AMERICAN LIME OFFICIAL ATTENDING CONFERENCE

P. W. Hartsock, of Bellefonte, traffic manager of the American Lime and Stone Co., will attend an annual conference of the National Association of Shippers Advisory Boards at the Stevens Hotel in Chicago next Monday and Tuesday.
How shippers can cooperate with the railroads in obtaining maximum use of transportation facilities will dominate the discussions at the conference. Other features will include an address by the national transportation situation, the election of officers and addresses by leaders in industry, agriculture and finance.
Organized in 1937, the National Association of Shippers Advisory Boards was formed to correlate on a national scale the work being done by the 13 regional boards to promote efficient use of the railroads.
Those who attended the funeral of Mrs. Theodosia Glinger, in Lewisburg, Tuesday, were: Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bathurst, Mrs. Lee Fetter, Mrs. Mabel Yeager, Mrs. Earl Peters and Mrs. Lee Lyons, all of Milesburg; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Glinger and son, of Pleasant Gap; Mrs. Edna Glinger, of Curtin; and Arthur Bathurst, of Mt. Eagle.
Mr. and Mrs. Guy Kline, of East Bishop street, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bryan, of Milesburg, were in Pittsburgh during the weekend, having gone there especially to take Mr. and Mrs. Kline's son, Robert, to that city to begin work as a chemist with the Gulf Research and Developing Company. Robert, a graduate of the Bellefonte High School, received his diploma at Penn State last spring.
In the December issue of the American Magazine, under the department of "Interesting People" is a series of color photos that have set themselves up in various business enterprises to earn pocket money. One of the girls is Frances Dunkle, of Phillipsburg, who hired out as a mouse catcher, but who couldn't find any mice on the campus. Miss Dunkle is photographed setting a mouse trap, which in itself is something.
