Court Denies Plea Of Theatre Owners

theatre owners can appeal the decision to the Supreme Court. Otherwise the local Court order becomes final.

Three other opinions were filed yesterday by Judge Walker.

A jury verdict of $163.90 in favor of Laura C. Vogt, against Sarah Jane Spyer, a minor, and Chester A. Spyer, guardian, and Chester A. Spyer in his own right, as the outcome of a motor accident at the Centre Hall, was set aside by the court and a new trial was granted.

The court holds that the jury in deciding the case failed to follow the court's instructions in determining the responsibility of Chester A. Spyer for acts committed individually by his daughter, Sarah Spyer.

A petition by 29 residents of Huston township for a rule on William Richards and O. H. Nason, supervisors of the township, to show cause why their offices should not be declared vacant and officers appointed in their stead, was dismissed and the costs of the proceedings were placed on the petitioners. The third supervisor, Fred Andrews, was not included in the petitioner's action.

The petitioners set forth 17 reasons why they believed the two supervisors should be removed from office.

Among their claims were that the supervisors didn't hold monthly meetings; that they neglected and refused to perform their duties; that they acted as foremen and supervisors over one and sometimes appointed and charged for their services, contrary to law; that they charged the township for inspection of roads; that they charged the cost of trips to the county seat to the township, even when they came to Bellefonte on personal business; that they "pad" salaries and paid workers more than they had earned, and many other charges.

The court held that unusual caution must be exercised in removing public officials from office because of the danger of nullifying the will of the majority of the people. It was pointed out that if such actions became common, it might be that a small minority could out with ease officials elected by majorities.

The decision sets forth that "Nothing in the testimony discloses flagrant abuse of their official duty." The petitioners, it is contended, failed to prove their allegations.

The fourth decision was in the case of J. D. Watkins, vs. the State Workman's Insurance Fund and the American Lime and Stone Company of Bellefonte.

May 23, 1924, Watkins suffered an injury at the plant. He signed a final release on February 10, 1925, November 5, 1925 he asked for a renewal of compensation on the ground that the final release had been obtained on a promise that he would be reemployed as soon as the compensation period ended. The petition was dismissed.

In March 1940, he again petitioned for a renewal, but the Workman's Board dismissed the plea on the grounds that it had no jurisdiction in the case, which was then more than 15 years old. Watkins filed an exception to that action.

In the decree on that exception, yesterday, the Court dismissing the order of the Board determining Wat-

Cautions Against Weekend Mishaps

Red Cross Safety Head Sees Motoring Hazards Through Defense Activities

The Fourth of July weekend will be even more hazardous than in previous years because of increased congestion on the highways and at resort and recreational centers resulting in part from National Defense activities, it was pointed out by John Shoemaker, Chairman of First Aid, Water Safety, and Accident Prevention of the Bellefonte Chapter, American Red Cross.

Traffic death figures for the first three months of 1941 revealed by the National Safety Council, reveal that if the present rate continues, the total for this year will surpass 40,000 deaths, an all-time high. Highway fatalities last year totaled 34,000, an increase of seven per cent, over the total for 1939. Deaths from drowning each year average approximately 7,000.

The vacationist must not only see to his own safety, but must anticipate the carelessness of others. Mr. Shoemaker warned. The mistake of one motorist may result in fatality to those who may be obeying all the rules of the road.

This year's list of accidental deaths and injuries will be largely the result of carelessness and ignorance. For a safe Fourth, Mr. Shoemaker offers the following suggestions:

To motorists: Get an early start for the holiday weekend trip to get ahead of the congestion and allow plenty of time.

Make a thorough check-up of your tires, brakes, lights and steering gear for many accidents are the result of faulty equipment.

Keep an eye on the "other fellow" who may cause the accident.

Be sure luggage piled in the back of the car does not obscure rear vision.

Sacrifice that last hour at the beach and leave for home before the crowd.

Remember that driving after dark is many times more hazardous and after-dark accidents are frequently more serious.

To swimmers: Enjoy your water sports at patrolled beaches.

Bear in mind that expert swimmers can be drowned from cramps caused by swimming too soon after eating.

Board Names New Teacher

The board to elect two additional directors at Tuesday's session, the matter was delayed until the next regular meeting on July 14. This decision was reached after a discussion in which the names of several directors were suggested, and in which board members appeared undecided as to whether to name a woman to one of the two new posts.

The vacancies result from the fact that the Bellefonte school district on July 1 advanced to a third class rating because the town's population in the 1940 census topped the 5000 mark. Third class districts must have a seven-member board. The new appointees will be named to serve until the electorate chooses regular directors at the election in November.

A discussion also resulted over the selection of a full-time instrumental music instructor for the local schools. The matter came to a head when the board voted to postpone definite action until the July 14 meeting. In the meantime, additional applications for the position will be received.

Supervising Principal E. K. Stock reported that Spring Township had submitted a check for $3000 on the township's past-due tuition account.

Dial Equipment Being Installed

Bell Telephone Company Also to Construct New Boalsburg-Lemont Cable

Bell Telephone Company installers are calling at the homes and business establishments to install new dial instruments for dial operation. It will require several months to complete this work. The dials on the telephone should not be used until the change to dial service which will take place near the end of the year.

About the middle of July the new dial switching mechanism and associated office equipment will be received from the Western Electric Company. Immediately thereafter, technicians will start the job of installing it in the company's recently erected building, 113 Allegheny street. This will be completed in November.

Meantime, Bell construction forces are progressing with erection of the new cable between here and Lock Haven.

The Bell Company plans construction of a new cable from Boalsburg to Lemont Junction at a cost of nearly $16,000. It was announced by Jesse Cairn, local manager. Work will start within a few days and be completed this fall.

The new cable will provide additional telephone facilities for Boalsburg and replace the open wire now connecting the two communities, Mr. Cairn said.

In the past year the number of telephones in the Boalsburg exchange has increased more than 20 per cent to a total of 176 as of May 1.

Radio Important Defense Weapon

would be of little use. By its warfare is organized and integrated, and the present day type would be impossible without it. It is rumored that Germany is using television to get a picture of what is occurring on the field of battle so as to carry on more efficiently. Radio becomes not only a necessity in modern warfare, but is absolutely essential in defensive warfare.

The best defense against night raiders England has as yet found is the so-called "radio locator." Many control devices are used by the army and navy. Without the protection radio affords and the information it brings, without the safety brought to aviation, a country at war without radio would be helpless in the hands of an enemy so equipped.
