he ran his hand into a cross-cut saw while sawing wood at his home a few days ago.

CHRIST SHOWS HIMSELF ALIVE

International Sunday School Lesson for April 15th, 1941.

GOLDEN TEXT: "I was dead, and behold, I am alive for evermore."—Rev. 1:18.

Jesus was buried late Friday evening, following the crucifixion. Two prominent Jews attended to his burial.

Joseph of Arimathea, a member of the Sanhedrin, was bold enough to request the body from Pilate and give to it a place of interment in his own new tomb excavated in the rock.

Nicodemus, one of the rulers, who early in the ministry of Jesus came to him by night, also assisted him. As it was almost the beginning of the Sabbath, the process of embalming was very hastily done.

The three-day period foretold by Jesus passed, not three days as we count them, but according to the Jewish method, that is, part of Friday, all of Saturday, and part of Sunday, during which time Jesus was in the tomb.

Early Sunday a group of faithful women proceeded to the tomb to complete the embalming which the two men had hurriedly done Friday evening. To their surprise, they were met by angels who advised them that Jesus had risen. They hurried back with the news and immediately Peter and John proceeded to investigate the report. Peter entered into the tomb and found the grave-clothes perfectly arranged by the body of Jesus was gone.

The first appearance of Jesus was to Mary Magdalene. This is noteworthy in an age when women were not regarded as highly as now. Shortly afterwards, he appeared to the other women of the party. The first man who saw Jesus was Simon Peter, although we have no details of this appearance, it being merely stated that he appeared to Peter.

We have a very good account of the appearance of Jesus to two disciples, walking from Jerusalem to Emmaus, a village about seven miles from the city. These two men were discussing the various events of the recent past when Jesus joined them and in answer to his question they told him briefly about Jesus and his work, how he had been killed and with him the hope that he would redeem Israel, and then of the strange story of the woman who had visited the sepulchre on the third day and found not his body.

In talking with the two men Jesus referred to the many scriptural passages about his career and interpreted to them the application to himself.

The first man who saw Jesus was Simon Peter, although we have no details of this appearance, it being merely stated that he appeared to Peter.

We have a very good account of the appearance of Jesus to two disciples, walking from Jerusalem to Emmaus, a village about seven miles from the city. These two men were discussing the various events of the recent past when Jesus joined them and in answer to his question they told him briefly about Jesus and his work, how he had been killed and with him the hope that he would redeem Israel, and then of the strange story of the woman who had visited the sepulchre on the third day and found not his body.

In talking with the two men Jesus referred to the many scriptural passages about his career and interpreted to them the application to himself.

In this interpretation, we may be sure that Jesus stressed such facts as these, pointed out by C. R. Erdman: "The Scriptures contain authoritative messages concerning Christ; these messages can be understood only by those who believe in Christ, and are guided by him; the essential truths concerning Christ center in the facts of his death and resurrection; in witness of the salvation thus secured, repentance and forgiveness of sins can be proclaimed in all the world; the followers of Christ are the messengers by whom this good news is to be made known; the power for such proclamation is imparted by the Spirit of Christ who was manifested in new power on the Day of Pentecost, and who is now an abiding Presence and a Source of limitless strength to all who seek to do the will of Christ and to glorify his name." At length, Jesus revealed his identity to these disciples who returned to Jerusalem and found ten of the apostles together, discussing the appearance of Jesus to Peter. The Saviour appeared then to this group and a week later to the eleven apostles to convince Thomas, who had been absent the preceding week. Several other appearances during the forty days are also given us. Jesus appeared to seven fishermen led by Peter, to all the apostles, and to a large gathering of five hundred, also to his brother James, who became as a result, a leader in the early church, and finally, on the occasion followed by his ascension from the Mount of Olives.

We cannot understand the mystery of the nature of Jesus during this period. He passed unimpeded through the doors as if spiritual yet he exhibited his wounds, and we food as if material. Perhaps his form was interchangeable. So the ascension is a mystery to us, but as J. Patterson Smyth says: "We believe that the visible event which we call the ascension was his kindly condescension to simple human minds. We naturally connect that higher life which is beyond our present comprehension with the blue heavens above, or the starry heights beyond the blue. In our own mind to this simple thought, instead of just disappearing as at other times he rose from the earth and a cloud received him. It only means that he had passed from our present sphere of existence to another sphere beyond our own."
