Mysterious Assailant Attacks Howard Girl

Miller are conducting an investigation into the attack. The man was described by Miss Schenck as being tall in stature and wore a brown or gray sweater with a zipper fastener. The automobile used in the getaway is said to be either gray or tan.

Luck held out for the assailants, for Harold Kline, of Howard, passing the scene just as the car sped away, sensed something was wrong and started in pursuit. He was driving a new car on which the governor had not been removed, and the attacker's car quickly outdistanced him.

Miss Schenck had spent the early part of the evening at the home of J. I. Sutton, caring for one of the Sutton children while the family was out. Upon the Sutton's return, Miss Schenck left for her home about 10:45 o'clock, refusing any escort because her home on the same street is only about one-half mile from the center of town.

As she neared her home a man appeared on the scene. About the same time an automobile drove up. As the horn of the auto was sounded the man grabbed Miss Schenck. In the resulting scuffle he attempted to suppress her screams, but the noise was heard by Miss Schenck's mother and a son as they appeared at the door. The man leaped into the automobile which started up the Jacksonville road. At the Walizer home it turned left onto the Mill Road and disappeared.

Miss Schenck is a sister of Mrs. Joseph B. Wagner, of South Allegheny street, Bellefonte. She is the eleventh victim reported to have been attacked in the Bellefonte State College-Howard area since last December 7 when the first of the night assaults occurred. So far none of the victims has been seriously harmed.

adds cauliflower flowerets and peach halves filled with cream cheese and pickle relish. Then the whole meal is broiled in an electric roaster. Sounds unusual, doesn't it? And Mrs. Bathgate says it's unusually good, too.

This is just an example of the practical sort of help Mrs. Bathgate gives her audience. She'll do all sorts of cooking—cakes, pies, oven meals, soups, salads, stews, desserts—all seasoned with wit and fun to make her classes not only informative but entertaining.

The luscious foods prepared during class will all be given away to the "students" and there will be many other valuable gifts distributed.

Come and learn how to cook without getting wrinkles in your forehead—or in your apron. Classes start each afternoon at 2 o'clock. Be early, and be sure of a good seat so you won't miss a bit of the program. Don't forget the dates, next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, April 30, May 1 and 2 in the Y. M. C. A.

Slight Damage In Fire Here Yesterday

Slight damage resulted from a fire at the plant of the Susquehanna Paving Materials Company depot in the Phoenix Mill building, South Water street, about 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning when a large drum of asphalt which was being heated, caught fire.

Both fire companies responded to a general alarm and the blaze, which was confined to the drum of asphalt and rafters overhead, was soon extinguished. Damage was estimated at less than $5. Ralph T. Smith is proprietor of the plant.
