Words Often Misspelled

Do not say, "I have a limited acquaintance with Mr. Jackson." Say, "A slight acquaintance."

Do not say, "We are liable to go tomorrow." Use likely to express a probable event, unless regarded as disastrous, as "The man is liable to fail."

Do not say, "I forbid you from going." Say, "I forbid your going."

Do not say, "My hat is different than yours." Say, "It is different from yours."

Do not say, "The growth of the city has been phenomenal." Say, "It has been extraordinary (or remarkable)." Phenomenal, in its strict sense, is a philosophical term.

Do not say, "Here is a photograph of my residence." Say, "of my home (or house)." Residence is all right, but more pretentious.

Words Often Mispronounced

Antarctic. Pronounce ant-ark-tik, not ant-ark-tee, accent second syllable.

Philanthropic. Pronounce fil-an-throp-ik, both i's as in ill, a as in an, o as in on, accent third syllable, and not the second.

Gigantic. Pronounce ji-gan-tik, first i as in ice, a as in an, accent second syllable.

Faust. Pronounce foust, or as in house, not faust.

Forecast. Accent second syllable, not the first.

Incense. Accent the noun (a per-

(ruse) on first syllable, the verb (to madden) on last syllable.

Words Often Misspelled

Birth (coming into life); berth (place to rest); Tennessee; double n, double s, double e; Paroxysm; observe the consonants; Salable; preferred to saleable; Omelet; two e's not omelet. Peel to (strip off the skin); peal (to sound forth).

Word Study

"Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

CANARD: an extravagant or absurd report, especially one published in the newspapers to hoax the public. (Pronounce ka-nard, first a as in ask, second a as in ah, accent last syllable). "The canard appeared in all the daily newspapers."

ANTE MORTEM; before death; generally used adjectively. "It was an ante mortem statement."

OSTENTATIOUS; fond of making an ambitious display; unduly conspicuous; boastful. "Far from being ostentatious of the good you do,"—Dryden.

POTENTIAL (adjective); existing in possibility, not in actuality. "Potential existence means merely that the thing may be at some time."—S. W. Hamilton.

MOLETTY; one of two equal parts; a half. Pronounce mole-tee, o as in toll, e as in end, final i as in it, accent first syllable. "There was a moletty of clever sarcasm in his speech."

Modern Etiquette

1. Do well-bred women kiss each other when meeting or taking leave in public places?

2. What is the first duty of one who is preparing to leave a dinner, party, or reception?

3. What is the proper sequence of pages in a social letter?

4. How much time is the bride expected to spend with her guests at the wedding reception?

5. What is the real and final test of good breeding?

6. What should a woman do when calling, if she finds her hostess ready to go out?

7. Is it proper to guess at a name if one has not heard it distinctly during an introduction?

8. What does an invalid do if she wishes to return calls that have been made upon her?

9. Should cantaloupe be eaten with the spoon?

10. Is it proper for a man to sandwich himself between two women walking with them on the street?

11. Is it good form to leave some food on the plate when finishing a meal?

12. Are postscripts to letters in good taste?

1. No; even the most intimate of friends will only shake hands when greeting each other at parties, church, teas, or in public places.

2. To take leave of the host and hostess, it is not necessary, however, to seek out any person to whom one has been introduced and bid him or her a separate farewell.

3. It is correct to write on the first page, and then on the third, or on the first, second, third and fourth. The latter order is probably the better in the case of very long letters, as it avoids confusion. Never write sideways or crosswise, as it leads to difficulty in reading.

4. Not more than two hours. She may then retire to her room with her maid-of-honor to change into her traveling costume.

5. Observance of those rules of conduct which make life easier and simpler for one to mingle with other people. Arnold Bennett, the noted English playwright, once said, "I cannot too strongly insist that the basis of convention is a symbolism, primarily meant to display a regard for the feelings of other people."

6. She may say, "I see you are ready to go out; I won't keep you." However, if the hostess insists that she stay for awhile, it is perfectly proper to remain.

7. No; it is much better to ask and be correct, rather than to guess and have to be corrected. The proper thing to say would be: "I'm very sorry, but I did not hear your name clearly," or, "Did Mr. Johnson call you Miss Ferris? I'm sorry, but I did not hear very well."

8. She may make her calls by proxy. In other words, she may send a daughter or close friend in her place. This, of course, is not expected of her, but it is a nice gesture on her part.

9. No; the fork should be used.

10. No. The man always takes the curb side of the pavement, whether he is walking with one woman or with several.

11. No; it is not at all necessary.

12. No. These should be avoided as far as possible, as they are merely afterthoughts and indicate a slipshod manner in the composition of your letters. One should take pains to include everything he wishes to say in the body of the letter.

Sarah Ann's Cooking Class

Recipes that use canned foods are always welcome. They help the housekeeper in times of emergency to serve delicious and attractive dishes. Be sure to save the juice from the vegetables, it can be used in soups and sauces, as it contains a lot of the needed food elements.

Salmon With Mushroom Sauce

No. 2 can salmon
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
3-4 cup milk or liquid from peas
1 can mushrooms
1 slice onion
1-8 teaspoon nutmeg
No. 2 can peas
3-4 cup chicken soup or broth.

Melt butter, add flour, onion and soup or broth. Stir and cook until mixture thickens. Remove onion, gradually add milk or liquid from peas, then mushrooms, stir well. Add salmon liquor and nutmeg to sauce. Pour sauce over salmon that has been placed on buttered toast for serving. Garnish with buttered peas.

Plum Betty

1-2 cups canned plitted plums
1 cup bread crumbs
3 tablespoons butter
6 tablespoons sugar
1-2 teaspoon cinnamon
Fill a well buttered baking dish with alternate layer of plums and crumbs. Sprinkle each layer with sugar and cinnamon. Dot with butter. Bake in an oven 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Serve with hard sauce.

Luncheon Dish

1-4 lb. chipped beef
2 cups canned corn
1 onion
1 green pepper minced
2 cups milk
3 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
1-2 cup bread crumbs
Salt and pepper.

Separate the chipped beef into small pieces, cover with boiling water and allow to stand a few minutes then drain. Make a sauce of milk, butter and flour. Season with salt and pepper. Arrange the beef, corn, onion and green pepper in a casserole. Pour over it the sauce. Cover with bread crumbs and bake in an oven 350 degrees for 30 to 45 minutes.

Squash Ring

1 pint squash canned
1 cup medium white sauce
1 egg
1-2 cup buttered bread crumbs
1 tablespoon butter
1-2 teaspoon salt, pepper
 Mash squash until fine. Add beaten egg and other ingredients; cover with bread crumbs. Bake in a ring mold in an oven 350 degrees. Fill the center with butter and peas and pimento.

Cheese Pineapple Omelet

7 eggs
1 teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons cream
3-4 cup grated cheese
1-2-2 tablespoons butter
1-2-2 cups canned crushed pineapple.
Beat the egg yolks until light, add the salt and cream. Beat well. Add the cheese. Beat the egg whites until stiff and fold into the mixture. Melt the butter in an omelet pan placed over low heat. Pour in the mixture and cook until well risen. Then set the pan in an oven 325 degrees for 5 to 6 minutes or until the surface of the omelet is dry to the touch. Gash through the center, cover half with the pineapple, fold and turn onto a hot platter.

Baked Stuffed Haddock Fillets

3 haddock fillets
1 cup dry bread crumbs
2 tablespoons boiling water
1-4 cup melted butter
1 tablespoon chopped onion
Salt and pepper.
3 slices of salt pork.
Mix bread crumbs, butter and chopped onion. Moisten with boiling water and season with salt and pepper. Cut the fillets (about half an inch thick) in halves, put a spoonful of the bread mixture on top of each piece of fish, then a thin slice of salt pork. Put in a baking pan with a little water and the other 2 slices of pork. Bake 50 minutes in oven 400 degrees, basting occasionally with the water in the pan. Serve with tartar sauce, parsley, potatoes, grilled tomatoes and a salad made of shredded cabbage, green peppers, shredded lettuce with bacon dressing.

Poets' Corner

GREETINGS (?) TO THE AXIS POWERS.

A word, Axis nations, about Uncle Sammy. A peace-loving old fellow, I'm sure you'll agree. But I think that his patience is well nigh exhausted. And trouble's just starting for you over the sea.

'Twas December the seventh, remember the bombing. When Japanese and traitors united as one. You Japanese bombers flew over Pearl Harbor. And great was the suffering caused by your bombs. Oh course we all wondered, just how it could happen. That those gallant men so taken off guard. But don't be surprised, little Jap, if you waken. Some morning and find Uncle Sam in your yard.

Hell fly through the air and he'll walk over the waters. A sad day for you when Old Uncle arrives. Those tears that you started to flow at Pearl Harbor. Will bridge the great ocean, and rise through the skies. And roused and his boots he'll stamp.

He called an attendant to bring him his cap. He's bidding farewell to his friends and his loved ones. Now, I sure have some pity for you, little Jap.

Now, Adolf, you listen, just don't get excited. When you from your slumber awaken some more. And find that Old Uncle's again crossed the Atlantic. Me thinks that you'll wish you had never been born.

He'll likely bring greetings, the kind you've been sending. These cautions and partings and tears everywhere. And while in my heart there is no hate against you. This earth of such demons it sure must be clear.

No, Uncle's not thinking this job will be easy. He knows that old Satan is mighty and strong. But he'll take for a chorus like Shepard Boy David. In the name of our God we will conquer the world.

Let's stir up the fire in the pews of our churches. And build them anew where it all has gone out. And, preacher, I think you're the man who should start this. More fire (spiritual) in the pulpit, more souls will be sought.

We don't want to hear from you news of the latest. Or who won the ball game this latest afternoon. But Jesus Christ as our only salvation. Repentance and cleansing and judgment to come. And God to the battle will surely go with us. If we of our sins and wrong-doings repent. But if we don't do this and God don't go with us. A thousand times better we never had we.

Victory (so-called) without God would be worse than (seeming) defeat with him.

—Composed by C. M. Waik, Julian, Pa.

HOUSEHOLD SCRAPBOOK

Hair Tonic

An effective home-made hair tonic can be prepared by using one quart of strong sage tea, adding one teaspoonful of salt. It is claimed that if this is applied to the scalp three times a week, it will prevent excessive hair fall and gray hair.

Preparing Spinach

Place the spinach in the wire dish strainer and hold under the cold water faucet. Then soak in salted cold water. This treatment will clean it thoroughly.

Whitewash

Color destroyed by whitewash can often be restored by washing the surface immediately in strong water.

Shelf Covering

Instead of using cloth to cover the shelves, use strips of linoleum. It is easily cleaned, stays in place much better, and will outwear other materials.

Soup Substitute

It is claimed that two or three potatoes grated into a pan of water will give better results than soap when washing ribbons or delicate woolen goods.

Oatmeal

Add a little sugar to the oatmeal while it is cooking, instead of sprinkling it on at the table, and observe the improvement in its flavor.

White Woodwork

One method for cleaning white woodwork is to heat one pint of milk in one pint of water, then add one tablespoon of kerosene. Apply, then polish at once with a soft cloth.

Cracks in Furniture

Beeswax can be used to advantage in filling cracks in furniture. It should of course be melted to the required consistency for the work.

Sugar Economy

Less sugar will be required when stewing fruit if one teaspoonful of lemon is added to every pound of fruit when stewing.

Pie Crust

The yolk of one egg added to the water will make a delicious pie crust. The yolk of an egg beaten light, with two to four tablespoons of water, should be used for a double-crust pie. The crust will be still better if 1-2 teaspoonful of baking powder is added to the flour.

Dyeing Kid Gloves

White kid gloves can be dyed a tan color by dipping them into a tan color from water until the desired shade is obtained.

Clean Matting

Wipe off the matting with a cloth wrung from salt and water, and it will prevent it from turning yellow.

CORRECT TELEPHONE USAGE

NOW—more important than ever!

In war-time as in peace-time, everybody will get better, faster telephone service if we all heed these simple rules:

1. Make sure you have the right number before you make each call.
2. Give the person you're calling enough time to answer before you hang up.
3. Answer your own telephone as promptly as you can.
4. Avoid unnecessarily long conversations, especially on party lines.
