(2) For its stimulating value While users often state that they like the "pick-up" alcoholic beverages give, the fact is that alcohol does not stimulate; it depresses. Alcohol does not make one's mind more active. Dr. Haven Emerson, professor of public health administartion at the College of Physicians and Burgeons, Columbia University, Lesson Text: Gen. 43: 34; Psalm says that alcohol results in "inferlority of both physical and mental
