Our forefathers met in the early, turbulent days of our country, we, as patriotic Americans and members of a great fraternal organization, will gather to renew our pledge and our support to the President and to America.

The Honorable Joseph G. Bush, of Trenton, N. J., Grand Exalted Ruler, who will preside at the convention, has had a most successful administration during the current year due to the patriotic activities of the order and, under his leadership, the membership has had a greater increase than at any time in twenty years.

The convention will open in Independence Hall with a patriotic musical program including the famous Madrigal Singers and the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra. It will close on Thursday with an illuminated night parade and water carnival on the Schuylkill River. An attendance of 50,000 Elks is expected.

Nearly 1000 Tons of Cement for School

Practically everyone interested in the school construction job expresses concern over what looks like a probable delay in the delivery of necessary structural and reinforcing steel. Defense priorities on steel may be the stumbling block in getting the building under roof before fall, many predict.

Bandmaster Harold Wion shows signs of becoming one of the most faithful of the many sidewalk contractors who are watching every step in construction. Wion is considered by other spectators as a sort of official source of information about what's going on and how the work is progressing. The Rev. Robert H. Thomas, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, by virtue of his residence at the very edge of the school site, also is an authority on the building program, but since he's going on his annual vacation soon, his laurels as a sidewalk contractor no doubt will become slightly tarnished.

Workmen report that Morris Campbell, supervisor for Architects Hunter & Caldwell, keeps close tabs on the work and sees to it that everything is done in accordance with plans and specifications. But that still doesn't keep the spectators from worrying about the size of the footings, the quality of the foundations, and the strength of the concrete mixture.

Yesterday the first shipment of hollow-brick for use in the building arrived on the site and were piled on the 13th street sidewalk, near the Spring street crossing. The hollow-brick, manufactured in Mill Hill and brought here on large trucks, are for use in walls and for "filling in" operations in places where they will not be exposed. In the old school, cheap soft brick was used for such purposes.

It is expected that some of the most important leaders of the government defense program will be in attendance to address the convention as well as speak to nationwide audiences over radio networks.

Among those who have been invited to speak are Vice President Henry A. Wallace, Brigadier-General Richardson of the Army, Admiral Yarnell of the Navy, Professor E. L. Rouse of the Office of Production Management, and Mr. Edwards, Under-Secretary of the Treasury.

"Philadelphia," said Mr. Anderson, "was selected as the Convention City this year because of its historic background. It is a fitting and happy one, for in Philadelphia, where the present emergency.

Plea for Parole Heard by Court on the farm of his father at Unionville. Flick has a wife and four children to support, he said, and claimed that the $25 he would earn monthly on the farm would be sufficient for him to make payments on the $247.90 in back checks, and costs of prosecution, still filed against him.

The court reserved decision until his record at the penitentiary has been investigated and other facts ascertained.

The court filed an order against Edward H. Phillips, now of Harrisburg, directing him to pay $30 a month to the support of his wife and two children who reside at Leont. Mrs. Phillips, employed at State College, recently underwent observation and treatment at the Centre County Hospital here. Mr. Phillips has been employed in the steel industry in the Harrisburg area.

Groundhog Hunter Slain By Friend

State Police from Rockview station are conducting an independent investigation into the fatality and the results of their investigation are expected to be revealed at the inquest.

According to reports, Ripka and his wife who live in Spring Mills, went to visit Mr. and Mrs. Rider after the evening meal, Tuesday. The Riders live on the C. P. Long estate farm at Beaver Dam, about two miles southeast of Spring Mills. When the Ripkas arrived at the home, Rider was out hunting groundhogs, and Ripka took his gun and started out to hunt in the woods and fields nearby. Meanwhile Mrs. Ripka and Mrs. Rider went along a nearby road to pick berries.

After Ripka fired the shot at what he believed to be a groundhog, he ran across the field and discovered that he had hit his friend, who had been prone on the ground at the edge of a section which had been freshly mowed. Mrs. Ripka and Mrs. Rider, it is reported, were the breadth of a field from the scene of the shooting.

Ripka immediately ran to the house to summon a physician, but when his efforts were unsuccessful, neighbors went to the scene and found Ripka dead. Coroner Sheckler arrived on the scene later in the evening and gave permission to have the body removed to the Goodhart Funeral Home.

Ripka was employed by O. W. Houts, of State College, on a lumbering job near Spring Mills. His wife, as well as Mr. and Mrs. Rider are employed in the silk mill at Spring Mills.

Surviving are the widow, the former Mildred Mills, and a daughter, Shirley, aged 8, at home. He was a son of Charles and Nora Ripka, and was born at Potters Mills on July 6, 1911, making his age 30 years and 2 days. His parents, residing at Potters Mills, are among the survivors.

Funeral services will be held at the home in Spring Mills at 2 o'clock (DST), Saturday afternoon, July 13, at 10 a. m. Rev. W. P. Glenn, pastor of the Spring Mills Methodist church officiating. Interment will be made in the Georges Valley cemetery.

At Hecla Tonight

that the revival had in just about over, and that it's more important to become identified with the songs of today, rather than with those of years gone by. Gordon and his band will play for a dance at Hecla Park this Thursday night, July 10, from 9 to 1 o'clock (EST).

During his eight-month record-breaking engagement at the Green Room of the Hotel Edison, attended "The Rhythm" maestro introduced on the air and on his Bluebird records, some of the nation's leading tunes, with of course, the outstanding song being, "I Am An American," closely followed by "Ferryboat Serenade." Both of these tunes were played for several months on the air-lanes by Gordon before any other maestro or singer even had an arrangement ready, and thus they became closely identified with him.

So that now, every time that we hear either of these numbers, we automatically associate them with the name of Gray Gordon.

Gordon's ability to create a hit song has definitely been established through "I Am An American," and "Ferryboat Serenade" as well as his introduction of "Looking For Yesterday," "I Hear Music," "I Could Make You Care," "Yankin' Doodle Polka," "Autumn on the Campus," "Gentlemen of the Jury," "Oh, They're Making Me All Over in the Army," and others. Admission to the dance tonight will be 68 cents, plus tax.
