Keepers of "Paradise"

We don't mean to say that Jake Knisley, left, and Arch Snyder, are a pair of angels, but they come in mighty handy at the Administration building at Fishermen's Paradise when there's food to be served, or arrangements to be made for the accomodation of guests there.

Both well known men have been on duty at the Paradise Administration building for some years, and the informal snapshot above, taken Friday as the Paradise opened for the season, indicates that even though they couldn't get out to fish themselves, they had a good

Hon. James J. Davis, United States Senator from Pennsylvania and Director General and Pilgrim Governor of the Moose, was the principal speaker at the first annaul Mooseheart Alumni Association banquet and dance held Monday evening at the Penn Belle Hotel under the auspices of the Bellefonte Women of the Moose, Approximately 175 members and guests were present

Senator Davis, expressing the hope that there will be no need for the United States to send an expeditionary force abroad in the current war, predicted that when our national defense program is completed America will be strong and powerful enough to defend itself against any foe, without help.

He paid a high tribute to Central Pennsylvania as one of America's beauty spots. Asking Americans everywhere to forget racial hatreds ntolerance, and bigotry, Senator Davis declared that it is his hope that this nation continues to live at peace and in good will.

The address of welcome was given by Mary J. Martin, chairman of the Alumni Association of the Bellefonte chapter, who also introduced former Judge M. Ward Fleming as toastmaster. The invocation was given by Dr. J. W.
