Court Allows Double Indemnity

(Continued from page one) are entitled to double indemnity, the Workman's Board held. The insurance carrier already had deposited $10,129.56 in the Bellefonte Trust Company as guardian for the widow and children, since all were minors.

COURT ALLOWS DOUBLE INDEMNITY

In another opinion, in the case of the Port Matilda Water Company vs. Clara Ammerman Sunday, the Court directs that judgment be entered in favor of Clara Ammerman Sunday, and that the costs be paid by the Water Company.

The action was begun by the water company to collect $9.45 which the company claimed was due for water service. A justice of the peace ruled in favor of the water company, and Mrs. Sunday took an appeal to the County Court, which resulted in yesterday's ruling.
